Here's one of the most fantastic stories in medical history. A 27 year old carpenter, Russel Stratton, was using a radial saw when the blade jumped and severed his left hand at the wrist. Calmly, Stratton shut off the saw and fished his hand out of the scrap box.

The foreman fainted when he saw the injury. Stratton revived him and helped him make a tourniquet from his necktie. When this broke, the foreman fainted again. Revived once more, he made a tourniquet from a belt. The two men then drove to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

There, Dr. Harris and his team, renowned for this type of operation, worked for eight hours to reattach the hand. Nerves and tendons were repaired some months later.

Today, four years later, Stratton is working full-time as a carpenter. He can pick up small objects, and carry heavy loads. He also keeps a bottle of smelling salts nearby for the foreman, just in case.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. You can also pay your electric or telephone bills or use our notary public service. Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. ## Abstract Works By Ginny Ford July Art Exhibit At Library

Abstract works by Cohasset artist Ginny Ford will be on display July 6-31 in the main gallery of Thomas Crane Public Library.

Mrs. Ford, one of the South Shore's most prolific artists, works in oil and acrylics with soft design movements growing from masses of soft whites.

She has studied with Kay Taupeka, former art director at the University of Michigan, and was influenced by her close family friend, John Marin.

She has exhibited at the Barbara Sparre Gallery, South Shore Music Circus, Rudow Gallery in Rockport, Scituate and Cohasset Arts Festivals. Many of her works are in private collections.

She and her husband, Judge Robert M. Ford, designed their Cohasset home.

In addition to her paintings, Mrs. Ford is an accomplished potter and reknowned interior decorator.

A preview of the collection for invited guests will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. July 7.

Special Features

NAUTICAL — Bright bands of color are wrapped around the bodice and long sleeves of this ribbed cotton knit tank top. It's teamed with nautical-styled cotton knit pants that lace at each side. By Garland.

FUN KNIT — Here's a whale of a cotton knit by land or sea. Whimsically printed with a whale motif interspersed with nautical symbols, the easy-going dress is ideal for vacation wardrobes. It's by Charlie's Mustache, a division of Charlie's Girls.

REGATTA-BOUND — Red, white, and blue cotton knit separates make the summer scene. The short-sleeved pullover with laced front sets off a short pantskirt in a matching solid. Both by Garland.

World Wonder

O World! How Wonderful,
Thou art, as we survey
Thee on Script —
For as we drink deep of your Beauty, wonder sprays forth;
When we pick the letter
"L" ... Revealing its spiritual potency.
"The ... W-O-R-D ..."

Maker of mankind, is the Deity,

And also of Every inconceivable thing;

In our physical environment
Of Land, Air and Sea.
Supplied us He did with Food-consumption, aplenty;
Seed-bearing plants and Trees laden with fruit ...

Meat ... from cattle, sheep and fowls

Accompanied with table
birds, and table fishes;

To build strong bodies and minds.

Thus Our Creator, us has Blessed; with supreme goodness ...

Fruitfulness and Reproduction.

Also, giving us the power to Subdue our universal environment,

By Ecological Cleanliness.

However, up to us, it is —
To carry out His wish and command —

Via ... understanding and cooperation,

Earthly solutions can best be obtained.

Since everything depends on
A "give and take" Principle.
If — Man keeps Air and Surroundings clean and orderly,

Nature and animals survives.

"And ... in turn ...

Reward us they will, in Health, Wealth and Wisdom."

Anna T. Anderson, Quincy

Perfect Patio Platter

A molded salad, made with unflavored gelatine to allow the full flavor of fresh raw vegetables to come through, is a cool and colorful summer entree. When ready to serve, dip the mold in warm (not hot) water to the depth of the gelatine. Loosen the edge with the tip of a paring knife. Place a serving dish on top of the mold and turn upside down. Shake, holding the serving dish tightly to the mold.

Vegetable Patio Platter

| 3 envelopes unflavored gelatine | 1 1/2 cups finely shredded cabbage             |
| 2 1/4 cups cold water, divided  | 1 1/2 cups chopped celery                      |
| 1/2 cup sugar                   | 1 cup grated carrot                            |
| 1 teaspoon salt                 | 1 1/2 cup chopped green pepper                 |
| 1/2 cup vinegar                 | 2 pimientos, diced                             |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice       | Sliced Swiss cheese                            |
| 1 cup mayonnaise                | Sliced liverwurst, bologna, ham and spiced ham |

Sprinkle gelatine over 1 1/2 cups of the water in medium saucepan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, 4 or 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in sugar and salt. Add remaining 1 cup water. Gradually stir vinegar and lemon juice into mayonnaise; blend into gelatine mixture. Chill, stirring occasionally, until slightly thickened. Stir in vegetables. Turn into a 6-cup mold; chill until firm. When ready to serve, unmold onto large serving platter. Fill the center with cherry tomatoes, and arrange salad greens, Swiss cheese slices and cold cuts around mold.

YIELD: 6 servings.

"And cut out the starches."

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of June 29 - July 6

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - With a little planning you should be able to juggle career matters and still have time for summer fun.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - To avoid trouble at home you will have to change your abrupt way of speaking and walk softly for a while.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Start that project or study you've been thinking about, it will stimulate your mind and increase circle of friends.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - The ideas you have may seem odd to others but you can put them across with a little cooperation from a friend.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Ask for some assistance because you are going to need help to accomplish all the things you are trying to do.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Your mind is so full of schemes and new plans it's hard to know which one you should work on first.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - A plan you recently thought to be impossible is suddenly reactivated and the situation looks better now.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - There is a sudden shift coming up shortly that will alter your life plan and the change will benefit you.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - A vacation near the water or a new study will be stimulating now. You may decide to install a pool at home.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - The major change you are seeking won't take place until fall or winter - this gives you time to lay plans.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - There's a feeling of change around you and you now have the patience to wait for others to make the right move.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - You are handling yourself extremely well during this period and intuition will help you put plans into effect.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Runaway fat ... it's like a runaway automobile or a runaway horse. It can be curbed with a strong hand on the wheel or the rein. Put your foot down firmly on the brake or pull in hard and sharp. Bam! No more runaway.

Your foot and your hand can halt the fat that's running away with the sleek, slim personality you know is the real you. How can you be the energetically attractive you that your daydreams portray when the mirror shows that you are adding to your girth daily? Let the fat take over completely, and you'll be the sluggish lump your mirror shows.

Right now, bring your splurge shopping to a crashing halt. Accelerate your shopping cart past the bakery counter, the ice cream freezer, and the cookie shelves. STOP in the produce department. Load up on fruits, berries, and vegetables.

Rein in your belt until it's a little uncomfortable. Your waistline has been galloping off because you have been ignoring its wandering tendencies. Let it feel a little firm restraint.

Restraint means sacrifice. Or perhaps a better way of putting it is that restraint means substitution. Like substituting the following delicious drink at cocktail time for the glass that is loaded with nothing but empty calories.

BANANA DAQUIRI

- 4 Capsuls Rum Extract
- 1 Jigger water
- 3/4 Tablespoons Lime juice
- 1/2 Packet Sweet 'N Low

- 3 Ounces Ice
- 1 Banana
- Dash Red food coloring

Place all ingredients, except ice, in blender container. Cover and blend until banana is crushed. Add ice gradually and blend until you reach desired consistency. Serve in champagne glasses!

This is a double stop. You can't yield the right of way to alcohol when dieting. Not just because it has calories, but because it lowers the inhibitions. Your morality is your own problem until it comes to eating. Then I share it, and while you are around food, your inhibitions must inhibit. This banana daiquiri will bring you to the dinner table at a sedate trot. You won't overeat or overorder. Your runaway fat is controllable. All you have to say is, "Run away, Fat! Whoa, Nellie! Stop!"

Let me know if I can help you with your personal diet problems. Just write to me at The Quincy Sun or at The Diet Workshop, 594 Merrick Ave., East Meadow, N.Y. 11554.

Rev. Kenneth L. Miner Begins Pastorate At Adams Shore United Methodist

Rev. Kenneth L. Miner will begin his pastorate at Adams Shore United Methodist Church Sunday at the 9:30 a.m. worship.

Rev. Miner, pastor of the United Methodist Church at Whitman for the past five years, has been a minister for 17 years serving parishes in Connecticut, New York State and Martha's Vineyard.

He succeeds Rev. John M. Lurvey Jr., and Rev. Gwen Jones Lurvey, co-pastors at Adams Shore since 1970 who leave Saturday for Los Angeles. Rev. John Lurvey will work toward his doctorate there.

A native of Albany, N.Y., Rev. Miner graduated from West

REV. KENNETH L. MINER

Virginia Wesleyan College and

Hartford Theological Seminary. He has been chairman of the New England Southern Conference Historical Society and the Commission on Archives and History for about ten years. He was recently elected a Southern New England Conference delegate to the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

While in Whitman, Rev. Miner was appointed by the Board of Selectmen as a member of the Board of Directors of Self Help, Inc. He was vice chairman of both the Head Start Policy Council and Brockton Area of Region 7 Comprehensive Health Planning, Inc.

A coffee hour honoring Rev. Miner will follow the worship.

New England Missionary Convention At Wollaston Church Of The Nazarene

The 53rd annual Missionary Convention of the New England District of the Church of the Nazarene will be held in the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene on June 29.

Nearly 200 delegates will represent the 65 churches of the Nazarene which last year listed 4,019 members in the Nazarene World Missionary Society.

Guest speaker will be Rev. Paul Hetrick Sr., missionary on furlough from Africa, who has been touring the United States since returning to this country last summer.

Rev. and Mrs. Hetrick have been making their home with their daughter and son-in-law while on furlough, Mr. and Mrs. John Estey, 369 Newport Ave., Wollaston.

Rev. Hetrick graduated from Eastern Nazarene College with a B.A. degree in 1942 and in 1965 was named Alumnus of the Year.

He has served as Principal of the Nazarene Bible School at Stegi, Swaziland, as well as Director of Stations and Outstations and Regional Supervisor.

Mrs. Albert D. Stiefel, who has been elected New England District President of the Nazarene World Missionary Society for the past three years, will preside at the convention.

Mrs. Stiefel is Secretary to the Director of Development at Eastern Nazarene College and a member of the Board of the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene and Publicity Chairman for the South Shore Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

The convention will begin with a Prayer and Fasting service at 8 and Rev. Hetrick will speak at 9 a.m.

Business sessions will be held in the morning and afternoon and will include the election of district officers and reports of the General N.W.M.S. Convention held June 15-17 in Miami Beach, Florida.

A President's Luncheon for local church presidents and district and zone leaders and guest missionaries will be held in the President's Dining Room at Eastern Nazarene College on Thursday noon.

Mrs. Hetrick will speak at that time.

Local delegates include the following district officers: Mrs. Kenneth H. Pearsall, vice president, 180 Adams St.; Rev. George Douglas, treasurer, 95 Quincy St.; Mrs. George Delp, box work secretary, 21 W. Elm Ave.

John Richard Carlson Ordained At Salem Lutheran Church

John Richard Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Carlson of Braintree, was ordained into the Gospel ministry recently at Salem Lutheran Church, Quincy.

Mr. Carlson is a graduate of Upsala College in New Jersey and completed his seminary training in May at Gettysburg Theological Seminary, Penna.

He served his internship at Salem Lutheran Church in Bridgeport, Conn.

The Rev. Bertil E. Hult, pastor of Salem Lutheran Church in Quincy, was ordinator at the service.

Dr. William T. Heil Sr.,

assistant to the president of the New England Synod, was liturgist and the Rev. John Spittal of St. Mark's Church in Bridgeport was preacher and presenter.

A reception followed in the church vestry.

Major, Mrs. Frye Named To Quincy Salvation Army

Major and Mrs. Robert Frye of Massillon, Ohio, have been named to the Quincy Salvation

Army Corps.

The appointment was announced recently by Brigadier Maro Smith, Salvation Army Commander.

Brownell Urges City Pay St. Colletta Transportation

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has urged the city of Quincy to pay summer transportation costs for mentally retarded children from Quincy attending St. Colletta's Day School in Braintree.

"I am advised that Chapter 881 has been interpreted by the Attorney General to authorize school committees to pay transportation expenses for the mentally retarded to summer training schools," Brownell said. In a letter to Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, he said Boston and Watertown have been providing transportation.

"Quincy, I am sure, is capable of doing the same," he said.

Harold Davis Appointed To Heart Association Directors Board

Quincy School Committeeman Harold Davis has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the South East Chapter of the Massachusetts Heart Association.

Davis and the new members of the Board were appointed at the recent annual meeting of the Association. Davis also serves on the School Health Committee of the Heart Association.

In addition to his service on the Quincy School Committee and Heart Association Committees Davis is active in civic and political organizations.

Davis said he hoped to concentrate his efforts on preventive health care in the public schools as a member of the Heart Association Board.

"It is during childhood and adolescence where many of the health habits of an individual are formed," he said. "By the time one becomes an adult it is much more difficult to alter attitudes and behavior which might lead to heart disease. This is why I believe good health programs in our schools are so important."

Mayor Signs Contract For Sale Of Land To Youth Hockey Assn.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has signed a contract finalizing the sale of city-owned land off Sea St. to the Quincy Youth Hockey Association.

The signing opens the way for the association to build its planned 500-seat ice skating rink facility on the land near the Naval Reserve Training Center.

Hannon said the city is "fully protected" by the contract and that the sale "will benefit the kids of the City of Quincy."

Vincent Smyth Candidate For State Representative

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth announces his candidacy for State Representative in the Third Norfolk District comprising Wards 4, 5 and 6.

In his announcement, Smyth, a Democrat, declared:

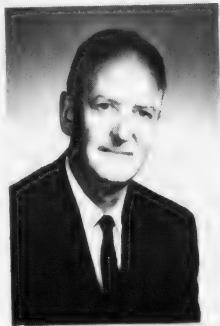

"My experience as an elected member of the Quincy City Council during the past seven years and its elected Council President during 1968-1969, qualifies me to serve the residents and taxpayers of our City in the General Court.

"As a businessman, taxpayer and homeowner, I am fully cognizant of the numerous and complex social, economic, moral and youth problems that both the Commonwealth and City must resolve. Immediate financial relief must be given to the property owner and rent payer now and this can only be achieved by acting on high priority legislation that directly affects money appropriations.

"Elected office holders must be fully aware of their fiscal responsibilities especially during this time of both high unemployment in the Commonwealth and the decreasing purchasing power of the dollar. This critical economic condition continues to weigh most heavily on the middle income wage earners and senior citizens who practically depend on an already inadequate pension due to spiraling inflation and an unjust tax load.

"The ever burgeoning welfare program needs constant supervision to prevent the gross abuses that are being committed daily and to assure adequate workable programs to those families who legitimately require assistance.

"Our correctional and penal institutions require a re-evaluation, and up-dated methods must be instituted to assure the successful rehabilitation of these inmates.

J. VINCENT SMYTH

"Ever increasing responsibilities of a State public office holder dictates the absolute requirement for his full-time attention. I adamantly believe in the concept of serving only one elected position. I pledge my continued leadership, integrity and availability to the voters and taxpayers of Quincy in our mutual concern for the well-being of all in our city, state and nation."

Councillor Smyth, currently serving his fourth term in the City Council, is chairman of the Council's Public Works and Veteran Services Committees. He is a member of the 100 Club of Massachusetts, Quincy Rotary Club, Robert I. Nickerson Post, A.L., George F. Bryan Post, North Quincy K of C, Quincy Lodge of Elks and Montclair Men's Club. He served with the American Division, South Pacific Theatre and was awarded the Silver Star and Purple Heart decorations.

He is married to the former Anna Kelley and they are the parents of seven children. He is president and treasurer of Smyth's Package Store, North Quincy.

OLD GLORY - W. Edward Wells displays as wide a variety of American flags as you're likely to find as he prepares for the Fourth of July rush at Eagle Flag Co., 147 Beach St., Wollaston.

Eagle Flag's Edward Wells Sees Rise In Patriotism, Flag Display

Vandalism to flags and flagpole has become "a very serious situation, according to W. Edward Wells of 81 Willow Ave., Wollaston.

And Mr. Wells should know. As proprietor of Eagle Flag Co., 147 Beach St., he is the man to whom people come when they have to replace stolen or damaged poles and flags.

"There are just a few who are causing all that trouble," Wells said. "But it seems to have awakened a sense of patriotism in the general public.

"The inclination today is for people to think the flag is not displayed as much as it should be, but we find it is being displayed more than ever," he said.

Wells said more people are buying American flags this year than in any of the more than 40 years he has been in the business.

And he attributes it to the Vietnam situation and the prevalent vandalism.

Wells, 65, began selling flags in the 1920's when he ran a dry goods store called W. S. Wells Co. on Newport Ave.

Business increased over the years until he incorporated Eagle Flag Co. at 319 Newport Ave. in 1952.

He and three employees serve as authorized dealers for Dettre Flag Co. and Annin and Co., selling all types of flags and distributing nationwide.

Eagle Flag's specialty is made-to-order service, drum corps, school and band flags with customers from as far away as Hawaii and Alaska.

The company, which moved two years ago to a newly-remodeled office at 147 Beach St., is busiest from mid-March to late July when it is deluged with requests for flags for Memorial Day and the Fourth of July.

Wells said he is not active in any clubs or organizations because "when you run a business like this you don't have time for anything else."

He is a member of the Sawyer-Campbell Bowling League in Wollaston but refuses to divulge his average.

He is married to the former Eleanor Smith of Weymouth. The couple have two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Gamsby of New Mexico and Mrs. Marilyn Stewart of Virginia, and eight grandchildren.

Two North Graduates To Enter Wentworth

Two North Quincy High School graduates have been accepted for the 1972-73 academic year at Wentworth Institute in Boston.

351 East Squantum St. and Stephen R. Little of 301 Belmont St.

Wentworth Institute trains industrial and engineering technicians in a two-year program leading to an associate's degree in engineering or applied science.

Brian Donaher Receives Degree At Harvard

Brian P. Donaher, of 209 Beach St., Wollaston, was awarded the Master of Arts in Classical Philology at the 1972 Commencement of Harvard University.

A graduate of Holy Cross College, Mr. Donaher has done previous graduate study at Princeton University, and holds a Master's degree in Classics from Boston College. He teaches Latin and Greek, and is director of the Homeric Academy at Boston College High School in Dorchester.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Donaher, reside at 95 Otis St., Milton.

Mr. Donaher will continue studies at Harvard towards a Ph.D. in Classics.

QCA Wants Drains, Culverts At State Street South Area

The Quincy Citizens Association has asked the city to insist that State Street Bank install drains and culverts in the State Street South area to prevent flooding in the Montclair area.

In a letter to Mayor Walter J. Hannon, QCA President Joseph A. Slattery said his organization has asked the bank "to honor the pledge they made to the residents" in 1970 "to do the necessary drainage work."

"Without proper drainage outlets, etc., through the Montclair Marsh, the water table of a great section of North and West Quincy will rise and cause untold damage to property," he said.

"The QCA feels that the city of Quincy has a responsibility to foresee these difficulties and take steps immediately to head off a flooding disaster."

Delahunt Candidate For State Representative

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt of 33 Elmwood Park has announced his candidacy for state representative from Wards 4, 5 and 6.

Delahunt, elected to the council last November, is a practicing attorney in Quincy associated with the law firm of Senate Counsel James R. McIntyre.

He is a life resident of Quincy, graduated from Thayer Academy and Middlebury College, studied Italian culture and international politics in Rome and received his law degree from Boston College Law School.

He is a member of the American, Massachusetts, Norfolk County and Quincy Bar Associations, and the Norfolk County Prosecutors Association.

Delahunt is former assistant clerk of the Massachusetts Superior Court and legal counsel to the Quincy Police Department.

He is a director of the South Shore Cancer Unit, former chairman of the Ward 5 Cancer Crusade and is president of the Thayer Academy Alumni Association.

WILLIAM D. DELAHUNT

He was a delegate to the recent Democratic State Convention and is chairman of the City Council committees on drug abuse and parks and recreation.

Delahunt co-sponsored legislation to allow Norfolk County to take the Wollaston Golf Course for recreational use.

In his announcement, he said the problems of the cities are so complex and great that cooperation and coordination at the state and local levels is essential.

He and his wife, the former Kati Hermani, are the parents of a daughter, Kirstin.

Summer Reading Program Starts July 5 At Parkway

CLASS OF 1972 is presented by Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, Superintendent of Quincy Schools. Behind him from left, are Michael F. White, class valedictorian; Atty. F. Lee Bailey, commencement speaker and Rev. Joseph J. Downey of St. Joseph's Church, who gave the invocation and benediction.

PROCESSION onto Veterans Memorial Stadium for graduation of 223 Quincy Junior College students is led by Joseph J. Fluhr, Dean of Students, followed by School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon, Atty. F. Lee Bailey, commencement speaker; Mayor Walter J. Hannon and Hugo F. Saluti, Dean of Administration.

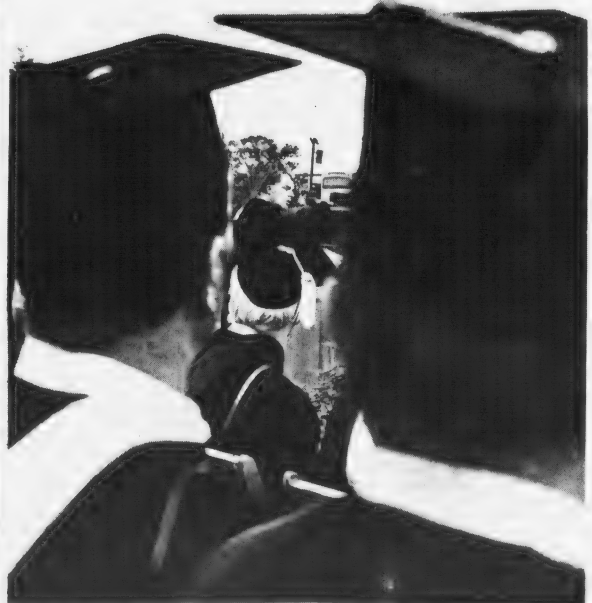

PORTRAIT of the late Kenneth P. White, first president of Quincy Junior College, is unveiled by Prof. Clayton Curtis, artist and faculty member, and admired by Mrs. Lawrence J. Johnson, treasurer of Community College Association, a Wollaston resident. At left is Russell Rayner, faculty member. The painting was presented to the school.

NOTED Atty. F. Lee Bailey, commencement speaker, tells 223 Quincy Junior College students who received degrees that a lack of imagination and failure to anticipate problems is the cause of many of society's ills today.

DEGREES are handed out by Joseph F. Fluhr, Dean of Students, and Mayor Walter J. Hannon, assisted by Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon [back to camera], Superintendent of Schools.

Morrisette Hits Snag

Quincy Surprise Team

After two weeks of Legion baseball competition, Quincy's young team, with veteran coach Connie Carozzi back at the helm, is one of the surprise teams of Zone 6, while Ray Cattaneo's defending champion Morrisette club, loaded with veterans, struck a snag last week with two losses after winning its first two.

Quincy's hopes had been dimmed when its ace pitcher, Bob Brill, signed a pro contract with the Milwaukee Brewers after the first game. But Quincy continued its excellent performance Monday night when it held strong Braintree, stocked with Braintree High's state championship players, to a 2-2 tie. Darkness halted the game after seven innings.

The Post 95 team took a 3-2-1 record into last night's game at Weymouth. Quincy hosts Hingham Friday and entertains Randolph next Wednesday at Adams Field.

Morrisette, last year's Eastern Mass. champs and state finalists, lost two last week and was 2-2 in Zone 6 play going into last night's home game with Hingham. Morrisette plays at Braintree Friday, is home to Milton Monday and goes to Weymouth next Wednesday.

Last Sunday with an open date due to Hull moving to Zone 10, Morrisette blanked Somerville, 4-0, in a non-league game.

Last Friday Quincy overcame a 2-0 deficit to shock Morrisette, 3-2, as Steve Mele proved his pitching masterpiece against Randolph was no fluke. Tim Flynn drove in the winning run.

Mele, who had handcuffed Randolph on four hits while striking out 14 and not issuing a pass, held the defending zone champs to six hits as he and his mates scored single runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings to upset Morrisette. Morrisette had scored in the fourth and fifth to take a 2-0 lead.

While Mele, regularly an outfielder, was winning his second in a row, Jimmy Walker, ace of the Morrisette staff, suffered his first defeat after two wins.

Earlier in the week both Morrisette and Quincy were defeated.

Morrisette was Randolph's first victim, 5-2, as it was held to six hits while pitchers Tony Knass and Bob Lane made things easy for Randolph with 13 walks. Randolph pitcher Tommy Poto gave up only one walk.

Quincy was downed by a strong Milton team, 4-2, as it collected only four hits. Milton also had only four hits off Paul Craig and Flynn.

Farm League All-Star Games, Family Picnic At Faxon Field

The Quincy Junior Farm League all-star games and family picnic will be held July 1 at Faxon Field, Southern Artery and Coddington St.

A double-header of games between the "American" and "National" leagues for 8-9 year-old and 10-year-old boys will be followed by races and a picnic with hot dogs and cold drinks.

On manager Jim McHugh's American League team of 8 and 9 year-olds are Kenny Mann, Dan Boyle and Brian Radzik of the Indians, John Todd, Tom Mullen and Mike Scurti of the Orioles.

Also John Costigan, Sean Martin and Kevin Howlett of the Red Sox, Gary DiNardo, John Fegullo and Jimmy Hensley of the Tigers and Bruce Tobin, Brian Tobin and Kirk Krabbe of the Yankees.

They will oppose a National League contingent managed by Howard Back including Richard Reinhardt, David DeLuca and Michael O'Toole of the Giants, Peter Cappola, Jamie Walsh and Paul Dwyer of the Braves.

And William Matthews,

Bobby Craig and Ronnie Horn of the Pirates, Tom McHugh, Tom Canavan and Frank Vallier of the Dodgers and John Kavanaugh, John Leone and Dean Zoia of the Cubs.

Dick O'Brien's 10-year-olds from the American League will include John Sullivan, Andrew Sheele and Larry Cyr of the Indians, Tom Hannon, Brian Afria and Paul Sackley of the Orioles.

Also Michael Ford, Wayne Cooper and Peter DiTullis of the Red Sox, Michael O'Brien, Todd Veale and Richard Donna of the Tigers and Fred Palmer, Steve Notarangelo and Jim Ducey of the Yankees.

Opposing them will be Carl Widman's National Leaguers with Robert Currier, Paul Mitchell and Robert DiBona of the Giants, Billy Burt, Kevin Doyle and Chuck Sullivan of the Braves.

Senior Citizens To See Sox - Angels Game

The Quincy Park and Recreation Board announces that the Recreation Department will sponsor a Senior Citizens trip to Fenway Park July 19, when the Red Sox meet the California Angels.

Free bus transportation from nine locations will be provided by the Recreation Department for all those Quincy Senior Citizens 60 and over who register at the Recreation office, 1120 Hancock St., by purchasing a reserved grandstand seat ticket for $1.50. Tickets are on sale in the Recreation office. Arrangements for the trip are being handled by Charles L. Alongi Jr., Assistant Director of Recreation. Telephone reservations will not be accepted.

Reggiannini Receives Basketball MVP Award

John Reggiannini received the Most Valuable Player award at the recent awards program of the Quincy High School Basketball Boosters Club.

Ten awards were presented to varsity and junior varsity basketball players and jayvee coach Mike Greenlaw received a special award.

Greenlaw is stepping down from his coaching post to play professional basketball in Europe.

Ken Furfari received the players award, Capt. Bob McDermott received an award for being named to the Greater Boston All-Star Team, and Willy Bertrand accepted the John Coughlin Award for most desire.

Recipients include Mike Marvelle, Dr. Joseph Broderick Award for most improved player; Bob O'Neal, Michael Finnegan Award for outstanding achievement and Jim McKinnon, student achievement.

Junior varsity awards went to Mike Cullen, most improved player; Dennis Sullivan, most valuable player and Tom McKinnon, student achievement.

Booster club officers include Anthony Malvesti, president; Mrs. Kay Reggiannini, secretary and Wilbur Bertrand, treasurer.

Bowes Leaves North

For the second year in a row, North Quincy Football Coach Ralph Frazier is looking for a new assistant.

A year ago Bill Pagnano left North to take over as head coach at Duxbury and led the Green Dragons to their first winning season ever.

Now, Jack Bowes, a North Quincy aide for the past six years, three under Carl Leone and the last three under Frazier, has signed on as head coach at Milton.

Jack, who has been a coach for eight years, faces a far different challenge than Pagnano.

Whereas Pagnano took over at a school which had never enjoyed any appreciable success in football, Bowes succeeds Tom

Brennan, who led Milton to many highly successful seasons during his 14-year tenure as head coach.

"Jack was my number one assistant and defensive coordinator," Frazier said. "We are going to miss him but it was high time he became a head coach. He is a tremendous man and an outstanding coach."

Bowes says he will implement many of the things that Leone and Frazier used at North.

Bowes was co-captain of the U. of New Hampshire team in 1951. That was the school's last undefeated, untied team.

Boating, Sailing Programs To Be Launched July 5

The City of Quincy, with 27 miles of water front, will once again provide an instructional boating and sailing program for Quincy residents eight years of age and over, according to Joseph E. Burke, Chairman, Park and Recreation Board.

The emphasis will continue to be on the importance of safe boating and the great need for people of all ages to acquire basic skills in this increasingly popular recreational activity.

Burke said that boys and girls eight years of age and over who first pass a qualifying swimming test on one of the Recreation Department's 14 instructional swimming stations will be eligible for the program, which will be held at the department's Black's Creek Boat House in Merrymount Park.

A fleet of 35 small boats, including 17 turnabouts, will be utilized from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday starting July 5.

In addition adults can take advantage of their leisure time to take the whole family sailing. Saturday's Adult and Family schedule is 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Swimming Instruction Program Underway

parades with free ice cream and soda for the kids will be held until 8 p.m. when The Versatiles will take over with an outdoor band concert.

The playground, ball field and tennis courts have been restored under a federal park improvement subsidy.

Serving on the committee are Richard J. Koch, Mrs. Jeanette McKarron, Mrs. Laura Rooney and Mrs. Beverly Reinhardt.

Some people say all this talk about a power shortage is a lot of rubbish.

They're right. Because, without enough electricity, a lot of the things that make a mess of our lives would be piling up on us at the rate of 3.5 million tons a year. It takes a lot of energy just to clean up after ourselves.

Take the recycling of waste materials. Discarded cans, papers, bottles, old automobiles — in fact, most of the refuse that fills our trash barrels and litters our landscape — can be converted to useful ends by electric energy.

We will also be using more and more electric power to purify the water we drink and to clean the air we breathe.

That's why we're working now to provide the kind of facilities it will take to not only clean up the world we live in but to keep it that way. Remember, it's as important to us as it is to you... because we live here, too.

People like you working to make life a little better.

Steven Reisberg Receives Presidential Award

Steven Reisberg of 1399 Quincy Shore Drive, a 1972 graduate of Quincy High School, has received an Award of Excellence from President Nixon for his work in environmental protection.

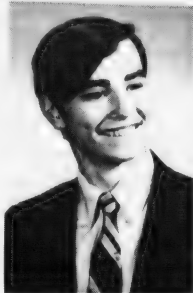

Reisberg, 18, was cited with his work in a program at the Tilton School in New Hampshire which developed into the Institute for Environmental Education of Cleveland, Ohio.

Among his duties were activities as an instructor for courses in New Hampshire, Cleveland and Quincy, teaching teachers about environmental protection.

In Quincy, he was one of seven local teachers and students on a staff headed by Ray Whitehouse of Central Junior High School instructing 20 teams of teachers and students.

Steve went to the Tilton School in 1969 to receive training in the running of environmental education courses.

He was editor of a monthly publication in 1969 and 1970, conducted several training programs for professional groups in New Hampshire and helped author "An Activities Guide to Water Pollution and Environmental Studies."

STEVE REISBERG

When the program relocated in Cleveland in 1971, he returned to Quincy to finish his high school education and participate in the pilot program here.

He said his experiences with teachers was rewarding because "although they had more experience than I, they recognized that I was well versed in a specialty."

Steve said he will take the summer off and plans to enter Boston University this fall.

Fire Lt. Nicholas Malvesti To Be Honored At Sept. 14 Dinner

Lt. Nicholas Malvesti is retiring from the Quincy Fire Department Aug. 6 after 30 years service.

Malvesti, a three-sport all-scholastic in his high school days and a semi-pro football and baseball standout, will be honored at a dinner Sept. 14.

The dinner, being arranged by members of the Morrisette Legion Post, will be held at the Post Home.

Malvesti is a past commander of the post, coached the baseball team there for 16 years and is now athletic manager.

Malvesti was an all-scholastic football, baseball and hockey star at Quincy High School in the 1930's and was a member of the South Shore League All-Star team that played the Boston Braves in an exhibition game at Adams Field in the early 1940's.

He played third base for the Fore River baseball team in both the South Shore League and the New England League.

He also played for the Quincy Manets football team.

Malvesti, assigned to Ladder 1 at Central Headquarters, is married to the former Agnes Howlett. They have a son, Thomas, a member of the Quincy Police Department, and two daughters, Mrs. Suzanne Henderson and Mary of the home address.

The committee planning the dinner is headed by Bruno Carloni and includes Michael Guadiano, Past Comdr. Fred Peruzzi and Malvesti's brothers, Joseph, Anthony, John and Louis.

Offshore dredging of Town River Bay threatens to destroy Taffrail and Mound St. beaches and poses a dangerous situation for area residents, according to Rep. Clifford H. Marshall.

Marshall was among city and state officials who viewed operations by Great Lakes Dredging Corp. recently at the request of residents.

He said there was "no question" in his mind that the Army Corps of Engineers would have to resurvey the project but said the city may "have to send divers down to prove a case."

"There is a tremendous drop-off at Taffrail Beach which creates a serious nuisance," he said. "I don't even know if the beach can be saved."

Marshall said Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the park and recreation board, will have signs posted in the area warning that the beaches are dangerous.

Among those observing the beach were Marshall, Koch, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, Mrs. Clara Yeomans and Harold Crowley of the conservation commission, and Joseph P. Shea, executive secretary to Mayor Hannon.

The mayor toured the area earlier by boat.

Rep. Brownell has written Cong. James A. Burke to ask for information on whether the dredging corporation is required to work so close to homes and residential areas.

"This company is dredging so close to shore that it is causing the beach to slide into the water," Brownell said. "It is undermining the general area, causing pot holes and the loss of land.

"I visited the area Saturday evening and the dredge was less than 30 feet from the shore conducting a heavy dredging operation."

"The residents of this area are deeply concerned over the dredging, especially for their children who play in the area," he said.

City Engineer Edward Leone will meet soon with the Army Corps of Engineers to discuss the matter.

Conservation Commission Chairman Harold Crowley said "it is inconceivable to me how this situation could have been allowed to develop."

"There seems to have been a gross miscalculation which most certainly should be investigated," he said. "In the meantime, immediate steps should be taken to correct the very dangerous situation that the dredging has now created."

Crowley said the area is "heavily populated with young children who, with school out, spend a good deal of their time playing along the shore."

He said "there is nothing to prevent a young child who can not read or understand why the rope is there from wandering on to the beach and falling into the deep waters."

The shoreline in the area has "simply sunk out of sight, leaving a sharp drop-off into the river," he said. "It is apparent that the erosion process has only begun and that more of the shoreline will follow suit unless immediate corrective action is taken."

QCA Board To Discuss

North Quincy Arena Complex

The executive board of the Quincy Citizens Association will discuss the proposed convention center complex at North Quincy MBTA station at 8 p.m. July 5 at the Montclair Men's Club.

Mayor Hannon and the nine city councillors have been invited to the session to discuss finance, development and the overall effect of the complex.

Topics for discussion will include the effect the center would have on the tax base, traffic, parking facilities and area homes.

Council To Act On Stop Sign

The city council will act at its next special meetin to place a stop sign at the intersection of Elmwood and North Central Aves. Councillor-at-large Joseph J. LaRaia said.

The traffic commission has approved the sign placement, which LaRaia brought before the council at the request of area residents.

'Off To Miami Beach'

Ignoring The Experts Paid Off For Mrs. Hanabury, Greenwald

By PAUL HAROLD
Quincy Sun Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH - If Marilyn Hanabury and Ronald Greenwald had listened to the political experts, they might be spending this weekend at Wollaston Beach.

Instead, they will be at Miami Beach, as Quincy's delegate and alternate to the Democratic National Convention.

It all began for Mrs. Hanabury and Mr. Greenwald five months ago at the Massachusetts Caucus, at Assumption College in Worcester.

At the morning session, McGovern was endorsed by the caucus, a loosely organized coalition of anti-war groups and the liberal wing of the state Democratic Party.

That afternoon Hanabury and Greenwald were nominated as delegates pledged to McGovern.

Back in February it seemed like a dubious honor to be pledged to McGovern. Muskie seemed to have the nomination all wrapped up and McGovern was still relatively unknown, even after a year of campaigning.

But McGovern built up strength as quickly as Muskie lost it.

By the evening before the Massachusetts Presidential primary, the political heavyweights pledged to Muskie realized they would be swept to defeat.

For Hanabury and Greenwald, this will be their first national convention, and they are not the only novices. Ninety-two of the state's 102 delegates will participate for the first time in a national convention.

Mrs. Hanabury, 2 Old Colony Ave., Wollaston, will be accompanied to the convention by her daughter Kathy, a recent graduate of North Quincy High School. "The trip is a graduation present," she said.

A life-long resident of Quincy, Mrs. Hanabury is a graduate of Quincy High School and has been active in the Wollaston Congregational Church.

She served as chairman of the church's Social Action Committee and is a candidate for state representative in wards 4, 5 and 6.

"Since being elected delegate, a number of persons have expressed surprise at my political involvement," Mrs.

'Show Concern, Abhorrence'

Davis Urges $500 Reward For School Fire Information

School Committeeman Harold R. Davis has urged a $500 reward be offered to anyone with information leading to the conviction of persons involved in the Hunting School firebombing.

A two-alarm fire caused an estimated $50,000 to the Nathaniel S. Hunting School on Pelican Rd June 28.

Davis proposed at last week's meeting that the school committee offer the reward to "show our concern and abhorrence for this sort of activity."

The motion was passed over without being seconded after Committeeman Frank Anselmo questioned its legality but Davis said he intends to bring it up again.

Davis cited the current rash of bomb threats at schools and the recent fire in Holbrook and said "I think it is important that public officials show their concern. This might be one small step we could take."

He said he has looked into the legality of offering a reward and said other communities have done so

"It is a legitimate sort of thing to do and you are definitely not wasting the public funds," he said.

"It's possible that somebody saw somebody at the scene but for one reason or another people are often unwilling to get involved," he said.

"Perhaps under the stimulus of a reward someone will step forward and help the police."

After Davis' proposal, the committee moved on to discuss its $100,000 project or modernizing the school fire alarm system.

At his suggestion, the time schedule was shortened from three years to two.

"But the problem is not detection," he said. "The problem is deterring people from this sort of activity."

Jack Anderson Joins Quincy Sun

Syndicated columnist Jack Anderson, winner of the 1972 Pulitzer Prize for national reporting, joins the Quincy Sun today.

Washington Merry-Go-Round", the most revealing and most talked-about column in the country, makes its debut on Page 2 of today's Quincy Sun as a Quincy area exclusive.

Anderson won the coveted Pulitzer Prize this year for his disclosure of American policy decision-making in the Indo-Pakistani War of 1971.

And his columns linking Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst with a deal to excuse ITT from antitrust suits made national headlines.

Now Anderson joins the Quincy Sun family with a column exclusively for weekly newspaper readers.

Jack Anderson's column is not just another Washington column.

It is the Washington column that has consistently caused presidents, senators, union leaders and anyone else in the public eye to sit up and take notice.

No other Washington bureau has been so consistent is Anderson and his three-man staff in breaking on the front pages of every newspaper in the land.

News breaks that appear under his byline frequently make tomorrow's headlines. And you can read them today and every Thursday in The Quincy Sun.

South-West CC Sponsors Property Identification Program

The South-West Community Council is sponsoring a property identification program to promote public safety and deter burglaries.

Peter P. Gacicia is chairman of "Operation Identification". Participants may borrow engraving pens, record forms and stickers from the center on Granite St. and are urged to engrave their Social Security numbers on valuables.

Marked items should be recorded on the forms and stickers should be placed on doors and windows to serve notice that properties have been marked.

A Full-Time Mayor

Next January, The City of Quincy will be led for the first time in 19 years by a Mayor who is not a member of the state legislature.

The situation is set up by Mayor Hannon's announcement last week that he will not seek re-election for his seat as representative from Wards 4, 5 and 6.

The announcement did not come as a surprise because Hannon had hinted during his mayoral campaign that he would step down from the House to become a full-time mayor.

But the fact that the announcement was anticipated makes it no less praiseworthy.

Political offices grow on a person. So even discounting the loss of income from the post the decision to step down must be a difficult one to make.

In announcing his decision, the mayor said growth of the city and its accompanying problems demand the complete attention of the chief executive.

And we couldn't agree more.

There is no question that Quincy has benefited greatly over the past 19 years by having its mayor serve as a member of the General Court.

Mayors Amelio Della Chiesa, James R. McIntyre and Hannon have done much for the city through their association with the State House.

But it is time for a change.

In 1953, Quincy had a municipal budget of slightly more than $12 million.

That figure has more than quadrupled in 19 years to the point in 1972 where the Mayor of Quincy heads a corporation with a $53.4 million budget.

The face of the city is changing rapidly and dramatically with such projects as State Street South, Kemper Insurance and the proposed convention center in North Quincy.

Apartment buildings and senior citizen complexes are springing up throughout the city.

Quincy must provide for more varied needs of more people than ever before.

The job of mayor is a demanding one which soon will preclude the possibility of the chief executive holding any other office.

We commend Mayor Hannon for recognizing this and for having the dedication, courage and concern for the welfare of his city to make the move.

So now that we have a full-time mayor, it's up to us to keep it that way.

And the way to do it seems to be to increase the mayor's salary to encourage qualified men to compete for the office and dedicate all their efforts to it.

Decade That Did Away With Chastity?

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Caption: Lines written after attending League of Women Voters' Units' On Birth Control and Abortion:

Troubled am I, and much afraid this shall be known as the decade that did away with chastity.

I look at our women aghast! With morals clenched in Satan's fist, how long can any nation last?

Let history tell whose shady deals Seduced the purity of maids and the heirs of once proud ideals.

Of my sisters, I am ashamed! But let none doubt my testament: I want NO PART of their low aim.

Having made war with fraudulence I feel a strong need to be cleansed, and expiate for being a woman.

•Vietnam Bait And Bite Tactics

•Moscow Summit Almost Fizzled

Washington—Last fall, Air Force General John LaVelle ordered bombing raids of North Vietnam against the expressed orders of President Nixon. These illegal air strikes not only cost General LaVelle his job, but they may well have delayed a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam war.

What hasn't been reported is that Air Force pilots have flown many more unauthorized bombing raids than the 28 LaVelle has acknowledged. This word comes from a secret report prepared by Air Force General Louis Wilson, the same man who investigated LaVelle. Here are the facts:

The President ordered our pilots not to fire unless fired upon. Many pilots stayed within the letter of the order, but still managed to hit the targets they wished. The trick was to lure the enemy into firing first.

To do this, the pilots employed a variety of schemes. One might be called bait and bite. U.S. reconnaissance planes were sent over North Vietnam targets as bait. No far behind came the fighter-bombers. If the enemy nibbled at the bait, the fighter-bombers swept in for the kill.

Even without bait, planes made fake bombing runs, sweeping low over enemy targets. This usually would provoke the Communist gunners. Then the planes made a second run—this time with guns blazing.

Technically, the pilots were authorized to return the fire. But, morally, they were violating the President's orders.

—Mil Lib—

One of the last bastions, still holding out against Women's Lib, is the military. At the Tactical Air Command, the brass hats have gone so far as to put it in writing.

At the taxpayers' expense, the brass recently published 15,000 copies of a little booklet called "Customs and Courtesies for the Air Force Wife."

This reminds the military wife, for example, that her position is "created by her husband's rank." It tells her how to dress for morning, afternoon and evening affairs. It cautions the ladies to "take their cue from the gentlemen" when attending formal affairs. When going through receiving lines, adds the booklet, "the man precedes his wife."

The Air Force wife is also told when to wear gloves, how to shake hands, where to sit at a dinner table, and how to converse. She is reminded to avoid "any discussion of service life which may be construed as complaining."

"When shopping with the family," asks the booklet, "is it permissible for an officer to help his wife carry packages or infants?" The answer: "An officer in uniform is expected to avoid situations in which it is necessary to carry bulky packages or small children. However, these days, compromise with tradition must be made. It is therefore acceptable for an officer to assist his wife with packages and/or children as long as he keeps his 'saluting arm' free."

The booklet seems to acknowledge that wives have their place in the Air Force. It's somewhere below that of airman first-class.

—Sinking Summit—

The Central Intelligence Agency has now learned that President Nixon came close to missing his historic trip to Moscow. Soviet Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev did some fast shuffling to keep the Nixon visit from being cancelled. A secret CIA report reveals that Brezhnev got his leading opponents out of town shortly before a crucial debate inside the Kremlin over the summit meeting.

Brezhnev was under fire from a number of Kremlin leaders to cancel the Nixon invitation. The Kremlin's hard-liners had become incensed over the U.S. mining of Haiphong harbor and the stepped-up bombing of North Vietnam. By mid-May, a major political storm was brewing.

The secret report reveals that Brezhnev scattered the storm clouds at a decisive meeting of Kremlin leaders. This took place on May 19—just eight days before Nixon's scheduled arrival in Moscow.

Noticeably absent were four Kremlin hard-liners. Brezhnev had arranged in advance for two to be sent to Paris, another to Warsaw, still another to Stockholm.

Defense Minister Andrei Grechko, perhaps the most powerful opponent in the Kremlin, was in Cairo when he heard of the meeting. Grechko rushed back to Moscow just in time for the meeting. But he found himself in the minority.

The skillful Brezhnev had won the round and President Nixon was spared a rebuff.

—Twist and Pull—

President Nixon continues to twist and pull at the knobs of the great American war machine in Indochina trying to find the right combination to bring this endless war to a halt.

He has pulled nearly 500,000 troops out of Vietnam. At the same time, he has quietly increased our air power in Indochina to an all-time high.

Meanwhile, the enemy continues to replenish itself. Battered, bombed, now even mined, the enemy always seems able to find the necessary resources to continue the conflict. Secret intelligence reports reveal that 7,000 new North Vietnamese recruits will move South next month for combat in Vietnam and Cambodia.

Intelligence sources also confirm that 100,000 new enemy soldiers have entered the war since January to replace the dead and wounded of the last six months.

George—or Else!

If George McGovern is denied the Democratic nomination in Miami next month, the young radicals are threatening to make Chicago four years ago look like a Sunday school service.

The veteran radical, Abby Hoffman, founder of the Yippies, told us on the telephone about his Miami convention battle plans. Hoffman says he hopes to assemble an army of 300,000 protesters outside the Miami convention hall. They will go into full cry, he says, if the party regulars deny McGovern the nomination.

Already, thousands of young militants have streamed into the city, but so far there have been no major incidents. Miami's biggest headache, in fact, involves not politics but logistics. The city can't decide where to put the dissidents.

Meanwhile, Miami Beach police chief Rocky Pomerantz has prepared a private list of 15 things he should do to maintain law and order. The last is: Pray for a hurricane.

Chamber Calls For Officials To Expedite MBTA South Extension

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce is urging state officials charged with the responsibility of making decisions relating to the Southern extension of the MBTA to do so in "rapid fashion".

In letters to State Secretary of Transportation Alan Altschuler and Commissioner of Public Works Bruce Campbell, Chamber executive vice-president Eric Swider said that a South Quincy station is an acceptable alternative to the area business community and should be constructed as soon as possible.

Swider said that design and construction of the Station, the cloverleaf at Capens Circle, and the Upland Rd extension "are all vital elements in continued economic growth for this area." He noted that sometime ago the Chamber Board of Directors adopted a position favoring a North Braintree station, but that if it is more feasible and practical at this time to accomplish further southern extension of the MBTA, by doing it in Quincy, "then we agree that it should be done."

"Economic development of the South Shore is highly dependent on adequate transportation being available here," said Swider. The growth in job opportunities that follows the MBTA tracks is the important economic result. State Street South, the proposed convention center, Kemper Insurance and others have come here for one important reason—Accessibility to Rapid Transit.

"With threats of problems revolving around the future of the Quincy Shipyard, and the potential loss of some 20,000 basic and supportive jobs on the South Shore, we must blaze a new trail into this area to bring jobs here," Swider said. "The MBTA line is a big part of the answer. The time is now."

Brett Opposes MBTA Station In Capens Circle Area

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has voiced "very strong opposition" to locating a rapid transit station in either South Quincy or North Braintree.

In a letter to MBTA Chairman Henry Sears Lodge, Brett urged that the next station be located in Braintree Center due to its accessibility to Rte. 3 and ample parking facilities.

"An examination of the proposed Capens Circle location and the traffic movements in that area will show a very serious and hazardous traffic situation on the Southeast Expressway."

"Cars would necessarily be having to cross through three lanes of high speed traffic to get to the off ramps," he said.

"In addition, large areas of land are necessary for the parking of cars and the South Quincy location cannot provide enough open space for that purpose," he said.

Ignoring Political Experts Pays Off

Hanabury said, "I've been interested in politics since high school and have become active only recently."

As Quincy's only delegate to the National Convention, Mrs. Hanabury has become somewhat of an instant celebrity. She has received letters from most of the Presidential candidates, the most recent from Hubert Humphrey, last Thursday.

Despite all the attention she has received, Mrs. Hanabury says, "The most interesting part of being delegate is the people you meet and with whom otherwise you would never be in contact."

Greenwald of 15 Ridgeway Dr., Merrymount, is a graduate of Quincy High School and is currently a student at Boston University.

He is past president of the Boston University Young Democrats and was a candidate for Democratic State Committeeman last April.

He too has received his share of attention. In this week's mail there was an invitation to a reception for George Wallace.

"The greatest thrill for me," says Greenwald, "was the opportunity to vote for the Massachusetts National Committeeman and National Committeewoman."

Greenwald expects a first ballot victory for McGovern, but should it go to a second or third ballot, he says he'll stick with McGovern.

The Massachusetts delegation will be the subject of an NBC pre-primary special July 9 at 5:30 p.m.

$10,000 For Repairs At Dorothy Quincy House

Congressman James A. Burke [D-Milton] announces that the Massachusetts Historical Commission has been awarded a grant in the amount of $10,000 for the Quincy Homestead [Dorothy Quincy House], by the National Register of Historic Places, National Park Service, of the Department of the Interior.

This grant will allow for the painting of the exterior of the house, repair of roof leaks, and corner sag. It has been made available under the authority of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, as amended. The grant is to help protect and restore our country's architectural, cultural, and historic heritage.

Square Dancing For Sidewalk Bazaar

Square Dancing will be a highlight of this year's Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar with three separate events on July 20 and 21.

Some 100 members of the Gingham Swingers will sashay through an exhibition in front of City Hall July 21.

And Dick Springer of Hull will call the steps in public dances at the Court House July 20 and in Grossman's Parking lot on July 21.

The Gingham Swingers of South Weymouth list more than 300 members from around the South Shore with Arnie Kanash of Holbrook as their caller.

Club members will perform as they have for each of the past two Sidewalk Bazaars from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Dick Springer has also become somewhat of a tradition for the downtown festivities as hundreds of residents have danced to his calling at the bazaars.

He is past secretary of the Old Colony Callers Association and in his five years of calling has performed throughout New England and New York.

Springer's voice has been heard at the New England Square Dance Conventions, Foxboro Hospital and the annual Square Dance Week programs at the Prudential Center in Boston.

The Sidewalk Bazaar is sponsored this year by the newly formed Quincy Center Associates.

Entertainment scheduled includes concerts by the Morrisette Post and Satuit bands and the Buddy Burke Banjo Band, strolling minstrels and a barbershop quartet.

Festivities will close on Saturday, July 22, with the Miss Quincy Bay Race Week Beauty Pageant on Hancock St.

LaRaia Urges Tight Security For Schools After Hunting Fire

Councillor-at-large Joseph J. LaRaia has urged stronger security for public schools in the wake of a $50,000 fire at the Nathaniel S. Hunting School.

In a letter to Mayor Hannon, LaRaia said the city "must find a way to protect the millions of dollars of taxpayer's investment within our entire school system.

"It appears that the expense of a security force for the school system would be more than justified against the high dollar loss that is brought on by vandalism," he said.

Houghs Neck Man On Ship That Downs MIG-17

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Albert A. Bueler, son of Mrs. Jack R. Bueler of 81 Turner St., Houghs Neck, is a crew member of the missile-armed frigate, USS Sterett, which downed an enemy

MIG-17 with a Terrier guided missile.

The MIG downing marked the first kill by a Terrier missile fired at a hostile target and probably the first time a Navy Task Unit successfully defended itself against enemy jet aircraft.

Mayor Hannon To Address Ward 3 Civic Association

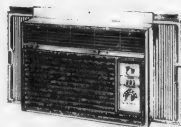

Mayor Walter J. Hannon will be guest speaker at an open meeting of the Ward 3 Civic Association July 12.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Walter Scott Hall, 34 Franklin St., South Quincy.

Senior Citizen's Establish Marion Andrews Fan Club

At the final meeting of the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens Clubs, presidents and representatives of member clubs voted unanimously to form a Marion Andrews Senior Citizens Fan Club in honor of the city's Director of Senior Citizens Activities.

Mrs. Andrews has been directing Senior Citizens activities in various areas including nursing homes, club and on a city-wide basis for more than five years.

During the summer months, names of Senior Citizens Club members will be compiled by the city's 19 Senior Citizens Clubs presidents to be placed in a special book to be presented to Mrs. Andrews at a later date in the fall.

Any Senior Citizens of Quincy interested who does not belong to any club wishing to have their names recorded in the Fan Club Book are asked to mail their names and addresses to Mrs. Margaret Campbell, 108 California Ave., Quincy, Secretary of the Federation.

More than 125 nursing home patients have been recorded in the book. The Federation of Senior Citizens Clubs represent more than 2,300 Quincy Senior Citizens.

Historical Society Tea At Adams Birthplaces July 9

Quincy Historical Society invites members and friends of the Society to attend its annual tea and open house at the Adams Birthplaces on Franklin St., Sunday, July 9, from 3 to 5 p.m.

In recognition of the operation and maintenance of the Birthplaces as a cooperative venture between the Historical Society and the City of Quincy, which started in 1940 when the City took over the property from the Adams family, city officials are especially invited to the tea.

Invitations have also been sent to the presidents of neighboring historical societies.

The tea is a traditional event that has been held annually for many years. The date is the Sunday closest to July 11, the birthday of John Quincy Adams.

Hostesses for the tea are the ladies on the Society's Board of Curators, and the wives of the men on the Board. Miss Vera Call is chairman of the event.

Poet's Corner

The Rain

SPLASH!

Here comes the rain

Pelting down my window pane

It's tiny teardrops from above Linger downward like drops of love

The rain has thoughts for everyone

And then it dries with the rays of sun

What dreams do you hold oh rain so true

That will make my thoughts no longer true

You have no magic in your drops for me

No soothing sighs for humanity

You have no mind in which to think

Of poison remedies that make men sink

Sometimes I wonder if you're not the pity

Of God's lasting tears on his holty city.

Clear As Crystal

A tall glass of amber-clear iced tea is one of the delights of summer. So have a pitcherful on hand day and night to quench hot weather thirsts and revive heat-wilted spirits. Make the tea the easy, no-work way using cold tap water and teabags. The tea will be crystal clear, you can store it in the refrigerator, and it will never cloud. Just be sure to start it well ahead of time because it takes time for the cold water to extract the flavor from the tea leaves. Start a batch in the morning to use in the afternoon or make it in the evening so it'll be ready for the next day. Here's how you do it:

Cold Water Method For Cloudless Iced Tea

- Fill a quart pitcher or container with cold tap water.
- Add 8-10 teabags (remove tags). Cover.
- Let stand at room temperature or in the refrigerator for 6 hours or overnight.
- Remove teabags, squeezing against side of container.
- When ready to serve, pour into ice-filled glasses. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Sun Signs

By Regina Russell

Week of July 6 - 13

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - If you want cooperation, calmly talking over how you feel and what you want to accomplish will create better understanding.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Even though your income is steady there seems to be a need for a well-balanced budget. No increase in pay due yet.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Your new friends will exert a steady influence on your life and the effect will last a very long time.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Your sympathy and understanding is appreciated by an older person who is confined. Listen to their complaints patiently.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Someone is trying to tell you how they feel and since it's to your benefit, you should take time out to listen to them.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - The recent emotional upsets are about over, patch up any misunderstandings and then turn your attention to career matters.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Either attending or taking part in a ceremony brings pleasure this week. For some, your hopes and wishes are realized.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - If you start a savings account now you will have the funds you're going to need later on this year.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - This is a good time to talk things over with your partner, plans can be discussed without involving emotions.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - An improvement in health or working conditions helps to set your mind at ease - you feel you can tackle anything!

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - The emotional upsets caused by children and the creative difficulties that have been plaguing you are about over.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - The problems at home are slowly dissolving and you can now turn your attention to everyday work. Watch your health this month.

New "Soft" Contact Lens

Many of the 8 million Americans who own the conventional kind of "hard" contact lenses find them too uncomfortable to wear regularly. Now, following approval by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration, there is a new plastic lens on the market which is soft and supple when bathed in tears or saline solution. The softness eliminates discomfort when the lens comes in contact with the eyelid.

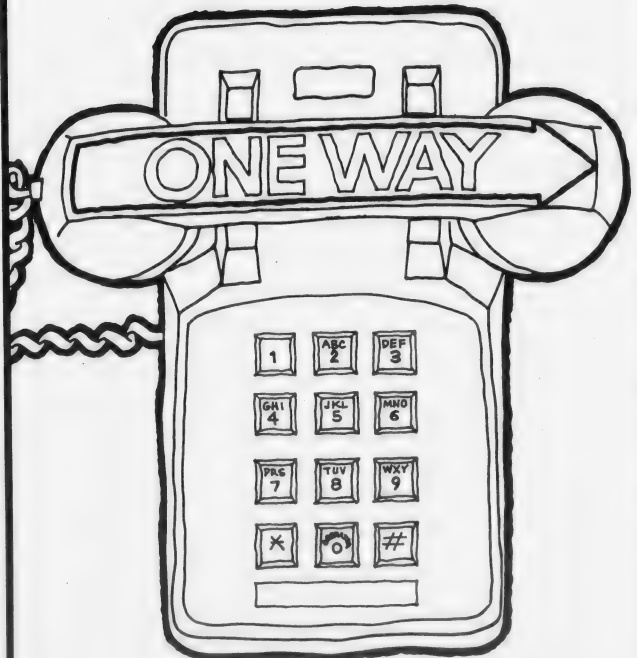

Doctors say that most wearers need no period of adjustment to the new lens. Unlike the hard one, the soft lens does not pop out [and extremis situation if you happen to be swimming or strolling through the tall grass]. Also, it need not be shaped to the eye, and thus does not require repeated visits to the doctor for fitting.

So, for those of you who always wanted to wear contacts, but found them too uncomfortable, you now have a new opportunity to cast off your spectacles ★★★

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. You can also pay your electric or telephone bills or use our notary public service. Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. Prescription tax and insurance records kept plus 24 hour emergency service in North Quincy. Open 7 days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

'Cuddies And Kisses'

"Before we were married"...Ann, a 35-year old wife was saying..."he was so courteous...so pleasing...other women thought I was so lucky...it was so romantic. Now...15 years and three children later, he nearly ignores me. I feel so rejected. No warm pats...no hugs or gentle kisses in the kitchen. Just routine sex in bed." Ann finished, looked at me...then at her husband Sean with pain in her face.

"Ann"...said Sean..."you must assume much of the responsibility for such omissions on my part. I quit patting your hips when you started wearing a girdle. No man wants to pat a girdle. I quit trying to hug and kiss you in the kitchen when you pushed me away with excuses..."Can't you see I'm busy getting dinner?"...and "do you want the children to see you?" I have felt rejected by you and...you're right...in turn I've been rejecting you. Before we married, your response was so warm and receptive. After we married, you made me feel unwelcome when I tried to continue our romance."

Ann and Sean had a problem...if it couldn't be resolved, certainly their marriage was in jeopardy. It was the problem of closeness.

Hip patting...kissing...hugging...cuddling...are important parts of most marriages because of what they say..."I like you...I want to be close to you." When a husband and wife cuddle together, the need for closeness is being expressed at a mature adult level. Big beds...twin beds...can lead to separate rooms and separate houses. There's no such thing as too much closeness...only too much resistance on the part of one or the other to closeness.

If this touching closeness is so important to marriage why does it get shut off? A few people never got it turned on...the "good" young people who never petted..."saved" themselves for marriage. Now, they don't know how...it doesn't just come naturally. Romantic habits are just as much learned behavior as learning to swim. Who teaches one to hug...to pat...to kiss...to cuddle...to be romantic? These you learn by experience...or you don't learn them. It's difficult to learn to swim from a book...or to be close.

Fears and taboos have been made more meaningful than closeness to some people. Parents cheat children when they discourage closeness.

Hurts that result in lingering resentment also block closeness. When a woman makes a man feel that his desires or needs are of secondary consideration...or a man makes a woman feel so...you can be sure that the other isn't exactly going to do romantic handstands...or feel the throbbing power of romance by your presence.

I happen to think that it's bad parenthood for children not to see their parents hugging and kissing in expressions of romantic closeness. What they see may speak more loudly in years to come than now. A good romantic marriage starts by children observing a good romantic model.

Get rid of the taboos...the hurting habits...the resentments...the resistance to closeness...the "not let the children see" attitude. You might still have a lot of romance in you. Ann and Sean did.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS...For Group Therapy...For Private Counseling...you may write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, Mass., or call 326-5990, or 545-5947. Therapy Groups meet Friday at 10 A.M....Friday at 7 P.M....Sunday at 7 P.M.

Gary Ruggiero Appointed To Berklee Music Staff

Berklee College of Music President Lawrence Berk announces the appointment of Gary Ruggiero of 145 Willard St., West Quincy, to the faculty of the Arranging Department.

Ruggiero, a Berklee alumnus, holds a B.M. Degree in Music Education. While a student at the college he was instructed under jazz masters Phil Wilson, Herb Pomeroy, John LaPorta and John Bavich.

A talented clarinetist,

Ruggiero was featured regularly in Berklee concerts as soloist: under the baton of well-known faculty members. Ruggiero has also appeared extensively leading his own Quintet throughout the New England area in numerous professional engagements.

As a member of the Berklee faculty, Ruggiero will be instructing Theory and Ensemble. He is married to the former Christine DeMatteo of Bridgeport, Conn.

Brownell Seeks Extra Police Protection At Chapel Park Area

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has asked for added police protection in the Chapel Street Park area of lower Houghs Neck.

In a letter to Police Chief Francis X. Finn, Brownell said "an unruly group of unknown persons [have] made a nuisance of themselves to both the residents of the area and people who want to enjoy the park."

He asked that regular police patrol of the park be increased, a foot patrolman be assigned to the park and that arc lights be installed.

"I know that if these steps are taken we can solve this vexing community problem which is of great concern to many Houghs Neck citizens," he said.

Variety Is The Spice Of Life For Wollaston's Sabina Stenberg

If variety is the spice of life, Sabina Stenberg's existence is anything but bland.

Sabina, of 141 South Central Ave., Wollaston, is a real estate broker, freelance model, fashion commentator and director of Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore Inc.

And in between, she finds time to operate Sabina's Beauty Salon at 660 Hancock St., Quincy.

Sabina was born in South Boston, graduated from St. Ambrose School and Jeremiah Burke High School and attended Boston University.

She is a former Hart Model of Boston, modeled for Bonds of Israel and has staged several fashion shows for local churches and organizations.

Using members of the organizations as models, she has commented shows at Fontbonne Academy, Sacred Heart, St. Ann's, St. Mary's and St. John's Churches, Adas Shalom Women and many others.

A Roux color technician, she worked as a hairdresser for Elizabeth Arden and is former owner of the Sidney Hill Country Club Beauty Salon in Chestnut Hill.

Sabina moved to Wollaston five years ago to open her salon specializing in high-styling, hair coloring, make-up, wigs and "everything possible in the fashion line."

Sabina's Beauty Salon employs five operators, including her daughter Madge.

The shop is open six days a week until 5:30 p.m. and Thursday evenings, caters to senior citizens at half price, and does men's hair styling.

Besides her daughter, Sabina has a son, Peter Stenberg Jr., who is studying at the University of Massachusetts to be a psychiatrist.

Sabina is a member of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association, South Shore Chamber of Commerce and St. Ann's Marianns.

She is a member of the Ledgewood House for Jewish Emotionally Disturbed Children, American Jewish Congress and the Irish Social Club.

Brownell Asks Signing Of Wollaston Golf Course Bill

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has urged Gov. Sargent to sign the bill before him to authorize Norfolk County's acquisition of Wollaston Golf Course.

"If this proposal is not approved, the area involved, the last major piece of open space in Quincy and Milton, will be lost forever and sold off to developers," Brownell said.

"This is the only viable measure that we have before us to prevent this from happening," he said.

He said benefits from county operation of the course would far outweigh the cost to communities.

"I urge you to help us save Wollaston Golf Course for open space and recreation," he said. "Present and future generations will thank you for exercising your foresight."

William Ayers, Geraldine Donovan Graduate From Princeton

Two Quincy residents were among the 1,425 seniors who received bachelor's degrees at the recent commencement exercises of Princeton University.

William M. Ayers, son of Mrs. Catherine Ayers of 144 Sonoma

Rd., received a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering.

Geraldine Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Donovan of 104 Glover Ave., received a bachelor of arts degree in East Asian studies.

Youthful Jobs Offer More than Money

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Hottelbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursday's

Educator Robert Maynard Hutchins has argued for education unhampered by part-time work. Even if his point that education is an all-out matter deserving full attention were theoretically admitted, we doubt that on a practical level it is valid for most persons.

We share the view of the coed who told us, "I don't think my job is hurting my education. I don't have any serious financial needs, but it's only when I'm under pressure that I get things done. I think most successful students are that way. If I didn't work, I'd putter."

Teen-agers realize all kinds of values from their work-study experiences. "The maturity of some of these students is amazing," comments one high-school administrator. It's no wonder. They are achieving a sense of accomplishment and self-respect. They are learning the benefits of well-disciplined schedules. They are getting early acquaintance with the adult world. And they are often finding the part-time or summer job a stepping stone to their life work.

As one girl said concerning her after-school employment: "You get to meet other kinds of people than your parents and your friends. Some of them and their ideas disturb you, but it is all part of learning about people. It surprised me to discover that many people don't hold the same values that my parents and I do."

The insights that teen-agers gain from their employment are often helpful in steering them toward lifetime careers. A science lab executive was so impressed with the reliability and intelligence of the young fellow who had started to work for him as an errand boy that he encouraged him in the direction of science as a career and offered him a permanent position on graduation at an impressive salary.

One youth, torn between accounting and law as his life vocation, spent one year during his pre-professional education as a junior law clerk and another year in an accounting office. His experiences prompted him to choose in favor of law. Another lad, given the same opportunities, might have found a preference for accounting.

Frequently, such exposures to career work result in changed attitudes toward life goals. One high-school senior decided against pharmacy as his objective after part-time work in a drug store. A high-school coed who had entertained ambitions to become a doctor changed to nursing after employment in a hospital.

Since increasing numbers of students must work to finance an education these days, it is wise for them to be choosy if they can about the kind of job they seek. Less attention should be given to the hourly rate of pay than to what the job may disclose about a career in which they may be interested.

Central Junior Study Of Butler's Pond Wins Praise

The Quincy Conservation Commission has extended thanks to the oceanography class of Central Junior High School for its "Quantitative Analysis of Butler's Pond".

The 30-page report was compiled by Central students and submitted for commission's files.

Mrs. Frank E. Yeomans, commission executive secretary, said "It is a piece of work worthy of the highest commendation and will prove most useful to the commission.

"We realize that a great deal of work went into the preparation of this analysis and commend one and all for the thoroughness and professionalism of the report," Mrs. Yeomans said.

The report details geography, physical appearance, chemistry, bacteriology and aquatic biology of the pond "along with a summary, recommendation, site locations, date tables and data graphs.

"It is indeed a report of definitude," Mrs. Yeomans said. In a letter to Central teachers Raymond Whitehouse and William McWeeny, Mrs. Yeomans gave credit to students Daniel Blaney, Pat Conroy, Gerard McKillop, Robert Moses, and McGilvray, Cheryl Walsh and Shirley Whitemore.

Joseph N. Gildea, Jr. Wentworth Graduate

Joseph N. Gildea, Jr. of 45 Division St., North Quincy, graduated from Wentworth Institute, Boston, with high scholastic attainment in architectural engineering technology.

Gildea, a Navy Veteran and National Honor Society member, received an Associate in Engineering degree and will further his education at Wentworth College.

Smyth Requests Fencing Of DeMatteo Yard

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has asked Martin DeMatteo of M. DeMatteo Construction Co. to fence the storage area on Hancock and Price Sts.

"The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the MBTA and the City of Quincy have invested in excess of $1 million to upgrade the Hancock St. area from North Quincy High School to the Neponset Bridge," he said.

"The citizens of Quincy and businesses, certainly would appreciate your storage yard being fenced in so that your equipment which is stored there will not be unsightly to look at."

Rep. Clifford Marshall To Seek Third Term

Rep. Clifford H. Marshall announces his candidacy for a third term in the Second Norfolk District which comprises Quincy Wards 2 and 3.

Marshall declared: "Although I have been greatly encouraged by many friends and supporters throughout the city to seek higher office, I feel at the present time I can best serve the residents of the city in my present position as representative."

Marshall, a Democrat, listed among his accomplishments: sponsor of original oil boom bill to protect shoreline; a leader to create individual departments to assist in the problems of elderly affairs; initiated youth centers throughout Quincy with state and city funds; actively supported MBTA fare reductions for elderly and school children; actively supported creation of "Bill of Rights" for the protection of consumers; filed initial flood study bill for Quincy; petitioned Attorney General to file court action against air polluters.

Also sponsored amendments on youth service reorganization creating a bureau of educational services and mandatory in-service training; actively supported generic drug law, unit food pricing omnibus housing law and mental health reform.

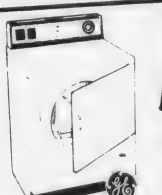

Marshall, who is also Ward 2 City Councillor, noted he has been cited by the Quincy Council on Aging, State Commissioner of Veterans Services, Mass. State Labor Council AFL-CIO, Associated Firefighters of Massachusetts, Norfolk County Labor Council, Massachusetts Teachers Association, American Legion, Ward II Civic Association, Quincy Jaycees and others.

Marshall is a U.S. Marine Corps veteran and attended Quincy Public Schools, Quincy Junior College [adult drug education course] and Suffolk University.

Marshall is married to the former Louise M. Caporale. He is the father of four sons, Clifford II, 9; Michael J., 7; Paul S., 5; and Christopher J., age 3. The family resides at 64 Edison St., Quincy Point.

ARTIST AT WORK - Bob Volpini, a culinary arts student at Quincy Vocational Technical School, works on an inverted shrimp mold for the buffet display which won top honors for the school at the New England Hotel, Motel and Restaurant Show.

JANET GAUTHIER frosts a three-tiered wedding cake for the pastry exhibit which won first prize for Quincy Vocational Technical School at the recent New England Hotel, Motel and Restaurant Show in Boston.

The culinary arts department at Quincy Vocational-Technical School won top prize in the two categories it entered in the 47th annual New England Hotel, Motel and Restaurant Show.

Students won first prize in the confectionary class for a pastry buffet and in the "Class F" competition for a complete cold buffet of hors d'oeuvres, salad, sandwiches, cake, breads and centerpiece.

Betty Ann Perruzzi, a senior at the school, won the competition's Most Outstanding Student Award for a lobster confection.

The display, at Hynes Civic Auditorium, was prepared by 55 juniors and seniors under the direction of Culinary Arts Coordinator George Cole, Ross Ajemian, Edward Rapucci and Norbert Steele.

Cole said the buffets consisted of more than 30 individual and group cooking and baking projects selected by the students.

The display featured intricate designs with shrimp, fruits and vegetables suspended in gelatin and a dining room window through which a candy and cake cherry tree could be seen.

INTRICATE DESIGNS can be seen in the icing that decorates these bridesmaid cakes which were among the many foods prepared by the Culinary Arts Department of Quincy Vocational Technical School which won first prize in the recent exhibition at the Hynes Civic Auditorium, Boston.

Richard W. Howe of 205 Taffrail Rd and Carol A. Mahoney of 126 Grandview Ave., Wollaston, received bachelor of arts degrees.

Legion Baseball

Quincy, Morrisette Getting Top Pitching

The Morrisette and Quincy Legion batters haven't been knocking down the fences this season but each has received outstanding pitching to keep it in the running for Zone 6 honors.

Morrisette, the defending champion seeking its 18th Zone title, Wednesday night played at Weymouth, goes to Randolph Friday and Monday hosts Quincy at Adams Field.

Quincy, the surprise team of the year so far, Wednesday night was home to Randolph, hosts Morrisette and next Wednesday goes to Braintree.

Morrisette Coach Ray Cattaneo is getting top notch pitching from veterans Jimmy

Meanwhile, Quincy Coach Connie Carozzi has been receiving equally outstanding hurling from his three Ms, Steve Mele, Bobby Morton and Dave Murphy.

Mele is the big surprise. Regularly an outfielder, Steve was pressed into service as a starting pitcher when Bob Brill signed with the Milwaukee Brewers and has been little short of sensational.

Last week Malvesti threw a three-hitter at Hingham as Morrisette edged Hingham, 2-1, to make its record 3-2. Malvesti drove in the first run with a sharp single and when the centerfielder had trouble fielding the ball, Mike Marvelle scored the winning run. Jim Driscoll had scored the first run on Malvesti's hit.

Driscoll and Marvelle each had two hits. Malvesti struck out four and walked only one.

Mele and Morton combined to hold Weymouth to seven hits but Quincy could collect only five and dropped a 2-1 heartbreaker. Morton was the losing pitcher.

Morton had two hits while Greg Fennessey and Dave Drew each had a double. The loss dropped Quincy to 3-3.

Signing Of Brill A Pleasant Surprise To Him, Scouts

By TOM SULLIVAN

Ron Frongello, former North Quincy High pitching star and now an area scout for the Milwaukee Brewers of the American League, together with Cohasset's Billy Enos, supervisor of New England scouts, have signed up another South Shore player.

Last week Frongello and Enos surprised a lot of people by signing Quincy's Bob Brill, a pitcher for Quincy High and Quincy Legion, who had received little notoriety.

"Actually, we signed Brill while scouting another pitcher, Bob Hillyer of Weymouth," Frongello, now a Hingham resident, said. "We went to a Quincy-Weymouth Legion game to watch Hillyer, but were so impressed with the way Brill was throwing, we immediately approached him about signing with us."

Despite the fact he lost a 5-0 decision, the 6-4, 205-pound left, pitched extremely well.

Bob had received far less publicity than many other South Shore players and Frongello and Enos had the field pretty much to themselves. But they think they have another fine prospect.

"Bob needs a lot of work but he has very good control, one of the things that impressed us and he has some good men working with him at Newark," Frongello added. The Brewers' Newark, N.Y., team is in the Class A New York-Penn League.

Sandy Johnson is Newark's manager and also working hard with Brill is Al Widmar, a former major league pitcher who is the pitching coach for the Brewers' entire minor league system.

As Brill was pitching for Quincy Legion, Frongello and Enos talked with his coach, Connie Carozzi, before signing him to a contract.

"Connie didn't hesitate to tell us to go ahead and sign him, much as he hated to lose him," Ronnie said. "If Quincy was a solid contender this year for league honors, we would have waited before signing him."

"Of course I hated to lose Bob, as he was our number one pitcher, but I wouldn't stand in his way and we all wish him a lot of luck," Carozzi said. "I think, with a little work, he can develop into a really fine pitcher and I feel the scouts were smart in signing him."

Frongello and Enos are pleased that seven South Shore and Greater Boston players signed by them are now playing regularly in pro ball. Of course, Enos' top signee was Norwood's Skip Lockwood, one of the Brewers' top pitchers who signed when the team was still in Seattle.

Mrs. Adolph Aimola Scores

Low Net At Furnace Brook

Mrs. Adolph Aimola fired a 49 for the low gross score in the Tuesday women's golf tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Course.

Mrs. Thomas Mulroy and Mrs. George Hodges tied for the low net score at 29, Mrs. John Framo finished second with a 30 and Mrs. Fred Lutfy placed third.

Mrs. George Doherty and Quentin McCaffrey combined for a 41 as low gross in the Scotch tournament Wednesday.

Tied for low net score were Mrs. Robert Roche and John Donovan and Mrs. Paul O'Leary and Roy Christenson at 32.

In a three-way tie for second place at 33 were Marie Corayer and Joe Chapin, Mrs. Joseph DiFederico and Matt Smith and Mrs. George Flate and Anthony Spinello.

Mrs. Anthony Spinello and James Galvin finished third with a net score of 34.

Giachetti To Coach In Mexico

Rich Giachetti, former North Quincy High and Tufts College football star, will make his college coaching debut in the fall but not in this country.

Rich has been named assistant coach at Monterrey Tech in Monterrey, Mexico, as the first step in a sports and cultural exchange program between Tufts and Monterrey.

Horatio Gomez, vice president of Monterrey, said Giachetti also would help develop a new physical education curriculum at the Mexican school.

A Tufts spokesman said the two-year arrangement was established by Tufts Latin American teaching fellowship program which has assisted more than 200 American scholars to teach or work in 11 Latin American countries during the past seven years.

Rich's appointment marks the first time the program has sponsored a fellowship in athletics.

Giachetti broke many single season and career pass receiving records at Tufts.

Happy Acres Day Camp To Open On July 5

Happy Acres Day Camp for Retarded Children will open July 5.

Recreation Director William F. Ryan announces that Earl E. Vermillion will be camp Director.

Happy Acres is located at Pageant's Field in Merrymount Park. The program consists of singing, crafts, boating, nature, sports, drama, camping, tennis, archery and more. Bus transportation is provided for all campers. In addition, a large staff of volunteers is utilized to assist in programming. Those seeking information concerning admission requirements and volunteer service, are asked to call the Recreation office at 479-3221.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

If nothing else, give MARTY ALLEN an A for effort. He's still trying to make it big as a movie star with the forthcoming "WHALE OF A TALE" his latest fish pitch... San Francisco 49'er GENE WASHINGTON film debuts in "BLACK GUNN". The multi-talented football player [we'll reserve reservations on his acting ability] should feel right at home on the "GUNN" set what with former All Pro JIM BROWN the star of the motion picture... And whatever became of VERA ALLEN?

JOAN BLONDELL's first novel "CENTER DOOR FANCY" [fiction] reads like an autobiography with a rags to riches, vaudeville to Hollywood theme... ANNE JEFFRIES, alumni emeritus of stage, screen and television, is ABC bound for the fall. She is signed to co-star with LAURENCE LUCKINBILL in the "DELPHI BUREAU" series... READER'S DIGEST, the magazine people, are now in the film business. Together with United Artists, they are financing "TOM SAWYER", a $2.4 million musical... Set as the leads in this MARK TWAIN classic are WARREN OATES and CELESTE HOLMES...

New Trends in Education Dept: Berkeley, California continues to set the pace, for better or worse. In a high school class on Constitutional Law, students are "studying" hardcore porno film fare as part of the curriculum... Student attendance has been reported to be very high and the program involving filmed lesbianism and bestiality may have something to do with it... Warner Bros. has finalized arrangements on the sequel of last years surprise hit "THE SUMMER OF 42". Titled "CLASS OF 44", this feature reunites the original "SUMMER" cast of GARY GRIMES, JERRY HAUSER and OLIVER CONAT, and follows the boys from high school graduation to college and the Korean War...

ANTHONY QUINN again shows his versatility as an actor, and this time around in "Blackface". QUINN has been tabbed for the role of Black Haitian emperor Henry Christophe... Newcomer PAUL CALL is getting the star buildup with his first outing "DEATH TRAP"... For the 13th consecutive week "THE GODFATHER" is spellbinding audiences nationwide as America's number one Cinema attraction. And world wide, this picture has captured close to $70 million at the box office...

CLINT EASTWOOD explodes on the screen this summer in the hard nose, gore splash, "JOE KIDD"... And talk about top draw casting. ROBERT REDFORD and BARBRA STREISAND, two of your finest thespians, with the box office clout to match, have been paired by producer RAY STARK to star in "THE WAY WE WERE"... The SYDNEY POLLACK directed picture is scheduled to roll in August with on locale shooting in Hollywood, New York and New England...

"APE" buffs won't want to miss the fourth in the series, "CONQUEST OF THE PLANET OF THE APES". High entertainment value for the dollar, "CONQUEST" goes one step better than its three predecessors, with a strong story line backboned with contemporary Civil Liberty themes... "JUNIOR BONNER" could snare STEVE MCQUEEN his second Oscar nomination. In the role of a wandering, on the downhill rodeo star, MCQUEEN turns in his best performance since "SAND PEBBLES" [1965]... A welcome homecoming to acting excellence from the low key MCQUEEN...

For an actor written off as finished 10 years ago, VICTOR MATURE makes monkeys out of his critics with an hilarious Mafia spoof in the fast paced, box office comedy "EVERY LITTLE NOOK AND NANNY". PG-rated film fare everyone under 80 should get a hearty belly laugh from... ANDY WARHOL'S "TRASH" came under heavy censorship attack when it debuted in Rome. The censors were shocked that such "trash" was being peddled as film "art"... Yes, and KATY JURADO is still making movies. She just completed assignment on "ONCE UPON A SCOUNDREL" with ZERO MOSTEL as her mischievous co-star...

Mayor JOHN LINDSAY's proposal of making Gotham the fashion capital of the world seems irrelevant in the face of New York City being the porno-smut capital of the country... Movies playing the 42nd street scene are strictly no-no in most other parts of the country... You go back a decade or four if you remember seeing ALFRED LUNT and wife LYNN FONTAINE in silent motion pictures. The first couple of the stage celebrated their golden wedding anniversary a month ago...

FRANK SINATRA is back on center stage with a July 18th songfest set with the House Crime Committee... And here we go again with another X-rated "cartoon" on the boards. Titled "SIR PUSS-IN-BOOTS", the release is being directed by Oscar winning cartoon authority JACK KINNEY [an alumni of WALT DISNEY productions, "PINOCCHIO" "DUMBO" et al] and "voiced" starring SAMMY DAVIS JR... Needless to say, there's gold in them thar X-rated cartoon flicks...

Thinking Out Loud: When and if "GUNSMOKE" sees its final TV sunset, will JAMES ARNESS call it quits as an actor, or do what so many television stars have done in the past; namely, pursue a career as a film actor?... And speaking of ARNESS, before he made it big as Marshall Dillon, he was under exclusive contract to JOHN WAYNE. Away back in the early 50's The "Duke" had Big JIM tabbed as his heir apparent as Tinseltown's top cowboy actor...

Every general bid and every sub-bid designated in Item 2 of the FORM FOR GENERAL BID shall be accompanied by cash or a certified check on, or a treasurer's or cashier's check issued by a responsible bank or trust company, payable to the City of Quincy.

The amounts shall be as follows:
For General Bidders . . . . . $15,000.

For Filed Sub-Bidders . . . . . Refer to Part I, Bidding Requirements, Instructions to Bidders for specific amounts.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond and also a labor and materials or payment bond as set forth in the specifications.

Attention is called to the fact that no less than the minimum wage rates as set forth in the schedules contained in the specifications must be paid on this project.

The bidder must agree to commence work within ten [10] days of execution of a general contract and to substantially complete the project no later than September 15, 1972.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in the bidding if it be in the public interest to do so, provided such rejection or waiver be in conformance with Sections 44A to 44L inclusive of Chapter 149, of the General Laws, as amended.

Brownell To Seek Ward 1 Full Term

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has announced his candidacy for re-election to his first full term as state representative from Ward One.

Brownell, who won the seat in a special election last November, said he has "attempted to provide [his constituents] with the responsive full-time representation they deserve."

"I believe that with the increasing demand for more governmental service accompanied by rising taxes we must strive to make government on all levels work more effectively for the taxpayers," he said.

"Ultimately the people should obtain a dollar's worth of government services for every tax dollar spent," he said.

Brownell, a life resident of Ward 1, is a former assistant attorney general and former legislative counsel for the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation.

He is a part-time lecturer in government at Suffolk University and is chairman of the Ward One Democratic Committee.

He graduated cum laude from Suffolk in 1963, received his doctor of laws degree there in 1967 and graduated from the Boston University Law School Graduate Law Taxation Program.

Brownell is a member of the Massachusetts, Norfolk County and Quincy Bar Associations.

He is married to the former Margaret T. Donovan and the father of a daughter, Karyn Elizabeth. The Brownells live at 15 Moreland Rd.

New Grants, Loans Available

HUD Grants $885,284 For Point Improvement

By DICK MATTULINA

An $885,284 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development has cleared the way for completion of the Quincy Point Improvement Project.

The grant, announced by Cong. James A. Burke, represents the federal funding for street and home improvements in an area bounded by Elm St., Quincy Ave. and the Southern Artery.

Quincy is now required to match one half of the portion of the grant which will be spent on public works improvements and staff salaries.

The grant, added to the $463,000 received last year for the area between Fore River Circle and the Southern Artery, brings total federal money for the project to $1,348,284.

City Planner Geoffrey A. Davidson said some $400,000 of the new funds will be put towards public works projects such as street resurfacing and reconstruction and tree planting.

It will also help finance sidewalk repair, rebuilding of loom borders, and the installation of needed traffic signals and a fire alarm system throughout Ward 2, he said.

The remainder of the money will be put toward grants and low-interest loans for home improvement and staff salaries.

Davidson said the project applied, through his office, for $944,000 for "Phase II", but the grant fell "a bit short" because no relocation is expected.

Project Director George Fleming said a contract has been signed for some $258,000 in public works efforts in the "Phase I" area of southern Quincy Point.

Fleming said $134,000 has been set aside for flat grants to homeowners averaging approximately $2,400 per dwelling in the Phase I area.

Another $150,000 will be distributed in the form of loans at three-percent interest which are expected to average approximately $4,500 per dwelling.

The budget breakdown on loans and grants is not expected to be known for two weeks, Fleming said.

Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall said he was "extremely happy that the HUD people were able to authorize the continuation of the program."

The project will allow low-income and elderly residents a chance to bring their homes up to modern electrical and appearance standards, he said.

And it is a "necessity in a community like Quincy to prevent wholesale old-fashioned urban renewal," Marshall said.

He said he was "tremendously pleased because one of the main reasons why I stayed on the City Council was to help push the project through."

'Unique, Valuable Experience'

Mrs. Hanabury 'Glued To Seat' At Democratic National Convention

By PAUL HAROLD
Quincy Sun Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH - Miami Beach may be the fun capital of the world, but not for Quincy's delegate to the Democratic National Convention, Mrs. Marilyn Hanabury.

Mrs. Hanabury has spent more time under the hot, television lights of the convention hall than under the Florida sun.

The Democratic National Convention is usually a mixture of fun and work, but this convention seems to be mostly work.

Since her arrival Sunday, Mrs. Hanabury has been on a busy schedule. She was settled in the Beau Rivage Hotel for less than 20 minutes when she had to rush off to a meeting of the Women's Political Caucus.

An hour later she, along with the other 101 members of the Massachusetts delegation, were bussed off to the convention hall for the filming of an NBC special program.

Afterwards, that same night, the Massachusetts delegation was herded into the first of many four-hour caucuses.

The delegation has caucused everyday, to debate and vote on the business to be acted on at the afternoon sessions of the convention.

"When the voting takes place at the convention," Mrs. Hanabury said, "it happens very quickly. Many times the question has involved a complicated legal issue and without the morning caucus it would be almost impossible to untangle the facts."

"The operation of the convention is fascinating, but in one sense, the people watching on television have an advantage. They get an overall view of all the convention activities. As delegate, I've been glued to my seat," Mrs. Hanabury said.

"Whenever I want to leave the area of the Massachusetts delegation I have to have an alternate delegate assigned to sit in my chair."

When she has had chances to walk around the convention floor, Mrs. Hanabury has rubbed shoulders and talked with a number of political celebrities.

Monday night she met Mrs. George McGovern as well as Mrs. Edward Kennedy.

Just outside all the noise and confusion of the convention, there is a lounge for the delegates and alternates and that is where this interview took place.

But, as was to be expected, even the interview was cut short.

Mrs. Hanabury had to rush back to the convention floor to vote on the challenge to seat the California delegation.

"I didn't really expect the convention to be so time-consuming," she said. "I must admit, however, despite all the time and work, confusion and arguments, participating in the Democratic National Convention is a unique experience and has given me a valuable insight into the formal and informal workings of the democratic process."

"It's a lot of work, but it's worth it. It is an experience I wouldn't want to have missed," she said.

Dr. Creedon, Delahunt Commend Fire Department

The Quincy Fire Department received high praise this week on two fronts for its actions in recent fires.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, commended firefighters for their work in battling the June 28 fire at the Nathaniel Hunting School.

And Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt lauded the department for containing a July 4 blaze at 115 Summit Ave., Wollaston.

In a letter to Chief Edward F. Barry, Dr. Creedon cited the chief, Deputy Chief Joseph McShane and all the men who responded to the Hunting School fire.

"In particular," he wrote, "I would like to recognize the outstanding job done by Lt. Fred Mullaney and the firefighters under his command who were the first to respond."

"The quick response from the first fire companies undoubtedly prevented a total loss of the Hunting School," he said.

"It staggers the imagination when one stops to reflect on the fact that the first alarm was sounded at 3:50 a.m. and that two minutes later, at 3:52, the fire apparatus had arrived and a second alarm had been turned in," he said.

Delahunt said many residents praised the "diligent work" of firefighters in the $30,000 fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Holland.

Their work prevented a more serious fire, despite "the handicap of heavy smoke, heat and a faulty hydrant directly in front of the house," he said.

Delahunt has asked for a meeting between Water Superintendent Owen Eaton and Chief Barry to devise an inspection and maintenance plan for fire hydrants.

He said he felt that only the fast work of firefighters and the fact that the building was brick prevented "a very serious fire in the neighborhood."

Delahunt asked that the water department inspect every hydrant in Ward 5 annually to be sure that when an emergency occurs the hydrants will be operable.

Reader Doesn't Like 'Rantings' Of Jack Anderson

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I am very disappointed that you have chosen to open your pages to the rantings of columnist Jack Anderson and lower yourselves to his level. I would not deny Mister Anderson an opportunity to ply his trade, but I doubt that your editorial staff will take the time or effort to provide equal time to an adequate analysis of the statements which Mister Anderson will make in his column.

In making the announcement of Mister Anderson's column on a weekly basis, you relate that he is a 1972 Pulitzer Prize Winner. You failed to report, however, as UPI did on May 2, 1972, that for the first time in the 56-year history of that award the trustees of Columbia University did not agree with a selection, the selection of Mister Anderson. The dispute, of course, revolved around the ethics and professional judgement of Mister Anderson. The Los Angeles Times reported that some trustees questioned "the wisdom of awarding pulitzers to entries still subject to litigation and judicial review."

You also mention "his columns linking Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst with a deal to excuse ITT from antitrust suits made national headlines". The fact that his columns made national headlines is quite accurate, another fact is that a subsequent investigation by a Congressional subcommittee failed to verify Mister Anderson's charges.

Mister Anderson also reported on May 16, 1972, that the American people were not being told the truth about the gravity of the situation in Vietnam, and that there was a "secret Defense Department report now on the President's desk" which reported that the "situation is quite desperate...Hue is doomed to fall". We will probably never know where Mister Anderson obtained this example of one gentleman reading another's mail, but we do know that Hue did not fall, probably to Mister Anderson's displeasure.

Another example of Mister Anderson's reporting which caused "senators, union leaders and anyone else in the public eye to sit up and take notice" was the story dated September 22, 1969, which appeared in the Washington Post under the headline "ANTI-POVERTY CZAR EMBELLISHES OFFICE". The following day the column became part of official history when Sen. Ralph Yarborough [Texas] placed it in the Congressional Record where it appeared under the headline "RUMSFELD CUTS POVERTY AID-FURNISHES PLUSH QUARTERS FOR SELF WITH POVERTY-MONEY". I will not add credence to Mister Anderson's fabrications by relating the allegations of his column, but after completing his own investigation Sen. Peter Dominick [Colo.] rose on the Senate floor and stated: "I do not understand how someone who is supposed to be a columnist of some significance in this country can write an article like this and have it published when there is not one word of truth in what he is saying." Of course, none of the major media paid any attention to Sen. Dominick's statement.

Even Neil Sheehan [of Pentagon Papers fame] in his book The Arnhoffer Affair speaks of Mister Anderson's inaccurate reporting. Mister Sheehan's entire book amounts to a contradiction of Mister Anderson's account of the now famous "Arnhoffer Affair".

I sincerely hope that you will reconsider your decision to carry this column. Ayn Rand has often spoken of the "act now, think later" philosophy of the New Left. Mister Anderson's writings are an example of this philosophy applied to journalism. An example which is becoming only too common.

Urges Voter Registration In High Schools

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Every citizen in our country over 18 years of age has the right to vote. Registrars should be encouraged to take advantage of every opportunity to allow that 18 year old right to be recognized. Voter registration in our state's high schools is one such illustration.

Congressmen and educators have begun to unite for voter registration. Responding to an appeal by Congressman Robert Liggett of California, members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives have begun a massive mail campaign urging school superintendents and administrators in their states to use all possible means to register eligible new voters in their schools.

Recently our Quincy School Committee took the initiative to invite City Registrar John Gillis into the city's high schools. Such action is both constructive and encouraging. Urging registrars to visit high schools appears to be a popular suggestion. However, that is not the case throughout the state. Voter registration in high schools is not common practice, yet.

Upon a high school's request, registrars should enter the high school to register those students eligible to vote. Such a request will assuredly place a burden on the registrar, but nevertheless it is not beyond his capabilities. I am confident that various ideas could be implemented to aid the registrar. For instance, guidelines established on preparation for a registrar's visit. Provisions made for student deputy registrars. Certainly limitations should be placed on the number of times a registrar is expected to come to a school. Possibly an educational course offered in the senior year on the election process. High school student councils will most likely provide assistance in this area.

A registrar will simplify his work and benefit both students and the election process by coming to a high school. I strongly advocate registration of eligible new voters in their schools.

- Nixon-Not Kissinger-Running Show
- Women, Pigs' Ears And Loss Of Votes
- McGovern Likes Frank Church As Veep

WASHINGTON—We are often asked who is in charge of our foreign policy—Richard Nixon or Henry Kissinger.

Dr. Kissinger makes proposals. He presents the options. He runs around the world conducting secret diplomacy in the President's name. Before the President announced that the Paris peace talks would begin again on July 13, Kissinger quietly spread the word to congressional leaders that a major breakthrough on Vietnam was imminent.

Kissinger, then, is the President's chief adviser and number one legman. But he is not the President. Richard Nixon makes the decisions.

Here's an inside example: During the high level meetings that led up to the mining of Haiphong harbor, all of the President's chief advisers—without exception—warned the President that the Russians would react against such a bold move. Kissinger himself warned the President that, at the very least, the Russians would cancel the Moscow talks.

But President Nixon overruled his advisers. He said he was convinced that the Russians had too much to gain to back out of the talks. The President, it turned out, was right.

—Bumbling Blowhard—

Nebraska's Senator Roman Hruska is an amiable fellow, known inside the Senate as a bumbling blowhard. He is perhaps best remembered for his comment that mediocre Americans deserve representation on the Supreme court.

Then, at the height of the ITT affair, Hruska excused ITT's $400,000 commitment to the Republican convention by declaring that such conventions were "bought all the time" by business interests.

Hruska ought to know. He has taken over as the Senate champion of the special interests and has diligently defended the drug, insurance, auto and cattle interests. He has done his best to scuttle consumer legislation. And, as part owner of a chain of bawdy movie houses, he has worked behind the scenes to defeat anti-pornography bills.

Now, the senator's brother,

Victor, has turned up as head of volunteer programs for the elderly. Victor recently retired from the Prudential Insurance Company. His handsome retirement benefits will now be supplemented by a $33,000-a-year government salary.

Our sources tell us that Victor Hruska was recruited by the White House. His brother in the Senate, said a spokesman, had nothing to do with Victor's appointment.

"However," the spokesman added with a twinkle, "I'm sure the senator didn't black-ball his brother."

—Pigs' Ears—

President Nixon is in trouble with the women and he can't understand why. He sailed into office on a wave of promises that he would improve the lot of American womanhood. And the truth is, he has done a lot.

The President has, for example, appointed numerous women to high-level government positions. He has named many others to advisory boards and commissions. He has even elevated military women to general's rank.

Despite his record, the President has managed to alienate most women's groups. It's his attitude, they say, which turns them off. Nixon has made it plain he prefers women who confine their activities to the home and hearth.

The same attitude, say the women, pervades the entire administration. They claim Nixon's men are insensitive to their problems and cite this example: Last February, the women's affairs adviser to Senator Edmund Muskie, Dr. Irene Murphy, was invited to speak to the White House Fellows on the subject of women in politics. Afterward, she received a letter of thanks from a White House Fellow named Glen Kendall. He told Dr. Murphy that if women want to work in government, they have to start on the local level. After all, he wrote, "You can't make a purse from a pig's ear overnight."

It's unlikely the White House will win the distaff vote by equating women with pigs' ears.

—Illegal Campaign Cash—

It is illegal to spend public funds for political purposes. Nevertheless, the administration is using the resources of the federal government to promote President Nixon's re-election.

We have uncovered an especially flagrant use of the public purse for presidential promotion. It's an elaborate, illustrated booklet entitled,

"For Purple Mountain Majesties Above The Fruited Plain." The subtitle is more to the point. It reads, "President Nixon's Program for Building a Better Environment."

The book makes Daniel Boone look like an indoorsman compared to President Nixon. In only 24 pages, the President is mentioned no fewer than 78 times as a staunch defender of mother nature. This doesn't count the times he is referred to simply as "he."

The booklet is the joint product of several agencies and it cost about $11,000 to print it. This figure excludes the cost of preparing and writing the book which no one can even estimate.

Officials insist this is a routine document that has nothing to do with pushing the President's re-election.

But the White House staff member in charge of distributing the 15,000 copies already off the press, concedes it is so blatant that it might not be distributed after all.

—Who'll Be No. 2?—

With Senator George McGovern far ahead in the race for the Democratic nomination, party leaders are beginning to jockey for the second spot.

Aides of Senator Muskie are sounding out the McGovern camp, though Muskie tells us he doesn't want the vice presidential nomination again. Party regulars are beginning to line up behind Wilbur Mills. McGovern's own staff has prepared a list of men they prefer. It includes Florida's Governor Reubin Askew, Idaho's Senator Frank Church, Illinois' Senator Adlai Stevenson, and even consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

However, Washington pundits predict that, if McGovern wins the nomination, he will pick Frank Church, the handsome Senate orator from Idaho.

National Guard In Recruiting Drive

Two teams of Quincy area National Guardsmen have set up a recruiting office at the armory on Hancock St. to encourage young men to enlist in the Guard program.

Mayor Hannon has declared

July 10-21 National Guard Recruiting Weeks in conjunction with the drive by Cos. C and B of the 109th Signal Battalion.

The recruiters, headed by team chiefs Sp/4 Frank DiCesare and Sp/4 Steven Fletcher, will be stationed at the armory to answer questions and aid in enlistment.

Among the training programs available are schools for draftsmen, cablemen, linemen, radio operators, vehicle mechanics, helicopter crew chiefs, radio and electronics repair and cooks.

Enlistment in the Guard provides for six months' active duty and five and one half years in the community one weekend a month plus two weeks annual training on Cape Cod.

The Guard has also initiated a "Try One" program for veterans with a one-year enlistment at separation grade, no additional MOS training and uniforms and equipment at no cost.

Doris Ferrara Paintings At Sidewalk Bazaar

Paintings by Doris Ferrara of West Quincy will be on display in front of Colpitts Travel Agency on Hancock St. July 21 and 22 as a highlight of the third annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar.

Mrs. Ferrara, art teacher at the Quincy YMCA for the past 14 years, will exhibit her works and those of several of her students.

A graduate of the School of Practical Art and the Museum School in Boston, she is studying printmaking at the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln and teaches privately as well as at the YMCA.

Mrs. Ferrara won second prize in the recent Cohasset Art Festival sponsored by the South Shore Art Center and has exhibits at Bear Cove in Hingham and the Cambridge Art Association.

The Bazaar is sponsored this year by the newly-formed Quincy Center Associates.

Entertainment scheduled includes concerts by the Morrisette Post and Satuit bands, the Buddy Burke Banjo Band, strolling minstrels and a barbershop quartet.

Squaredancing will be held at various places around the shopping district July 20 and 21 and the Boston Zoological Society's "Zoomobile" will be parked off Cottage Ave.

Several clubs and organizations have reserved gaily designed booths to act as concessions.

Festivities will close on Saturday, July 22, with the Miss Quincy Bay Race Week Beauty Pageant on Hancock St.

QHS Band Parents Plan Fund-Raising Booth At Bazaar

The Quincy High School Band Parents Committee will set up a booth at the Sidewalk Bazaar July 20-22 to raise funds to send band members to the Cotton Bowl.

The Presidents have been invited to appear in the Cotton Bowl parade and nationally-televised pregame show in Dallas, Texas, on New Year's Day.

Parents will be selling pins and bumper stickers reading "Quincy High Band Dallas '73" and records by the South Shore Concert Group of which band director Anthony Ferrante is a member.

The band has also accepted an invitation to appear in the Harvest Festival Parade in North Adams Oct. 15.

Donations for the trip may be sent to P. O. Box Dallas 1973, Quincy, 02169.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein.

Malaria From A Needle

Public Health officials are deeply concerned about the rise in malaria cases in this country. And strangely enough, most of those new cases contracted did not come from the usual source—the Anopheles mosquito. Last year more people in the United States got malaria from contaminated hypodermic needles than from mosquito bites.

The National Center for Disease Control states that servicemen returning from Southeast Asia infected with the disease and also using heroin are transmitting the malaria parasite by sharing unsterilized needles with other drug users.

The discovery in California of 38 new cases of such transmission, the largest outbreak in this country in 20 years, has made addict-to-addict injection a primary concern of public health officials. As more servicemen return, some with malaria and some on drugs, the incidence of the disease can be expected to rise.

Vagabond

Warm Summer days call out to me
To put aside stern texts of duty
And play the vagabond

To forget wrongs and troubled times,
The somber dreads that prod my rhymes,
And sing a careless song...

To withhold preachings and look up
At God's world, unburdened with woes,
Free of anxiety.

To let its wonder fill my eyes
And see therein the paradise
That it was meant to be.

With all this beauty everywhere,
God dissuades us from despair,
And beckons us to trust,

So though I walk a vagabond
I shall feel by His Presence drawn,
Because I simply must.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] Pursuing projects that involve travel or mental improvement will open new horizons and be most rewarding and satisfying.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Your activities in the near future depend on plans laid now - think them out carefully. Make reservations if necessary.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - An accidental meeting could be turned into an advantage that will give your spirits a long needed boost.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Forcing the issue at this time won't solve your problems - delaying the action seems to be your best bet for now.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - If traveling is out of the question then turn your attention toward developing your mental powers through study.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - A sudden turn of events calls for swift changes in your plans, use your ingenuity to solve the problem.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - A gain from an unusual source or idea helps put your financial affairs on a more even basis. Others calling shots.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - A sudden change within the home increases your responsibilities, making you more ambitious and giving direction to plans.

Living, Today

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

When People Suffer Together

When anyone talks about suffering, most people turn away...some people are inattentive to a sick loved one because they can't stand suffering. But the truth is...suffering is very much a fact of life.

I was angered one morning last week when I saw the front page picture of frightened Vietnamese people running with their bodies burning because we had dropped napalm bombs on them..."by mistake", the Pentagon said. They were suffering...my anger may stem partly from guilt...because some of the tax money I sent in April 15th, was used against my will to buy those bombs.

The emotional suffering that I see daily...and read in the letters that people write to me...and hear by telephone calls that come to my offices, touch me deeply...because they tell the human struggle of our people for happiness.

Like the woman who writes me that "My husband punishes me with silence...he hasn't talked to me for 11 days now." That's suffering. Like the man who writes..."I've been denied a sexual relationship with my wife for seven months...she's emasculated me so badly that I no longer feel like a man." That's suffering.

Like the woman who says, "He controls the money completely...I have to ask him for every dollar I handle...he makes me feel so inadequate." That's suffering.

Like the father who hears his wife scolding and nagging the children constantly like a fish-wife...like the mother who helplessly watches her husband punish the children unmercifully with his big black belt...and feels the shudder go up and down her spine...unable to stop the beatings. That's suffering.

These are unnecessary, sadistic sufferings...from which no one gains a thing...the kinds of suffering which separate people...which create anger...which destroy relationship.

There's a kind of suffering which draws people closer together. I'm thinking of the wife who on a recent week-end went through the tortures of hell because her husband was missing. He hadn't gone to work as she thought...didn't return home at the usual time...nor all night...nor for three days. She was panic-stricken. I did my best to give reassurance until he was found...mentally and physically sick. He's back to normal now...and they're closer than ever. Suffering turned into a positive value.

I'm thinking of the family who rallied around the 17-year-old daughter when she announced that she was pregnant...without scolding...without name-calling...but only with love...joining her in the trip to New York for an abortion...and on for a short vacation together. That family is closer now than ever before. Suffering turned into a positive value. Families that suffer together, also rejoice together.

People can grow in suffering...people can learn to cope with tough things in life through suffering...people can find new bonds of love in suffering...people can learn to rejoice together when they've learned to suffer together.

I'm beginning to wonder if people can ever learn to be really happy until they've learned to suffer together. What is your experience?

It's Now: South Shore Chamber

It's official.

The membership of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce has voted to change its name to the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, Inc., effective immediately.

The vote took place at a special meeting called for June 28, for that purpose.

Shortening the Chamber's title allows the 76 year old business organization to better reflect the nature of its commitment through out the 14-community area it now serves, it was noted. The area includes Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Hanover, Hingham, Holbrook, Hull, Milton, Norwell, Quincy, Randolph, Rockland, Scituate and Weymouth.

The vote was the result of six months of study and reorganization work to make the Chamber a highly effective economic development organization. Six additional months of reorganization and program planning lie ahead. The unanimous vote to change the name sets a clear direction for the form that reorganization and planning will take.

The membership will be asked to vote on a complete set of by-law revisions in August, which will establish the formal mechanism for thorough regional involvement.

Doyle & Long Inc. Launches New Anti-Pollution Campaign

Air-Energy Conservation is the catchword for a new, ecology-minded campaign by Doyle & Long Inc. fuel oil and equipment dealers.

Doyle & Long, at 630 Hancock St., Wollaston, has begun systematic checking of every heating system in its care to assure economical heat and conformity with federal anti-pollution standards.

Tom Doyle, who founded the company in 1945, said his organization "takes the problem of air pollution very seriously."

He said Doyle and Long has become involved because "we believe our contribution is absolutely essential."

The Air-Energy Conservation checklist includes tests of the oil burner's carbon dioxide efficiency, stack temperature, draft and smoke.

The results will show whether or not a consumer's heating system is functioning cleanly and economically.

"Unfortunately, hundreds of home owners are unaware that their heating equipment is inefficient," Doyle said. "The test may help to cut down considerably on heating bills."

One of the South Shore's oldest and best known fuel oil and equipment dealers, Doyle and Long maintains automatic fuel oil delivery, 24-hour burner service and sells and installs heating equipment.

Doyle, long active in industry and association work, is a member and past president of the South Shore Fuel Dealers Association.

He is a member of Quincy Lodge of Elks, Wollaston Business and Professional Association, United Commercial Travelers and the Massachusetts 100 Club and a director of the Better Home Heat Council.

Irving J. Boyes, Scott Comfort Man in the conservation project, has been head of sales and engineering for the company for the past 12 years.

He is a director and past president of the South Shore Fuel Dealers Association and vice president of the board of trustees of 1000 Southern Artery Senior Citizens Housing.

Active in church work, he is a member of the Quincy Rotary Club and served as chairman of the Greater Quincy Red Cross Chapter and Red Cross Blood program for a total of 21 years.

Girl Friday at Doyle and Long is Mrs. Maxine Pearce of Wollaston who greets customers in person at 630 Hancock St. or over the telephone at 472-4800.

Delahunt Says Funds Available For Drains On Fenno St., Sims Rd

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt has announced that money will be available this year to install drains to prevent flooding in the Fenno Street-Sims Road area of Wollaston.

Delahunt met recently with Mayor Hannon, Public Works Comr. James J. Ricciuti and Highway Supt. Alfred Raymond to discuss the serious flooding problem in the area.

"It gives me great pleasure to announce the solution to a problem which has plagued the residents of Fenno St., Perry Rd. and Sims Rd. for many years," he said.

"I'm happy that these residents will no longer have to put up with flooded back yards and cellars year after year and I am especially happy that we have eliminated from this area a very serious potential hazard to children in the area."

Smyth Requests Repair Of Light At Rawson Rd And Vassal St.

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has asked the traffic department to investigate the condition of the pedestrian lights at Rawson Rd and Vassal St. in Wollaston.

Smyth said the lights have been inoperable for the past six months and pointed out that Rawson Rd is heavily traveled with vehicles going to and from Wollaston and North Quincy.

"With school opening in approximately two months, the residents would appreciate these traffic signals being repaired as soon as parts are available," he said.

Smyth's remarks were addressed to Edward Lynch of the Police traffic division.

Brett Asks For Flag Pole At O'Rourke Field

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has asked the city to erect a flag pole at O'Rourke Field in West

Quincy.

In a letter to Mayor Hannon, Brett said he felt "a permanent pole should be set up on the field so that Old Glory can be flown on all festive occasions."

The lack of a pole was brought to his attention during July 4 festivities of Morrisette Legion Post at the field.

105th Marshfield Fair Opens July 28 For 10-Day Run

The 105th annual Marshfield Fair will open its doors July 28 for 10 days and nights of activities for the whole family.

Festivities will include Kiddies Day, Senior Citizens Day, a new midway, a record number of exhibits and two fireworks displays.

President Frank M. Sinnott said patrons "can be assured that they will see the best under the most enjoyable and pleasant surroundings."

A 10-day pari-mutuel thoroughbred racing meet will highlight the fair. Post time is 1:45 p.m. July 28-Aug. 6.

Sgt. Kevin Dunn In Thailand

Sgt. Kevin J. Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew A. Dunn of 60 Crosby St., Houghs Neck, has deployed to Thailand with the U.S. Air Force's 49th Tactical Fighter Wing.

Sergeant Dunn is a jet engine mechanic with the wing, which moved from Holloman AFB, N.M., to Takhli Royal Thai Air Force Base.

Wing aircrews, equipped with supersonic F-4 Phantom fighter-bombers, were flying combat missions within 24 hours after arriving in Southeast Asia.

Air Force operations had ceased at Takhli 15 months ago. However, as part of President Nixon's plan to protect remaining U.S. forces in Vietnam and halt increased Communist aggression in Southeast Asia, the Thai government approved reactivation of the USAF mission at Takhli.

The sergeant, a 1968 graduate of Quincy High School, attended Quincy Junior College. His wife is the former Patricia M. DiBona.

John Wainionpaa Commissioned Ensign

John W. Wainionpaa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Wainionpaa of 42 Grossman St., and husband of the former Miss S. Linda Rapo of 25 Glendale Road, all of Quincy, was commissioned an Ensign in the Navy at the Naval ROTC Unit of the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

He graduated from the university with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Electrical Engineering, and has orders to Naval Flight School in Pensacola, Fla.

He is a 1964 graduate of Quincy High School.

Seaman Donald Bacon Enroute To Southeast Asia

Navy Seaman Donald Bacon, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bacon of 4 St. Germain St., Germantown, is aboard the guided missile frigate USS Dewey which sailed for Southeast Asia by way of the Cape of Good Hope.

His ship, homeported at Newport, R.I., will be a relief for one of the U.S. Navy's ships now operating with the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

William Curley

Aboard Assault

Ship Inchon

Seaman William F. Curley III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Curley Jr. of 60 Palmer St., Germantown, is aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Inchon, taking part in "Exotic Dancer Five", a training exercise in the Camp Lejeune, N.C. area and waters off shore.

The amphibious exercise involves forces of the Navy, Coast Guard, Marines, Army and Air Force, a total of 50,000 active and supporting personnel. The Inchon is homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Richard Berube Promoted To Chief Petty Officer

Richard P. Berube, husband of the former Miss Denise Carr of 202 Plymouth Ave., Quincy, was promoted to Hospital Corpsman Chief Petty Officer aboard the anti-submarine aircraft carrier, USS Intrepid, homeported at Quonset Point, R.I.

Hospital Corpsmen assist in the operating room, give first aid, administer medicines and nurse the sick and injured.

A 1961 graduate of St. Johnsbury Academy, St. Johnsbury, Vt., and a 1971 graduate of Pensacola Junior College, Pensacola, Fla., he

Quincy Hosts Weymouth Friday

Morrisette Snaps Out Of Batting Slump With Bang

Morrisette Legion's defending Zone 6 champions finally snapped out of a batting slump during the past week and in its last two games breezed to easy wins to stay very much in the title chase.

Monday night Morrisette rocked Quincy, 9-3, to run its record to 6-3 and set up a vital rescheduled game with Braintree for Tuesday. Braintree held a slim lead over Morrisette going into that game.

Wednesday Morrisette had an open date. Friday it plays at Hingham, Monday hosts Braintree at Adams Field and next Wednesday goes to Milton.

Meanwhile, Quincy, which had been in the running for zone honors, Wednesday played at Braintree, hosts Weymouth Friday at Adams Field, and Monday plays at Hingham. It has an open date next Wednesday.

Bobby Malvesti pitched a seven-hitter against Quincy Monday while his mates unleashed an awesome attack which included three successive triples in a seven-run fourth inning. Bobby Morton and Dave Murphy were the unfortunate Quincy pitchers.

Tom Burke, Dave Nelson and Jim Driscoll hit the consecutive triples in the big fourth and Malvesti helped his own cause with a two-run triple of his own in the fifth. Morrisette added another run in the sixth.

Quincy scored once in the first and twice in the sixth.

Driscoll had two singles in addition to his triple, Nelson also had a single and Russ MacDonald had two hits.

Last Friday Morrisette topped Randolph, 8-3, combining its best batting attack of the year with some more fine pitching.

Morrisette collected nine hits and wrapped up the decision with five runs in the second inning.

Len Pepe shut Randolph out for five innings but Randolph scored its three runs in the sixth and Jim Walker relieved, setting the losers down the rest of the way.

Tom Burke and Artie Boyle had two hits each and Russ MacDonald drove in three runs.

Meanwhile, with Steve Mele pitching another excellent game, Quincy defeated Milton, 4-2, as the converted outfielder, pushed into a starting pitching job when Bob Brill signed with the Milwaukee Brewers, won his third in a row without a loss [he turned in another beauty but wasn't involved in the decision].

He held Milton to five hits.

Quincy might have scored several more runs except for Paul Brennan's amazing catches in left field. He made two great catches, one a leaping clutch, the other a diving catch.

Quincy won with two runs in the first and two more in the sixth. Billy Shea led the batters with a triple and single.

Earlier in the week Morrisette dropped a 5-2 verdict to Weymouth as the winners scored three times in the sixth inning to ruin Tony Knasas' bid for a win. McDonald had two of Morrisette's six hits while Burke hit a long triple.

Quincy pushed across a run in the bottom of the seventh to avert a defeat and tie Randolph, 3-3.

An error by the Randolph second baseman on Mark Crossen's grounder with Bob Morton on third base accounted for the tying run.

In its previous game Morrisette had defeated Milton, 6-3, as Walker and Bob Lane combined for a five-hit pitching job.

Morrisette exploded for four runs in the first inning and added two insurance markers in the sixth.

School's Out, But Tom Hall Keeps Trackmen Busy

Tom Hall, who has coached Quincy High's spring track teams to two successive unbeaten seasons and only one loss in the past three years, is keeping active during the summer, although everything is on an informal basis.

Tom and his assistant coach, Joe Wessling, conduct a series of workouts each week at Quincy Veterans' Memorial Stadium with their own Quincy trackmen as well as several from North Quincy, Weymouth and Braintree.

"These workouts are just to keep the boys in shape and we have a good turnout," Hall said. "We don't confine the activity to track and we kick and throw a football around as well as a soccer ball and engage in other activities to stay in condition."

Tom led the Quincy Jaycees to the state championship recently, nipping Natick, 53-52, for the title.

In past years the winner of the state meet and various individual winners went on to the New England and the nationals but I guess it cost a little too much and these meets were dropped," Hall continued. "No one else picked them up so they now have only the state meet."

The Jaycee team was comprised of some of Hall's Quincy spring trackmen. They were Bobby Ciano, who during his high school career never lost a dual meet in spring or winter track or cross country; Kevin Cox, Ray Lawyer, Bob McDermott, John Johnson and Paul Riggs.

The relay team of Riggs, Cox, Lawyer and Johnson won the meet for Quincy by taking the final event.

Ciano was named the outstanding track performer after winning the mile and half mile and placing second in the quarter mile.

Riggs was voted the outstanding field athlete for second places in the long jump and triple jump.

Quincy swept the long jump with Johnson winning, Riggs second and Cox third. McDermott won the triple jump and took second in the low and high hurdles.

In addition to the workouts at the stadium, Hall plans to enter members of his Quincy Track Club in some meets during the summer.

Among these meets are the Braintree Park Dept. meets on July 18, 25 and Aug. 1, the annual Frothingham meet in North Easton and the Brockton development meets which are held weekly at Brockton High.

Friday Deadline For CYO Golf Tourney

Friday is the deadline for the annual CYO golf tournament to be held July 24-28 at Ponkapoag.

Many golfers from Quincy parishes enter this popular and always expanding tourney annually and several are former champions.

The defending champions are Dan Desmond of West Roxbury, senior division; Jeff Lewis of Plymouth, intermediates; Kevin Eldracher of Walpole, juniors, and Charles Tryder of Melrose, cadets.

Last summer several Quincy boys made fine showings despite their failure to bring home any titles.

Youth Hockey All-Stars Win Bay Colony League Title

The Quincy Youth Hockey All-Stars downed Brockton in a best-of-three series to capture the Bay Colony League championship.

The All-Stars, who compiled a 17-2-1 record during the season defeated Columbia in the quarterfinals and Abington in the semifinal round of the play-offs.

At the closing buzzer, Quincy goalie Dean Prescott skated proudly around the Hingham Arena with the championship trophy held high and his teammates following.

The team, coached by Harry Messina and Frank Furey, includes Mark Rooney, Mark Messina, Tommy Mullen, Chris Erickson, Tom Gerry, Jerry Watts.

Also Bobby Hayes, Eddie Kane, Mark Veasey, John Furey, Mike Furey, Brian Norton, Dick Reinhardt, John Keaney, Paul McConville, Peter Nystrom and Dean Prescott.

Granite City Babe Ruth Team Wins Two In Cooperstown, N.Y.

The Quincy Babe Ruth League's Granite City Electric team swept a two-game series against teams from Cooperstown, N.Y., on July 4 and 5.

The games were played at historic Abner Doubleday Field in Cooperstown, site of the first baseball game in 1839, with Granite City winning 10-0 and 7-2.

Pitching well for the Quincy contingent were Pete Fallon, Mike Kelly, Steve Doyle and Dave Raftery.

Mike Kelly led all batters with four hits in the two games, including a solid triple, and Warren Jordan, Bob MacIntosh and Jackie Browne contributed three hits apiece.

Team members contributing to the win included Artie Barrett, Paul Stack, Scott Roberts, Bob Stack, Neil

Manager Dave MacIntosh, Coach Bob Jordan and special assistants Bill Roberts and Joe Doyle accompanied the team on the trip.

Granite City Electric Supply Co., sponsors of the team, underwrote expenses of the players making the trip.

Chamber Of Commerce Outing Set For July 19

The 47th annual outing of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce will be held July 19 at Nelson's Grove in Kingston.

Now, Sensory Theatres

"MALCOLM X" gets this column's four star nod of approval as the best documentary of the '72 season. A must see film... You go back a long, long way if the signature LEATRICE JOY conjures up memories of Hollywood's better days of fantasy, fun and frolic... ROY SCHEIDER ["THE FRENCH CONNECTION"] said thanks, but no thanks, to overtures for him to star in next TV season's "ASSIGNMENT: VIENNA". SCHEIDER has bigger marquee plans in mind. Film, and not television work...

LAUREN BACALL is keeping her pretty little fingers crossed that her "APPLAUSE" stage efforts get her the star role in the upcoming screen version... Producer HILLIARD ELKINS is offering GEORGE C. SCOTT everything short of Fort Knox to star in "MONEY TIGHT"... NEILE ADAMS [the ex-Mrs. STEVE McQUEEN] is sticking with her maiden ADAMS tag as she pursues a film career all her own with the successfully launched "FUZZ". The first time she's appeared before the cameras, the beautiful Miss ADAMS acts with the grace and naturalness of an experienced pro...

For the record, "THE SORROW AND THE PITY" is the longest motion picture produced to date, with a four-and-a-half mileage score to its credit... Winning awards can bring more grief than happiness as Best Supporting Actress CLORIS LEACHMAN will attest. She wins the Oscar, but no film offers; whereas runner-up ANN-MARGRET comes up Oscarless, but is in the winners circle sifting through more scripts than she can possibly handle... Same for GENE HACKMAN. He is nowhere in demand as previous Best Actor acclaimed performers of previous years...

Getting back to ANN-MARGRET, we have here an actress whose value at the box office has skyrocketed as the direct result of an Oscar nomination for her performance in "CARNAL KNOWLEDGE". Oscar aside, her just being nominated for the big prize brought her to the attention of producers who up until last year had written her off as just "another beautiful body"... As of this writing, ANN-MARGRET is wrapping up production in a JOHN WAYNE starrer; has two more films scheduled for shooting before years end; and has just been signed for the femme lead of Honey in the film version of LENNY BRUCE's life, "LENNY"...

GADGETRY DEPT: The coming vogue is special "sensory" theaters. These theatres will be specially built in, able to take the viewer at the scene of action, so the person watching the film will be able to experience the effects of fog, rain, heat, cold, snow, and what have you... And the man behind the first "sensory" theatre in this country is BING CROSBY... Showcased in N.Y.C., the theatre will sport a 180-degree screen, and employ the use of 35 projectors, simultaneously...

SEAN CONNERY is raking in the "DIAMONDS ARE FOREVER" residuals faster than he can run to the bank... ROSS HUNTER is catching flak from the Japanese American Citizens League for casting Sir JOHN GIELGUD in the role of a part-white, part-Asian in the musical version of "LOST HORIZON"... To quote, the Japanese League sent HUNTER a letter signed with discriminatory overtones: "This casting implies that Asian actors are not capable of learning a British dialect while 'white' actors have mutilated Asian dialects"...

HUNTER rebuttally that the GIELGUD role was originally offered Japanese superstar TOSHIRO MIFUNE, who turned it down... And as that song goes, "the beat goes on"... Only five weeks on the chart, and already "BUCK AND THE PREACHER" is zeroing in on the $2 million mark. The SIDNEY POITIER-HARRY BELAFONTE starrer looms as one of the big winners of '72... Old standbys JEANNE CRAIN and WALTER PIDGEON lend professional credibility to "SKYJACKED". Which is more than can be said for the pictures star, CHARLTON HESTON. Like, who really wants to seat squirm through his high-in-the-cloud Moses antics?...

Warner Bros. might be pushing it a bit with its expectations of a $50 million gross for "PORTNOY'S COMPLAINT". Time will tell... And if you are in need of a healthy laugh, see "PLAY IT AGAIN SAM". This picture is another celluloid reason why so many [this column included] consider star WOODY ALLEN the logical funnyman successor to CHARLIE CHAPLIN... PAUL NEWMAN just can't pick 'em where politics and stage plays are concerned. The "PROFILE" dropped a $6,000 bundle as a backer of GORE VIDAL'S cross-starred, Broadway snorer "AN EVENING WITH RICHARD NIXON"...

Don't look now, but film and TV star Robert Wagner is getting the buildup as the 70's new "leading man". In the TYRONE POWER tradition no less... JAMES COBURN is back in the groove with his latest, "DUCK, YOU SUCKER"... The recently rebroadcast "SINCERELY YOURS" [1955] explains in full why LIBERACE never got off the ground with any meritable film career. His piano playing was nice, but... "IRONSIDES" girls come and go with ELIZABETH BAUR exiting for marriage...

The father and son CARRADINE'S, JOHN and DAVID, are teamed in the Depression-era gorer, "BOXCAR BERTHA"... ALFRED HITCHCOCK self-indulging in his own glory with a smart, "Even my failures make money and become classics a year after I make them". How true!... Screenwriter/critic ["SUNDAY, BLOODY SUNDAY"] PENELOPE GILLIATT was given an award for literature by the prestigious American Academy of Arts & Letters...

ADAMS WILL - Paul C. Gay, right, first assistant register of Norfolk County Probate Court, presents an authenticated copy of the will of John Adams to North Quincy High School student Susan Galarneau as teacher Lloyd Hill looks on. Gay made the presentation after delivering an address to students on the court system.

Brett Proposes Mills As 'Compromise Candidate'

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has proposed the name of Cong. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas as a compromise candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

In a letter to Lawrence F. O'Brien, Democratic National Committee chairman, Brett said it appears as if "none of the candidates for the Democratic nomination will have sufficient votes at the convention to win nomination on an early ballot."

"Wilbur Mills has all of the attributes and background necessary to weld all segments of our Party into one united force and to be nominated and elected President of the United States," he said.

Brett said he felt Mills was the one Democratic contender who could appeal to the great majority of voters and return the Democratic party to the White House.

"With Wilbur Mills as President of the United States, the people of our nation can look forward with confidence to a safe, sane and productive administration for the next four years," he said.

The Adams National Historic Site on Adams St. is among the famous American homes featured in the current issue of "Adventure Road" national travel magazine.

The summer issue of the quarterly publication, serving 900,000 Amoco Motor Club members, provides a thumbnail guide to how dozens of yesteryear's famous Americans lived.

It calls the Adams Mansion "more a memorial to the Adams family than a period piece."

"John Adams purchased the house in 1788 and his descendants lived there until 1927, each adding to the home and furnishing it with prized pieces from abroad."

James J. Collins To Seek Commissioner Re-election

Atty. James J. Collins of 63 Governors Rd., Milton, announces he is a Democratic candidate for re-election to the office of Norfolk County Commissioner.

Collins, married to the former Cathleen Garrity, graduated from Harvard College with an A.B. degree and from Boston College Law School with an L.L.B. A Naval veteran of World War II, he is presently Chairman of the Board of Norfolk County Commissioners, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Norfolk County Hospital, a member of State and local Bar Associations and has been active in community projects.

In seeking re-election, Comm. Collins pointed to the "envious record of Norfolk County as one of the most progressive counties in the State, which has multiplied its services while maintaining its reputation for having one of the lowest per capita county taxes in the state."

Collins listed among the county achievements during his term: Operation of both the County Hospital and the Registry of Deeds in the black.

Creation of the County Conservation Program.

Sponsorship of the County Solid Waste Disposal Program, the only one in the State.

Collins noted he established the office of County Federal Co-ordinator "which has brought thousands of federal funds to Norfolk County with millions to follow, none of which would have been received without the establishment of this office."

The County Federal Co-ordinator has also been acting for and with any town or grouping of towns in the county in assisting them with regional programs, obtaining funds and advice, he said.

Collins said he is proudest of the fact that in his entire term as County Commissioner he has never failed to honor an invitation to speak and inform an audience of the functions, the needs, the future and the tremendous potential of county government.

Five Committees Planning Women's Day Here Oct. 15

Preparation for Women's Day in Quincy is underway with the establishment of five committees to oversee planning for the program planned for Oct. 15.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon is sponsoring the program which will present information on the women's movement. No definite site has been selected.

Geraldine Pleshaw of Quincy, organizer of the program, will coordinate efforts of the five committees.

Others involved in the planning are:

Program Committee: Sandy Satterwhite, Mary Collins and Alicia Coletti, co-chairwomen; Kathy O'Donnell, Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, Lucille DiGravio, Pamela Spring, Rosemary Wahlberg, Adrienne Clarke, Jane Gaughan, Marjorie Knowles, Virginia Burke, Char-Lou Benedict, Mary Kay Goodwin, Atty. Betsey Lebbos, Geraldine Pleshaw and

Atty. Deborah Greenberg Feldman, all of Quincy; Marlene Goldstein and Ginny Holmy, both of Hingham.

Publicity: Kathy O'Donnell, chairwoman; Virginia Burke, Lucille DiGravio and Alice Cowicik, all of Quincy; Diane Gallagher of Scituate and Jane Spinney of Braintree.

Fund-raising: Arsene Tutunjian and Adrienne Clarke, co-chairwomen; Linda Gordon, Char-Lou Benedict, Mary Collins and Sandy Satterwhite, all of Quincy.

Arrangements: Linda Gordon, chairwoman; Marjorie Knowles, Arsene Tutunjian, Pat Toland, Rosemary Wahlberg and Dorothy Kelly, all of Quincy.

Invitations: Maryann Flukes, chairwoman; Betty McElaney, Pamela Spring, Ann Schiavo, Dorothy Kelly and Marjorie Knowles, all of Quincy, and Diane Gallagher of Scituate.

Awards, Student Speakers At Central Final Assembly

The final assembly at Central Junior High School included presentation of awards and student speakers as well as a guest from the American Legion Mr. Robert Cairns.

The program opened with a welcoming address by Class vice president Gregory Egan who also led the flag salute and the singing of the national anthem accompanied by the school band under the direction of Mr. Bernard Goldstein.

The class history was read by class secretary, Laurie Warshawer.

Student speakers were Robert McCullough who chose the topic "A Look at Both Sides", Nancy Drinan whose topic was "Learning Is Forever", and Mary Ann Dunn who chose "Freedom".

The Chapel Choir sang "Try to Remember" and "We've Only Just Begun" with Miss Christine DeLuca directing.

Howard Noble, class treasurer, presented Principal Vincent Moscardelli, the class gift — a check to be used for equipment in the school this coming school year.

Mr. Moscardelli presented Principal's Awards to John

Alleva, Marie Bourassa, Stephen Bailey, Peter Dufresene, Paul Hanlon, Rachel Hult, David Kahler, John McElaney, Robert Meehan, Mark Reale and Cheryl Weck.

The annual Citizenship Award for outstanding citizenship and service to the school was awarded to Nancy Drinan.

Mr. Cairns presented, in behalf of the American Legion, a medalion, pin and certificate to Mary Ann Dunn and Gerard McKillop.

It's 'Go' For Sidewalk Bazaar

By DICK MATTULINA

Break out your skimmers and spats, folks, because "the good old days" are back with the third annual downtown Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar Thursday through Saturday.

A carnival atmosphere will prevail in the Quincy Center area for the three days of the biggest summer promotion festivities in the city's history.

Nearly 100 stores and businesses will be participating in the bazaar, sponsored this year by the newly-formed Quincy Center Associates.

The three-day extravaganza will feature a wide range of activities for young and old with a schedule guaranteed to provide something for everyone.

Items on the agenda include:

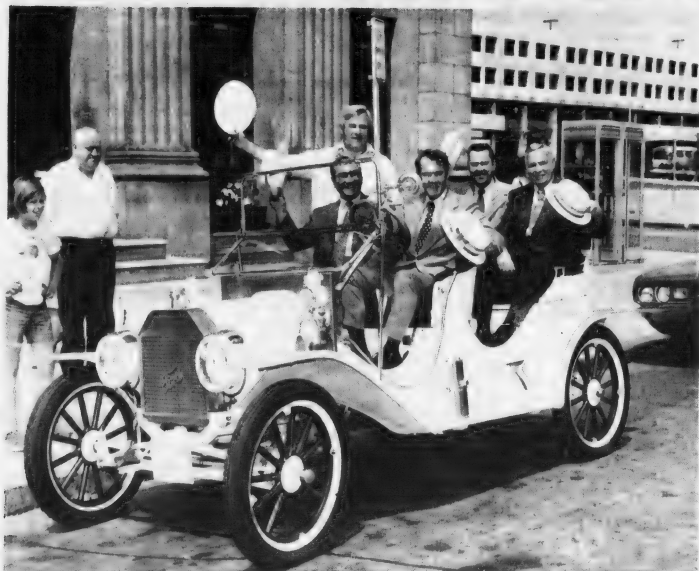

- Antique auto exhibit.
- Art Show.
- Band concerts.

- Banjo bands.
- Barbershop quartet.
- Children's Zoo.
- Fire engine rides.
- Rock Concerts.
- Selection of Miss Quincy Bay Race Week.

- Sidewalk booths.
- Sidewalk cafes.
- Wandering minstrels.
- Young World performers.

The entire downtown area will be decorated with banners, pennants and flags for the event.

Merchants will don straw hats, vests and an occasional handlebar mustache to help set the "good old days" mood.

Plenty Of Parking For Bazaar

More than 4,000 municipal and private parking spaces will be available in the Quincy Center area during the third annual Downtown Sidewalk Bazaar.

Those attending the festivities may find spaces in the Ross, Della Chiesa and Hancock municipal lots plus the 450-capacity area along the MBTA right-of-way behind Turnstyle.

In addition, parking will be available on side streets, in the old courthouse and Quincy Junior College lots and at the Quincy Center MBTA Garage.

Late afternoon and night parking will be offered at the new Norfolk County Courthouse on Chestnut St. and at downtown churches, according to Eric M. Swider, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Calendar of Events

There's plenty doing at the Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Main events and time schedule follows:

C'Mon Down

If the oppressive summer heat has got you down in the dumps, some 100 Quincy Center stores and businesses have a plan guaranteed to raise your spirits.

It's called the third annual downtown Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar and it stands to be the biggest entertainment and sale extravaganza ever held in the city.

The newly-formed Quincy Center business and professional group is sponsoring the event and promise to leave a smile on every one of the thousands of faces expected to attend.

Participating merchants offer sales and prizes galore and a wide variety of entertainment for patrons of all ages.

Clubs and civic organizations will set up candy-striped concession stands in the area to sell soda, snacks and pastry.

For the children, there will be fire engine rides, the Boston Zoological Society's Zoomobile and shows by the Young World Performers.

The bazaar will feature an art exhibit by the Quincy YMCA, sidewalk cafes and displays of antique autos.

For music, there will be strolling minstrels, a banjo band, barbershop quartet, square dancing, four rock groups and concerts by the Morrisette Post and Satuit stage bands.

Finally, there will be competition Saturday on Hancock St. to choose Miss Quincy Bay Race Week for 1972.

And all this in three days — Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The event will come about as the result of months of tireless effort by downtown merchants and businessmen.

The committee has worked long and hard.

Their reward will come in the form of the smiling faces of the throng that will make the bazaar a success.

We urge you to give the committee and yourself a treat by joining in the fun Thursday, Friday and/or Saturday. You won't be sorry.

'Zero' Campaign Expenditure Bill

Editor, Quincy Sun:

The Massachusetts Senate has adopted a campaign spending limit bill which is inconsistent, ludicrous and typically idiotic.

Our own Senator proposed a fifty-percent increase to permit spending thirty thousand dollars for a position as Senator that nets him twenty-two thousand eight hundred dollars for two years. I do not question the integrity of our State Senators but I become increasingly suspicious of their loyalties.

It is high time we took a realistic look at campaign contributions and expenditures. Why do we permit this defiling of our democratic system and then get mildly annoyed when select campaign contributors get choice jobs and contracts at our expense?

Are we naive, apathetic or completely stupid to allow the subversion of our individual rights by those who supposedly represent the common weal, but ally themselves with special interests?

Our Senator reports the greater expenditure for campaigns will "bring these offices back to the people". On the contrary, ever larger campaign expenditures discourage the able and honest and encourage the scheming and inept. And, as of this year, campaign contributions are tax deductible. Thus, the donor is given the funds with which to influence, or pervert, if you will, his legislator.

Make no mistake, placing the public trust in the hands of the wealthy, and the "in-politicians" is a cruel hoax. Thomas Jefferson would rise in his grave to protest were he aware of the erosion of the rights of the individual, as he proclaimed them.

All is not yet lost, however. There is a solution to this problem. It is a zero campaign expenditure bill. No financial contributions should be permitted to contestants for public office, excepting national offices. Any man or woman should, if qualified, be able to seek office without impoverishing himself or asking financial favor. He should be able to stand on his merits without drum-beating ballyhoo, free ice cream or expensive advertising expenditures.

There are enough civic, fraternal or political organizations anxious to offer a platform for all candidates to be seen and listened to. All media should be encouraged to publish press releases of all candidates. Cities and towns should hold local political rallies.

This concept of equal exposure for all would enable us to evaluate each candidate solely on their abilities or lack of same. It is so simple as to permit a choice of the highest qualified representatives for all public offices without fanfare or favor. This was the intentions of our forefathers. This is what they, and some of us, fought and died for. Government must be returned to the people, all the people. And tomorrow is not too soon.

QJC To Accept Armed Forces, Equivalence Credits In Fall

Quincy Junior College will accept for credit courses taken through the United States Armed Forces Institute beginning in September.

The school will also grant credit for exams administered by the College Level Examination Program of the College Entrance Examination Board in Princeton, N.J.

Dr. Lawrence P. Crendon, Superintendent of Schools, said veterans may receive up to 30 hours credit toward an associate degree at QJC for courses through the institute.

The college level exams, which are administered in Boston during the third week of each month, require no prerequisite.

For further information, contact Dean Hugo Saluti at Quincy Junior College, 34 Coddington St., Quincy.

- Yippie, Zippie Summit Meeting
- Convention Security Worries GOP
- For Hubert, End Of A Dream

WASHINGTON — Vacation time is rapidly coming to a close for the radical movement in Miami Beach.

The same loosely-organized group of Zippies and Yippies who courted and unthought during the Democratic Convention are now holding serious strategy sessions aimed at embarrassing President Nixon during the Republican Convention next month.

My source for this information is my own long-haired teen-age son, Kevin, who infiltrated the radical movement while I was in Miami Beach for the Democratic Convention.

Kevin tells me that many Abbie Hoffman, a yippie for all seasons, has held a number of summit meetings with his unpredictable lieutenants.

Kevin was present when Hoffman was seeking to out-manuever federal snoopers. For the benefit of electronic snooping devices, Abbie and friends would meet in their gaudy headquarters and lay out one set of plans. Then, the plotters would slip outside and privately draw up a different strategy.

The basic aim of the radicals, reports Kevin, is to turn the sober-sided Republican Convention into a carnival of confusion.

—GOP Snoops—

Meanwhile, the Republicans have done some infiltrating in Miami Beach on their own. Wandering through the Convention Hall among all the Democrats earlier this month, I spotted two top Republicans. They were GOP Vice Chairman Dick Herman and his assistant, Jim Gale. Posing as service personnel, the two explained they were actually sizing up facilities in preparation for their own convention in August.

Both Herman and Gale are worried about security at the convention. They have instructed Republican security agents to work closely with Miami Beach Police Chief Rocky Pomerance, the hefty, jovial cop who is now intensely evaluating contingency plans to handle what looks like a raucous week with the radicals.

While maintaining cordial relations with Yippie leaders, Pomerance has kept in constant touch with the FBI. Pomerance receives FBI reports from every major city in the nation informing him of known radicals leaving for Miami. In addition, Florida police have staked out all the major roads coming into Miami. They are keeping a running tally of the cars, buses and campers carrying potential trouble-makers into the state.

—Finger-Lickin' Good—

Fried chicken magnate, Colonel Harlan Sanders, passed out free fried chicken and paid $35.00 for wastepaper baskets at the Democratic Convention. But we have learned that the old Southern gentleman is a Republican at heart.

Underneath the Colonel's long coat, he wears a big, gold "Richard Nixon in '72" tie clasp. The Colonel told us he is glad the Democrats like his chicken. But he believes the Republicans will do the most finger-licking good for the country.

—Battling Queen Bees—

Although the Women's Caucus struggled valiantly to present a united front at the Democratic Convention, we have learned that a major power struggle is brewing inside the women's lib movement between the Caucus's two middle-aged queen bees — Bella Abzug and Betty Friedan.

Militant feminists, who feel they were shortchanged during the Democratic credentials and platform fights, are telling insiders that battling Bella Abzug and glorious Gloria Steinem used old machine-like politics to deliver the women's vote to McGovern.

Betty Friedan, who founded the Women's Caucus two years ago, is reportedly very upset over Bella's partisan attitude toward McGovern. Betty has told friends privately that Bella has failed the women's cause because she won few, if any, concessions from McGovern for her support.

—End of A Dream—

Hubert Humphrey, the happy warrior of national politics, has seen his life-long quest for the presidency come to a frustrating end.

Humphrey has spent the last 12 years coming in second in national politics. For four years, he served as the nation's number two man under Lyndon Johnson only to come in second by less than one percent to Richard Nixon in 1968. This year, Hubert has come in second again — this time to his one-time next-door neighbor, George McGovern.

Have these defeats embittered Humphrey? Will he work hard for McGovern? I predict that Humphrey will devote himself fully to electing McGovern president. In a politician like Humphrey, the basic instincts never die. He will campaign as hard for McGovern as he would for himself.

Summer Job Earnings Can Affect Students Social Security Benefits

Earnings from summer jobs can affect the monthly payments of students and other young people who get benefits from social security, according to Frank Culkin, social security district manager in the Quincy District Office.

"Over four million young people under 22 get monthly social security payments as children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers," Culkin said. "Many of them will spend the summer school vacation working. In some cases, this work and earnings will affect their social security benefits."

The amount young people earn at summer or part-time jobs will cause a reduction in social security payments if their total earnings for the year are more than $1,680, according to Culkin. "But even if they earn $1,680, they can get their social security payment for any month in which they neither earn more than $140 nor perform substantial services in self-employment," he said.

Most young people won't earn over $1,680 from a summer vacation job, he noted. "But if they also work part-time during the year, they can easily earn over $1,680 during 1972," he said.

If you get social security benefits and earn over $1,680 in a year, $1 in social security benefits is withheld for every $2 you earn from $1,680 up to $2,880. For every $1 you earn over $2,880, $1 in social security benefits is withheld for every $1 earned, according to Culkin.

"Summer workers and other young people who get social security benefits and who know their earnings for this year will go over $1,680 should notify social security as soon as possible," Culkin said.

Schools To Receive $22,777 For Flood Damage

The Quincy public schools will receive $22,777 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to compensate for repairs to storm-damaged schools last February, announces School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon.

Broad Meadows Junior High School sustained the heaviest damage during the weekend storm. A new generator was installed in the school and electrical equipment repaired in the transformer room, which was flooded during the storm, Dr. Creedon said.

Compensation for other schools which sustained some minor roof damage during the storm is also included in the reimbursement from the HEW Office of Education, Dr. Creedon noted.

Brett Urges MDC To Keep Hands Off Private Property

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has asked the MDC to assure Quincy residents that no private property will be taken for the proposed pumping station at Quincy Shore Drive and East Squantum St.

Brett told MDC Commissioner John W. Sears it was "quite disturbing to hear the rumors that private property and a going business may be taken for the site."

"I thought the Commission had already determined that the logical site for the pumping station would be on the Commission's own land," he said.

Such a site, Brett said, would "simplify the laying of pipes for the flow of sewage from Squantum to the Nut Island Plant."

The cost of land-taking by eminent domain "should be reason enough to discard that idea," he said.

Renewal Bill Victim Of Overwriting, Mayor Says

The Quincy urban renewal bill, pocket-vetted this week by Gov. Sargent, was the victim of over-writing, according to Mayor Walter J. Hannon.

The Mayor said the city tried to make the legislation, which is similar to the vetoed "Park Plaza" proposal for Boston, "too perfect."

A spokesman for Sargent said the governor approved of much of the bill, but rejected it primarily due to a portion exempting privately-financed work from state review.

The governor's office said Sargent would refile the bill himself and work for its passage if the lines granting the city complete control are removed.

QCA Urges Residence 'A'

Zoning For Brook Rd-School St.

The Quincy Citizens Association has urged that the area of Brook Rd and School St. be rezoned to residence A to prevent apartment construction.

In a letter to Rev. Bedros Baharian, chairman of the Quincy Planning Board, association officers voiced opposition to concentrated development in the Fort Square area.

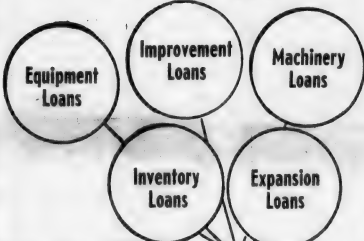

"Due to the bad traffic situation at this busy intersection, the addition of a thousand or more cars coming and going each day will increase the hazard," according to QCA President Joseph A. Slattery.

"In addition, the drainage is a problem now -- without high-density construction.

"For these reasons, we urge the planning board and the city council to rezone the area to residence A in the best interests of the community."

Blunting Rheumatic Fever

Casper, Wyoming seems to have conquered rheumatic fever, the dreaded, heart-damaging disease that develops in 1 to 3% of untreated school-agers stricken, even mildly, with strep throat. Not one case of rheumatic fever has occurred among Casper's 14,000 school children in more than three years - a period in which scores of cases might have been expected.

The key to Casper's success is a ritual performed daily in every elementary classroom. Each morning, every teacher asks whether any child in the class has a sore throat or cold. Children who answer yes are sent to a central station where throats are examined. A swab is taken, cultured and analyzed. If it indicates strep, a simple ten-day course of penicillin treatment can cure the infection and prevent rheumatic fever.

There's a moral here. Since not every town has a program like Casper's, parents should not ignore children's sore throats and colds when a simple cure can prevent an unnecessary tragedy.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. You can also pay your electric or telephone bills or use our notary public service. Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. Prescription tax and insurance records kept plus 24 hour emergency service in North Quincy. Open 7 days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

MARRIED - Mrs. Paul G. Cronin Jr. is the former Miss Eileen E. McDonald, daughter of County Commissioner and Mrs. George B. McDonald of 133 Grove St., Quincy. ## Special Features

ON THE TOWN—Black double-knit cotton gabardine is deftly tailored into an evening suit for the elegantly attired man-about-town. The jacket is sleekly shaped with a gently pinched waist and wide lapels. The pants are high-waisted and loosely cut. The gabardine is a double knit fabric of cotton and polyester by Wyndmoor.

CITY STALKING—Coty Award winning designer, Halston, styled this contemporary cotton knit safari suit. The plaid bush jacket with inset belt and oversized flap pockets teams up with matching straight-legged pants. Representing optimum comfort and performance, the fabric is a spun and filament double knit of cotton and polyester, developed by Cotton Incorporated.

SURF-SAVVY—Cotton knits sail into summer with stylish ease. This pucker knit top with a dash of white at the neckline and sleeves highlights the clean lines of the short side-wrapped skirt. Both are by College Town.

Poet's Corner

Summer

Summer is a Tapestry
Of beauty, accompanied with A symphony of varietal activities that are Bright, useful and gay.

It's a Season for gardens,
And a time for work and leisure.

It's vacation time ...
Snuggling under a breezy tree, Sweeping nature with an inward eye
Enjoying peace and solitude
Dreaming air castles; also
A time for travelling and sight-seeing Clicking "instant memory pictures."

Going to picnics, games,
Circuses, and beaches ...
Swimming and soaking up the sun.

Drinking in the blue-loveliness of the Sea and lovers romancing in The moonlight, along the seashore.

In all seasons, children play
While most adults dream
Of summer leisure-delights.
Care and worries melt in Thin air with their laughter and song.

And "summer magic" once Again rekindles the rapturous
Wonder of the child-chamber
Of every happy grown-up Which brings forth the childhood

Memories into play.
Anna T. Anderson, Quincy

Refreshing Salad Entree

When warm weather calls for a cool menu—perk up appetites with a refreshing salad. Salads are a popular luncheon feature and refreshing main dish delights. Arrange a colorful platter of chicken salad stuffed in avocados nested in a bed of lettuce and garnish with tomato wedges and chilled asparagus. Serve with bread sticks, Syrian bread cut in triangles and a tall frothy beverage for a delightful seasonal menu. Select your favorite dining area—patio, porch or indoors and enjoy dining in cool comfort.

Chicken-Filled Avocados

|                              |                               |
|------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 2 medium avocados            | 2 tablespoons mayonnaise      |
| 1/4 cup lemon juice          | 2 tablespoons chopped celery  |
| 1 4 1/2 ounce can chicken    | 4 tablespoons chopped cashews |
| spread                       |                               |
| Dash of Worcestershire sauce |                               |

Halve avocados, remove pit, and peel. Dip avocado halves in lemon juice so they will not brown. Combine remaining ingredients and stuff avocado halves. Serve on lettuce with tomato and asparagus garnish. Makes four servings.

Another cool salad suggestion:

Devilicious Avocado Salad

|                               |                         |
|-------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 2 ripe avocados               | 2 oranges               |
| 1 4 1/2 ounce can deviled ham | Salad greens            |
| 2 tablespoons chili sauce     | 1/4 cup French dressing |

Peel avocados, cut in rings. Fill centers of rings with deviled ham blended with chili sauce. Peel and section oranges. Serve rings on salad greens with French dressing and garnish with orange slices. Serves four.

Strictly Fresh

The meek will inherit the earth. In its present condition, who else would take it?

My minister says God isn't dead, it's just the Other side's turn at bat.

Civilization began when the first man asked "why?" And it will end when the last man stops asking "why?"

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of July 20 - 27

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Your ideas have a touch of genius and can be put to good use writing, with children, or in creative work.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Discontentment over money matters could upset home conditions. Remember your responsibilities before making change.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Social affairs are taking up too much of your time, even friendliness can at times be overdone. Watch spending.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - A separation or disappointment could make you feel out of sorts, try to avoid worry and take care of your health.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - An alert mind plus diplomacy in handling your affairs will get you through this busy week in good shape.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Pleasure or the fulfillment of a dream is on the agenda this week, friends and relatives will help celebrate.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - A sudden shift in plans must be handled in a practical manner. Give it a little thought before acting.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Everything seems to be going wrong. Patience and a level head is needed to keep yourself on an even keel.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Your calmness in handling recent disappointments is paying off as your partner does an about face.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - An unexpected turn of events is beyond your control so try to be practical and keep calm. Read Cancer message.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - A twist of fate puts your artistic or speculative endeavors on a practical footing and brings benefits.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - A change in the home has been building for some time - it will increase your responsibilities but don't worry.

A NEW APPROACH

TOMORROW'S BATH TODAY

Families remodeling an older bathroom can pick up many practical ideas from today's new homes. Look at the features in this contemporary bath—compartmented design, sunken tub, built-in lavatory, lounge area that also is ideal for dressing small children, and plenty of natural light through sliding doors as well as a skylight. The "now" decor is highlighted by a new prefinished hardboard paneling by Marlite, called Antigua. This washable paneling provides a bright splash of color that sets the mood for the entire bath area. All walls and ceilings are paneled with Marlite, which is highly-resistant to heat, moisture and stains.

"Nothing doing, Hooper. You can come in and pick up your pay like everybody else."

We've got the clean, quiet and dependable fuel. And we know that the independent Gas Heating Contractors we work with in your area match our product for quality.

So if you're planning to replace your present furnace or boiler because it's old and inefficient, your Gas Heating Contractor is the man to call.

He'll advise you on the size and type of equipment that will provide you with the most efficient heating system. And greater efficiency means you'll burn less fuel and save money.

Even if you need to replace your present water heater, range or dryer, you can count on the skill and experience of your Gas Heating Contractor or Master Plumber. Because your comfort, his reputation and ours depend on it.

Three Sisters Among Contestants

Compete For 'Miss Quincy Bay Race Week'

Twenty-two South Shore beauties—including three sisters two of whom are twins—will compete for the title of Miss Quincy Bay Race Week Saturday afternoon as the climax to the three-day Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar promotion.

The winner and four runners-up will share in $1,000 worth of prizes donated by various Quincy businesses, announced Co-chairmen Henry Bosworth of the Quincy Sun and Kenneth P. Fallon Jr. of WJDA.

And, the winner will have the honor of reigning over Quincy Bay Race Week Aug. 9-13.

The selection will be made at a 4 p.m. pageant on a portable boardwalk on Hancock St. in front of the Hancock Bank. In case of inclement weather, it will be shifted to Quincy Masonic Temple.

The new Miss Quincy Bay Race Week will be crowned by last year's winner, Kristin Anderson of Braintree.

As an added attraction, there will be three drawings for $175 in savings bonds, during the pageant. The public may obtain the free coupons at participating stores on Saturday only.

The 22 pageant contestants are:

- Laura Avola, 22, Cardinal Court, Braintree.
- Adele Bornstein, 20, Warren St., Randolph.
- Marilyn Broderick, 20, Hillcrest Rd, Weymouth.
- Kathleen Comer, 17, Ashburton Ave., Brant Rock.
- Theresa Del Gizzi, 18, Lawn Ave., Quincy.
- Penny Etienne, 19, Pleasant St., Hanover.
- Jayne Flaherty, 16, Webster St., Marshfield.
- Jean Howard, 18, Bridge St., North Weymouth.
- Deborah Houlihan, 17, Trevor St., Squantum.
- Randi Hurless, 20, East Elm Ave., Wollaston.
- Janice Loughmiller, 18, Lake Shore Drive, East Weymouth.
- Patricia Lyons, 19, Macy St., Quincy.
- Deborah Morse, 18, Water St., Quincy.
- Nancy Anne Papaz, 17, Churchill Rd, Quincy.
- Mary Pitts, 16, Upton St., West Quincy.
- Nuala Roche, 20, Meadowview Rd, Milton.

-- Dayna Ross, 19, Granite St., Braintree.

-- Donna Sampson, 19, Deborah Sampson, 19, Linda Sampson, 21, South River St., Marshfield.

-- Regina Smith, 18, Harbor View Rd, Milton.

-- Shelley Rae Smith, 20, Beach St., Wollaston.

The three Sampson sisters are summer residents of Sea St., Quincy. Donna and Deborah are twins but not identical.

The contestants will be judged in evening gown and swim suit competition and for poise, personality, and overall beauty. The five finalists will also be judged for response to a question.

Judges will be:

-- Quincy School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

-- Carol Nashe, owner Carol Nashe Model Agency and Model & Charm School.

-- Sabina Stenberg, owner Sabina's Beauty Salon, Wollaston and a former model.

-- Gordon Davis, president Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

-- Richard Mula, Dean of Continuing Education at Quincy Junior College.

Mr. Fallon will be the emcee for the pageant. Music will be by John Sullivan's orchestra.

The 22 contestants will be escorted by commodores and vice-commodores of the Quincy, Wollaston, Squantum, Town River and Wessagusset Yacht Clubs.

The $1,000 in prizes include: -- $300 in Savings Bonds from the Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar Committee.

-- A $100 scholarship from Carol Nashe Career Model & Charm School.

-- $50 in Savings Bonds from Hancock Bank.

-- Complete dress ensemble from Sears, Roebuck.

-- Gift certificates from Remick's, Bell Shop, Lerner's, Cummings, Gilchrist's, Marvel Beauty Shop.

-- A 14-carat ring from Rogers Jewelry.

-- A wig from South Shore Beauty Supply.

-- A transistor radio from South Shore Television & Appliance.

-- A lady's tote bag from Jason's Music & Luggage Shop.

from Clifford's Flower Shop.

-- A gift subscription to The Quincy Sun.

-- A silk scarf from Ross of Quincy.

This year's Miss Quincy Bay Race Week will be the first to wear a double-tier queen's crown of seed pearls and rhinestones being donated by Lynn's Card & Gift Shoppe. The crown will be a rotating one to be worn by future winners.

But the winner will get to keep a handsome trophy being given this year for the first time by the Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar Committee.

The pageant committee includes:

Joseph Angelo, Remick's of Quincy; Leslie Brierley, Hancock Bank; Raymond Cunningham, Quincy Bay Race Week;

Florence Kerrigan, Baskin-Robbins; Ruth Miller, Marvel Beauty Shop; Ethelyn Sacchetti, Lynn's Card & Gift Shoppe and Charles Wood, South Shore Beauty Supply.

Lynn's Of Quincy Donates Crown

A double-tier queen's crown of seed pearls and rhinestones is being donated by Lynn's Card and Gift Shoppe to crown the queen of the Miss Quincy Bay Race Week Pageant.

Mrs. Ethelyn Sacchetti said the crown will be on display in her store window on Hancock St. until the winner of the pageant is chosen on Saturday.

The crown, made by Vogue of New York, will become a permanent feature of the annual beauty contest.

Quincy

You'll find more than your usual neighborly shopkeepers when you shop downtown Quincy this week.

Quincy is a great place to shop.
But on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, it's also a great place to be entertained. Because this is the week of the third annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar.

The accent, as in the past, will be on good, old-fashioned bargains, offered by nearly 100 Quincy Center stores, shops and businesses, and good, old-fashioned fun:

Band concerts, banjo bands, barbershop quartets, square dancing, puppet shows, an antique auto parade, sidewalk art shows, fire engine rides, and exhibits by clubs and other organizations are all on the schedule.

And on Saturday afternoon, the whole
Bazaar will be climaxed by the Miss Quincy Bay Race Week Beauty Pageant to be held on Hancock Street, downtown Quincy.

This year, the Bazaar is being sponsored for the first time by the New Quincy Center Business Association, now being formed.

We wish the new Association great success.
And we wish you a great time.

The Quincy Sidewalk
Bazaar has the support of South Shore National Bank.

Mayor Declares July 20-22 'Sidewalk Bazaar Days'

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has declared July 20-22 Sidewalk Bazaar Days in Quincy and urged residents to give business help "toward continued strength and success."

Following is the text of the proclamation:

WHEREAS, The American standard of living is recognized as the highest in the world and is due, in great part, to the abundance and high quality of the products of our competitive enterprise system and their forthright identification by trademarks submitted for the free choice of the consuming public, and

tradition of independent enterprise is as old as our society itself and from humble beginnings small business has grown into one of the principal economic forces in this, the world's greatest industrial nation, and

WHEREAS, If downtown Quincy retailers are to realize their full potential in the years ahead, they need and deserve wholehearted support from the citizens in the business community as a whole as well as the strong encouragement it already receives from national organizations and the local government, and with various civic and business groups in providing the citizens of Quincy and the South Shore unsurpassed retailing opportunities;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Walter J. Hannon, Mayor of the City of Quincy, do hereby proclaim July 20, 21, and 22, 1972, as and encourage all citizens and public organizations to join with me during this week in paying tribute to the accomplishments of small business in helping it toward continued strength and success.

Walter J. Hannon, Mayor

50 Antique Autos

Antique autos from 1908 to 1947 will be on display around Quincy Center Friday and Saturday during the third annual Downtown Sidewalk Bazaar.

A wide variety of classic cars will be exhibited on Hancock

St., in the Turnstyle area and at Scott Furniture on Chestnut St.

Exhibitors will be members of the South Shore Antique Auto Club and the Old Colony Model T Club.

Snuff, Mutes, Ball, Train Time Bring Rock Music To Bazaar

Four local rock groups — Snuff, The Mutes, Ball and Train Time — will provide entertainment for youth Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar.

Snuff, a newly-organized group whose members have played with several prominent rock bands, will hold concerts at 7 p.m. Thursday at Turnstyle and at 7 p.m. Friday at the South Shore National Bank.

The Mutes, who recently cut their first album, will perform at the South Shore National Bank at 7 p.m. Thursday, at Turnstyle at 7 p.m. Friday and at Lynn's Card and Gift Shoppe Saturday at 1 p.m.

Ball, veterans of several Quincy area dances, will play Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Jason's.

Train Time will perform Friday and Saturday at various spots around Quincy Center.

Snuff personnel includes Bob Mattulina, guitar; Mike Nicholson, reeds and percussion; Dan Munkley, keyboards; Dick Mattulina, bass and Tom Long, drums.

The group may also be heard Monday night at Coral Gables in North Weymouth.

Mike Splaine handles the lead guitar and vocals for The Mutes, whose members include Peter Simonelli, drums; Mike Muzyka, rhythm guitar; Bill Burke, bass and Joe Mirotta, sax.

They are beginning an engagement at T. J.'s Lounge in Boston and will enter Berklee College of Music in the fall.

Ball includes Frank Iacovino, reeds; Steve Murphy, guitar; Rick Murphy, drums; Dave Halletky, guitar and Tom Lynch, bass.

Paintings At Bazaar

An art exhibit sponsored by the YMCA will feature paintings by Don's Ferrara of West Quincy and her students Thursday and Friday at Colpitts Travel Agency on Hancock St.

Works in several media by Mrs. Ferrara and students at the YMCA will be on display from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 20 and 21 as part of the Downtown Sidewalk Bazaar.

Mrs. Ferrara, art teacher at the YMCA for the past 14 years, is a graduate of the School of Practical Art and the Museum School in Boston.

She is studying printmaking at the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln and teaches privately.

She won second prize at the recent Cohasset Art Festival sponsored by the South Shore Art Center and has exhibits at Bear Cove in Hingham and the Cambridge Art Association.

Alligator, 5-Foot Boa Constrictor To Highlight Zoomobile Show

A monkey, an alligator, a skunk and a five-foot boa constrictor will be among the featured performers of the third annual Downtown Sidewalk Bazaar Thursday and Friday.

The menagerie will be on hand as part of the Boston Zoological Society's "Zoomobile" display from 2 to 4 p.m. each day at Colman's Sporting Goods on Hancock St.

Zoomobile staff members will spend two hours each day answering questions and talking about a dozen or more exotic animals.

Every animal will be taken from its cage during the presentation and children will have the opportunity to touch or pat many of them.

Jack Kerrigan of Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream Parlor arranged the Zoomobile appearance.

Young World Dancers To Stage Minstrel, Variety Shows

Students at Young World Dancing Studio, 233 Parking Way, will present variety and minstrel shows Thursday, Friday and Saturday during the third annual Downtown Sidewalk Bazaar.

Children aged 8 through 11 will perform tap, acrobatic and singing routines from 2-4 p.m. Thursday and from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday opposite Child Teen Shoe Store on Cottage Ave.

Three separate full-dress minstrel shows will be presented at the same location Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. with a cast ranging in age from 11 to 16.

The half-hour minstrel shows will include songs, modern jazz, tap, ballet and tambourine routines.

Directing the performances is Mrs. Bette Campbell, assistant director and head teacher at Art Linkletter Young World, owned and operated by Paul Boyajian.

Square Dancing Galore With Dick Springer, Gingham Swingers

The Gingham Swingers and Dick Springer will bring square dancing to Quincy Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the new Courthouse and from 9 to 11 p.m. at City Hall.

Springer will return Friday to call a dance in Grossman's parking lot from 7 to 11 p.m. The Gingham Swingers list more than 300 members from around the South Shore with Arnie Kanash as their caller.

And Dick Springer, of Hull, will call the steps at public square dances Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the new Courthouse and from 9 to 11 p.m. at City Hall.

Springer will return Friday to call a dance in Grossman's parking lot from 7 to 11 p.m.

The Gingham Swingers list more than 300 members from around the South Shore with Arnie Kanash as their caller.

Springer is past secretary of the Old Colony Callers Association and in his five years of calling has performed throughout New England and New York.

His voice has been heard at the New England Square Dance Conventions, Foxboro Hospital, the Prudential Center in Boston and at the last two Sidewalk Bazaars in Quincy.

Satuit, Morrisette Bands To Provide Stage Music

Overtures, marches and medleys of show tunes will resound in Quincy Center Thursday and Friday courtesy of Quincy's Morrisette Legion Band and the Satuit Band of Scituate.

Giovanni Falcone of West Squantum St., North Quincy, will conduct the Morrisette Band in a concert from 8 to 10 p.m., Thursday at Gilchrist's.

The Satuit Band, under director Robert Morrill and manager Fred Sylvester, will perform from 8 to 10 Friday at Massachusetts Electric Co.

Stage music coordinator for the third annual Downtown Sidewalk Bazaar is Ferdinand DeNicola of South Shore Television.

Morrisette Director Falcone is a graduate of the New England

Conservatory of Music and founded the marching and concert unit four years ago.

He is former conductor of the Lawrence Band and the well-known Napoli Band of Boston's North End.

The Satuit Band, composed of musicians from the Hingham-Scituate area, has been a popular South Shore musical group for the past 40 years.

Animal Birth Control Group To Have Booth At Bazaar

A handful of local women concerned about animal overpopulation will set up a booth at the Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar July 20-22.

The group will be calling for attention and action on the plight of thousands of stray or unwanted dogs and cats destroyed annually in Greater Boston.

Headed by Miss Nancy Greenberg of 23 Joan Dr., and Mrs. Betty Jean Synan of 133 Washington St., they constitute the local chapter of the Animal Birth Control Action League. [ABCAL].

ABCAL presents a six-point program calling for spaying, altering and controlling pets to prevent the overpopulation which too often results in extermination of the animals.

At the bazaar, members will seek signatures on petitions asking that a veterinary school be founded in Massachusetts and that dog license revenue be turned over to the pounds.

"There is no school of veterinary medicine in New England," one petition reads. "Each animal population and problems increase while the number of graduate veterinarians entering the state decreases."

Mrs. Synan said she has toured the Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth dog pounds, interviewing officers and taking photographs to be used at the display.

The immediate goal, according to Miss Greenberg, "is to stimulate public awareness of the perils of indiscriminate animal breeding.

"The ultimate aim is to alleviate animal suffering," she said.

Hancock Bank Reports 10% Net Income Increase

Hancock Bank reports net income of $411,683.57 for the first six months of 1972 up 10% over the $374,164.96 for the same period a year ago, according to William E. Kelley, president.

Income before security transactions and extraordinary items was up $75,579.42 to $411,683.57 during this period compared to $336,104.15 for the six months last year, Kelley said.

Assets on June 30, 1972 had climbed 12.6 per cent to $78,218,716.72 up $8,780,995.95 over the same day a year ago.

During the last six months deposits grew to $66,675,725.35 an increase of 12.6 per cent over the 1971 figure.

Loans increased 11.4 per cent from $43,494,320.44 on June 30, 1972 compared to $39,046,391.98 a year ago.

Earnings per share of common stock rose to $1.47 for the first six months compared to $1.34 for the first half of 1971.

We can't pull the plug on people who want a better way of living.

It's easy to say we have all the appliances we'll ever need. And all the electricity we'll ever need to run them. Easy for the "haves". But how about the "have-nots"?

Today, urban renewal and redevelopment programs are bringing new hope to thousands of New England families. And with it new standards of living.

This means more of the little everyday conveniences most of us take for granted. More refrigerators. More ranges. More washers and dryers. All requiring more electricity.

That's why we're working now to provide the kind of generating facilities that will best meet these growing demands and still satisfy our common environmental concerns. It can mean a better way of living. For all of us.

People like you working to make life a little better.

Ronald Iacobucci Attends Student Council Convention

Ronald Iacobucci, president of the Quincy High School Student Council and the Quincy Vocational-Technical School, recently spent a week with his counterparts from 80 high schools at the annual convention of the Massachusetts Association of Student Councils.

Central theme of the meeting was to convey an understanding of how students can work together to create more effective student units of government. This was done by having the students act out different roles common to a student council meeting. For example, Iacobucci alternately played the roles of leader, follower and joker.

Iacobucci said the convention was helpful to the students in that it gave them an appreciation of the value of understanding the "other fellow's" viewpoint.

Norfolk Flower Shop Springs From Seeds Of Victory Garden

Joseph Koplovsky was far too young to join the fighting force which sailed to battle the Kaiser in 1917, but like most young Americans he wanted to do his part.

So Joe planted a victory garden and from its seeds grew a lasting interest in horticulture which exhibits itself today at the Norfolk Flower Shop and Nurseries Inc. at 49 Beale St., Wollaston.

Koplovsky is president and director of the corporation which moved to Wollaston in 1969 after 25 years at 287 Hancock St., North Quincy.

A native of Boston, Koplovsky graduated from Boston schools, attended Cornell University, worked for P. William Firth florist in East Boston and owned shops in Dorchester before coming to Quincy in 1944.

Norfolk Flower Shop today employs seven full-time and four part-time workers and Koplovsky also operates Milton Greenhouse on Paradise Rd., Milton.

He is treasurer and director of Norfolk Acceptance Corp and Biozonics Inc. of Natick, a director of Cork Engineering and Insulation Co. of Charlestown. He is a member of Atlantic Lodge of Masons, Taleb Grotto, Lions, Knights of Pythias and the Wollaston Business and Professional Association.

In his leisure time, Koplovsky enjoys "sports of all kinds, especially golf."

Koplovsky, 62, and his wife, the former Betty Priven of Dorchester, live at 139 Gulliver St., Milton.

The couple have a son, William Koplovsky of Hingham; a daughter, Miss Annette B. Koplovsky of Milton, and two grandchildren, Michael and Mira.

Mayor 'Very Happy' Over Signing Of Golf Course Bill

Mayor Walter J. Hannon said he is "very happy" over Gov. Sargent's signing of a bill authorizing Norfolk County to take over the Wollaston Golf Course.

The legislation, which authorizes expenditure of up to $3.5 million, will preserve open space and provide much-needed local control over the facility, Hannon said.

The mayor said he was pleased that the county takeover was approved because a similar proposal for MDC operation of the course would reduce local control.

Under the county plan, Quincy and Milton have two representatives each on a seven-member board running the facility.

"We had little or no faith in an MDC takeover," the Mayor said. "The people in the area didn't want it and the MDC has problems enough."

Delahunt Seeks Radar Patrol

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt has asked that a radar-equipped police cruiser be assigned to the vicinity of Marshall St. and Billings Rd. in Wollaston.

Delahunt wrote Police Chief Francis X. Finn to register the complaints of several residents regarding the high speed of traffic on Billings Rd.

"This has been a constant source of irritation and concern to area residents," he said, "especially during the summer months when Wollaston Beach is crowded with people enjoying leisurely activities."

He also asked that signs be posted declaring that the area was radar patrolled.

What's Your Favorite "Salty" Expression?

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-9 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursday's

Few words in the English language find their way into daily expression with such frequency as the word salt.

When someone tells you that you are "the salt of the earth," you bask for you are held in high esteem.

When you "eat salt" with a person, you are enjoying his hospitality.

When you say "there is salt between us," you are referring to a steadfast relationship, probably because from earliest times the preservative qualities of salt have been well known.

These are a few of the many ways in which salt colors our language. The Oxford English Dictionary has two pages of definitions and fine-print examples of usage since the recording of words.

The widespread uses of salt and its importance to man's health undoubtedly explain why we have so many applications to convey an extraordinary range of meanings.

You take something with "a grain of salt" when you accept it with reserve. If you are "worth your salt," you are recognized as being efficient or capable. If you have "the salt of youth," there is a liveliness, freshness, or piquancy about you. If you "speak with salt," you have a sharp and pungent wit.

A new expression to us, although it is many centuries old, was "above the salt." This means being seated at the upper part of the table with the more honored guests. Those below the salt, which was located in a large salt-cellar at mid-table, found themselves with lesser guests or with minors of the family and servants.

The rarity of salt in primitive times among inlanders accounts for its utility as a medium of exchange. Cakes of salt have served as money in Abyssinia and elsewhere in Africa and Tibet. There are still parts of central Africa where its use is a luxury enjoyed only by the rich.

Its economic importance accounts for salt taxes which persist in some places even to the present day. Heavy taxation prompted the mixture of earth with the mineral, which explains the Biblical observation in Matthew about "the salt which has lost its savor."

We also learned that in the Roman army an allowance of salt was made to officers and men. In imperial times, as the Roman Empire stretched across the inhabited world, this salarium was converted into an allowance of money for salt. Hence our modern word salary.

Our favorite salty expression? Salt some away!

Book For Stamp Collectors On Sale At Post Offices

A book for stamp collectors that has wide appeal for both novice and long time philatelists is now on sale at all post offices in the Boston Postal District, announces Postmaster George K. Walker.

This is the first U.S. Postal Service book to fully illustrate U.S. stamps in color and list the values on each issue from 1847 through mid-1972.

"Stamps & Stories", The exciting Saga of U.S. History Told in Stamps, was prepared for the U.S. Postal Service by the editors of Scott Publishing Co., the nation's oldest printer of stamp catalogs.

While all of the pertinent philatelic information is included, the book extends far beyond the range of a catalog. The book contains illustrated stories covering many highlights in history that have been portrayed on stamps.

The book has a chapter titled, "How to be a happy stamp collector." There is a glossary of philatelic terms, so that those who are not quite sure what "tete-beche" or "laid paper" mean can inform themselves.

Stamps issued by the Confederate States of America are reproduced as are those of the United Nations and a sampling of stamps from many countries.

The book has 224 pages and is convenient pocket size 4 1/2 x 7 1/4 inches. It's available for $2. at local post offices.

Creedon Brothers In Education Field

In a family with five brothers you wouldn't expect four of them to choose the same profession.

But that is exactly the situation in the family of the late Quincy Deputy Fire Chief and Mrs. Peter J. Creedon.

Between the four brothers they pretty much cover the range of top administrative posts available in public education. One of the five educators is a school committee member, another is a superintendent of schools, a third is a principal of an elementary school and the fourth is a principal of a junior high school.

Since 1867 the Creedon family has lived on Kendall St., in North Quincy. The five brothers and their sister, Mrs. George Clancy of Rockland, all attended the Quincy Public Schools.

Two of the brothers still live and work in Quincy. One is School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, and the other is Eugene Creedon, principal of the Francis W. Parker Elementary School.

Dr. Creedon has been Superintendent of Schools since 1969. He has been affiliated with the school system since 1957, holding posts ranging from classroom teacher to assistant principal to Assistant Superintendent for Instruction.

Dr. Creedon has co-authored a book entitled "United For Separation" and has contributed a chapter to another book called "Planning Urban Education". He holds a doctorate in education from Boston University.

Eugene Creedon has been principal of the Parker Elementary School for the past school year. Just prior to that appointment he was principal of St. Ann's School in Quincy. He formerly taught at Quincy Point Junior High School and has been a program director for Camp Miramar in Duxbury. He holds a masters degree in education from Boston State College.

A third brother, Bernard P. Creedon, won election to the Middle County School Board in Long Island, N.Y., June 14. He is a former president of a teachers association and holds a masters degree in education from Queens College.

A fourth brother, Peter J. Creedon Jr., nick-named "Joe", has been the principal of the Sachem Junior High School on Long Island, N.Y. for the past five years. He also holds a masters degree in education from New York University.

The only brother not in the education field is John Creedon. He is a physicist engaged in research for the federal government at Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

In Legion Baseball

Morrisette, Quincy And Weymouth Hot

One streak of wildness by Jimmy Walker and another by relief pitcher Tony Knasas cost Morrisette a vital game Monday night and a 6-3 win by Braintree threw the Zone 6 American Legion race into a turmoil with Morrisette, Braintree and Weymouth all in a virtual first place tie.

Morrisette's defending champions took an 8-4 record into last night's game at Milton. Friday the defending champs host Weymouth, entertain Randolph Monday and face Quincy at Adams Field next Wednesday. Morrisette, like other teams, still have a few postponed games to replay.

Braintree's win Monday gave it a 7-4 record.

Meanwhile Quincy dropped a 5-3 decision to Hingham Monday after taking a 3-1 lead into the fifth inning. The loss dropped Quincy to 5-6 in zone play.

Last night Quincy had an open date, it plays at Randolph Friday, at Milton Monday and hosts Morrisette next Wednesday.

After a misjudged home run had given Braintree a first inning 1-0 lead, Morrisette exploded for six hits in the second but scored only three runs as a runner was doubled up at the plate on a fly to right.

Russ MacDonald, Dave Nelson, Jim Driscoll, Mike Marvelle, Bobby Malvesti and Joe Marani had the Morrisette hits in the inning. Jim Murray, who pitched well in relief, took over for starter Mike Stackpole in this inning.

In the third, however, Walker, who had blanked Braintree on two hits last week, walked three men and Gary Lee hit a wrong-field double to left to clear the bases and put Braintree ahead, 4-3.

Morrisette hit the ball hard all night and kept the Braintree outfielders busy but the hard liners and flies were right at someone. In the fourth Nelson's towering fly was caught against the left field fence.

In the seventh Knasas, who relieved Walker in the fifth, walked three batters and two hits gave Braintree two insurance runs.

Marani was the only Morrisette batter with two hits.

Quincy's Bobby Morton hit a tremendous two-run homer far over the fence at Hingham to give his team an early 2-0 lead.

In the fifth Dave Murphy, pitching well, weakened and Hingham, with two outs, collected four straight hits, the last one a three-run game winning homer by the catcher.

Morton and Bob Torino had two hits each as Quincy collected nine hits.

"These kids have done well considering we don't have what you can call a regular pitcher," said Quincy's veteran coach, Connie Carozzi. "Murphy is a third baseman, Steve Mele an outfielder and Morton a catcher. With a little more pitching we would be right up there."

Dave Carroll, a good pitching prospect, took over for Murphy in the fifth, got the side out and breezed through the sixth inning.

Sunday Morrisette defeated Keene, N.H., 9-6, in an exhibition game.

Last Friday Morrisette won its second straight shutout, 4-0, at Hingham as Tony Knasas pitched a three-hitter and struck out nine in his first route-going job.

Morrisette, whose hitting has been improving steadily, collected eight hits including three by Artie Boyle and a double and single by Russ MacDonald, scored once in the first, twice in the third and once in the sixth.

Meanwhile, Quincy dropped a 3-1 decision to Weymouth as it was held to two hits by fireballing Vin Hillyer, the target of many major league scouts. Hillyer struck out 12 and walked three.

Steve Mele started on the mound for Quincy but for the first time this year was hit hard and gave way to Bob Morton in the third inning. Mele gave up a long triple in the first but the runner was caught off third. He was then tagged for a triple and four singles in the second when Weymouth scored all its runs.

Morton, doffing his catcher's togs to pitch, did a fine job over the final five innings, giving up two hits and a walk. Greg Fennessey and Murphy had the only Quincy hits.

Earlier in the week Quincy overcame a 3-1 deficit and upset Braintree, 5-3, as Murphy pitched fine ball, scattering eight hits, and Tim Flynn drove in four runs with a home run, single and sacrifice fly.

Dave Drew had two hits for Quincy.

Jim Walker had returned Morrisette to its familiar spot on top of the zone standings by blanking Braintree, 2-0, on a one-hitter. In one of his finest performances, the flashy southpaw struck out seven and walked five.

Morrisette, which again had eight hits, scored both runs in the third. Dave Nelson singled with the bases loaded for the winning runs.

Walker gave up only an infield hit in the first and only one ball was hit to the outfield.

MacDonald and Nelson had two hits apiece to spark the attack.

Beau's Place Clobbers T & J Auto, Whidden Memorial In Metro Tourney

Beau's Place of Quincy swept back-to-back games against Whidden Memorial Hospital and T & J Auto by identical 10-4 scores in opening games of the Metro Boston Men's Slow Pitch Softball Tournament.

Lenny Cinquegrandi hit two homers and a double to lead the 13-hit barrage against Whidden in Everett Saturday.

Johnny Moran picked up the win as Kevin Finneran, Jim Hatfield and Ed Kelly contributed two hits each and Tommy Colclough stood out defensively.

Jimmy Buhl and Joe Larkin each connected for three of Beau's 16 hits against T & J and Eddie Kelly, Ralph Rowe and Frank Lamano had two hits apiece.

Tom Colclough again and Mike Shaheen came up with sparkling defensive plays.

The team will play at 1:30 p.m. July 23 at Glendale Park, Everett.

Caddy Post Honors Sterling Junior High Soccer Team

William R. Caddy Marine Corps League Detachment hosted a buffet honoring the city champion Sterling Junior High School soccer team.

Detachment Commandant David J. Dunderdale presented to Coach Joe Ambrosia a trophy which will serve as the city's soccer championship cup.

The Sterling team has played its last 27 games without a loss as it rolled to three consecutive titles.

Invited guests included School athletic director Carl Leone, Senate Counsel James R. McIntyre, Sen. Arthur H. Tobin and School Committeeman Charles T. Sweeney. Leo Cardarelli was chairman for the event.

Sal's All-Stars Try-Outs July 22

Try-outs for Sal's All-Stars of Quincy and North Quincy will be held at 9 a.m. July 22 at Artery Field, near Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Manager Hugo Salvatore said the baseball teams are open to boys 11 and 12 years of age.

Registration was held Wednesday at Morrisette Post.

Milmore, Mrs. Bruce Brown Fire 36 At Furnace Brook

Mrs. Bruce Brown and Roger Milmore fired a 36 for the low gross score in mixed Scotch foursome competition at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Tied for low net were Mrs. Anthony Spinello and Roy Christensen and Mrs. George Hodges and Pat Bailee.

Mele, Burns, MacDonald Sox Scouting Staff Has Strong Quincy Look

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy Sun Writer

There is a distinct Quincy tinge to the Red Sox scouting staff.

The staff includes two Quincy residents, veteran Sam Mele and a comparative newcomer, Tommy MacDonald, plus Irving (Jack) Burns, who is remembered well by oldtime Quincy fans as a slugging first baseman for the late Jeppie Saunders' Fore River teams.

Mele is not only a top scout for the Boston Club but a special instructor who works with the players on the various Sox farm clubs.

Sam is regarded as a topnotch batting instructor and has been working with the hitters on all the Boston farm clubs. He recently was at Winter Haven, which plays in the Florida State League, and has been or will be working with Louisville of the International League, Pawtucket of the Eastern League, Winston-Salem of the Carolina League and Williamsport of the New York-Penn League.

Sam, broke into the major leagues with the Red Sox in 1947 and batted .302 in 123 games. He was a coach for the Washington Senators and Minnesota Twins before taking over as Twins' manager in 1961. He led them to the American League pennant in 1965, and was regarded by most people as one of the best batting coaches in the league.

"Sam is an excellent baseball man and one of the most valuable men in our system," said Neil Mahoney, director of player procurement and scouting for the Sox.

Burns has been with the Sox in various capacities for many years. Before being named a scout, Jack coached for the Hub club and is considered an outstanding judge of talent. He signed many boys who have excelled for Sox farm clubs, some of whom made the big time.

Jack currently covers Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine for the Sox, while a former Sox player, Lefty LeFebvre, covers the rest of New England.

He scouts college players and during the summer covers various leagues which include college players such as the Cape Cod League and Carlings' Inter-City League, and can be seen at some of the American Legion games.

Burns played for the old St. Louis Browns for several years and for the Tigers for a while. He batted .305 in 1932 and .300 in 1930 and finished with a lifetime .280 for seven years.

MacDonald, who never played in the major leagues but did play in the Yankee farm system, is a former player and manager in the Boston Park League and assists Burns in covering Eastern New England.

Tommy can be seen at a local Legion game most of the time and also scouts the Park League among others.

"These three men do a fine job," Mahoney said. "You can't find any better baseball men than Mele and Burns, and MacDonald, who has been with us for only three years, is proving himself a good judge of talent. We are fortunate to have such men on our scouting staff."

The staff also includes many former Sox players, the best known being Frank Malzone, voted the team's best all-time third baseman; Charlie Wagner, Milt Bolling and Earl Johnson.

Others are Mace Brown, Ray Boone, LeFebvre and Dave Philley.

Speaking of the Red Sox, our prediction a few weeks ago that the Sox could make a run of it for the Eastern Division top, the way the Orioles and Tigers were floundering, looked good the past two weeks and, despite a little slump during the past week, they still have a chance.

The big reason for the Sox improvement is New Hampshire's Carlton Fisk, fast becoming one of the league's outstanding catchers and apparently a cinch to be chosen by Earl Weaver for an all-star berth.

Fisk, always an excellent defensive catcher with a bullet arm, has blossomed into a great power hitter and at this writing was hitting .308 with 13 home runs.

Right now he rates as the finest Red Sox catcher in a good many years.

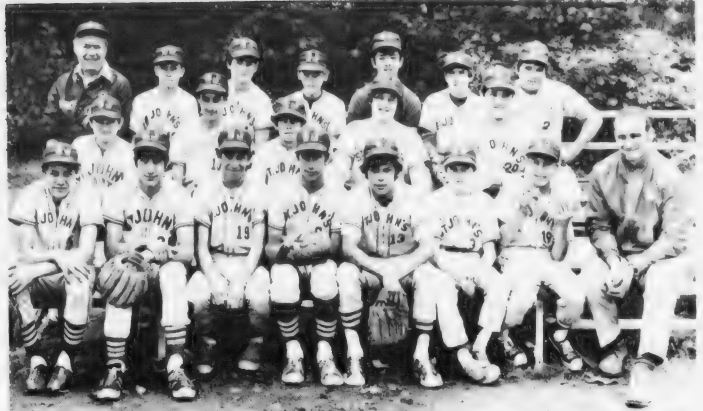

Other bright lights for the Sox have been rookie pitchers John Curtis and Lynn McGlothlen and the performances of rookie outfielders Ben Oglvie and Rick Miller when they are called upon.

Just how much chance the Sox have of giving the O's and Tigers a run for the money should be known after they finish a four-day six-game set with the Oakland A's which starts tonight with a two-night doubleheader starting at 5:30. The teams play Friday night at 7:30, Saturday afternoon at 2, Saturday night at 7:30, a "Family Night", and Sunday at 2.

The Red Sox raised the fans' hopes with a three-game sweep at Oakland last week but the A's have been one of the best road teams in the league.

'Never Be Spectator Again'

Mrs. Hanabury, Greenwald Return From Hectic Convention Week

By PAUL D. HAROLD
Quincy Sun Correspondent

Mrs. Marilyn Hanabury and Ron Greenwald, Quincy's delegate and alternate to the Democratic National Convention, returned home tired Friday night, but with a great sense of satisfaction.

"It was very exciting to be a part of the policy making," Mrs. Hanabury said, "and after participating at that level [national] I could never go back to being a spectator."

Following Thursday night's balloting for Vice President, Mrs. Hanabury accompanied by her daughter Kathy and Greenwald, returned to the Beau Rivage Hotel for a 3 a.m. reception for the Massachusetts delegation.

This would be the last time the delegation would "caucus".

The champagne-beer party lasted till about 7 a.m. at which time a number of the delegates adjourned to the beach.

The luggage for the airport bus had to be ready in four hours, so even in the one day of relaxation, the delegates were rushed.

This was the first convention under the "reform rules" and almost every question was decided by lottery.

Seating of the delegates was by lottery and the Massachusetts delegation was in the top five, with seats in the front of the convention hall, to the right of the podium.

QUINCY'S DELEGATE, Mrs. Marilyn Hanabury chats with Mrs. Edward Kennedy at the Democratic National Convention. Mrs. Hanabury told Mrs. Kennedy of her campaign for state representative, at which point Mrs. Kennedy said, "You've got a lot of courage."

Roll call was decided by lottery, instead of alphabetically, and Massachusetts fell somewhere in the middle.

Even hotel accommodations were decided by lottery and the Massachusetts delegation found itself 10 miles from the convention site at the Beau Rivage Hotel.

California and Illinois delegations were 15 miles away, while the Kentucky contingent was 25 miles away, in Ft. Lauderdale.

Spectators' passes were given out by lottery also.

MRS. HANABURY congratulates Mrs. George McGovern as the challenge to the California delegation is voted down by the Democratic National Convention. With the California delegation seated, McGovern's nomination was assured at this point.

Kathy Hanabury drew a pass for Thursday night, which in the end turned out to be the most exciting night of the convention.

Thursday was the balloting for Vice President as well as Senator Edward Kennedy's speech and Senator George McGovern's acceptance speech.

"I was thrilled by the whole thing," Kathy said. "I loved every minute."

Thursday night was a busy night for Greenwald and his father, Samuel Greenwald.

Both were involved in the bid of Stanley Arnold for the Vice Presidential nomination.

Sam Greenwald served as campaign manager for the dark horse candidate while Ron was floor manager during the balloting.

When asked about her vote for the Vice Presidential nominee, Mrs. Hanabury said she voted for Senator Thomas Eagleton. "He was McGovern's choice and also the best man, in my opinion," she explained.

"McGovern's choice was made known to the delegation, but McGovern made it clear at all times," Mrs. Hanabury said, "That you could vote your conscience."

Many of the Massachusetts delegates did vote their conscience, only 52 out of the 102 voted for Eagleton.

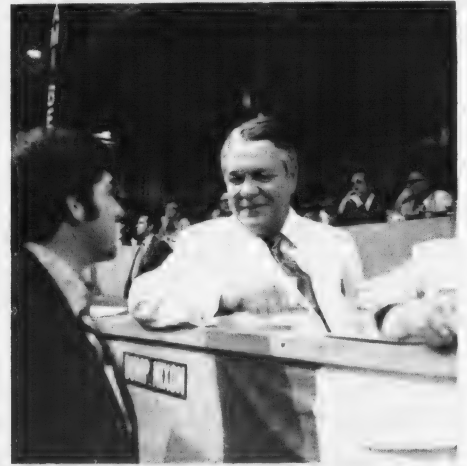

The possibility that Mayor Kevin White would be nominated for Vice President came as a surprise to the Massachusetts delegates.

Mrs. Hanabury explained that, "The Massachusetts delegation didn't turn down Mayor White, they were never approached for support. As a matter of fact, his name was never mentioned in caucus by the McGovern advisors."

Mrs. Hanabury and Greenwald return to Quincy fresh from the convention, but ready to continue their political involvement.

Greenwald will be a co-ordinator in Gerald O'Leary's campaign for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

Mrs. Hanabury is a candidate for state representative in Wards 4, 5 and 6.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Lee Remick Paris Bound

Remember TOM EWELL? The publicity shy actor makes a rare screen appearance in the now-being-lensed "THEY ONLY KILL THEIR MASTERS"... For all his film acting success, BING CROSBY is best "nostalgia" remembered for his early 50's hit, "WHITE CHRISTMAS"... JERRY LEWIS mini-cinemas are sprouting up all over the place, with his latest addition located in neighboring Warwick, R.I.... LANA WOOD impresses in the heavy political drama, "A PLACE CALLED TODAY". And for the enchantingly beautiful Ms. WOOD, this production could prove to be the offshoot of a marquee lighted career...

Someone should clue RYAN O'NEAL in. A CARY GRANT he'll never be as "WHAT'S UP DOC?" so realistically exposes. Of course convincing the swell-headed O'NEAL of this is going to take some doing... With an ego far surpassing his ability as an actor, O'NEAL comes across on talk shows as God's gift to Tinseltown... MIA FARROW makes her stage debut in the London based "MARY ROSE"... LEE MARVIN and GENE HACKMAN prove as tough as they come in the heavy crime-drama "PRIME CUT"...

It's not unusual for a stage musical to be scored into a filmed version. Stage productions gone Hollywood have been the vogue for decades. However, a reversal of this trend is not an everyday occurrence... "GIGI", Oscar awarded as Best Picture of 1958, is now being prepared as a legitimate stage number. FREDERICK LOEWE and ALAN JAY LERNER are busy piecing together the three act "GIGI" stage version with a premiere opening date set for next summer in San Francisco...

The prestigious Venice Film Festival inaugurates its 1972 edition Aug. 20th with "THE GODFATHER" listed as an official American entrant... United Artist and comedy-writer SPIKE MULLIGAN take a step to the left in the poor taste department with the comical farce, "ADOLPH HITLER-MY PART IN HIS DOWNFALL". Since when has the name HITLER been associated with comedy?... DAVID CASSIDY, mentioned in this column a month back with his unclothing in an underground periodical, goes legitimate via the BURT REYNOLDS route with an upcoming Cosmopolitan magazine "show-all"...

"THE NIGHT STALKER" [ABC], "BRIAN'S SONG" [ABC], "WOMEN IN CHAINS" [ABC], "CALL HER MOM" [ABC] and "A DEATH OF INNOCENCE" [CBS] were the top five, made-for-television movies of the 1971-72 season... Obviously, the big winner ratings-wise was ABC-TV who captured 19 of the primetime 30 films ranked... Recommended family motion picture fare: "SNOOPY, COME HOME", an animated feature based on the CHARLES M. SCHULZ cartoon creation... And for the curious, 153 million Americans over age 12 are turned on by the good vibes from the radio. The whopping 96% of the population figure attest to the durability of the radio as a source of entertainment and news information...

Actor RAYMOND ST. JACQUES turns producer with his forthcoming "BOOK OF NUMBERS"... RAQUEL WELCH plays it tough in the role of a high flying, roller derby queen in the August release, "KANSAS CITY BOMBER". She also gives with a new image, as she is anything but the sex symbol in this fast-paced fic... Titles can be deceiving: "TOYS ARE NOT FOR CHILDREN" is an X-rater all the way... Former "LAUGH-IN" alumni HENRY GIBSON film debuts in "THE LONG GOODBYE", the beginning of what he hopes proves a serious career in motion pictures...

FAYE DUNAWAY, SOPHIA LOREN, JULIE CHRISTIE and JANE FONDA, to name but four of a dozen top stars, are in the running for the femme lead in MGM's filmization of "THE FRENCH LIEUTENANT'S WOMAN"... Who ends up with this prize plum is anyone's guess, but my finer instincts tell me MGM may decide on a low salaried "newcomer"... Film and TV star LAURENCE LUCKINBILL is a highly polished and respected free-lance writer, having written for some of the country's name magazines...

The hilarious comedy "THE WAR BETWEEN MEN AND WOMEN" tells a subtle message that marriage, for all it's give and take explosiveness, is an institution that is with us to stay; a step beyond eternity... If you see one film this summer, make sure it's "FRENZY". The ALFRED HITCHCOCK thriller gives you your money's worth, and then some more. Must see viewing... MARY PICKFORD has succumbed to the nostalgia lure of time by consenting to the public release of a dozen of her pictures. Kicking off the PICKFORD renaissance are "MY BEST GIRL" and "THE TAMING OF THE SHREW"...

ROBERT CUNIFF, DICK CAVETT's number one writer, split the scene before ABC guillotine's the CAVETT gabfest... Around and About, DAVID FROST's first outing as film producer will be "CHARLIE ONE-EYE", with RICHARD ROUNDTREE and ROY THINNES sharing top billing... Quincy's LEE REMICK is Paris bound for her next picture "TOUCH ME NOT"... AL PACINO and JAMES CAAN, those two "GODFATHER" offsprings, are busier than ever with PACINO topbilled in "SCARECROW" and CAAN in "SLITHER"...

Is MICK JAGGER washed up in movies? Old Mr. Rolling Stone hasn't had nary a nibble from producers in the past 8 months. Then again JAGGER can't act... JOAN HACKETT ripped off a missive to Mayor LINDSAY to "kindly" clean up the Broadway theatre area...

RING LARDNER JR.'s next film script will be "HERO"... MARTIN LANDAU wishes he had a weekly TV series to fall back on. His unwise exit a few years ago from "MISSION IMPOSSIBLE", left his career high and dry with no takers...

Lucky Hell Drivers To Open Marshfield Fair July 28

Buddy Wagner's famous Lucky Hell Drivers will be a feature of opening day activities at the 105th "old-fashioned" Marshfield Fair July 28.

President Frank M. Sinnott said the 10-day exposition will present big-time entertainment, exhibits, 4-H activities, thoroughbred racing and Fiesta Shows' Million Dollar Midway. The Hell Drivers will make their death-defying rides at 8 p.m. July 28 and 29.

August 1 will be Kiddies Day with activities starting at 10 a.m. and reduced midway prices.

Fair Chairman Russell Chandler announced that thousands are expected to attend Senior Citizens Day August 3.

July 30 has been set aside as Politician Day with the traditional horseshoe pitching contest at 2 p.m.

Two giant fireworks displays will be held July 29 and August 5.

Racing Secretary Frank Perry reports pari-mutuel thoroughbred racing will be held each of the 10 days with post time at 1:45 p.m. and nine races daily.

Alcoa Sponsors Contest To Send 'Deserving Child To Camp'

The Aluminum Company of America is sponsoring a program to help finance summer camping for handicapped and underprivileged children.

End flaps from Alcoa products score points toward cash prizes for organizations in the company's "Send a Deserving Child to Camp" contest.

Youngsters will be selected by a campership committee of local youth counselors. The trips will be sponsored by Alcoa Wrap.

The local club which sends the most children to camp will win a $600 cash prize and the title of Camp Champ. Runner-up prize is $400.

End flaps from regular Alcoa Wrap and Broiler Foil count one point, Heavy-Duty Wrap is worth two points, Economy-Size Alcoa Wrap is three points and King-Size is worth six points.

Both end flaps on each package are allowed.

Advertisements for local newspapers or those contained in camp kits are worth 500 starter points toward the required 3,000 for each trip.

A kit may be obtained by writing WHDH Radio, 50 Morrissey Blvd., Boston, 02125.

The contest deadline is July 31.

Brett Favors Transfer Of Squaw Rock To Quincy

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has recorded himself in favor of the transfer of the Squaw Rock area of Squantum from Boston to the City of Quincy.

City Councilors from the two cities were scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. Thursday at Boston City Hall to discuss the long-sought sale.

In a letter to Boston Councillor Christopher Iannella, Brett said he hoped "the legal transfer of this land will follow soon after the public hearing on Thursday."

"You can be assured that the City of Quincy has no ulterior motives in seeking acquisition of the Squaw Rock land but is only interested in preserving the area as open space for esthetic and peaceful recreational purposes," he said.

City To Receive $54,000 Federal Grant From HUD

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has granted $54,000 to the City of Quincy under the Comprehensive Planning Assistance Program.

Cong. James A. Burke said the grant is to provide planning and management activities including policy and program evaluation, municipal management and housing and public utilities.

Two Quincy Marines Complete Amphib Operations

Two Quincy Marines have completed two weeks of special amphibious operations with Brazilian and Venezuelan Marines on the Puerto Rican Island of Vieques.

They are Cpl. Paul W. Gardiner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Gardiner of 38 Riverside Ave. and Cpl. Don K. Main, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Main of 25 Shea St.

The two are members of Battalion Landing Team 2-6, homebased at Camp Lejeune, N.C., and practiced amphibious landings with the foreign marines

Three Quincy High Graduates Enlist In Marine Corps

Three graduating seniors of Quincy High School have enlisted in the Marine Corps under the new buddy system and 180-day delay program.

Enlistees are Daniel Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Spencer of 32 Bicknell St.;

Kevin Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shea of 101 Water St., and Jeffrey Hanlon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hanlon of 35 Pontiac Rd.

They will leave for active duty on June 23.

Sgt. Shoulla On Duty At AFB

Sgt. Thomas J. Shoulla, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Shoulla of 922 Sea St., Quincy, has arrived for duty at Travis AFB, Calif.

Sergeant Shoulla, an automatic flight control systems specialist, is assigned to a unit of the Military Airlift Command which provides global airlift for U.S. military forces. He previously served at Griffiss AFB, N.Y.

Save Survival

A few years ago one of the main topics of discussion locally was the need for an incinerator in the City of Quincy.

The municipal dump on Quarry St. was filling up rapidly and almost everybody seemed to agree that an incinerator was the best long-term solution to the problem.

But nobody wanted it in his neighborhood and we eventually had to settle for an alternative in the form of another sanitary landfill facility.

Today, one of the main topics of concern and conversation is drug abuse.

People seem to be coming increasingly aware of drug-related problems and generally seem to agree that facilities for treatment of young people with drug problems are desperately needed.

Again, nobody wants that facility in his backyard.

But in this case there is no alternative, no compromise solution.

Survival Inc., the Quincy-based drug rehabilitation, treatment and prevention program, is in danger of extinction because it can't find a treatment center for the young people who depend on it.

The organization had a "Re-Direction Residence" on Granite Street but lost it through construction of the Lincoln-Hancock School.

They moved to the basement of the old Quincy District Court building on Coddington St. but that facility will be taken over Sept. 1 to be used by Quincy Junior High School and Quincy Junior College.

Now the program is in jeopardy because Survival has been unable so far to locate a new site to house the drug-dependent people who need 24-hour care and supervision to cure them of their disease.

Meetings have been held with city officials, civic organizations and neighborhood groups but for every proposal limitations and objections are raised.

Nobody wants Survival in his neighborhood.

Apprehension over the prospect of drug-addicted people living next door is understandable, especially for parents of small children.

But the city must either find a place for Survival to establish its residence or turn its back on the 22 residents of the treatment center who depend on the organization for their survival.

Drug traffic and drug addiction directly or indirectly threatens every person in the community.

There are places in Quincy which are far enough away from schools and residential areas and which could be put to no better use than to house the victims of drug abuse.

It is up to us to find Survival such a location.

Therefore, we urge our readers to write Mayor Hannon and their city councilors and point out the urgent need for a prompt and permanent solution to the problem.

Your children will thank you for it.

Thanks Supporters For Veto Of Urban Renewal Bill

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I would like to thank all the wonderful citizens of Quincy who "overwhelmingly" and wholeheartedly supported my telegram campaign to the governor and causing the "VETO" of House bill No. 6243 [Urban Renewal for Quincy].

I am very happy about the veto-I think it was fine judgement and wisdom on the part of Governor Sargent and our committee unanimously "agrees that it was a very good move to the governor." I wish to also thank the Quincy Citizens Association for their help in this "Massive" campaign against Urban Renewal in Quincy.

I wish to also say that my wife Tina sustained me continuously during all the six months of this campaign.

Rep. Joseph F. Brett [D] Quincy, should also be commended for attempting to have a Referendum Amendment passed.

Even though the Citizens of Quincy were not allowed to vote on this issue or have any Public Hearings -- The bill was still vetoed!!!

On April 20, 1972, one of my committee's stated in the Quincy Sun, "We don't want it and the day we give up our opposition will be the day when Hell Freezes Over!" -- We still feel the same way about it.

Mayor Hannon has publicly stated that "He had never spent a worse day in his life after spending 10 Hours with the governor and his staff." I believe I beat the mayor by 690 hours--as I personally spent 700 hours on the telephone during the last six months in my drive against the bill.

I still say Eminent Domain on ANY level is a form of LEGALIZED THEFT.

We have declared our action a success and to my knowledge, this is the first time a grass roots organization has affected the judgement of any governor in this country about an Urban Renewal Bill."

I will continue to fight for what I think is right for the City of Quincy.

- Agnew Choice Silences Rumors
- Nixon Woos Labor Vote
- Playboy Magazine - In Braille!

WASHINGTON -- President Nixon, who by his silence had encouraged rumors that he might dump Spiro Agnew from the 1972 Republican ticket, made a sudden about-face Saturday and announced his endorsement of Agnew as his running mate.

Pressures were building up both inside and outside the White House to dump Agnew. In the past few weeks operatives for John Connally, Nelson Rockefeller and Ronald Reagan have been busy wooing the White House inner circle.

In efforts to keep the Republican Party united, the President moved quickly before the Dump Agnew Movement got out of control.

Before Saturday's dramatic announcement, the President deliberately hedged on his choice for Vice President. We understand that in private the President never seriously considered choosing anyone else for the ticket. He decided to keep the American public guessing only to stimulate interest in the Republican Convention next month.

When Nixon learned that his silence was seriously undermining Agnew's prestige in the public and the press, he decided to speak up and endorse his loyal running mate.

As a result ambitious Republicans like Reagan and Rockefeller are looking elsewhere for a spot in Nixon's 1973 administration. Rockefeller, for example, wants to be Secretary of State. But as we reported in an earlier column, President Nixon's favorite Democrat, John Connally, is the odds-on favorite to replace Secretary Bill Rogers.

All of this presumes, of course, that Nixon will win in November. Looking back on past Nixon campaigns, a Nixon victory this year is hardly a foregone conclusion.

Elsewhere on the campaign scene, the president is working hard to take votes away from George McGovern among union members.

The labor vote has traditionally been Democratic. But crusty old George Meany, The AFL-CIO chief, has an antipathy for McGovern. This stems originally from McGovern's support of Right-To-Work laws, which the unions oppose.

The Republicans have also supported Right-To-Work laws. But President Nixon is seriously considering a dramatic reversal. As a bid for the support of organized labor, he may soon come out against Right-To-Work laws.

—Narcotics Gateway—

Beautiful Vancouver boasts that it is Canada's gateway to the Orient. It contains one of the largest Chinese populations of any city in the world outside of Asia. Now, a secret report prepared by federal intelligence and narcotics agents reveals that Vancouver is rapidly become one of the major narcotics centers of North America. According to the secret report, Chinese heroin dealers are worming their way into Vancouver's ethnic Chinese community.

We have learned that many of these drug dealers are Chinese seamen who jump ship. They strap packets of heroin around their waists and thighs and slip into Vancouver as virtual one-man heroin centers.

The heroin—which is 90 per cent pure—is then shipped from Vancouver across the border into the state of Washington. From there, it goes to major cities in the United States including Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Chicago and New York.

—Zippies Zap Yippies—

Last week, we reported that Miami Beach police have been in close contact with Yippie leaders Jerry Rubin and Abbie Hoffman in an effort to avoid violence at the Republican convention next month.

Now we learn that the authorities may be talking with the wrong leaders. Younger, more radical dissidents are trying to push Hoffman and Rubin aside.

Radicals in the new, so-called Zippie movement are claiming that Rubin and Hoffman are more interested in digging up material for a forthcoming book about the conventions than in heading a radical insurrection. The Zippies have a point. Rubin and Hoffman are among the highest paid correspondents at the Democratic convention, thanks to a $33,000 book advance.

—Washington Whirl—

Even in Braille—We dropped by the Library of Congress the other day to check on the services offered to blind Americans. We discovered that the Library not only translates books but also magazines for the blind. The magazine most frequently requested in braille: Playboy.

Flag Wavers—We are always looking for those rare souls in government who do more than merely shuffle papers. We have uncovered a number of ordinary folks with extraordinary jobs. This week, we salute James Reed, a married man with three children. Reed's job is to haul hundreds of flags up and down flag poles on the roof of the U.S. Capitol. This permits congressmen to send their constituents flags that—at least technically—have been flown over the Capitol. Reed and his colleagues flew 27,659 flags last year. "When I get going," he told us, "I'll be running them up and down every three minutes."

And then there is David Dinius, who works for the Agriculture Department. For several months, David tried to raise cows by feeding them the Washington Post. The idea was to see if newspapers could be recycled as low grade forage. David, however, found that the animals liked the liberal Washington newspaper about as much as Spiro Agnew did.

Kennedy Foundation Provides French Exchange

Quincy students interested in spending the summer working with retarded children in France may do so under the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation Franco-American Volunteers Program.

Mrs. Eunice Shriver, foundation vice president, has notified Quincy Recreation Director William F. Ryan that the exchange program will be conducted in Quincy for the third consecutive year.

French college students have spent the past two summers in Quincy while working at the recreation department's Happy Acres Day Camp.

This year a reciprocal program for American students has been arranged.

Students must arrange their own transportation to Paris and will be assigned a French family to live with for the summer.

Quincy families interested in providing room and board for a French volunteer and students interested in going to Paris should contact Ryan at the recreation office in the Kennedy Health Center.

Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar Sales Up 40-80 Percent

FULL HOUSE -- Crowd lines Hancock Street to take advantage of bargains and help make the third annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar the great success it was.

By DICK MATTULINA

The overwhelming success of the third annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar has downtown merchants hard at work already to prepare for next year's summer festival.

Quincy Center store owners have begun reserving items with distributors and storing special merchandise to be put on sale next year.

And several shops have decided to continue specials through this weekend to preserve the Bazaar atmosphere in the shopping district.

Bazaar Co-ordinators Remo DeNicola and George White said attendance and sales on each of the three days of festivities were from 40 to 80 percent better than last year.

"We had more values and more people this year than at any previous sidewalk bazaar," DeNicola said.

"The merchants are finding out what the public really wants and the people are starting to look forward to the bazaar each year," he said.

White said an important aspect of the bazaar is that it "brings merchants together a lot more strongly and builds a good customer service relationship that has to contribute to the success of downtown Quincy."

Despite Friday night's rain and the limited availability of parking spaces due to construction, shoppers flocked to Quincy Center all three days.

The bazaar provided a "happy atmosphere through a mixture of activities, value and quality merchandise which will contribute greatly toward the growth of the downtown area," DeNicola said.

The rain Friday night had almost no effect on the festivities as all events went on as scheduled and customers took advantage of in-store values instead of stopping at sidewalk booths.

White said the public seemed to take a more active part in the entertainment this year than in the previous bazaars.

"Many people followed the barbershop quartets and band groups around the shopping district," he said. "The Young World performers were very well received and square dancing continued at City Hall until after 1 a.m. Saturday."

White and DeNicola expressed special thanks to their committee and city officials for their contributions to the success of the bazaar.

Among those cited were Mayor Hannon, Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti, Executive Secretary Richard J. Koch and George Page of the Park and Recreation Board, Police Capt. Roy Cavich, Fire Alarm Supervisor John Schmuck and the men in their crews.

DeNicola said they felt the success of the bazaar proved that Quincy Center can compete with and surpass other area shopping centers.

"If you give the consumers the values, they'll be here," DeNicola said. "There is no doubt in my mind that downtown Quincy will grow and supercede any plaza."

Citizens Assn. Commends Mayor On Retirement From House

The Quincy Citizens Association has commended Mayor Walter J. Hannon for his decision to retire from the House of Representatives in order to serve as full-time mayor.

"Our city is now big business and as such needs a full-time responsible executive in City Hall every working day," QCA officers said in a letter to the Mayor.

President Joseph A. Slattery and Secretary Dorothy C. Kelly said their group has favored a $20,000 salary for the mayor's office since 1971.

"We sincerely trust this salary will be yours in the near future," they told Hannon.

"Our association has consistently favored the one-man-one-job principle for elected officials and our board reiterated its stand in this regard at our July meeting," they said.

"On behalf of all our members, we wish to thank you for your efforts in working with Governor Sargent on the signing of the bill to permit the county to purchase Wollaston Golf Course for recreational purposes."

City To Receive $321,000 In 1972 Lottery Returns

Quincy can expect some $321,000 in revenue from the 1972 Massachusetts State Lottery, according to Rep. Robert B. Ambler of Weymouth.

Ambler, vice-chairman of the Committee on Government Regulations which drafted the lottery bill, said total anticipated income statewide is $21.9 million.

If that figure is reached, Quincy's share of the state funds would be $321,132.35, Ambler said.

Subtle Causes Of Obesity

If you are starting to gain weight, take a close look at your eating and working habits for any slight change. The scale can start to climb, from even the most subtle change in routine.

For example, here are some examples presented to the American Academy of General Practice by a medical expert who specializes in such problems. A person for some reason may begin to eat just one pat of butter with each meal. With no increase in activity, the extra butter - 4,500 calories a month - would mean a weight gain of more than one pound.

Equally subtle are small decreases in caloric expenditure. For example a typist, five feet three inches and 120 pounds, is provided with an electric typewriter after years of using a manual machine. On the manual, she expended 88 calories an hour, on the electric only 73. If she does nothing to compensate for the decreased expenditure, and eats as before, in only eight weeks she'll gain a pound.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a six-figure millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to LABORHOOD, REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. You can also pay your electric or telephone bills or use our notary public service. Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. Prescription tax and insurance records kept plus 24 hour emergency service in North Quincy. Open 7 days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Someday

Someday, our leaders, they will see
In order to preserve humanity
We must not kill but save our strength
It flowers grown with lasting sun
And birds fly and rabbits run
Why can't our most intelligent beasts
Learn that destruction, to say the least
Will cure our ways without lasting peace?

The Make Yourself Over Clinic

BY DOLLY REED WAGEMAN,
Director
The Cornelia Fashion Office

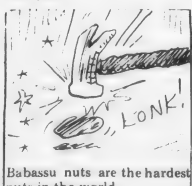

Q: Dear Dolly: I've been good about doing my daily exercises up to now, but the hot weather discourages me. Any suggestions?

A: Slip into the nearest swimming pool, jacuzzi or bathtub and do your daily dozen right there! Water resistance actually makes exercise more effective.

If you have a pool, get a small float and let it support your legs while you use just the breast stroke to cross the pool. Great for arm and chest muscles. Now hang onto the float with your arms, and kick your way across the pool. Use a flutter kick one time and a scissors kick the next, to use every area of the leg. A lazy back crawl (a la Esther Williams) gives you the chance to elongate all your waist muscles. Just reach for an extra three inches overhead before placing the active hand in the water.

In a jacuzzi or bathtub, see how many of your regular exercises can be done comfortably in available space. Leg extensions and sit-ups should work in any area. For a dandy waist stretch, sit in water up to the chest; grasp a towel overhead between outstretched hands, and twist your torso from side to side.

Exercise is half of your good health and figure control program—proper diet is the other half. To conserve calories, substitute Slender diet food from Carnation for one or more of your regular meals. After exercising, enjoy a Slender shake for your next mini-meal. With whole milk, 225 calories or mixed with non-fat milk, 164. It's like having a beauty spa in your own backyard.

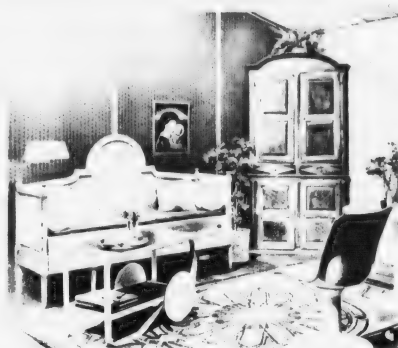

Readers are invited to submit poems for publication in The Poet's Corner.

They should be typewritten or hand printed.

Send to: Quincy Sun, 1601 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass. 02169.

Cotton Turns Its Talents To Home Decor

CORDUROY CLIMBS THE WALLS—Cotton corduroy in a neat geometric print adorns the wall behind an antique Finnish desk in this unusual room setting. Sections of the fabric are covered by embroidered tape edged with balsa wood. The motif is carried out in a printed corduroy cover for the daybed and velvety no-wale corduroy pillows decorated with embroidered tape. An 18th Century painted corner cupboard and contemporary Finnish chair and tables complete the decor.

COTTON—THE PATTERN CHANGER—Mix-match prints in durable press cotton blends with a stain-resistant finish can change the pattern of a room—as well as your pattern of living. A trio of Riverdale's compatible floral prints goes around the room on laminated window shades in a melange of marigold colors. The shades add decorative light control at the windows and act as pull-down doors over storage. Wall-hugging sofa beds are covered in a color-coordinated cotton plaid.

'Make-Your-Own' Bangkok Salad

For a convenient and healthful luncheon prepare Bangkok Salad. You put it together yourself.

Perk up warm weather luncheon appetites with kind-to-the-waistline Bangkok Salad. Convenient canned grapefruit sections in its own juice, mandarin oranges, chow mein vegetables, diced cooked chicken and green pepper strips are served chilled in individual plates. Each person then puts his own salad together for a salad by choice.

Remember, don't let the juice go down the drain! If you need just the grapefruit or mandarin orange sections, save the juice for healthful drinking. Or, use the juice as part of the liquid in molded salads, salad dressings, pot roasts and stews for a different flavorful goodness.

For additional free recipes write to Del Monte Kitchens ARS4, P.O. Box 3575, San Francisco, Calif. 94119.

Drain grapefruit, reserving 3 tablespoons juice. Arrange grapefruit, vegetables, oranges, chicken and green pepper on serving dish. Combine 3 tablespoons juice, mayonnaise, sugar and soy sauce. Serve with salad, 5 to 6 servings.

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of July 27 - Aug. 4

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Fun and games are on the agenda, so relax and give your busy mind a chance to catch up. Lots of talk going on.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - The change forced upon you could be turned to your advantage if you keep your wits about you, especially at home.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Misunderstandings cause difficulties in affairs of the heart. This could lead to a separation unless handled properly.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Lending money is not the solution to your problem, it only postpones the decision and prolongs the worry.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 21] - The finishing up of a project you have been working on for a long time leaves you at loose ends and with confused thoughts.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - A service you have been performing is no longer needed. You can soon turn your thoughts to other projects.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - A complete reorganization of your financial plans is needed, be practical, dropping or adding only the essentials.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - The new responsibilities you assume will make a difference in your budget and give a steady influence to your life.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Keep your mind occupied and try not to pay too much attention to the changes taking place around you.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - A loss brings an abrupt change in your financial situation, be practical when revising plans for future.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - An unexpected contact could help achieve a goal you have been working toward for a long time. Be practical for once.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - A separation or the lifting of a responsibility leaves you with mixed feelings. Some things are destined to be.

Strictly Fresh

We choose our own masters. We've fought wars for the freedom to act without being ordered, but we still get up at midnight to answer a wrong number.

Here's a toast to your new car and mine—may they never meet. In 1889 one of the most savage fights in boxing history took place. John L. Sullivan, often called the "Boston Strong Boy," knocked out Jake Kilrain, of Quincy, in a 75 round fracas. Lasting two hours, 15 minutes and 25 seconds, it was the last bare-knuckle match in professional boxing.

Surrender of 12,500 Union troops to Stonewall Jackson at Harper's Ferry was the largest in U.S. history prior to Corregidor. It's your right to know—our duty to inform. For you as for us, truth must remain the weapon of democracy.

Live pedestrians and successful men always think fast on their feet.

Irving Isaacson is program and publicity chairman.

Committee members include Morton Arons, Emanuel Kaplan, Barry Steinberg, Samuel Skoler, Bertha Lapon, Rhea Radler, Anne Klaver, Jennie Warshawer and Betty Kurtis.

Dr. Creedon Asks Mayor's Help To Find New Survival Residence

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon has asked Mayor Hannon's help in locating a permanent site for the "Re-Direction Residence" of Survival, Inc.

Dr. Creedon, president of Survival, said a new site must be found by September 1 for the residence, which is temporarily housed in the basement of the old court house.

The residence "will have to be closed and the program for the 17 young people living there will have to be terminated" if a new site is not found, he said.

In a letter to the mayor, Dr. Creedon asked the city to consider the following two questions and take appropriate action:

* Is the City of Quincy interested in maintaining a community-based drug rehabilitation effort within the city, namely Survival Inc.?

* If so, can the City of Quincy identify and acquire a site that Survival Inc. could use as a permanent location for its Re-direction Residence?

Survival must vacate the courthouse by September 1 because those spaces have been acquired for classrooms by Quincy High School and Quincy Junior College.

Survival directors met July 5 with members of the city council to discuss the problem at the invitation of Councillors William D. Delahunt and Theophilus McLelland.

"While the meeting was very cordial and a genuine concern was expressed by all, after more than two hours of discussion no site or location emerged that could be agreed upon as a permanent home," Dr. Creedon said.

"Several possible locations were discussed, but to each limitations or objections were raised, and as a result the meeting concluded without a definite course of action being taken," he said.

Sites under active consideration include the Jewish Community Center on Merrymount Rd. and the dispensary building near the main gate of General Dynamics Shipyard.

Dr. Creedon said the residence is "free from all drug use and traffic and, in a very real way, is less threatening to a neighborhood than is the 'gang hanging around the local corner store.'"

Residents are under 24-hour supervision and undergo psychological evaluation and therapy, he said.

Dr. Creedon thanked Hannon for "the personal interest that you have shown over the plight of Survival and the troubled young people that it is attempting to serve."

Schales To Speak On Alcoholism At First Parish

William Schales, vice president of the South Shore Council on Alcoholism, will speak at an informal summer Sunday service at 10 a.m. July 30 at United First Parish Church.

Mr. Schales' address will concern "Alcoholism: Our Fastest-Growing Health Problem".

Minister John Rushton Graham said the discussion will dispell "many erroneous views and myths" about alcoholism.

Creation Day Camp To Open Aug. 7 At St. Chrysostom's Church, Wollaston

Creation Day Camp at St. Chrysostom's Church, Linden St., Wollaston, will be open weekday mornings from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Aug. 7 through 18.

The camp is open to all children age 5 through Grade 6. It will feature song, crafts, games, trips, puppet shows and stories concentrating on Indian heritage.

Registration may be made at St. Chrysostom's Church.

Philip F. Sines Graduates From Lafayette College

Philip F. Sines of 32 Malvern St., Quincy, was among 426 seniors who received bachelor's degrees at the 137th commencement exercises of Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.

Sines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Sines Jr., is a graduate of Quincy High School and received a bachelor science degree in metallurgical engineering.

He was a Dean's List student and a member of the John Markle Engineering Society.

Pauline Ulan, John Thompson Complete Seminar

Pauline Ulan of 53 Upland Rd. and John Thompson of 38 Sycamore Rd. recently

Involvement Party For J. Sullivan

An involvement party to further the candidacy of John J. Sullivan for Register of Probate and Insolvency will be held at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall at 4 p.m. July 30.

Sullivan recently retired from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service after 30 years as a New England commissioner.

Invited guests include Rhode Island Gov. Frank Licht, former Vermont Gov. Phillip Hoff, Maine Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Cong. James A. Burke.

Also Mayor Walter J. Hannon, Senate Counsel James R. McIntyre and area legislators, city councillors and selectmen.

Entertainment will be furnished by George C. Fandel and his minstrel show performers. The affair will mark the first public appearance of Regina Smith of Milton, Miss. Quincy Bay Race Week of 1972.

QCA Thanks Sargent For UR Veto

The Quincy Citizens Association has thanked Gov. Francis W. Sargent for his pocket veto of legislation for urban renewal in Quincy.

QCA officers thanked the governor "for discovering the evil of eminent domain taking by an all-powerful authority under this legislation."

President Joseph A. Slattery and Secretary Dorothy C. Kelly said the bill is "neither desired nor necessary for Quincy" and would open "a Pandora's Box that would change the character of the city we love."

Association members voted to oppose Quincy's "being subjected to experimentation at the hands of city officials and planners."

'Couldn't Believe I Won'

Regina Smith To Reign As Miss Quincy Bay Race Week 1972

Regina Smith was "a little chicken" about the prospects of entering the Miss Quincy Bay Race Week Beauty Pageant.

"Mr. [Joseph] Angelo at Remick's asked me if I wanted to join," Regina said. "I wanted to, but I was scared. Finally, I decided it was worth a try."

Entering proved to be well worth Regina's while as she glided along the runway on Hancock Street Saturday carrying a bouquet of roses and wearing a crown as Miss Quincy Bay Race Week 1972.

"I couldn't believe I won it," she said. "It was just too much."

Regina, of Harbor View Rd. Milton, was chosen from among 18 contestants in swim suit and gown competition Saturday afternoon at the climax of the third annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar.

Jayne Flaherty, 16, of Webster St., Marshfield, was first runner-up in the pageant.

Other finalists, in order of finish, were Deborah Sampson of South River St., Marshfield; Randi Hurlless of East Elm Ave., Wollaston; and Jean Howard of Bridge St., North Weymouth.

A. Queen, Regina will reign over Quincy Bay Race Week Aug. 9-13 and receives the following:

- A $200 bond from the pageant committee.
- A $100 scholarship to Carol Nashe Career Model & Charm School.
- A 14-karat gold ring from Rogers Jewelry.
- Gift certificates for Marvel Beauty Shop, Remick's and Bell Shop.
- A wig from South Shore Beauty Supply.
- A gift subscription to The Quincy Sun.

- A dress ensemble from Sears.

- A lady's tote bag from Jason's Music & Luggage Shop.

- A bouquet of red roses from Clifford's Flower Shop.

Runners-up received bonds, gift certificates for Marvel Beauty, Remick's, Gilchrist, Lerner's, Cumming's, a silk scarf from Ross of Quincy, and a radio from South Shore Television and Appliance.

Hancock Bank contributed the bonds for the third and fourth runners-up.

Regina, a graduate of Fonthonne Academy in Milton, is a sophomore majoring in finance and accounting at Boston College.

She works as an office clerk for the telephone company and a sales clerk at Remick's and hopes to go into the computer field.

Among her interests are math, skating, skiing and sewing.

Regina says she makes "the majority of my own clothes" including the green print halter gown she wore in the pageant.

Judges for the pageant were: Quincy School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

- Carol Nashe, owner of Carol Nashe Model Agency and Model & Charm School.

- Sabina Stenberg, owner of Sabina's Beauty Salon, Wollaston, a former model.

- Gordon Davis, president of Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

- Richard Mula, dean of continuing education at Quincy Junior College.

Co-chairmen were Henry W. Bosworth Jr. of the Quincy Sun and Kenneth P. Fallon Jr. of WJDA, who acted as master of ceremonies.

THE WINNER - Regina Smith, 18, of Milton, accepts trophy naming her Miss Quincy Bay Race Week from pageant co-chairman Henry W. Bosworth Jr. of Quincy Sun. Looking on are last year's Race Week Queen Kristin Anderson and Co-chairman Kenneth P. Fallon Jr., of WJDA, who was master of ceremonies.

The pageant committee included: Joseph Angelo, Remick's of Quincy; Leslie Brierley, Hancock Bank; Raymond Cunningham, Quincy Bay Race Week;

Florence Kerrigan, Baskin-Robbins.

Ruth Miller, Marvel Beauty Shop; Ethelyn Sacchetti, Lynn's Card and Gift Shop and Charles Wood, South Shore Beauty Supply.

Music was provided by Joe Sullivan's orchestra.

Contestants were escorted by officers of the Quincy, Wollaston, Squantum, Town River and Wessagusset Yacht Clubs.

LaRaia, Sullivan, Smyth Favor Squaw Rock Acquisition

Acquisition of Squaw Rock by the City of Quincy would provide a much-needed recreational facility for Squantum and allow for increased police protection, according to Councilor-at-large Joseph J. LaRaia.

LaRaia said the land, which has been sought by the city for several years, would be used primarily by Squantum residents.

He was among several local officials addressing a recent session of the Boston City Council public lands committee. John J. Sullivan, former commissioner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, urged that the land be transferred to the City of Quincy.

Sullivan said he had "no confidence" in a plan to have the MDC administer the land and considered the proposal "continued stalling tactics."

He said he favored jurisdiction by the Quincy Park and Recreation Board which is

"second to none in the country for their excellent performance rating accomplished with tight money."

Ward 6 Councilor J. Vincent Smyth has written Boston Councilor Christopher Iannella to thank his committee for the "informative and rewarding" hearing.

"I would deeply appreciate your office advising me as to when the MDC proposal for Squaw Rock comes up for discussion," Smyth said.

Three Win $175 In Bonds During Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar

Three Quincy residents won a total of $175 in savings bonds in drawings during the third annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar.

Richard McKenzie of 72 Goddard St. received a $100 bond, Michelle Pitts of 1154 Sea St. won a $50 bond and D.

Rodberg of 32 Campbell St. won $25 in the drawings.

Prizes were donated by member businesses of the new Quincy Center merchants group which sponsored the three-day bazaar.

the 14th annual summer institute in mathematics at Montclair, N.J., State College.

Barilaro 'Humiliated' By Lack Of Flag

Ward 4 Councilor Albert R. Barilaro said he was "insulted" and "humiliated" by the lack of a flag pole at O'Rourke Field in West Quincy.

In a letter to Mayor Hannon, Barilaro said he was humiliated to a great extent because of what I consider and hope was an oversight" on July 4.

"The members of the Morrisette Post and myself were about to start the day's festivities by raising the colors of our great country.

"Upon searching the area, we found no flag pole in the Ward 4 playground," he said. "This, I consider, an insult and I request to have it remedied."

Women's Day Committee Coffee Hour

The Committee for Women's Day in Quincy will hold its first coffee hour at 8 p.m. July 31 at the home of Mrs. Geraldine Pleshaw, 128 Shore Ave., Merrymount.

Women's Day will be held Oct. 15 at a Quincy school.

Mrs. Pleshaw said the purpose of the event will be to present information on the woman's movement through a series of workshops and guest speakers.

She and representatives of local women's organizations will speak at the coffee hour.

Brett Requests Swift Repair Of Seawall

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has asked the city to make swift repairs to the seawall near Edgewater Drive in Houghs Neck.

In a letter to Mayor Hannon, Brett said the wall "has deteriorated badly in recent years and many homes suffer from sea water which leaks through the wall."

Bangladesh Fund Drive

The Quincy Committee for the Bangladesh Emergency Relief Fund sponsored a booth at the Sidewalk Bazaar and fund drives in Quincy churches to aid Bengalis July 21-23.

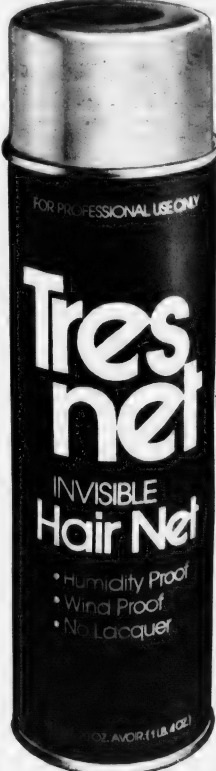

Mayor Walter J. Hannon proclaimed the days "Bangladesh Relief Weekend" and urged all citizens to aid the organization to "aid these starving and destitute people."

Further contributions may be made through Ellen Rowan, 479-1872, or The Bangladesh Emergency Relief Fund, 73 Randlett Park, Newton 02165.

More Than 500 Attend Chamber Of Commerce Outing

By PAUL HAROLD

More than 500 Quincy businessmen took time out last Wednesday to attend the 47th annual South Shore Chamber of Commerce outing at Nelson's Grove in Kingston.

Leighton Caterers of Weymouth provided the food, with clam chowder, steamed clams, chicken, hot dogs, corn on the cob, lobster and all the fixings.

Before the meal, however, a number of activities kept those in attendance busy, with softball, dart throwing, horseshoes and bocce.

The softball game was interrupted briefly for a demonstration by the rescue crew of the Baintree Fire Department, to raise money for the firefighters killed in the Hotel Vendome fire in Boston.

Winners of the various activities include: Jim McCormick, Joe Hajjar and runners-up Bud Erickson and Bill Carullo, cribbage.

Jack Doyle, Jack Rielly, Joe McConville, Guy Tenore, Herb Fontaine, Ray Josephine, Jack Dempsey, Paul Tangusso, Bill Weed, Bill Griffin and Guy Comoletti, softball.

Cliff Marshall, Fred Farrell and runners-up Karl Hough and Ken Roberts, horseshoes.

Guy Tenore and Cliff Marshall were winners in the dart throw. Tenore and Joe McConville were winners and Bob Sterling and Jack Powers were runners-up in the egg throw.

Al Hallberg, Ray Kirpa, Tom Leadbetter and George Fandell won the basketball throw. Dennis Cook, Ray Skellett won the nail driving, and Frank Kenney, Stanley Troupe, Joe Lettery, won the football throw.

George Fay was chairman of the outing committee which included Joseph Angelo, Remick's of Quincy; Daniel Barry, Barry's Delicatessen; Joseph Biogioti, Granite City Electric.

Also Henry Bosworth, The Quincy Sun; Louis Cassani, President Chevrolet; Carter Caudle; Russell DiMattio, Quincy Motor Co.; Robert DiRamio; Joseph Doherty, Doherty and Hannon Insurance, Dennis Donoghue, Sherry's Restaurant; Bert Eckblom, President Press; Herbert Fontaine, WJDA; John Gillis, City Clerk; Ellis Hughes, Remick's of Quincy; Joseph Kendrick, Quincy Motor Co.

Running a jewelry business is generally more than enough work for one man.

Keeping two stores operating is a more challenging chore.

And when the stores are separated by 80 miles and a stretch of ocean the task becomes, at the very least, unenviable.

But that kind of a schedule doesn't bother Richard J. Gorman in the least.

Gorman, 28, of West Cedar St., Beacon Hill, operates Richard J. Gorman Jewelers at 23A Beale St., Wollaston, and Mahew Lane shop on Martha's Vineyard.

He took over the Wollaston business last year after the death of his father, Richard J. Gorman Sr., in October.

Mr. Gorman Sr. founded the jewelry store at 23A Beale St. in 1939, specializing in diamonds and hand-crafted silver.

The shop now employs five people with repair work on all types of jewelry done on the premises.

Mahew Lane is a new store, opened last year on Martha's Vineyard, which offers for sale hand-crafted silver, gold and leather goods.

All the items at Mahew Lane are hand-made on the island, including many silver pieces crafted by Gorman himself.

Gorman, a bachelor, was born in Boston, graduated from North Quincy High School and attended Ohio State University. He is a member of the University Club of Boston and the Wollaston Business and Professional Association. Much of his spare time is devoted to tennis and squash.

Mark Petracca Receives Historical Society Award

Mark Petracca, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Petracca of 22 Ridgeway St., Wollaston, has received the 1972 Quincy Historical Society History Award, he is a complimentary member of the Society.

He is also the recipient of the Harvard Prize Book. The Harvard Prize Book of the Associated Harvard Alumni is awarded to the outstanding boy in the next to the graduating class who "combines excellence in scholarship with achievement in other fields." Mark will be a senior at North Quincy High School in the fall.

Joseph T. Wood Reappointed Notary

Joseph T. Wood, 215 South Central Ave., Wollaston, has been reappointed as a Notary Public, State Secretary John F. X. Davoren announced.

Confirmation of the reappointed Notary was made here at a meeting of the Executive Council following submission of the name by Gov. Francis W. Sargent.

The term will expire in seven years.

Recreation Roundup

The Quincy Recreation Department's Summer Recreation Program is now in full swing under the guidance of Recreation Director William F. Ryan, now in his 17th year on the job.

A special brochure was distributed to all school children which describes this year's many and varied activities offered for all ages. Also listed are the locations of the 31 playgrounds, 14 swimming stations and other vital information regarding the overall program.

Playgrounds are open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday for boys and girls 6-16 years of age, for whom three boys' divisions baseball leagues, two basketball divisions and girls softball and basketball are offered. Active and passive activities are also included with Friday afternoons reserved for special events.

TENNIS AND ARCHERY

Kevin McGinley may be seen teaching tennis on all playgrounds where courts are available. Look for his grey little "Mousmobile" and enroll in this fast growing popular sport. Golf specialist Brad Buckley visits 10 playgrounds for basic fundamental instruction. A limited number of participants who have clubs get to play with Brad at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Craft specialists Peggy Daly and Marlene Mele visit all playgrounds weekly with special craft projects and Dale Alongi, ceramic specialist, has expanded the instructional ceramics program which is held in the basements of the Gridley Bryant and Quincy Schools.

Dan Coughlin, archery specialist and recent graduate of Tufts University visits playgrounds teaching the bow and arrow sport. Richard Page and Maureen Kelley, nature specialists have an interesting program which includes trips to the Blue Hills Trails Museum and Drumlin Farms.

DRAMA, SWIMMING

Rosemary O'Brien, Drama specialist has tied in with the crafts specialists and participants have been making puppets which will be presented on a miniature stage being made by Park Department carpenter Bob Brill. Music specialists Karen Walsh and Susan Moscardelli have been working closely with Rosemary to provide musical background for the puppet shows and to encourage singing groups on each playground.

Mary Sullivan, swimming supervisor, has Red Cross trained instructors providing classes from beginners to advanced swimming as well as Junior and Senior Life Saving. Special classes are held for mothers and other adults. The schedule varies daily because of the tide on the fourteen swim stations. Children may enter this program at any time.

Senior Citizens have not been forgotten as they have already attended the South Shore Music Circus to see "Do I Hear A Waltz?" with Patrice Munsell, and are planning to return on Aug. 2nd to see "Fiddler On The Roof". On Wednesday July 19, they will attend the Red Sox-California Angels game at Fenway Park. A special three day trip to Montreal, for the senior citizens, has been arranged by Charles L. Alongi Jr., Assistant Director of Recreation. Reservations are still available.

Coordinating the recreational activities is Mr. Lionel H. [Shine] Buckley a veteran of 22 years experience with the department. He currently serves as General Supervisor of the programs.

BOATING, SAILING, WATER SKIING

For those interested in boating and sailing, Black's Creek Boat House continues its daily classes for youth, ages 8-16, adult sailing weekdays from 4 to 8 p.m. and for adults and families Saturday 10 to 4, Sunday from 12 to 6 p.m. [appointments should be made for those desiring individual instruction]. Water Skiing is also offered for those who have passed the Jr. Lifesaving requirements at five different locations throughout the city.

Stoney Brae Arts and Crafts program has proven an excellent medium. Debbie Mann, Mike Hatfield, Bruce Brennan, Lisa Mulken, Janice Watts, Scott Brennan, Janet O'Mara and twins Brian and Kevin O'Hanley have artistically dabbled in the areas of bead work, gump design, and tie-dyeing with admirable results.

PUPPET MAKING, A NEAR NO-HITTER

Faxon Field has demonstrated its skill in the areas of puppet making and drama with Terry Mahoney, John Behan, Julie Mullen, Kathy Cully, Linda MacDonald, Sue Finnegan, Joan and Mary Todd emerging as the most talented contributors. Exceptional skill was also shown by Rich Finnegan who pitched what almost turned out to be a no hitter. Supporting his efforts were: Mat Brian Bruce Tobin, Tom Canavin, John Todd, Tom Mullen, Billy Bourikas, Dave Coronell with a score of 6-1.

Forbes Hill has let it be known their Midget League with Mike Bellotti, Steve Flate and Mark Letif along with its Juniors Tom Bellottis, Tom McGilvary, Pete and Tom Kesaris as well as Mike O'Rourke will be providing the needed strength to bring their team through. In the area of basketball Chrissy O'Rourke, Patti Bellotti, Arvella Hagan, Martha Allen, Lori Stearns and Pat Clifford have formed a very strong team.

On the Whitwell scene, Mark Baker, Susan Barnes, Sandra Williams, Paula Mannoi, Christine Finnigan, Cheryl Carignon, Debbie Gardner and Nacy Nystion received honorable mentions for their uniquely designed marionettes and jewelry. Incidentally Steve Donovan has emerged victorious in the Whitwell Regional Checker Championship. He defeated finalists Danny, Morris, and Brian Donovan, Keith, Billy and Susan Barnes, Michelle Carignon, Cheryl Murray and Dan Cronin.

Wollaston Girls Junior baseball team with Margaret Shea, Sue Capone, Joane Ruane, Denise Jay, Martha Powers, Margaret Keough, Joanne O'Leary, Mary Shea, Jean Keough and Debbie Stigot as well as the Wollaston Midgets with Bob Mayer, Billy Johnson and Jeff Price with their grueling practices have demonstrated that the winning potential is there.

BIKE RACES, CLEAN-UP

Quantum's annual Bike races were held. Winners were Robin Tellison, Marie Green, Mary Geri, Dianne Graham, Mark Roy, Ted Duggan, Steve McCormack, Bill Houlihan, Steve Ahern in the fastest categories. In the slowest categories winners were: Alisa Roy, Joan McLaughlin, Mary Gori, Kathy Doody, Pat Burke, Ted Duggan, Steve McCormack, Steve Ahern.

Atlantic engaged in a clean-up campaign recently. Among the more active citizens of that area are Paul Earle, Kathy McSweeney, Colleen Campbell, Nancy Willard, Denise Brannowitz and Kathy and Jeanne McSweeney.

From Montclair word is that Gayle Zoia, Karen Brinkert, Michael McCarthy all have demonstrated exceptional willingness and enthusiasm in aiding their leaders and will most probably be appointed Junior Leaders.

Welcome Young is placing its hopes in Dottie Peterson, Faith Lindberg, and Peggy Butler to win the Junior Basketball title. The Senior Boys baseball opened its season with an explosive 20-hitter with Montclair. Responsible for the win were, Steve McKinnan, Paul Messina, Frank Miceli and S. Martinelli.

Bayside held a beautification and clean-up day with its outstanding participants Steve Holler, Steve McGowan, Linda MacDonald, Mary Kamb, Susan Fleming and Michelle Fleming demonstrating how easy it is to get involved and do something about ecology.

Killilea Celtics Assistant Coach

By TOM SULLIVAN

JOHN KILLILEA

During the late Munroe MacLean's long and successful coaching career at Quincy High, he turned out numerous outstanding basketball players, most of whom went on to excel in college and became successful coaches or tops in other businesses and professions.

If Mac were alive today he undoubtedly would have been one of the happiest and proudest men around last week when it was announced that John Killilea had been named assistant coach to Tom Heinsohn of the Boston Celtics.

When asked to name his outstanding players at Quincy, Mac always was hesitant to do so but he never failed to include Killilea, his tall center in the mid-forties.

You could fill a book listing the many great players developed by Mac, but among the more prominent were Killilea, Norfolk County District Attorney George Burke and the late Basil [Buzzy] Ciriello, who was killed in Vietnam and who starred at George Washington University and later coached there and at the Air Force Academy.

One of Mac's greatest boosters was then-Celtics Coach Red Auerbach, now general manager.

Auerbach kept a close eye on many of his players and played a major role in sending Ciriello to George Washington University.

So, actually, it shouldn't have come as too much of a surprise when Red named Killilea the Celtics' assistant coach.

Two years ago, after retiring as Melrose High's highly successful basketball coach to end a brilliant schoolboy coaching career, John was named a scout for the Milwaukee Bucks and last year was named head scout for the Celtics. His work was labelled by Auerbach as "fantastic".

Killilea for many years has been connected with a number of summer basketball schools, including Auerbach's school in Marshfield.

This summer John has spent a good deal of time at the Rucker League [a league in which the pros play to keep in shape] and he has been checking on the progress of Clarence Glover. Glover, the Celtics' number one draft choice last year, was sent to the summer league to improve on his shooting.

Last year, with Killilea's help, the Celtics compiled a scouting book on every player in the league. It was the first scouting book in the organization's history.

After graduating from Quincy, Killilea was an outstanding center at Boston University, where he was captain, then launched his phenomenal coaching career at Pemetic, Me., and continued at Southwest Harbor, Me., Mission Hill in Roxbury and Old Town, Me.

John wanted to coach in the South Shore area and I was happy to have played a prominent role in getting him the coaching job at Silver Lake Regional High School, then one of the first regional schools in the area.

It was the feeling in those days that such a regional school, taking in several towns, could not produce a winner, most people feeling it could never inspire the loyalty that a town school could.

Killilea proved that theory wrong, which is an understatement.

He immediately produced winners, making the Tech Tourney a habit and became the first coach to enter a Class C school in Class A of the Tech.

He awed everyone by leading his team to an easy first round Class A win but the Lakers were edged in the second round.

He earlier had taken Old Town, Me., to the New England finals and later brought his Melrose teams to the Tech Class B in eight of his nine years there.

The admiration MacLean had for Killilea was not one-sided by any means.

"Munroe MacLean was the most influential man in my life and I've tried to emulate him," John said. "He was a great teacher of fundamentals and that is what I've always stressed. That's one part of the game that never changes."

Killilea has been called a genius and schoolboy writers wrote about his switching defenses as if they were something new.

"They were nothing new and I was just using something I had learned from Munroe when I played for him at Quincy," he said. "So, I'm not really a genius and if anyone should have been called one it was Munroe MacLean."

As Celtics assistant coach Killilea will be doing primarily the same job he has done the past two years, first as the East Coast scout for the Milwaukee Bucks and last year as head scout for the Celtics.

"My big responsibility will still be scouting the other NBA teams and the colleges, but now it will be a full-time job," he pointed out.

Killilea explained that working for an organization with Auerbach at its head is a priceless education.

"They'll tell you Red is the number one man in basketball and it is unbelievable the awe these people have of the man," he said. "He's almost like a god. Ask anybody in the NBA or the ABA."

"Red and Tommy Heinsohn have allowed me to become involved in every phase of the game—deals, trades, the draft and scouting. Since I get to see all the other teams in the league, I've had a great opportunity to watch how the league operates and it has been very interesting."

John Killilea's tremendous success in basketball is not only a tribute to his own ability and determination but to that of the late Munroe MacLean, a man with whom this writer, was closely associated for nearly 25 years and one of the most dedicated coaches and finest men I ever knew.

I considered it an honor to be numbered among his close friends.

And I have the same feeling now for John Killilea.

Successive Shutouts

Morrisette In First Place

Back in first place in Zone 6 thanks to successive shutout wins Sunday and Monday, the Morrisette Legion baseball team faced a busy week as it makes up three postponed games in addition to playing Quincy Wednesday night in a scheduled game.

A 5-0 win over Weymouth Sunday and a 6-0 romp over Randolph Monday gave Morrisette, the defending Zone 6 champion, a 10-4 record. Weymouth's loss and a Braintree defeat Monday night left those two clubs with 9-5 marks.

Morrisette made up a game at Milton Tuesday, played Quincy last night, tonight again plays a makeup game at Milton and Monday hosts Braintree in the final game of the regular season, weather permitting.

Meanwhile, Quincy's hopes were ended Monday when it dropped a 1-0 heartbreaker to Milton as Steve Mele, who has pitched consistently well, lost a real toughie.

Quincy, which was robbed of a win by the elements last Friday at Randolph when rain halted the game in the fifth inning with Quincy ahead, 5-0, last night played Morrisette, hosts Braintree Friday at Adams field and Sunday entertains Hingham in a makeup game, also at Adams.

Len 'Pepe' pitched Morrisette to its win Monday night, limiting Randolph to three hits, striking out seven and walking two.

Morrisette, which scored two runs in the first, third and fifth innings, was sparked at the plate by Tom Burke with three hits while Artie Boyle collected two. Sunday it was ace Jimmy Walker who held Weymouth to three hits, struck out four and walked three to run his record to 5-1.

Pacing Morrisette's eight-hit attack were Russ MacDonald with two doubles, Burke with two singles and Bobby Malvesti with a double.

Dave Drew had three hits in a losing cause for Quincy at Milton, Bobby Morton had a double and Mike Crosson a single for all the team's hits.

In the game at Randolph Morton had a one-hitter washed out as the rains came before Randolph batted in the fifth.

Ken McPhee Joins North Coaching Ranks

North Quincy continues to fill its football coaching ranks with former Raider players.

A year ago when Bill Pagnano resigned to take over as head coach at Duxbury, Dick Meyer, a former North star who had been ninth grade coach, was named to replace him.

Jack Bowes recently resigned to become head coach at Milton and another former Raider, Ken McPhee was named last week to succeed him.

Thus, four of the five varsity coaches now are former North players, Head Coach Ralph Frazier, Tom Fitzgerald, Meyer and McPhee. The only "foreigner" is Ted Sadowski, who played his high school ball at Boston English, where Bowes also played.

McPhee, a physical education teacher in the Quincy elementary school system, was an outstanding offensive guard and defensive cornerback on North's 1966 undefeated Greater Boston League champions.

He went on to star at Southern Connecticut University.

"Ken was an outstanding high school and college player and I am delighted to have him on the staff," Frazier said. "I hated to lose Jack Bowes but feel that McPhee will prove a fine successor and I had recommended him for the job."

McPhee will make his bow as a Raider coach when North opens practice on Monday, Aug. 78.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Jack Anderson May Get Own TV Talk Show

Just a matter of time before political columnist JACK ANDERSON has his own televised current events Talk Show. For the past year and a half ANDERSON has been accurately breaking some of the top political news stories. As a result, he himself has become a popular news figure for the electronic medium. Reaping the benefits of all this camera exposure leads this column to believe that JACK ANDERSON will have a politico-format Talk Show by September. WOODY STRODE and ex-footballer FRED WILLIAMSON are the front run candidates for the lead in "THE GRAVE DIGGER". This motion picture is a biopic on the life of retired Army officer Benjamin Davis, West Point's first Black graduate.

Award winning actress PATRICIA NEAL is diversifying her talents, this time around as a "voice" of TV documentaries... CARRIE SNODGRASS is holding firm to her commitment of staying retired. She balked at the lead for "YOU'LL LOVE MY MOTHER". The Universal picture will be shot on schedule however, with the career conscious PATTY DUKE doing justice with the femme lead... "THE CAREY TREATMENT" has one redeemable feature—a Boston locale. Scenery aside, the JAMES COBURN starrer is nothing more than a blown-up made-for-TV flick, with a plot [thin] and script [weak] which couldn't meet the standards of some of your better made for TV fare...

QUOTE. UNQUOTE: GROUCHO MARX pointed one liner why he refused to make an appearance in South Africa: "As long as they have this Apartheid business, they can go to hell"... Though out of action for several years, MARX still keeps active with special engagements.

RAYMOND BURR is giving the small tube two more years, then calling it quits with his "IRONSIDE" series. BURR's long range ambitions are to be the producer-star of his own films, and make appearances on the stage... Hopping on the "mafiosi" bandwagon, cinema artists purchased rights to film the JACK LYNN based-on-fact novel, "THE PROFESSOR"... And not to belabor a point, but "THE GODFATHER" is a must-see picture. Just be sure to be at the box office hours before the film screens. The lines are massive... In its first week, "THE GODFATHER" did better than $7 million nationwide... Off of their performances in this blockbuster, AL PACINO and JAMES CAAN are being swamped with film offers. As of this writing, each can write his own $55 ticket on the gold paved road to stardom...

KIRK DOUGLAS just couldn't say no. He finally succumbed to the directing bug, and makes his behind the camera bow this June with "SCALAWAG"... JACK NICHOLSON defended his first picture as director ["DRIVE, HE SAID"] with a "...it was okay for a beginner, even if reviews were mixed and business so-so"... French critics were more harsh than mixed with their opinions, and patrons in Paris stayed away in droves from NICHOLSON'S first, and prayerfully last, directing stint... Singer TOM JONES might have been "too sick" to make a recent Boston appearance, but still had the strength to ink on the dotted line for his first movie with JOSEPH L. LEVINE...

"ALL IN THE FAMILY", "FLIP WILSON SHOW", "MARCUS WILBY M.D.", "GUNSMOKE", and ABC's "MOVIE OF THE WEEK" were the top television picks of the 1971-72 season... Have you noticed the fashion trend "CABARET" has sewn?... With the flicker of every candle, ageless ELIZABETH TAYLOR gets that more beautiful, as you'll surely agree with the release of "HAMMER SMITH IS OUT"... Despite a whopping $200,000 plus deficit, "HIDDLER ON THE ROOF" is the longest running show to ever light up Broadway.

The late Japanese film director, YASUJIRO OZU, is just now receiving home-based acclaim as one of the great, pioneering artists in the business. His "TOKYO STORY" [1953] is being readied for national distribution and belated critical homage... BRIDGET BARDOT makes an image about face as a liberated, man-hating temptress in "DON JUAN"... And speaking of images, BARBRE STRISAND'S current bag is long, stringy hair and dungarees. So... what's wrong with being glamorous?...

Placing Hollywood today in proper perspective, VICTOR MATTHEW'S screen return is in response to producer's desperate need for "proven" marquee names. The type with charm, charisma and sophistication... And from a studio's point of view, his signature on a contract represents an investment in reliability. They know... MATTHEW will be on the set each and every day. Not rah-rah-ing the lost cause at a political rally... SEAN CONNERY began lensing [April 4] on his non-Bond "SOMETHING LIKE THE TRUTH". The picture is the first under CONNERY'S new independent label, Alcon... CONNERY, like others in the industry, has found that his salary is higher when the actor owns the producing company.

105th 'Old Fashioned' Marshfield Fair Opens Friday For 10-Day Run

The 105th edition of the "old-fashioned" Marshfield Fair will open at 9 a.m. Friday for 10 days and nights of entertainment for the whole family.

Festivities will feature a "million-dollar midway", big-league entertainment, 4-H entries, two fireworks displays and pari-mutuel thoroughbred horse racing daily.

Buddy Wagner's Lucky Hell Drivers will perform at 8 p.m. July 28 and 29.

Gov. Francis Sargent will lead a host of state and county officials at "Politician Day" July 30 featuring the hotly-contested horseshoe pitching contest.

August 1 will be Kiddies Day with thousands of young people expected to jam the fairgrounds for a full program and countless prizes.

Children 16 years of age and under will be admitted free from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with reduced prices on rides on Kiddies Day.

Senior Citizens Day will be August 3 with all youngsters 65 and over admitted free, according to President Frank M. Sinnott.

Director Jim Milbery Jr. promises the "very best" agricultural exhibits in the fair's history on display along with the Grange contest.

Beef, poultry, swine and sheep competition will highlight the 4-H activities. A horsepulling contest will be staged at 7:30 p.m. August 6.

Racing Secretary Frank Perry said post time for pari-mutuel horseracing will be at 1:45 p.m. on each of the 10 days.

Lois MacLean, John Franceschini Recreation Dept. 'Leaders Of Week'

Quincy Recreation Director William F. Ryan announces the selection of Miss Lois MacLean and John Franceschini as "Leaders of the Week".

Miss MacLean, graduate and 1971 class vice president at Quincy has in her three years with the Department was cited for consistently conducting a highly successful and well organized program for the children of both Pond St. and Merrymount playgrounds.

"Her continuing interest and enthusiasm for youth, sports and the community are highly visible at Merrymount where her efforts in programming have brought large numbers of participants together to enjoy a variety of sports regardless of age and specifically in the areas of girls' basketball and softball," Ryan said.

Miss MacLean, recent recipient of an Elks scholarship, is currently pursuing her Bachelor of Science in the field of Physical Education at Bridgewater.

Franceschini, Ryan noted, is an honor student who has shown an exceptional aptitude for chemistry, is also active in sports - football player formerly with Quincy High, basketball player for the Salvation Army and an avid golfer. Those of the Elm Street playground know John Franceschini as a worker whose ability to generate interest and enthusiasm is only surpassed by his efforts at providing programming for boys of all ages, especially in the areas of baseball and basketball. Franceschini currently plans to attend Lowell Tech in September.

From the Department, community and friends we wish to congratulate these fine representatives of youth.

Shorebank, Inc. Reports Consolidated Net Income Up 5%

Shorebank Inc., holding company for South Shore National Bank, Quincy, the Attleboro Trust Company, Attleboro, and The Falmouth National Bank, Falmouth, report consolidated net income after securities transactions for the first half year was up five percent to $788,072 or $1.43 a share. The year-ago figure was $750,451 or $1.36 a share.

Consolidated income before security transactions for the first half of 1972 was $698,139 or $1.26 a share, compared to the year-ago figure of $744,687 or $1.35 a share.

The 1971 figures have been re-stated to reflect the pooling of interest of The Falmouth National Bank and the Attleboro Trust Company acquisitions which were completed in 1971.

Shorebank, Inc., the $270 million Quincy-based holding company, recently released details of a plan to associate with the $100 million First Agricultural National Bank of Berkshire County, Pittsfield, and the $100 million Mechanics Bancorp Inc., the parent company of The Mechanics National Bank of Worcester.

S.S. National Bank To Take Hockey Fans To Russia

The Travel Department of South Shore National Bank announces plans to take hockey fans on a tour from Boston to Moscow for the Russian-Canadian games scheduled for the last week in September.

The tour will leave by Air France from Logan on Sept. 20 with deluxe accommodations, including all meals in Moscow, and good seats for the four games now scheduled for Sept. 22, 24, 26 and 28.

The tour will spend the final four days in Paris, returning to Boston on Oct. 4.

One of the highlights of the tour is the invitation that South Shore has extended to members of the Russian and Canadian teams to a reception to be held after the final game.

"The cooperation of the Russian tourist officials to our plans has been terrific. We were the first American travel operator to request space," commented Ed Siebert, who heads up the Bank's Wellesley Travel Department. "For a long time we have offered many first class specialized tours, but this one combines a rare chance to go to Russia and to see one of the world's most important sporting events."

South Shore National Bank operates travel offices in Wellesley and Quincy.

'Hitching Posts To Lean Against'

Many years ago my grandfather died...leaving a large family including some grandchildren. I recall that day...I was about 10...when grief hung heavily over the old homestead they called "Crows Nest" in Southern Kansas. Grandmother was a very religious woman. She and my minister father used to talk long and searchingly of their faith in God...the after life...their concept of love. One afternoon...after the funeral...Grandmother called my father to the window and pointed to his older brother leaning against the post to which the horses were tied. "Look, Cleve"...she said..."at poor Lew with nothing to lean against but a hitching post." Lew didn't "have religion"...in fact, he prided himself on being an agnostic...and this gave grandmother...and my father much concern.

When life gets bumpy...or death comes...when relationships are strained...when the marriage you want so badly is thwarted by an immature partner...when the income drops...and your spirits drop too...under these adverse conditions what hitching post do you lean against?

I know a man whose wife is his hitching post. She selects his clothes every morning...carries his heart pills everywhere they go...visiting...shopping...movies...golfing...church. He said recently to me..."I don't want to live one minute longer than Esther." He couldn't even fry eggs for himself. He's completely dependent upon Esther...she's his hitching post.

I know another man whose hitching post is a bar...he goes there every night on his way home...has "a couple"...which means really that he anesthetizes his mind so that he can't count beyond two. Then he drives home...he's had five accidents in that many years...staggers into the house...causes fear in the hearts of his wife and children...is often noisy and violent...then falls into a drunken sleep. The bar is his hitching post.

Let me suggest something better for a hitching post...LOVE...about the stoutest hitching post I know. Here's what one writer says about love..."Love is patient and kind...love is not jealous or boastful...it is not arrogant or rude...love does not insist on its own way...it is not irritable or resentful...love bears all things...believes all things...hopes all things...endures all things." [I Corinthians 13:4-7] If everybody "loved"...we marriage counselors would be out of business.

Our task really is to teach people to love...to apply love for...SELF...OTHERS...GOD. Love is the greatest hitching post.

What would happen if instead of the tons and tons of bombs we're dropping on North Viet Nam we sent over genuine evidences of love. STOP THE WAR. Instead of the destruction and exploitation let our money build hospitals...schools...farm lands...factories...in Viet Nam. It would be more effective than all our military strength. Just a suggestion, Mr. Nixon...you haven't tried this.

Love with heart...mind...strength...if you would make love work. It has to be with feeling...with intelligent decision...and behind those feelings and intelligent decisions, enthusiastic and honest concern. That's LOVE...that's power...that's a hitching post you can lean against.

Point Residents Ask Pollard Playground Clean-up

Residents of Watson Rd and Broadway in Quincy Point have petitioned Mayor Hannon to clean up hazardous conditions at the Pollard School playground.

The petition, submitted by Miss Adeline Pompeo of Watson Rd, cites drug traffic and dumping of litter in the wooded area leading to the playground.

"Perhaps you are not aware of the many, many times we have made various calls for help to correct these situations," Miss Pompeo said, "but to the present time we have received no satisfaction whatsoever."

The petition asked that some of the trees and brush be removed so that residents could more easily keep an eye on the goings on in the area.

School Committee Offers $500 Reward For School Fire Information

The Quincy School Committee has offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons responsible for the June 28 fire-bombing of the Nathaniel Hunting School.

The reward was authorized last week by the committee on a motion by Committeeman Harold Davis.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creodon, superintendent of schools said City Solicitor Harry Pavan has ruled that the committee can legally offer the reward.

Architect Barry Coletti has been retained to draw up plans for restoration of the school, which suffered some $150,000 in damage in the blaze.

Dr. Creodon said classes will begin in September on schedule but some double-session classes may be required.

Persons have any information concerning the fire at the school or claiming the $500 reward may contact Dr. Creodon at the School Department office, 471-0100.

Dr. Edward Pierce Named Quincy Junior President

Dr. Edward F. Pierce, dean of administration at the University of New Hampshire, has been appointed president of Quincy Junior College.

Dr. Pierce, chosen by the school committee at its July 18 meeting, will assume his duties as president Aug. 1.

He succeeds Kenneth P. White, the first president of the school, who died Nov. 20.

Quincy School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creodon has been acting president of the school since Mr. White's death.

Dr. Creodon assumed the added duties without an increase in pay, using the $14,000 president's salary to hire students for badly needed painting in and around the school.

QJC students painted virtually every classroom and corridor in the school and the salary also financed renovations to the president's office.

Five Graduate With Honors From Boston State College

Five Quincy residents received degrees with honors from Boston State College at commencement exercises at John B. Hynes Memorial Auditorium, Boston.

Receiving bachelor of science degrees in education magna cum laude were Colleen M. Corcoran of 1193 Furnace Brook Parkway, Ellen E. Drew of 196 Holbrook Rd., Maureen C. O'Leary of 247 Pine St. and June T. Pino of 53 Newcomb St.

James M. Galvin of 11 George Rd., received a bachelor of arts cum laude.

Gerald Burnham Accepted At Wentworth

Gerald D. Burnham of 43 Vershire St., North Quincy, has been accepted for admission to Wentworth Institute in Boston for the 1972-73 academic year. He is a graduate of Canton High School.

City Wins Another Round In Long Battle

At Least One-Year Delay Seen In Revaluation

By DICK MATTULINA

The City of Quincy has won another round in its five-year battle to delay revaluation.

A federal court-appointed auditor declared Monday that the city should not be forced to pay the $60,000 balance on an error-riddled assessment conducted in 1966.

City Solicitor Harry Pavan said the decision should have a favorable effect on Quincy's part in adversary proceedings in Norfolk Superior Court.

The ruling means that city assessors must go to work to come up with new figures which will assure that each taxpayer contributes "his full and just share," according to Mayor Hannon.

Such a process is expected to take at least a year.

The taxpayers' suit in Dedham is designed to force the city to implement 100-percent revaluation of property.

Quincy has based its stand "in a large part on the incompetence" of the assessment report submitted by the independent firm of Cole, Laver and Trumble, Pavan said.

"We said the figures were useless and the federal court case seems to have vindicated our position," he said.

Cole, Laver and Trumble sued in federal court for the $60,000 balance on a $198,000 assessment contract signed in 1965 by former Mayor Amelio

Della Chiesa.

The city, under three mayors, has contended that the report "did not reflect the true value of the property" and that figures could not be used for revaluation, Pavan said.

He said both sides in the adversary proceedings in Dedham have been working "together in the best interests of the city" and said federal court results should prove that Quincy was "justified" in delaying.

The auditor's report is subject to confirmation by U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. Murray.

Pavan said city assessors must now examine each of the 23,000 pieces of property in Quincy with an eye toward revaluation.

"The immediate goal is equalization so that everybody is paying his fair share," he said.

Zoning reforms last year for "Residence-B" areas "made dramatic changes in values," he said, since apartment buildings may now be constructed where only four-family dwellings were allowed.

Pavan said Quincy has "a very competent board of assessors and they know the city better than anybody else."

Using the assessors should also save the city some $350,000 in fees for an outside firm, he said.

QCA Says Revaluation Would 'Wreak Havoc'

The Quincy Citizens Association has urged Mayor Hannon "to exert every effort... including court action, to prevent the implementation of revaluation in Quincy this year."

In a letter to the Mayor, association officers said revaluation would wreak havoc among elderly, handicapped and disabled homeowners.

An elderly homeowner "would be hit with a $656 tax increase even if he gets the elderly $4,000 abatement," according to QCA President Joseph A. Slattery and Secretary Dorothy C. Kelly.

"How many 70 and 80-year old folks can pay that out of Social Security and their inflation-diminished savings?" they asked.

"A disabled veteran or a widow, even with a $2,000 abatement, would have to dig up $472 extra for 1972 real estate taxes or lose their homes," they said.

Officers urged the Mayor to immediately institute proceedings to delay "such an awful calamity."

Work To Begin Soon On $157,400 HN Seawall

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell [D-Quincy] announces that work on the Rock Island Rd-Edgewater Drive seawall project will begin within the next few weeks.

Estimated cost is approximately $157,400, 50 percent of which will be paid by the state.

Lowest bidder and contract winner is D. F. Frangioso Co., Inc. of Mattapan.

In making the announcement,

Brownell said: "I am extremely pleased that work will begin shortly on this sorely needed seawall that will finally protect the residents of Rock Island Rd and Edgewater Drive from further soil erosion, flooding and damage to their property."

"The residents of this area are to be commended for their patience and co-operation in obtaining the seawall protection."

Commissioners Predict:

Wollaston Golf Course Guaranteed Money-Maker For Norfolk County

The Wollaston Golf Course provides Norfolk County with a unique opportunity to preserve open space while making a profit, according to County Commissioner James J. Collins.

Collins and Commissioners George B. McDonald and Thomas McManus told a press conference Tuesday that the primary objective in purchasing the facility is conservation.

"But this happens to be a piece of conservation land that is actually going to make money for the county," Collins said.

Commissioners cited the financial success of Norfolk County Hospital in Braintree and the Registry of Deeds as evidence that the county can and has engaged in profitable operations.

"There is not the slightest possibility that the Wollaston Golf Course will lose money," Collins said.

The press conference at the golf course was called to dispell "misinformation in parts of the county as to what the golf course bill involved," he said.

Gov. Sargent has signed the legislation authorizing the county to spend up to $3.5 million to acquire and modify the course.

"By no means does that mean we're going to spend that much money," Collins said.

The commissioners have hired a firm to provide an appraisal of the property before making their offer and half the money is reimbursable by the federal government because it is an open-space program.

Necessary alterations to the course include grading of the so-called "Cardiac Hill" which commissioners feel is too steep for public play.

The golf course bill provides for a seven-member board of trustees with Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Quincy Park and Recreation Board, and John Shields, chairman of the Milton Park Board, as ex-officio members.

Commissioners have nominated Paul Feeney of Braintree and former Norwood Town Manager William Kendrick for two of the three county-wide seats.

Quincy and Milton must each appoint one additional member to the board.

Commissioners expressed appreciation to Sen. Arthur H. Tobin, Mayor Walter J. Hannon and Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt for their efforts toward passage of the bill.

Smyth Asks For Report On Quincy,

MDC Police Patrol Of Wollaston Beach

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has asked Police Chief Francis X. Finn to report on the mutual efforts of Quincy and MDC Police in patrolling Wollaston Beach.

Smyth said "casual observations" indicate that drug-related activity has diminished in the area since the two departments agreed to mutual jurisdiction a year ago.

"The residents of Quincy, I know, welcome this change and the area, once again, can be fully utilized by children and families," he said.

1973 Budget Cuts Will Curtail Mental Health Services

Editor, Quincy Sun:

This letter is written on behalf of staff and board members of the South Shore Mental Health Center and Association, as an urgent effort to inform the public of just how the 1973 budget cuts, recently enacted by the Legislature and signed by the Governor, will curtail certain mental health services in the South Shore area.

The South Shore Mental Health Association considers this to be very irresponsible action and the following facts explain the reasons for our opinion:

- Ninety-five Department of Mental Health employees will be laid off in Region V alone. This covers the South Shore area, the Newton-Wellesley-Weston area, the Medfield-Norwood area, the Framingham area and the Westborough-Marlborough area.

- Our area, Area V of Region V, will suffer a 20% budget cut in the "02 Account-Temporary Employees". The cut will effect certain services for the towns of Milton, Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth, Randolph, Hingham, Hull, Scituate and Cohasset.

- Translated, this means a loss of six staff members, mostly in our long established Education and Rehabilitation programs for mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed and handicapped children.

- As a result, 20 severely handicapped children would have to be dismissed from our pre-school classes. A number of handicapped teenagers would be let go from vocational training at the South Shore Rehabilitation Center, Squantum, and would remain unemployable, thus causing psychological and financial hardships for the trainee. This in turn only increases the cost of Welfare payments for the Commonwealth and destroys self-reliance.

- Substantial cuts will also be made in the direct clinical services [evaluations and treatment] of emotionally disturbed children and adults.

- The 02 Account-Temporary Employees, has a misleading title. This is a Civil Service Classification, but many of these positions have existed for as long as 9 years and were originally created to meet more sophisticated staffing needs. These positions should have been made "permanent" long ago; it would seem reasonable to do so after a 3-year trial period.

-- Those professionals assigned as "temporary" employees at our Center in Quincy include: 1 Chief Psychiatrist, 2 Senior Psychiatrists, 1 Director of Rehabilitation Clinic, 1 Head Occupational Therapist, 1 Head Psychiatric Social Worker, 1 Psychiatric Social Worker, 1 Head School Teacher, 1 School Teacher, 1 Rehabilitation Counselor, and 1 Senior Vocational Instructor. The cuts will be made from this group.

Since Dr. Gershen Rosenblum, Administrative Director of Region V has received directives from Commissioner Robert L. Yasi, Executive Office for Administration and Finance to effect these "savings" by July and since he cannot make use of funds that the Legislature has set aside for emergencies, this curtailment of activities may soon be a reality.

Members of our Public Affairs Committee of the South Shore Mental Health Association are writing letters to Commissioner Yasi and to Governor Francis W. Sargent calling the urgency of our plight to their attention. We urge concerned citizens to join them in writing also.

All we are asking is to maintain, not increase, the kind of services we are now providing. Isn't it time that we ask what motivates our elected officials and the executive branch of our state government to play such games at the expense of the mental health consumer?

Claims 'Momma's Boy' Attitude

Editor, Quincy Sun:

The "momma's boy" attitude of some of our local Democratic politicians smacks somewhat of intellectual immaturity. Like the little boys, who can't stand the pressure when the game is not going their way as they narrowly interpret the rules, they are going to take their gloves and bats and go home.

A study of geriatrics might reveal that, particularly amongst politicians, senility doesn't wait for a ripe old age.

They really should be rewarded. We should vote them out of office at the next election, then drum them out of the Democratic party and they will be free to pout in peace.

- Hanoi Will Take Thieu
- Agnew On High Road?
- Minority Businesses Pressured

WASHINGTON—One of the stumbling blocks to a peace settlement in Vietnam may be removed soon.

We have learned that Hanoi is secretly alerting its cadres that it may be necessary to accept President Thieu as leader of the Saigon regime during a cease-fire.

In the past, the North Vietnamese have stubbornly refused even to consider a truce unless Thieu quits. But now increasing pressure from the Chinese and the Russians is causing Hanoi to re-evaluate its position on Thieu.

It now appears that Hanoi will allow Thieu to remain as President of South Vietnam during a cease-fire—at least until a compromise coalition government can be formed.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Air Command in Vietnam has informed the Pentagon that it has now hit all but the off-limit targets in North Vietnam. Undisturbed, the Pentagon has ordered the air war to continue. Hit them all again, the Pentagon has told our pilots.

American air attacks have taken a terrible toll, wiping out as many as 50 per cent of some North Vietnamese divisions. But U.S. intelligence reports warn that Hanoi has replaced almost all the combat troops killed during the recent offensive. These reports also claim that the North Vietnamese divisions still have plenty of supplies stockpiled in the south.

In short, Hanoi has both the men and the material to keep the war going. As a result, the secret negotiations now going on in Paris continue to offer the only hope of settling the Vietnam conflict this year.

—McKay's Lessons—

A few weeks ago, we reported that President Nixon had attempted to save the taxpayers some money by ordering his lieutenants not to fly first-class. The order, however, has been blatantly ignored. Every cabinet officer we have checked on—and most of their assistants—always use the comfortable, up-front seats.

But on Capitol Hill there is at least one public servant who always flies tourist. He is Congressman K. Gunn McKay, a moderate Democrat from Utah.

McKay came to Washington without enough cash to buy a house, so he is renting. Once, his secretary was helping him with his income tax and she asked if he had any outside investments. He produced a slip showing he had earned $24 interest on a credit union savings account.

A few weeks ago, McKay invited me to lunch. We dined in his office on sandwiches and trimmings that had been prepared by his wife and staff.

Congressmen are permitted by law to go home 12 times a year at public expense. Most of them fly first class. But not Gunn McKay.

He sits in the back of the plane and saves the taxpayer $1,824 a year.

The President's aides should take a lesson from Gunn McKay.

—Flood Damage—

The East Coast is still recovering from last month's devastating floods which in Pennsylvania alone caused property damage estimated far over one billion dollars.

One story in the tales of misery coming out of Pennsylvania is the plight of the private colleges. Seventeen colleges suffered damages in Pennsylvania. Not one of them is eligible for federal money to pick up and start again.

Worst hit was Wilkes College in Wilkes-Barre. The school, which has an enrollment of 2,600 students, suffered $10 million in damages. Wilkes's president Francis Micheleni told us candidly, "I don't see how we'll survive without substantial help from somewhere."

Wilkes lost everything from grand pianos in its music department to expensive lab equipment to 23,000 volumes of books. The library was so badly damaged that the school had to order a bulldozer inside the building to clean up the muck.

"In most of the 58 buildings on campus, we're still ankle deep in mud," Micheleni told us. "You've got to see it to believe it."

—Pressure Tactics—

Small minority businesses which get government contracts are being pressured to support President Nixon for re-election. The heat is coming, appropriately, from a fuel oil dealer acting with apparent encouragement from the President himself.

Charles Wallace, who heads the firm of Wallace and Wallace in New York, has sent hundreds of letters to other companies which have either gotten contracts with the help of the Small Business Administration or are trying to get them.

Wallace encloses a letter President Nixon sent him thanking him for his suggestions. Also enclosed is a questionnaire demanding to know if the company will work for President Nixon's re-election.

The letter extols the SBA's assistance to minority businesses as "the most dynamic program that has ever been instituted for minorities." Then comes the pitch. "I cannot tell you," writes Wallace, "how important it is that we go out into the field and try to get the President re-elected."

He stoutly denies it, but Wallace's mailing suggests that he is acting in concert with the administration to use the minority business program for political purposes. This use of his corporate resources to promote a political cause is also an apparent violation of federal law.

—Washington Whirl—

High Road for Agnew?—President Nixon's new campaign manager, Clark MacGregor, has been meeting privately with Nixon and Agnew urging the two to wage a dignified campaign this year. MacGregor specifically hopes to persuade Agnew not to take the same low road he took in the 1970 congressional campaign. MacGregor warns that a rough, name-calling campaign could drive conservative Democrats, sympathetic to the President, into the McGovern camp.

ITT and Taxes—Remember how embarrassed George McGovern looked earlier this summer when he incorrectly claimed that ITT had paid no federal taxes in three years? McGovern sheepishly retracted his statement when he learned that several ITT subsidiaries did pay their taxes. We can now report that McGovern was not so off as ITT had claimed. ITT's effective tax rate in 1971, we have learned, was less than five per cent of its income of $410 millions.

Classic Government Fence Sitting—The U.S. Department of Transportation continues to hedge on Ralph Nader's favorite subject: the safety of the Corvair. The Department issued a report two weeks ago claiming the Corvair was as safe as many similar cars. Last week, the Department was hastily preparing a letter to warn owners of the Corvair's potential dangers.

Brownell Proposes Citizen Board To Recommend Judgeships

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has proposed the establishment of a citizens' commission to make all recommendations for judicial appointment.

In a letter to Gov. Francis W. Sargent, Brownell objected to the current "secretive, behind-closed-doors process with little or no community involvement."

He said he felt "a greater confidence in our judicial system can be gained by allowing the general public to participate in the selection of judges."

Brownell's plan calls for a nine-member panel of lay and professional people with four additional members from the community most directly affected by the appointment.

"Only in this way can we remove the suspicion and common belief that judgeships are nothing more than political patronage jobs for friends of a governor," he said.

He urged the governor to "join with me in a bi-partisan effort to reform the current selection process by becoming a co-petitioner on legislation I will file for consideration by the 1973 legislative session."

Aug. 4 Deadline For Recreation Department Exams

Statewide civil service examinations will be given August 23 for various seasonal part-time and full-time positions on the Quincy Recreation Department.

Director William F. Ryan said winter and summer positions include recreation leaders and assistants in general, athletic and handicraft categories.

Applications must be received by August 4 by the state civil service office. They may be obtained at the personnel office in city hall.

Capt. Edward Warner Honored At Pentagon

Retired Army Capt. Edward E. Warner was honored recently in a special ceremony in the Pentagon offices of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army Chief of Staff.

Capt. Warner was awarded the Silver Star, Bronze Star with

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Warner Sr. of Annandale, Va., and the grandson of Mrs. Maude Keegan of Quincy and the late George L. Keegan.

Council Handles 69-Item Agenda At Special Session

The City Council encountered one of the longest agenda in recent memory Tuesday night at a marathon special session called by Council President Arthur H. Tobin.

The budget included 69 items submitted by councillors and department heads ranging from appropriations totalling $1.3 million to the placement of traffic signs.

Tobin said the budget was "the biggest council agenda I've ever seen and probably one of the biggest in history."

He said he scheduled the session for Tuesday "as a courtesy" to City Auditor Alexander Smith because department heads must have appropriation orders to plan their budgets.

Smith "puts his books in order at the end of the month," Tobin said, "so as a courtesy, the meeting was called for August 1."

Another goal of the session was to allow councillors their first summer vacation in six years.

The last regular council meeting is on the last Monday in June and the board is supposed to recess until the first Monday in September, Tobin said.

"But this hasn't happened in six years because of revaluation, rezoning and problems with Survival, Inc.," he said.

Tobin said he expects the council will have at least two weeks off before any further sessions are called.

Budget items included a $950,000 borrowing order for sewer construction, $133,700 for street maintenance, $71,000 for the water department, $35,000 for police and $32,000 for planning.

August 19 Registration Deadline For September State Primary

The City Hall election department will be open daily through August 19 to register voters for the September 19 state primary election.

Evening sessions will also be held at Fore River Club House, St. John's School and Gridley Bryant School on August 8 and at the Wollaston and Quincy Schools August 10.

Election office workers will be at those places from 7 to 9 p.m. and the City Hall office will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on August 19.

As of July 1, Quincy had 46,904 registered voters with 24,376 Democrats, 9,173 Republicans and 13,355 Independents.

McLelland Opposes 3,000-Car South Quincy MBTA Parking Lot

Ward 3 Councillor Theophilus McLelland has voiced opposition to a proposed 3,000-car parking facility at the planned South Quincy MBTA station.

In a letter to Secretary of Transportation Alan Altshuler, McLelland expressed his "concern over a rumor regarding the size of the parking area."

He asked that residents "be given the opportunity to voice our opposition to this parking facility, if it is to become a reality."

"The residents of Ward 3 and myself shall do all within our power to fight this proposal," he said.

Nancy Alfredson Art Display At North Quincy Library

Mrs. Nancy J. Alfredson is displaying her art work in the North Quincy Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library through August.

Mrs. Alfredson formerly of Brookline, now lives in Boston. She is a graphic designer for Spectrum Design Associates Inc. of Boston.

Her work consists of mono-prints, mixed media and collage, predominately in black and low-keyed colors. The economy of line and color in the work is suggestive of Japanese brush painting, yet the boldness of form and composition is contemporary.

Mrs. Alfredson has had one man shows at Harvard University, Modern Language Center; Community Church Art Center, Boston [two man]; Boston Art Center, Brookline, Newton Free Library; and Passim, Cambridge.

She has shown in group shows at Copley Society; Institute of Contemporary Art; Community Church Art Center in their "The World of Children" for UNICEF and "Five Women Artists" annual.

Also in Paul Kessler Gallery, Provincetown; Intrepid Gallery, Boston; Nashua Public Library; Harvard University; Provincetown Art Association; Massachusetts Eye and Ear Benefit Art Festival; Meeting House Gallery, Boston, and the Booksmith Gallery, Brookline.

New Look At Tonselectomy

It used to be that everyone, sooner or later, had his tonsils and adenoids removed routinely. No longer is this the case. Now, experts report that there is new evidence against indiscriminate removal.

In a report to the American Pediatric Society, Dr. P. L. Ogra of the State University of New York in Buffalo, indicated that clinical study has shown that the removal operation reduces resistance to certain viral infections, particularly polio, even in children who have been immunized.

Dr. Ogra, a virologist, measured polio virus antibody in the nose-throat passage of 40 children, ages 3 to 11 years who had been immunized with polio vaccine. Following removal of the children's tonsils and adenoids, the polio virus antibody levels were again measured - and showed a marked decline.

Dream Together

Dreams come from more dreams that set us apart
From the reality of life which is an art

Of frustrations, of dreams that never were
But a blindfolded vision or a blur

Men dream together, yet dream apart

But have bridges to cross and streams to part

Before they end their wildest dreams

And finish their journey and stop their schemes

If one has everything he might desire

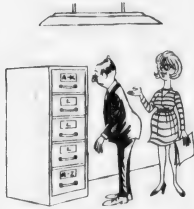

Dreams are useless for him And though we envy his every grace

And wish and dream that we were he

We might some morning shock ourselves

To see the graveyard in which dreams lie.

Paul Barbadoro

"The reason there are so many L's is because we get a lot of letters."

Cool Meals

The hot weather has everybody going to the beaches to cool off. Another way to "cool off" is to eat hot weather meals.

Salads are one of the best ways and nutritious too. A wide selection of "greens" such as beet greens, collard greens, chicory, dandelions, escarole, Iceberg lettuce, Boston lettuce, Romaine lettuce, Salad Bowl lettuce, and Red Leaf lettuce are available to make a delicious salad.

Celery, cucumbers, radishes, onions, and tomatoes are reasonably priced with celery on sale at .35 cents per bunch, broccoli at .29 cents per lb., and tomatoes at .25 cents per lb.

FRUITS: Some "hot weather" fruits are on sale and in good supply. Lemons at .08 cents each and limes at .05 cents each are good buys and a favorite in making cold drinks.

Cold watermelon on a hot day will bring a cool smile to anybody who enjoys eating watermelon, especially at .06 cents per lb. Peaches are on sale at .19 cents per lb. along with plums at .39 cents per lb. which would also make an excellent treat at the beach or at home poolside. Oranges are also enjoyable especially at .08 cents each.

FLOWER POWER—A sure-fire brightener for a teenage room is this bedspread of easy-care cotton duck printed with bold overscaled flowers in red, white, and blue. Underscored by a fire engine red shag rug and accent pieces, the room swings with color. By Desley Fabrics, the spread also comes with a variety of coordinates including quilted throws, tablecloth, cafe curtains, and valances.

Tomato Tuna Stacks Are Super Salads

What a great thing it is to have fresh, red-ripe, juicy tomatoes in good supply at market. Serve a platter full of tomato slices for an easy way to deal with salad. For a fancier fresh tomato dish, try Tomato Tuna Stacks, a fine luncheon or supper idea. Tomatoes are sliced, each slice piled with tuna salad and stacked. Fun, thrifty and nourishing, tomatoes have excellent nutrition. One medium size tomato provides 57% of the recommended daily allowance of vitamin C for an adult for a day, more than a fourth of the vitamin A and a twelfth of the iron, but only 35 calories.

Tomato Tuna Stacks

- |                                |                                  |
|--------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 can (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna | 1/4 teaspoon pepper              |
| 1/2 cup chopped celery         | 1/4 cup mayonnaise               |
| 1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese   | 1 tablespoon chopped fresh onion |
| 3/4 teaspoon salt              | 6 fresh tomatoes                 |
| 1/2 teaspoon minced garlic     | Chicory                          |

Drain tuna and flake. Mix with celery, cheese, salt, garlic, pepper, mayonnaise and onion. Remove stem ends of tomatoes and cut into 3 crosswise slices. Put together in layer cake fashion, using tuna mixture as filling. Serve on a bed of chicory. Makes 6 servings.

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of Aug. 4 - 11

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Family relationships have intensified to the point where your partner needs your complete understanding and sympathy.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - This week brings the finishing up of a project or friendship within your own neighborhood. Home life is favored.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Your finances are undergoing a complete reorganization at this time and the start of a savings account is advised.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - This is an excellent week to revise your personal life and your home life to make things easier on you in future.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 21] - Don't let hurt feelings or pride interfere with long standing association. Talking to older friend helps matters.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Replenishing your wardrobe at this time puts a strain on your budget. A bit of ingenuity straightens it out again.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - You feel you would like to take the easy way out of a trying situation - stop and weigh all the pros and cons.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Legal entanglements or personal problems can be resolved this week making life in foreseeable future more pleasant.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Don't ignore the responsibilities being thrust upon you even though you feel they're interfering with social life.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - This is a poor time to make a change - try to smooth out tense relationships by talking to the boss.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - A service you've been rendering is no longer needed so turn your attention to a creative hobby or study.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Children can leave you up tight this week, ignoring the problem will not solve anything so offer your services.

The Outdoors ...

SAFETY 'ROUND THE GRILL

BACKYARD BARBECUES ARE FUN, BUT THEY CAN BE DANGEROUS, TOO. SO OBSERVE THESE SIMPLE SAFETY RULES WHEN COOKING OUTDOORS.

AS WITH ANY ACTIVITY, WHEN BARBECUING BE WELL PREPARED. KEEP A PAIR OF BARBECUE MITTS AND LONG HANDLED TONGS AND FORK CLOSE BY. HAVING THE PROPER TOOLS MAKES THE JOB EASIER AND MORE FUN. AND THEY HELP PREVENT ACCIDENTS FROM BURNS.

OUTDOOR ELECTRIC POWER CORDS CAN CREATE A HAZARD FOR CHILDREN... AND ADULTS. WHEN USING A ROTISSERIE OUTDOORS, MAKE SURE IT'S CORDLESS. DISSTON, INC. HAS DEVELOPED A RECHARGEABLE CORDLESS ELECTRIC BARBECUE KIT FOR USE ANYWHERE... INCLUDING THE BEACH AND CAMPGROUNDS. THE NEW UNIT, WHICH IS ADAPTABLE TO ALL KINDS OF GRILLS, ELIMINATES THE POWER CORD HAZARD.

NEVER SQUIRT OR POUR CHARCOAL LIGHTER ON BURNING COALS. THE LIGHTER CAN FLAKE UP INSTANTLY.

WHEN FINISHED COOKING, SLOWLY DUMP USED COALS INTO A BUCKET OF WATER.

Services Friday At First Parish Church For Rev. Dr. Bradford E. Gale

Services will be held Friday for Rev. Dr. Bradford E. Gale, former pastor of United First Parish Church, who died Monday at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Dr. Gale, pastor of the church for 13 years, resigned last year to join the division of promotion and finance of the Unitarian-Universalist Association in Boston.

He was born in Clinton, graduated from Cambridge Latin School and Tufts University and studied for the ministry at Crane Theological School and Harvard Divinity School.

He was ordained in 1934 at the Unitarian Church in Lincoln and was pastor of the First Church of Salem until 1958 when he came to Quincy.

Dr. Gale was former president of the Salem Community Council, a founding member of the North Shore Mental Health Association and held an honorary doctorate from Tufts University.

He was a member of the Norfolk-South Shore Chapter of the Children's Protective Services, Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

He was a member of the district mental health board, South Shore Mental Health Association and a director of Quincy Red Cross.

Dr. Gale was president of the Quincy Family Homemaker Service, a board member of the United Nations Council of the South Shore and a trustee of New England Home for the Deaf and Blind.

He edited "Contemporary Accents in Liberal Religion" in 1960, was Russell Lecturer at Tufts University in 1966 and received the Silver Beaver Award from the Boy Scouts of America in 1945.

He leaves his wife, Jane [Holt] Gale; a daughter, Mrs. Richard W. Lawson of Northfield, and three grandchildren.

Survival, Inc. Receives $50,000

Survival Inc. the multimodality drug rehabilitation program for the South Shore-Norfolk County area, located in Quincy, announces receipt of $50,000 in new funds from the Drug Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Mental Health.

The $50,000, which will cover Survival expenses for fiscal 1973 (July 1, 1972 to July 1, 1973), represents nearly a 50 percent increase over the $33,500 allocated to the drug treatment program in fiscal 1972 by the State.

This increase in funding reflects the favorable evaluation of the State as to Survival's efforts over the past year and gives much credit as to the strengths of the community-based selfhelp program.

Survival, incorporated by a concerned group of Quincy citizens in May of 1970 has grown into a multifaceted treatment program at this time. This agency serves the area with a 24-hour a day hotline, individual and group counselling for drug and youth related problems, a 24-hour residential treatment center for persons with opiate problems, and a methadone supported therapy program. In addition, Survival, through its office of Education and Community Development, provides a broad information service to the South Shore area concerning drugs and drug abuse.

It is felt that this new-funding is an approval by the State of Survival's activities, and that Federal funds for the region may be more easily procured as these funds can be used as evidence of local support for the program.

Chamber's New By-Laws Allows Complete Regional Involvement

The Board of Directors of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce have taken another major step toward the finalization of its reorganization plans by approving a new set of by-laws which will allow for complete regional involvement of the newly renamed organization.

Heslip Sutherland, Quincy Cooperative Bank, Chairman of the by-laws revision committee, and committee members Atty. John Flavin, Wilfred Mathewson, Mathewson Corp.; Forrest I. Neal, Jr., Old Colony Laundries and John Bettes, Norfolk County Trust Company recommended for Board and Membership approval a set of by-laws which allows for a flexible and responsive organization structure.

It creates coordinating councils within which Chamber committees will operate and places them in direct control of Vice Presidents who will have program implementation responsibilities.

Terms of directors are limited to two three-year terms under the new set-up, and creates a situation where directors over 70 years of age are ineligible for re-election. The procedure for nominating and electing directors has also been modernized.

An Executive Advisory Council of past Chamber Presidents is called for in the new document to serve as an advisory arm to the Board.

Standing committees under the new organization will be the Program of Work, Policy, Budget and Finance and Executive Committees.

The Chamber's business and program year will run from Jan. 1 through Dec. 31.

The membership of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce will vote on the revised by-laws Aug. 23 at 1:45 p.m. at the Chamber offices.

Living, Today

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'Let's Clear The Air'

An unhappy couple sat on the divan in my office. It was their tenth session. "I don't know what's wrong but I'm just not happy with Ronny" Ruth said. "I'm not interested in anyone else...but he's just hurt me so much I can't seem to get over it...and every time he does a little of what hurt me in the past that big wall of hate looms up."

Ronny had stayed out late...failed to call her when detained so that meals got cold...he was drinking heavily...he was careless with money. The things a woman want a husband for...companionship and security...he just hadn't given in their nine years of marriage. Now they had sought help...he had changed many of his unacceptable ways...the problem was now forgiveness and new closeness. How was she to forgive and be close to Ron when some of the same things continued? Closeness to Ruth meant talking together...being together...sharing problems...resolving by agreement the situations of their lives which made one or both of them unhappy. Ron just hadn't come that far. He was still too unaware of his wife's feelings...still too thoughtless to encourage closeness...too clammed up to clear the air.

"Affection is a reaching out to other's from an excited state of pleasurable anticipation"...writes one author. It represents an expansive reaction in the body...sensations of physical warmth. An affectionate person is a warm person...muscles are relaxed...not tense. The heart beat is slow and steady...not palpitating. There's a "good" feeling throughout the body and when one feels affectionate. There's desire for physical contact with the person who is the object of these warm feelings...hand...embrace...kiss. These Ruth didn't feel for Ron Now. Hers were hostile feelings...cold...withdrawn...no erotic desire of friendship or sexual love...she desired no physical contact..."don't touch me"...she often said. Suppressed hostile feelings must be released...the air cleared...before they can be replaced with feelings of affection.

What Ruth wanted was for Ron to level with her...to expose his feelings...to talk out the differences in the ways he felt when he was actively hurting her...and the way he feels now. But the wall was still there because he wouldn't reveal his true feelings...he just agreed silently now...and that wasn't enough for Ruth. He wanted her just to "forget all that back there"...which we can't do...until we clear the air.

Then what had to happen for Ron and Ruth? The same as for all of us...they had to clear the air...by talking about their feelings...sharing the hurts they had felt...seeing and understanding how past behaviors hurt...but turning them into an asset to their relationship...rather than leaving them as suppressed hate. Turn them into fun things..."remember when the steak dried up after you called from Joe's bar saying you'd be home in 15 minutes." If you can't laugh and joke about past things which hurt, chances are the hurt feelings are just beneath the surface ready to push up the wall between you and your partner. Love is based on the anticipation of pleasure between you. If you don't anticipate pleasure with that one...instead you anticipate uncertainty...more hurt...the wall of hostility is sure to rise again.

Affectionate feelings unite people...the feeling of betrayal of trust turn affection into hostility. You can't afford not to Clear The Air!
FOR YOUR COMMENTS...For Group Therapy...For Private Counselling...you may write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, Mass. or call 326-5990 or 659-7595.

The Kids We Meet Know How to Manage Money

By Philip J. Lawrence
President

COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

The thing that impresses us particularly about the thrifty and industrious youngsters whom we encounter in our daily work is their intelligent handling of money.

We find that most of them are not the frivolous buyers they are made out to be.

"A dollar's value depends on what you get for it," a college senior comments seriously. "To get the most out of your dollar, you must know the things you want, arrange your priorities among these wants, and be skilled in your selection of the goods and services you decide to buy."

He refers to the observation of his economics professor to the effect that the family expenditure pattern in this country represents a loss of 10 to 25 per cent in the dollar's value because consumers lack buying skill, knowledge of alternatives, or information about improper or even illegal terms of sale.

Much of the money in children's accounts comes, we find, not from relatives' or parents' gifts but from the youngsters' own early work efforts—at baby sitting, yardwork, washing windows and cars, walking dogs, caddying, distributing newspapers, and other neighborhood chores.

Many of the high-school and college students we interview have worked out financial arrangements with their parents through which they help to pay some of their expenses and set aside money in savings accounts for future needs.

One college coed has kept half the money she earned for clothes, transportation, food, and spending money while the other half went to her parents toward tuition and other large-expense items. She is proud of the fact that she has over $600 in her savings account.

Another coed is allowed to keep all her earnings, with which she is able to pay most of her college expenses. We asked this personable girl, who has not had a vacation through four college years, what she plans to do when she graduates.

As a math major, she replied, she plans to get into some field of statistical research. She hopes that her earnings will enable her to pay back her parents for some expenses, like the time last year when she was bridesmaid at a wedding in another city. "And I'd like to save for marriage," she added, "I'd hate to have to burden them with a lot of bills when I get married."

Another girl plans to give her working parents some of her salary when she graduates. She too will start saving for marriage, though she admits hoping there will be enough for a trip to Europe.

These admittedly are the thrifty type, the ones we see and talk to. We get the impression from them that they are going to be prudent in their handling of money. With them it's not a matter of hoarding but of employing intelligent management of the money they earn.

James T. McDonough Senior Vice-President Whitman & Howard

James T. McDonough, P.E., of Quincy and Falmouth, has been elected senior vice president of Whitman & Howard, Inc., a Boston-based consulting engineering firm founded in 1869.

A graduate of the University of Massachusetts, McDonough began his career as a civil engineer with this firm in 1951. After several years of experience in the engineering design, construction, and operation of water pollution control facilities, he became assistant head of the Water Pollution Control Department and later vice president and director.

At the present time, McDonough also serves as director, head of the Water Pollution Control Department, and project manager on large sewage treatment plants, pumping stations and related facilities.

McDonough is a Registered Professional Engineer in Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island, and Vermont, and has a national certification. He is also a diplomate of the American Academy of Environmental Engineers and a member of the

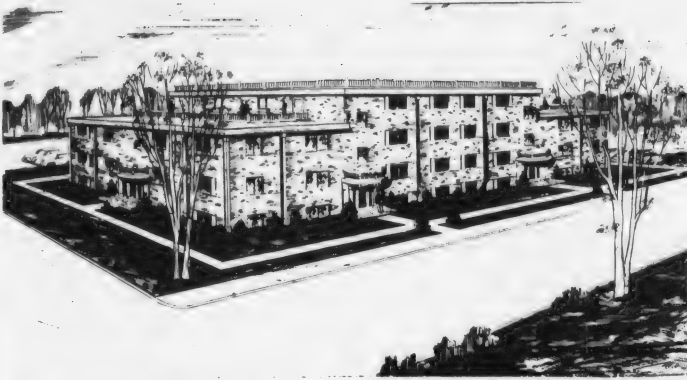

JAMES T. McDONOUGH

American Society of Civil Engineers, New England Water Pollution Control Association, and Water Pollution Control Federation.

McDonough is a past president of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Quincy.

He is the husband of the former Louise B. Flynn and father of Marie, a freshman at Archbishop Williams High School in Braintree, and Patricia, John, and Stephen, students at St. Ann's School in Wollaston.

CONDOMINIUM - Architects drawing shows The Hemisphere, Quincy's first condominium apartment complex, at 211 West St. Model unit will be open for inspection September 1.

Condominium Complex Opens Sept. 1

A 23-unit condominium apartment complex, the first of its kind in Quincy, is nearing completion at 211 West St.

A model unit at The Hemisphere is expected to be open for inspection on Sept. 1 and the complex should be ready for occupancy on October 1.

Richard J. Buccheri Family Trust of 152 Governors Rd, Quincy, are developers and managers of the building with apartments ranging in price from $22,500 for a one-bedroom to $36,000 for a penthouse suite.

Each owner will hold his apartment and a share of common areas by individual deed and will be assessed directly by the city for taxes.

Electricity is individually metered and utilities available include trash and garbage removal, sewage and common water and electricity for the public areas.

Fire and extended insurance coverage and liability cover all common facilities.

Each apartment will feature wall-to-wall carpeting, kitchenette, dining room, living room, bedrooms and bath, intercom, central air conditioning and outlets for a master television antenna.

The complex offers a swimming pool, bus service to the door, roof sundecks, utility and storage areas, lighted parking, laundry and telephone jacks in the living room and bedroom.

Twenty percent down payments may be made to Buccheri Family Trust with financing available from Pioneer Co-op Bank or the purchaser's local financial institution.

John Centurino New Owner Of Fan Fare Fruit Land

Purchasing Fan Fare Fruit Land at 52 Franklin St. was like a homecoming for John Centurino.

Centurino, 30, of Braintree, who took over management of the store May 4, cut his teeth on fruit.

Every weekday of winter and summer vacation, starting when he was 14, John was roused from his sleep at 3 a.m. to make the trek from Everett to a Boston wholesale market.

He would sleep in the car until 6 a.m. when it was time to help his father, Gary Centurino, unload freight cars of Andy Boy products unto fruit store trucks.

Among their customers was Frank Pelligrino, who established Fan Fare Fruit Land.

"Some of those cars were tough to work on because of ice and snow and heavy items like canteloupes," John said.

"But I always managed to get one of the easier cars since I was working for my father," he said.

John's earnings with his father helped finance his education at Northeastern University, from which he earned a degree in electrical engineering in 1966.

He slipped away from the produce business while in college and worked after graduation as business manager for Hazeltine Corp. engineers.

But the business was in his blood and when he heard that Fan Fare was for sale he snapped at the opportunity.

"I don't have to be at the market at 3 anymore," John said. "That's just for the wholesalers."

Now he lounges in bed until 5 a.m. and spends a leisurely 80-hour week at his market.

John lives in Braintree with his wife, Rosanne [Syracusa], and son Jonathan.

Edward Speno Shorebank Executive Vice President

Beginners: Maria Andrews, James Rossetti - Avalon; Theresa Donahue, Elizabeth Godrick, James Madden, Ruth Roach - Baker; Mary Stanton, Gail McKeon, Susan Beagan, Jeanne Finlay - Edgewater; Nancy LaFlamme [age three] - Elm Ave.; William and Cathy Boudreau, Edward Arnatt, Marsha Ryan, Cheryl Walsh - Fenno; Joan and Denise Cavanaugh - Orchard; John Chernick - Rock Island; Billy Donnelly, John Moynihan, Jennifer McKugh, Alison Ray - Nickerson.

Advanced Beginners: Leanne O'Keefe - Fenno; Stephen Donnelly, Linda Provost, Mark Raymond, Margaret Leonard - Nickerson.

Intermediate: Susan, Kathy and Kim Boffard, Deborah and Ann Nigro, Mary Graham - Adams Shore; Karen McGhee - Avalon; Gerylann Fay - Fenno; Daniel Dunn - Perry.

Lionel H. Buckley, Supervisor General of Recreation reports the playgrounds are currently involved in intramural competition which will eventually lead to district championships and the city-wide play-offs.

In addition to sports, recreation specialists visit area playgrounds providing fundamental and individual training in Archery, Golf, Drama, Tennis, Music, Nature and Arts & Crafts, and on a given day you might find:

Joan and Mary Todd, Janine Ellwel, Paula Stanziani and Kathy McInnis of Faxon Field planting and beautifying their area playground; Michael Bellotti, Stephen Flate and Paul O'Rourke of Forbes Hill giving their all in a tough baseball game; Deborah Mann, Kathie Chamberland and Lisa Mulem of Stoney Brae weaving and braiding brightly colored place mats and belts.

George Martell, John Morris and Peter Nystron might be seen scrambling to win a Whitwell scavenger hunt; Margaret Shea, JoAnne Greene and Joanne DeCarli of Wollaston delicately constructing fragile OH-HO's; Paul Butts, Leo Fenn and Lawrence LeVasseur riveting their contribution at Atlantic for the bubble which will win a sticky bubble gum contest.

Swan Coufield, Beverly Deloach and Elaine Burns of Myles Standish racing down court to set up that all-important basket; Montclair's Dean Zoia and John Cooney could be seen trying to feed Dave Mitchell for his first street hockey hat-trick; Cathy Doody and Lauria Allen of Squantum preparing for their puppet extravaganza; Dale Ross, Jane Moore and Elaine Theriault shooting and sometimes hitting the archery target; Thomas Donovan, William Andrews and Janice Lorenzetti driving golf balls in Arnold Palmer fashion at LaBrecque.

Bob Nigro and Mark Moriarty competing for the Bayside Chess Championship; Cindy Smith of Baker making the city's largest necklace; Butch Olsen making a lunge at a murderously hit line drive and catching it, to insure a Snug Harbor win; Little Kim McInnis and Maureen Lumbey making gaily decorated stone figures at Harborview; Gary Canniff, Mark Hayes, Dorothy Haddix and Lorraine Uhlar taking on the role of leader during a backwards day at Quarterdeck; Janice Kelly, catching Claudia Torino's egg toss with her head at Beechwood Knoll's Parent's night.

Bob Grant strike out 10 consecutive batters for Mass Fields; Donna Reddish, Lisa Velassakis and Debbie Graham sitting down to map out their game strategy for Heron Rd's basketball team; Rick Macker and John Cronin playing an excellent defensive game for Merrymount; Sandra Pellicane, Kathy Hussy, and Diane Raferty demonstrating their skills with gym at Perkins; Robert Metzler applauding the well hit ball by Dave Calio of Faxon's Seniors; Cheryl Cadman loading the bases with a fine smash to center, finds Ponds St's Brenda Goldman and Lisa Thompson anxiously awaiting that Grand Slam that just has to come.

Neil Arnold and Danny Higgins keeping everyone at Parent's Night in stitches with their comedy routine at Fore River; Jeanne Varadaro, Debbie Russo and Marie Nichols hitting hit after hit for Elm Street; Danny Whyte and John Ferully smiling to each other as Randy Parker gets strike out after strike out in his first no hitter for Pollard.

Dom D'Olimpio, Donna Teller and Ronnie Diesear each competing in a watermelon contest at Columbia; Eileen and Susan DiBona, Maria Avitable and Ruthie Tanguy of Kincaid Park working on their ceramic works of art; Richard Ready, Joanne Leone and John Meehan of Shea Rink climbing the trails and learning about glaciers on their field trip to Great Esker Park; Ann Bertrand and Leah Depolo valiantly trying to show the kids of O'Rourke how to row a boat at Black's Creek and from the Bradford playground you are likely to witness some of the world's fastest bike racing especially if it is performed by those daredevils John Burns and Paul Kenney.

Mass Fields Junior Basketball has demonstrated great potential in players Bob Grant, Jack Dunn, Kevin Kelley, Scott Franter, Pat McKenna and Dave King. They are a team to be watched.

Merrymount recently edged out Beechwood Knoll in the final minutes of play with a score of 59-48. Winners were Ken Marsters, B. Phelan, Mark Beale, John Stevens, C. Alea and Dan Cuddy.

Heron Road has had its largest turn out for Boys Midget Baseball. Among their star players are Ronnie Drew, Fred Palmer, Mike Shea, David Nigro, Brian Donovan, Joe Graham, Sean Dennis, Phil Phillips and Tommy Hennessey.

Pond Street has been engaged in hiking the Blue Hills and visiting the Trailside Museum. Some of the hearty hikers include Peter Griffin, Rhoda Gabriel, James Moran and Linda Thorley.

Fore River's Junior Softball team won their opener with Pond Street defeating them in extra innings with a final score of 7-4. Winning team included, Kathy Myers, Betty Costigan, Donna Caporale, Sandy Cooke, Maureen McBride, Patty Martin, Norleen McLain, Ann Maire Grazioso, Lisa Thibido, Cecilia Costigan and Stephanie Chase.

Elm Street informs us that it is pinning its hopes on mighty Midget leaguers Gary DiNardo, Ronnie Pettinelli, Johnny Roche and Bob Mammaty.

Faxon Park Boys are off to a fantastic season winning both baseball Junior and basketball Senior openers. Responsible for the Juniors impressive 2-0 win over Elm Street were Rick Gilbody, Steve Metzler, both heavy hitters. The 48-28 win over the Elm Street Senior Basketball team was made possible through the efforts of high scorers M. Zanowski, Scott Simpson and Dave Calio.

From the Pollard we learn that Carol Brillo, Wendy Merrit, John Spencer, Dale Dwyer, Heather Slicis, Steve White and Tracy Donovan have been very busy hiking, making bracelets, and playing a variety of sports.

Bradford playground announced its Midget Bombers won its opener against O'Rourke 7-1. Responsible for the win were Eddie Tinney, Nolan Ryan, Roy Coscia, Mike Fantasia, Brian Buchanan, Steve Morreale, Jimmy and Johnny Burns, Joey Shea and Johnny McKenzie.

Columbia contends that it will be right in contention for the title this year, especially with players like Jay Tocchichi, Dan DiBona, Dick Spargo, Robert Kerns and Brian Osbond.

Shea Rink's Junior Girls Basketball team beat O'Rourke 12-8 with an outstanding performance by Susy Morrissey, Lisa Norling, Paula Constance, Lillian Callahan and Mary Ellen Riordan.

Kincaid's Midgets should be in contention for the coveted district championship with the strong arm and hard hitting of Andy Carrear, John D'Andrea, Paul Smith, Al Campbell, Danny Compton, Brian Bodi, Bob Thornton, Mark Losee, John Kidduff, Paul Nouin and Rich Bats.

O'Rourke has been preparing for the Olympics with the quarter mile race. Best times were turned in by Karen Murphy, Anne Bertrand and Nancy Coletta. Candidates for the Junior Leaders Awards are Teresa, Veronica Bertrand and Leah DePolo.

Rotary, Kiwanis Clubs In Salute To Quincy Race Week

Quincy Rotary Club will welcome President Henry Parker and members of Quincy Kiwanis Club to a joint meeting at the Neighborhood Club of Quincy at noon, Aug. 8.

The two service clubs will join in a salute to Quincy Bay Race Week Association as the group kicks off the 35th annual Quincy Bay Race Week opening Aug. 9.

Officers of Quincy Bay Race Week Association expected to be present include President Gordon Davis, Vice-President Wes Watson, Secretary Edward Simpson and Treasurer William DeTocco.

In addition the commodores of the five member clubs have been invited: Pat Conroy, Squantum Yacht Club; Dick Sheridan, Town River Yacht Club; Ken Lavers Quincy Yacht Club; Leo Kain, Wessagusset Yacht Club and Clem Coblidge of Wollaston Yacht Club.

The recently crowned Miss Quincy Bay Race Week of 1972, Miss Regina Smith of Milton will also be present.

Rotarians president Ed Percy will preside at the short business meeting preceding the program. Ken Fallon, Jr. is program chairman of the day.

Darlene D'Olimpio, Donald Smith Leaders

Miss Darlene D'Olimpio and Donald Smith have been selected as "leaders of the week" by the Quincy Recreation Department.

Director William F. Ryan cited the playground leaders for their interest, integrity, enthusiasm and concern for youth.

Miss D'Olimpio, playground leader at Faxon Field, has been named a leader of the week for three consecutive years.

She is a graduate of Quincy

High School, was an exchange student to Japan and is a junior majoring in French at Emmanuel College.

Smith, leader at Perkins Playground, has coached teams from the park to the district championships.

He is majoring in physical education and active in student government at Boston State College.

Mrs. DiFederico Scores Low Gross At Furnace Brook

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico shot a 45 for the low gross score in the 9-hole, all-iron women's tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Mrs. John Aramo, Mrs. Richard Hoag and Mrs. Fred Lufly tied for the low net score, followed by Mrs. Robert Roche and Marie Corayer.

Tournament chairmen were Mrs. Joseph DiFederico and Mrs. George Hodges.

Ed O'Neill and Mrs. Anthony Spinello carded a 41 for the low gross in Wednesday's mixed Scotch foursome at Furnace Brook.

O'Neill and Mrs. Lou Cugini tallied first net with a 29, followed by teams of Anthony Spinello and Mrs. George Hodges and Mario Serafini and Mrs. Adolph Aimola at 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Smith scored 33 for the third net.

Only 3 Quincy Golfers Qualify For CYO Match

Quincy Golfers fared badly in last week's 33rd annual CYO Open Golf championships at Ponkapog.

Only three local entrants qualified for match play and only one got as far as the second round.

Brian Morrissey of Quincy survived the first round as he defeated Mike Flynn of Danvers in Cadet competition. He lost to Doug Burke of Needham in the second round.

The other Cadet qualifier, Kevin O'Leary of Wollaston, lost in the first round to Ted Hobbs of Framingham.

Bill Corbin of Wollaston qualified in the Junior division but bowed in the first round to Joe Guiley of Brockton.

Scott Robert of Quincy tied for the last qualifying spot in the Cadet division but was unavailable for the playoff for the berth in match play.

'Frosty' Forristal Trainer For Canadian All-Star Team

A testimonial for Bruins trainer John "Frosty" Forristal was held last week at the Black Friars in Boston on his departure to serve as trainer with the Canadian team playing in Russia. Forristal, of North Quincy, is the only American traveling with the all-star hockey squad.

Offers are the swimming and diving champions of all land mammals.

Six Straight Shutouts For Morrisette

Despite one of the most phenomenal pitching streaks ever recorded in these parts, the Morrisette Legion baseball team still hadn't clinched its 18th Zone 6 championship after Monday's games.

Morrisette went into the game with Braintree Monday night with five successive shutout wins and needed only to win that one to clinch the title again.

Despite the sixth straight shutout performance, Morrisette had to wait at least until after Tuesday night's games to know if it was the champion as the Braintree game ended scoreless.

Braintree and Weymouth, each with five losses [Weymouth was 12-5 with one game left and Braintree 11-5 with two remaining including the Morrisette contest], trailed Morrisette (13-4) and each played Tuesday. A win for either or both would have forced a replay of the Morrisette-Braintree game last night but if each lost Morrisette would be the champ without having to play Braintree.

Quincy had a chance to do neighboring Morrisette a big favor as it played Braintree Tuesday.

Jimmy Walker blanked Braintree on four hits Monday but Morrisette could collect only two after hitting the ball well in the previous several games.

Sunday Morrisette won its fifth shutout in a row as it walloped Milton, 9-0, in a replay of a postponed game.

This time it was Len Pepe, who turned in his second shutout of the sensational streak, giving up only three hits.

Morrisette again had its batting shoes on as Artie Boyle and Russ MacDonald had three hits each, Jim Driscoll hit a home run and Dave Nelson and Tom Burke each drove in two runs.

Morrisette's fourth successive shutout was over Milton, 7-0, as Tony Knasas and Walker combined for the blanking.

Dave Nelson had a triple and double, Russ MacDonald and Joe Marani two singles each and Driscoll a long triple. Walker was the winning hurler.

Number three was a 10-0 romp over Quincy as Bob Malvesti pitched a three-hitter, Dave Drew collecting two of them.

Morrisette pounded out 16 hits including three by Mike Marvelle and two each by Artie Boyle [one a triple], Nelson, Driscoll, Marani and Lee Watkins, who was the big story of the game.

Watkins had never played in a Morrisette game and didn't even have his name on the program but started in right field and came up with two hits and drove in three runs.

"Lee is typical of our team and is a great little hustler," Cattaneo said.

Quincy, following its wallowing at Morrisette's hands, was blanked again by Braintree, 6-0, as it was held to two hits and Braintree scored all its runs in the first two innings.

Ford Foundation Grants $750 For Conservation

The Ford Foundation has approved a $750 grant for a technical survey of natural watershed areas by the Quincy Conservation Commission.

The survey is intended as "part of a program to protect viable salt marshes and areas deemed necessary for the sound management of water resources."

Mitchell Sviridoff, foundation vice president, said he hoped it would "hasten the development of the commission's activities and assist them in their attack on some of the more fundamental issues of environmental quality within the city."

McCarthy, Driscoll, McKay In Agganis Game Aug. 12

The South team is a heavy favorite to defeat the North in the annual Harry Agganis all-star football game Aug. 12 at Manning Bowl in Lynn.

The South team of former schoolboy stars has 18 all-scholastic selections, many more than the North squad, which won the game a year ago.

An abundance of outstanding running backs and the presence of quarterback Gary Procaccini of Walpole, who was chased by many college coaches and who has selected Cornell, makes the South the favorite.

the Presidents' all-time running greats.

Also on the South squad will be North Quincy's Bob McKay at quarterback and big Jim Driscoll of North at end.

Other South players include Bob Gantley and Chris Lambert of Abp. Williams, Dave Lindstrom of Weymouth South, Joe Pendergast of Braintree and Lindy Hess of Randolph.

McCarthy will enter Northeastern U. in the fall, McKay will prep at Kimball Union and Driscoll will prep at Cushing Academy.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Keep your eye on SALLY STRUTHERS. The "ALL IN THE FAMILY" prime time charmer is heading toward the Olympus of stardom... Miss STRUTHERS recently signed as the lead opposite STEVE McQUEEN in the fast paced, "THE GETAWAY". This film, and the exposure and audience reception she has received from her TV series, will place this charming bundle of energized talent in marquee orbit... My finer instincts tell me "Nostalgia" could be on the wane. Just a hunch... After seeing "WEST SIDE STORY" on the small tube, I came away with the feeling the moviegoer is being cheated 'cause they don't make 'em like they used to...

The verdicts in, and as I have been predicting for months now, "THE GODFATHER" did bring MARLON BRANDO back to first class citizenship in the superstar class... As for the picture, your major magazine critics are hailing it as the "GONE WITH THE WIND" of its genre [gangster film]. And I couldn't agree more... PAUL LYNDE always seems to be where the action is. Just signed on as one of the voices in the new HANNA-BARBERA animator, "CHARLOTTE'S WEB"... The name BULLE OGLER may not mean much to many viewers now, but her signature will in the future. A newcomer to French films, she was given the prestigious Suzanne Blanchette prize as the most promising actress of the year...

QUOTE, UNQUOTE: The winds of change. Protest in the air. And from a most unlikely conservative bastion in the entertainment field... JACK CARTER explaining his rather sudden resignation as vice president of the staid AMERICAN GUILD OF VARIETY ARTISTS [AGVA]: "It's a desperately defunct union which has almost ceased to exist"... A loyal AGVA member since 1946, CARTER strong-pointed, "The union's a mockery. A garbage pail. You can do anything you want you can fire anyone you want... am so against the union, I'm embarrassed with it..."

CARTER's two big gripes with AGVA, which has been going steadily downhill for years now, rest on the twin foundations of whom it allows in, and the lack of services and benefits... "Ever since we brought strippers and exotics into the union, it has ceased to become a union with dignity," he said. "As for benefits," CARTER dished, "we have no benefits... no insurance plan that amounts to anything"... JACK CARTER isn't the only entertainer of repute with gripes to air about AGVA. As of this writing, there is a petition being circulated to incorporate AGVA with its parent union, the ASSOCIATED ACTORS & ARTISTES OF AMERICA... Could be just what the doctor ordered. The AGVA has seen its better day...

HILDEGARD NEIL comebacks dramatically in the CHARLTON HESTON starrer, "ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA"... A return of the old fashion, family western? Could be. BILL COSBY thinks his "MAN AND BOY" will start a G-rated trend toward cowboy fare of a milder genre... And would you believe RAQUEL WELCH in the role of "a nun"? Well, you'd better. For "BLUEBEARD" she does a reverse of her previous sex roles, with the clenched rosary bit... But of course she does it with the WELCH flare. Liberated version that is... POLLY BERGEN cries she is still in control of her fast fade cosmetic empire. If so, what an arms rush to Gulf and Western, last year, for surplus $$$ in the millions bracket?...

Whew, and where does the time go. Seems just like yesterday the CANNES FILM FESTIVAL opened its '71 edition, and the '72 extravaganza is a turn around the bend. This years CANNES promises to be the biggest and best to date, with entries from as far away as China... A musical offering of MARK TWAIN'S famous "TOM SAWYER" is in the works under the United Artists banner... JERRY LEWIS is wrapping up final production on his first dramatic release, "THE CRYING CLOWN". Filmed in France and Sweden, the LEWIS starrer is being readied for a mid-fall showing...

CHRISTOPHER LEE and PETER CUSHING, veterans of the horror flic genre, set up shop with their own independent company... "I AM CURIOUS", "YELLOW" has yet to be screened in Baltimore. Court litigation and cross suits by all parties concerned [The state vs the distributor] has resulted in a two year stall... MARLO THOMAS is making a consistent run to the bank with her "THAT GIRL" residuals... New from MGM-TV, "YOUNG DOCTOR KILDARE" with GARY MERRILL as Dr. Gillespie, and newcomer MARK JENKINS as Dr. Kildare. The latter with long hair, 'natch...

Senator GEORGE McGOVERN is not making any friends with those in the music industry. His proposals for general copyright revision would skim the cream off the top for those "artists" who now profit the most... Columbia is toying with the not so original idea of making a full length feature of the smash play, "GODSPELL". Per usual, Columbia is playing catch-up, and this time to Universal who are filming "JESUS CHRIST SUPERSTAR"... There was only one HUMPHREY BOGART, so drumbeating ALBERT FINNEY as "out-doing-Bogey" is a bad sales pitch. FINNEY is good as the private dick in "GUMSHOE" But not so great to displace a legend...

ROCK HUDSON is eyeing San Francisco as his greener pasture. Less smog than Los Angeles. And incidents of crime?... Titles tell all, and "ALL ABOUT SEX OF ALL NATIONS" holds no mystery of its flic content... "DOLLARS" is zeroing in on the $2 million mark. A good picture in the pure escapist tradition... The Charles Manson copied "SWEET SAVIOUR" is being public-sold as an action-horror-sexploitation vehicle. Like, what else?...

Five Quincy Families Host To Out-Of-State Girl Scouts

Five Quincy families will be hosting very special guests next week as 32 Senior Scouts from all over the U.S. gather here for Project Friendship '72, a national Girl Scout event sponsored by the Blue Hill Girl Scout Council, Quincy.

A New England welcome will be extended by the following families to their guests:

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Flores, 13 Sewell St., Wollaston, to Miss Debi Stephenson of Dunkirk, Md.

Miss Mary Kay Goodwin, 370 Granite St., Quincy, to Miss Katy Butler, Las Vegas, Nev.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jenette, 2 Thompson St., Quincy Point, to Miss Anne Goyette, Moosup, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Murphy, 37 Eustis St., Wollaston, to Miss Margaret Breece, Huntsville, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Leslie Simpson, 115 Safford St., Wollaston, to Miss Phyllis Harris of Prichard, Ala.

These national event participants were selected from over 200 applicants to represent their local areas on the staff of Project Friendship, a seven day resident camping experience for 90 disadvantaged youngsters.

Following two days of home hospitality with the Girl Scout families in the Blue Hill Council area, the girls will travel to Camp Favorite in Brewster to plan and prepare for the arrival of the younger campers.

Some of their training will include leadership skills, a seminar with guest leaders who work with the disadvantaged, as well as the pre-planning that made Project Friendship possible - relationships with other agencies, recruitment of campers and staff, orientation of campers and their families, acquisition of necessary funds, types of supplies and camper equipment needed, plans for follow-up with campers. The girls will also have an opportunity to visit points of interest on Cape Cod including Plimoth Plantation, Provincetown and Martha's Vineyard.

The final encampment week of Project Friendship will be followed by an evaluation of the session and individual guidance in the application of this experience to each girl's back home project focused to meet the needs of her own community.

A special "open house" has been arranged to acquaint everyone in Blue Hill Council with these national event selectees. Girl Scouts of all ages Brownie through Senior and their families as well as interested community friends are invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Logan, 50 Jerusalem Road, Cohasset, Aug. 9, from 7:30 - 9 p.m. to share in Project Friendship '72.

Veterans Services Commissioner Commends Brett

The state commissioner of veterans services has commended Rep. Joseph E. Brett for his "continued interest in, and consideration of, veterans' problems."

Commissioner Charles N. Collatos said Brett's concern for legislation regarding veterans and their families "will always be appreciated by them."

"In these trying days, many people tend to forget the sacrifices made by veterans, but it is through [Brett's] efforts, which are immeasurable, that we are kept aware of them," Collatos said.

Camelot Day Camp In 4th Successful Summer

Camelot Day Camp, located at 192 Center St., Hanover, and operated by Bob Sylvia, Quincy High hockey coach, is now in the midst of its fourth successful summer.

"The philosophy of Camelot is to offer the youngsters as many different kinds of experiences as possible in the hope they will continue to pursue many of them away from camp," Sylvia said.

The many camp activities include hockey [street and ice], swimming, horseback-riding, arts and crafts, dramatics and some film making which started this week.

Sylvia handles the ice hockey with the help of his brother, Jim. While waiting for the new Camelot rink to open, Sylvia rents two rinks at the Hingham Arena where the youngsters also figure skate.

Peter Mulcahy, co-ordinator of English at Medfield High school, directs the camp and is aided by Ann Hamilton of Braintree. Camelot competes weekly against various recreation departments in baseball, girls' softball and street hockey.

Linda Berry, who has had extensive training in swimming [her credits include WSI, Leaders Examiners, seven years of YMCA teaching and two years as aquatics director at Camelot], directs the camp's extensive water program.

From learning to kick properly and putting their faces in the water, to diving, backstroke, breaststroke and life saving; all are part of the learning about swimming and water safety at Camelot.

Linda, who is currently studying for her degree in teaching, is assisted by Suzanne Borne and Mark Macomber. Pat Burns and Helena Stone work with the little people, known as the Pages. At the end of the camp season Linda will be traveling to Europe to instruct at Camp Geneva in Switzerland.

The riding staff is headed by Teri Cipullo, who has been at Camelot for four years.

Teri's seven years in counseling has helped her greatly with her work at Bridgewater State College, where she is a physical education major.

She is being assisted this summer by a crew of all girl "barn rats". Two of the girls, Lisa Lindblom and Lori Hayden, own horses themselves. The other members of the staff, Ellen Gowen and Gretchen Zwicker, are working with Teri in the training of the camp's newest addition, a 10-months old bay filly.

In addition to learning mounting, dismounting, correct posture and handling, the youngsters are taught the use and care of both English and Western tack. The older, more experienced riders use Camelot's trails when not riding in the ring, and the Pages are led on one of the ponies by one of the barn crew.

In the field area there are many activities offered under the direction of Jim Sylvia, physical education major at Boston State College.

Field sports include ball games of every sort, baseball, football, kickball, street hockey, soccer and many more. Working with Jim in the field are Steve McNulty, football player at Roslindale High; Bob Struble, all-star of the Hanover Babe Ruth League and Bob McNulty, baseball player from Hingham.

Jim and his staff have organized several camp teams which have played against Marshfield teams directed by Pete Igo and Bernie McNulty.

The extensive use of the field area in the every day schedule has proved itself in that it has inspired a great deal of group effort and team spirit among the campers.

The Camelot Pages, include Missy Stone, Barbara Jackson, Marie Rivard, Wessy Ravna, Wendy Feinberg, Timmy Ferris, Noreen Barry, Fred and Anthony Delafano, Mike Flaherty, Steve Calderwood, Eric Williams, Julie Solomon, Klaus Deckman and Janine Sylvia.

These youngsters show much interest and desire under their counselors, Helena Stone, Pat Burns and Ann Hamilton.

The Camelot season continues until August 25 and there are still a few openings. Those wishing to enroll their youngsters in the camp can call Camelot Day Camp at 826-3998 or 826-6406.

Work Started On Multi Boston Harbor Marina Sports Center

Renovations have started on the proposed multi-purpose recreational facility at Boston Harbor Marina that will include an ice skating rink and an indoor tennis club to be called the Boston Harbor Sports Center.

Marina Industries, who operate the largest marina on the eastern seaboard in Boston Harbor waters just off the Southeast Expressway, have completed their plans for the development of the Boston Harbor Tennis Club and the Boston Harbor Skating Club.

The dual facility will be located in the airplane hanger building at the site of the former Squantum Air Base.

The new complex will offer local sports enthusiasts the most diversified recreational facility in New England. The marina has a capacity for 600 boats while the new facilities being developed under the most modern techniques available are scheduled to open in the Squantum Section of Quincy, just south of Neponset Circle, on October 1.

The Boston Harbor Tennis Club will include eight indoor courts with the highly recommended Uni-Turf as the playing surface. To add to the membership of the private club's enjoyment the floor surface will be backed by Insolite that improves the comfort under foot and has been hailed by the tennis fraternity as one of the most modern improvements for indoor playing facilities.

The tennis club will have a resident professional, well-equipped Pro Shop, men and women's locker facilities including a sauna, a nursery with baby-sitting services and the usual ample parking provided at the spacious Boston Harbor Marina.

The Boston Harbor Skating

Club, that will be opened year round, will house the standard 200-foot by 85-foot rink. The playing surface will be completely enclosed for hockey and is certainly going to be available to figure skaters from the Greater Boston and South Shore areas.

The skating facility will have a pro shop that will offer a complete line of equipment plus a sharpening service, four separate dressing room facilities and will be well lighted for the enjoyment of the skaters. The latest in ice making equipment has been installed in the rink to insure a quality ice skating surface.

"Much time and study went into the development of this complex," noted Ron Courville who is president of Boston Harbor Marina. "We feel the facility offers to the sports-minded individual a one stop recreational complex."

"Because of the construction of the building, the tennis enthusiast will be able to play year round. The hanger doors can be opened during the summer months to allow the cool summer breezes to flow through the building."

"The skating rink will be in operation 12 months a year. We are very interested in the often neglected figure skaters. We also hope to promote a girls' hockey program. Naturally, the rink will be available for hockey rentals. "This has to be the most diversified facility in New England. It will offer year-round enjoyment to everyone at a site that is in close proximity to downtown Boston and the entire South Shore."

Tennis membership applications and ice rental requests can be made by calling 471-0600.

Scot Allen Enlists In Air Force

Scot T. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Allen of 85 Bayside Rd., Squantum, has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force.

Allen enlisted for training in the Electronic Aptitude Area.

He will complete six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, after which he will begin training for his chosen specialty.

Brett Thanks Sargent For Urban Renewal Bill Veto

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has thanked Gov. Sargent for vetoing a bill which "would have permitted the City of Quincy to establish an authority with urban renewal powers."

"I'm sure I speak for thousands of my fellow citizens when I say we don't want such autocratic powers as were outlined in the urban renewal bill", Brett said.

He asked that a "home rule" clause be included in subsequent legislation to allow the voters of Quincy "to decide for themselves whether they wish to engage in an urban renewal development."

Buying An Older Home

By ATTY. GEN.
ROBERT H. QUINN

[Attorney General Robert H. Quinn prepares this weekly column to inform Massachusetts residents about the state consumer laws.]

There are a number of advantages to buying an older home. Any soil movements, lumber deflections, or cracks, which often take years to surface, have probably become evident.

Landscaping, for most old homes, is completed—eliminating one of the most costly factors in fixing up your new home. Fences often have been added by the previous owner, and carpeting, always costly, is sometimes already installed.

However, you can save thousands of dollars in the purchase of a home if you know exactly what to look for in terms of problems and their correction.

1. If you are planning to add on to your home, check with local officials at the town or city hall for zoning laws which may be restrictive.

2. Sometimes the plumbing in an old home will be completely corroded, particularly if the piping is of galvanized steel. Even brass and copper often leak or have pin holes after 20-40 years.

3. Check the wiring. Make sure that the sockets and fuse boxes have not deteriorated if the house is over 40 years old.

4. Windows and latches should open and close properly. Don't assume that new windows are burglar-proof, as they may be of light weight or flimsy construction.

5. If you plan to renovate the basement, check all of the prices for the following: heating pipes, radiators, hardware, paint, floor tile, carpet, plaster board, plumbing, paneling, electrical supplies, fittings, doors and windows.

Take into consideration the cost of new roofing or painting if they are needed. Other costs often include the modernization of the kitchen and insulation.

Of course there are a number of obvious faults that do not require much examination to detect. Check vertical wall against vertical wall to make sure they are not bowed. Squeaky floors, sloppy paint jobs and cracked foundations are all easily observed. Notice also how the ground approaches the foundation. If it slopes toward it, it might mean an additional headache of flooded cellars.

If there are too many things wrong with your prospective home, don't buy. If you do decide to buy a home, ask for the desired corrections before you sign the contract. Don't be afraid to consult with professionals. There are independent inspection and consultation companies who will give you a detailed report on the condition of the property.

Remember that what may at first seem an attractive price for a large older home in a nice area may suddenly become out of the question because of the large capital investment required to make it truly livable.

officials should be permitted to conduct urban renewal in Quincy's business district.

I repeat what I stated in a previous letter, "The time to do something about Quincy's business district is now. The citizen who does not recognize the need for revitalization in Quincy Center is a fool."

Says Urban Renewal Should Be Allowed In Business Districts

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I admire Ronald Halter's devotion and dedication to a cause in which he adamantly believes in, "citizens against urban renewal." I, however, as a citizen and resident in Ward 3 of Quincy cannot agree completely with his view of urban renewal.

I firmly believe that urban renewal should not be allowed in the residential zones of Quincy. However, the cities elected

"A free press is the unsleeping guardian of every other right that freemen prize; it is the most dangerous foe of tyranny... Under dictatorship, the press is bound to languish, and the loudspeaker and the film to become more important. But where free institutions are indigenous to the soil and men have the habit of liberty, the press will continue to be the Fourth Estate, the vigilant guardian of the rights of the ordinary citizen." - Chou Likes U.S. In Pacific
- National Archives Disgrace
- Justice, Republican Style

WASHINGTON—Every citizen, regardless of politics, is supposed to get a fair shake from our legal authorities. But the Justice Department is a little more fair if you happen to be a Republican. Here are just a few examples:

•Over two years ago, I presented conclusive evidence that Republican Rep. Jim Collins, a Texas millionaire, was squeezing salary kickbacks out of his staff. The FBI reluctantly investigated and an indictment was handed down. But it wasn't Collins who was charged. It was his administrative assistant, George Haag. Last month, Haag was found guilty in federal court. Collins, who masterminded the plot, remains free.

•I also reported that Arch Moore, the rotund Republican governor of West Virginia, had stuffed political contributions in his own pocket. The Internal Revenue Service investigated and found Moore had under-reported his income by at least $131,000 over a five-year period. Yet the Justice Department quietly allowed Moore to settle his tax case out of court.

•Over the past few years, Teamsters boss Frank Fitzsimmons has developed a close relationship with President Nixon. Fitzsimmons's son, Richard, is a local union official in Detroit. He has come under investigation for allegedly purchasing gasoline for his personal cars with union funds. But Fitzsimmons senior promised to deliver the Teamsters' endorsement to Nixon. At the same time, the federal investigation of Fitzsimmons junior suddenly stalled.

The statue of justice wears a blindfold—supposedly to prevent discrimination. But the Republicans have provided justice with a GOP seeing-eye dog.

CHINA CONFIDENTIAL

House leaders Hale Boggs and Gerald Ford recently returned from a trip to Communist China. Here are excerpts from their confidential report to the President:

•Boggs and Ford held more than six hours of private talks with Premier Chou En-lai. They informed the President he had favorably impressed the wily, old Chou during their summit meeting. The Chinese leader respects Nixon particularly for his grasp of international affairs.

•Boggs and Ford also relayed the astounding report that Red China doesn't really want the United States to disarm. They want us out of Vietnam but they want us to withdraw carefully. They definitely do not want us to leave the Pacific entirely. The reason for this is China's fear Russia would move into the vacuum.

•The Soviets will never disarm, the Chinese feel, and our disarmament would serve only to upset the current balance of superpowers and threaten world stability.

•Boggs and Ford also told Nixon that Chou doesn't approve of suggestions to pull U.S. troops out of Europe. As long as we are there, the Chinese reason, Russia will have to keep troops on their European front. This, in turn, diminishes their strength along the Chinese border.

MISSION JERUSALEM

Israeli diplomats here are quietly passing the word among their American-Jewish friends that Israel prefers President Nixon over George McGovern in the 1972 presidential race.

Alarmed that Jews may defect in large numbers from the Democratic party this November, George McGovern has sent top aide Myer Feldman and Idaho Senator Frank Church to Israel to talk with Golda Meir.

Meanwhile, Egypt's decision to expel thousands of Russian military advisers is causing severe of its Arab neighbors to re-evaluate their relations with the United States.

Some Arab leaders expect the United States to move back into the Arab world as the Soviets are compelled to withdraw. The Arab country most actively seeking better relations with the United States is Sudan. One intelligence report suggests that Sudan may begin negotiations to exchange ambassadors with the United States as early as this year.

Arab overtures to the United States are taking place despite steadfast opposition from Egypt's President Sadat, who would prefer both the Russians and the Americans to stay out of the Arab world.

The question remains, however, whether President Nixon will actively seek a rapprochement with the Arabs. The atmosphere in the Middle East is supercharged. This is also an election year when President Nixon is more concerned about the Jewish voters in this country than the Arab potentates on the other side of the world.

CASH BACKLASH

The money crisis in the Democratic party apparently is having a backlash effect on the Republicans. The Democrats are so badly in debt that the GOP money men are having problems convincing potential contributors that they too need cash for campaigning.

Congressman Bob Wilson, the Republican congressional campaign chairman, sent out a recent fund-raising solicitation to past GOP contributors that rang with desperation.

Wilson's appeal was printed on telegram paper, but sent through the mails. In the clipped tones of Western Union, Wilson wrote: "Radical liberal organizations are putting all they have behind a plan to elect even more liberal Democrat Congress in November. Cannot match that big money but believe we can win bare majority in Congress in '72 even on tight budget... Emergency TV film costs...not yet covered. I am grateful for your past contributions...but must ask again."

Equally urgent is the plea recently sent on behalf of South Carolina's Republican senator, Strom Thurmond. Enclosed with the letter is a snapshot of Senator Thurmond's campaign office in Columbia. "It's been empty like this for several days now," says the letter, "because we don't have the money to put in desks, chairs, tables and phones."

It remains to be seen, however, whether the spectre of a radical Congress or empty, dirty campaign headquarters will loosen many GOP purse strings.

NATIONAL DISGRACE

The National Archives building, home of the original Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and the Constitution, displays an impressive front to the public. But, behind the scenes, it is a housekeeping disgrace.

Insiders go so far as to call the building a fire hazard. Hallways, elevator landings and loading platforms are cluttered with supplies and miscellaneous materials. Regular employees frequently can be seen smoking in front of no-smoking signs. Many doors, clearly labeled "Keep Closed," have been found permanently propped open.

In addition, rats and insects have been seen throughout the building. The rats are particularly populous around loading platforms, but even on the higher floors, employees have spread poison around their offices to keep the rodents out.

Norfolk County Bar Assn. Aids Indigent Defendants

Atty. Charles Schwartz, president of the Norfolk County Bar Association, announces the establishment of a committee of lawyers from that Bar Association to represent indigent defendants in all criminal cases in the five District Courts of Norfolk County.

Counsel will be provided for the needy and poor who are charged with crimes in the District Courts and who cannot afford to hire their own lawyer.

The Public Defender's Program is no longer in existence in the District Courts.

Schwartz noted that while there is token remuneration to the lawyers serving on this committee from the County Commissioner's office, the members of the Bar Association are in fact participating in this program as a public service.

Assignment of counsel to the indigent defendant in a criminal case is made by the Judge in the Court hearing the particular matter. Joseph R. Welch of Randolph serves as overall Chairman of this Committee and his five District Chairmen are Herbert Abrams of Brookline, James F. Reynolds of Quincy, Paul A. Cataldo of Franklin, MacLaren H. MacGregor of Canton and Augustus P. Vitali of Dedham.

Brownell Urges Mayor To Continue Legal Fight Against Revaluation

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has urged Mayor Hannon to continue "the legal battle against revaluation in the City of Quincy."

In a letter to the Mayor, Brownell said 100 percent assessment would "cause grave hardships to our elderly and to middle and fixed income groups.

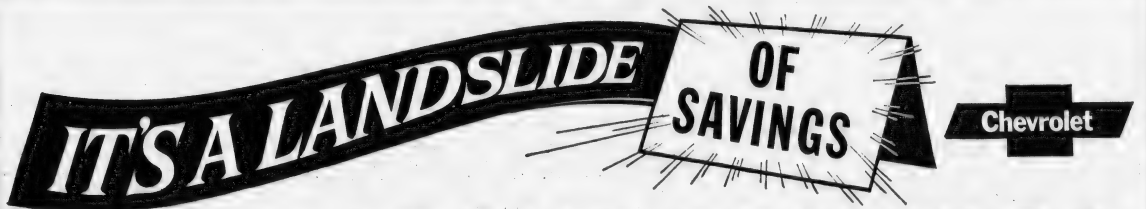

"It is my belief that the people do not want revaluation," he said. "Consequently there is no question in my mind that the legal battle should continue."

He said more than 85 percent of voters surveyed last May were against revaluation.

"YOU CAN START with these memos" says Quincy School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon [right] as he welcomes Dr. Edward F. Pierce as new president of Quincy Junior College. Dr. Pierce, the former Dean of Administration at the University of New Hampshire, is the second president in the history of Quincy Junior College. The college's first president Kenneth P. White died Nov. 20, 1971. During the interim Dr. Creedon had been the acting president of the college.

S.S. Mothers Of Twins Hostesses For Convention

Members of the South Shore Mothers of Twins Club were hostesses for the 12th annual convention of the National Organization of Mothers of Twins Clubs, Inc., held at the Parker House, Boston.

Attendance records at the convention exceeded South Shore's expectations. There were 516 mothers from 30 states, including the Canal Zone, and from 102 clubs. Also, 98 children and 65 fathers made the trip. One member present had two sets of twins and one set of triplets!

Chairman of the event was Mrs. Roy DeLong of South Weymouth and her co-chairman was Mrs. Donald Cohoon of Braintree. Official area delegates included Mrs. Douglas Brown of South Weymouth, Mrs. Carl DiTullio of South Weymouth, Mrs. Thomas Foley of Hanover, Mrs. Robert Koffink of Braintree, Mrs. Robert Rota of Milton and Mrs. Donald A. Wilkinson of South Quincy.

The National Organization is made up of 203 Mothers of Twins Clubs in 41 states, representing 7,638 members. Purpose of organization is to broaden the understanding of those aspects of child development and rearing which relate especially to twins through the interchange of information between parents, educators, doctors, and others having direct interest and appropriate experience.

Members of the organization will continue to participate in the Joslin Clinic Diabetes and Twin Research Study, under the direction of Dr. J. Stuart Soeldner, Associate Director of the Elliott P. Joslin Research Laboratory.

During the next two years, plans are being made to invite to Boston 20-30 families that have twins in them whose histories have shown to be the most interesting diabetically. Special detailed studies will be performed, from which researchers will hope to gain further information on the inherited incidence of diabetes.

Why

Why I ask can't we be free Stand tall and proud like a big oak tree
Why do we bow our heads
Close our eyes and turn all red
Is it because we must remake
The world we've so filled with hate
We are bound toward an awful fate
Not tranquility but lasting hate

Why then, oh why, I plea
Why can't I love, and you love me?
For that is when we can say
"I AM FREE"

Clothes That Fit You

Rich or poor, fat or skinny, tall or short, we all like to wear clothes that are as flattering to us as possible. Too often in selecting an outfit we forget that good taste lets you—not your clothes—be the star attraction. Consider the lines that best help you create the illusion of the ideal American girl look—slim but shapely. Camouflage in clothing (just as in makeup application) is simply a matter of attracting the eye to your best features, distracting the eye from any figure imperfections.

THICK WAISTED? Wear clothes that are long-waisted, A-line, semi-fitted. Say no to tight waists, clingy dresses, wide belts.

BROAD SHOULDERS? Wear V-necks, soft shoulder lines, man-tailored shirts. Say no to puffy or padded sleeves, wide dolman or leg-of-muttons, extreme bare necklines.

BROAD HIPS? Wear A-lines, soft pleats, flared or soft gathers, tunic tops. No to tight-fitting dresses or belts, skimpy or short tops, hip-hugging belts.

HEAVY THIGHS? Wear A-lines, soft silhouettes, front split skirts, non-clingy pants. No to jackets or tops that are thigh-length, tight pants.

Choose colors that flatter your figure: just as in makeup, brights and lights will highlight area; darks subdue. Then be certain the clothes you select are appropriate and expressive of your personality. No outfit is right unless it truly fits you!

BEHOLD! HOW TO GET TO SPEN TO YOU.

Keep Cool...Serve Summertime Salads

Macaroni Shrimp Salad makes a great summertime meal, especially enjoyable served outside.

Summertime and salads go together. Meals that are light, yet filling taste great on hot summer days. Serve your family a Macaroni Shrimp Salad. It's nutritious, combining a flavorful dressing made with velvety evaporated milk and macaroni, shrimp, cooked eggs and vegetables. And, it's easy to prepare. Mix it in the cool morning hours and let it chill thoroughly. Serve on crispy lettuce leaves, with hot rolls and tall glasses of iced tea.

A meal like this is especially enjoyable served outside, on the patio or porch. For more easy cooking recipe ideas order your copy of the new EASY DOES IT Cookbook for just $1.00. Send check, money order or coin together with your name, address and zip code to: EASY DOES IT Cookbook, Carnation Company, Box 50-R, Pico Rivera, California 90660.

Macaroni Shrimp Salad (Makes 6 to 8 servings)

|                                             |                                    |
|---------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar              | 1/4 teaspoon paprika               |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice                   | 3 cups cooked small shell macaroni |
| 3/4 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk | 2 cups cooked small shrimp         |
| 1/2 cup mayonnaise                          | 1/2 cup chopped green pepper       |
| 1 teaspoon salt                             | 1/4 cup sliced green onion         |
| 1 teaspoon pepper                           | 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento     |
| 1 teaspoon crushed tarragon leaves          | 2 chopped hard cooked eggs         |
| 1/4 teaspoon ground mustard                 | 1/4 cup minced parsley             |

Stir vinegar and lemon juice into evaporated milk until milk thickens. Add mayonnaise, salt, pepper, tarragon, mustard and paprika. Blend well. Combine remaining ingredients in large bowl. Pour evaporated milk mixture over macaroni-shrimp mixture. Toss lightly until well mixed. Chill thoroughly. Serve on lettuce leaves.

LIVELY COTTON MIX—Multi-pattern cotton fabrics, coupled with bright yellow walls and brilliant red carpeting, give this family room a high-spirited coziness. The patchwork cotton used on the sofa integrates the color scheme of red, yellow, and black. Apt companion piece is a pull-up chair upholstered in checkered geometric cotton. Carpet by Bigelow.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

When hand-washing girldies, hose and other drip-dry items, place them in a collander while changing the water. The water that always accumulates under them drains away, carrying with it some of the suds. This can even cut down on the number of rinsings needed. If you leave them in the collander to drain a bit before hanging, drying time is shorter. They need not be squeezed or twisted, which might possibly damage the fabric.

Cover the inside backs of lowered closet doors with clear plastic (the kind used on storm sash) to keep the dust out, let light in and keep pesky moths away.

Your tape measure thumb-tacked to a broom handle makes a good makeshift yardstick.

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of Aug. 10 - 17

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Take the time to analyze your feelings, don't let an impulse hurry you into action you may later regret.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - The responsibility you enthusiastically took on could present a problem in the near future so give it some thought.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - This is a slow period so use your time for study or fun and try to avoid antagonistic action.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Analyze your attraction for the unusual, there may be repercussions if you follow your impulses at this time.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 21] - Many of you are traveling, others should turn their thoughts to literary work, catch up on correspondence.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - A brilliant idea will get you off the hook and help to solve problems that have become too involved.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - You are being too emotional, consult with the experts and rely on their advice before making a commitment.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Take a realistic look at your money situation, you may have let your desires run away with your check book.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - A deceitful condition brought to your attention could make you react explosively so ask a friend to help.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Insist on being told all the facts, not knowing the truth upsets you and causes strange reaction.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - The responsibilities you assume are made lighter by a stroke of good luck and your own blissful spirit.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Trouble with those in authority could cause open conflict. Take things in your stride and avoid depression.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Forbidden sweets...

They happen by accident not design. Ice cream sodas were invented at the 1874 Franklin Institute Exposition in Philadelphia. A man named Robert Green ran out of sweet cream while demonstrating soda fountain equipment. He substituted ice cream instead.

The felony was compounded some twenty years later when the city of Evanston, Illinois banned these sinful sodas as "stimulating beverages," and an enterprising soda jerk [nameless] poured the syrup directly on the ice cream and came up with the sundae.

Both soda and sundae are still around to plague fatties. Somehow a hot day does reawaken sweet thoughts of slurping up the last delightfully chilly dregs through a straw. Well, weep not for lost worlds. The people who have been developing diet sweets are now licking the chocolate problem. Chocolate Soda is yours for the asking. When the day and the dream become too much for you, switch on to this:

CHOCOLATE SHAKE AU RHUM

3 ice cubes
1 bottle No Cal Chocolate Soda
1/2 teaspoon brandy extract
1/3 cup Alba non-fat dry milk
[Real chocolate freak might want to try the Chocolate Alba.]

Blend all together in blender until thick.

Ahhhhhh-- shades of yesteryear with no worries for tomorrow. You should take this as a harbinger of what constructive dieting can be. Few foods suffer from being translated to diet. Almost all gain while they keep you from gaining. Why? Because you are going to get more unmasked flavor than ever before. It will come through to you without being disguised by fats and fillers. Your tongue will thrill to new sensations and savor a sensuous new life all its own!

There is no nicer aid to staying on a program of good, slimming eating than the knowledge that you are going to be rewarded at the end of a thinning yet filling meal with a dessert. The psychology of satiety is what wins the diet battle every time. I speak from experience. A full tummy gave me a flat belly. It will do the same for you.

Just contact me for a copy of Sweet Rewards for the Dieter by writing to me, care of The Quincy Sun or in care of The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554. Enclose a stamped, addressed business size envelope with "Sweet Rewards-column" on the inside flap. You'll be glad that you did.

300 Friends, Clergy, Officials Attend Services For Dr. Bradford E. Gale

More than 300 friends, parishioners, clergy and public officials attended funeral services at United First Parish Church for Dr. Bradford E. Gale.

Dr. Gale, 64, former pastor of the church, died July 31 at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

Rev. Carl R. Scovel of King's Chapel in Boston said "Pietly so lived in [Dr. Gale's] every gesture that his life was his most eloquent sermon."

Rev. Scovel, who delivered the eulogy at the services, and Rev. John Rushton Graham, minister of United First Parish Church, presided.

Dr. Gale resigned as pastor last year to join the division of promotion and finance of the Unitarian-Universalist Association in Boston after 13 years at the church.

He was born in Clinton, graduated from Cambridge Latin School and Tufts University and studied for the ministry at Crane Theological School and Harvard Divinity School.

He was pastor of the First Church of Salem from 1934 to 1958 and was active in many charitable organizations in the North and South Shores.

Clergymen attending the service included Rev. William E. Underhill of St. Chrysostom's Church, Wollaston; Rev. Francis Anderson, All Souls Church, Braintree; Rev. Bertie E. Hull, Salem Lutheran Church.

Also Rev. John D. Banks, Bethany Congregational Church; Rev. John J. McMahon, St. Mary's Church and Rev. Stephen Brown, First United Presbyterian Church.

Public officials and civic leaders included Mayor Walter J. Hannon, former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin, District Court Judge James A. Mulhall, School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

And Survival Director Dr. Charles Djerf, William A. O'Connell, vice president of the Quincy Historical Society and past executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Gale leaves his wife, Mrs. Jane [Holt] Gale; a daughter, Mrs. Stephanie Lawson of East Northfield and three grandchildren.

Also three brothers, Elliott Gale of Salem, Carl Gale of Boston and James Gale of Dorchester, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hood of California.

Funeral arrangements were made by Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 76 Adams St.

Five Miles Worth Of Pennies Goal In St. Mary's School Fund Drive

If you took 422,400 pennies and laid them end to end, they'd stretch from the front door of St. Mary's Church into the ocean off Nut Island.

At 16 cents per foot, 422,400 is five miles worth of pennies and that's the goal of a fund-raising drive for St. Mary's Church School, West Quincy.

St. Mary's Pastor Rev. John J. McMahon said a tub will be placed at the church to accept contributions until the Nov. 5 Christmas Bazaar.

Proceeds will help pay salaries and maintenance costs for the school.

Blood Donor Solution

An Air Force doctor has developed an ingenious method of blood transfusion during surgery which may go a long way toward easing the chronic shortage of this life-giving fluid. Dr. Gerald Klebanoff, head of surgical research at the Air Force medical center in San Antonio, Texas, has perfected a gadget called an "auto-transfuser" which takes up the blood lost by a patient during surgery, cleans it, stores it and then pumps it back into the patient.

The auto-transfuser, which has been used on 20 patients at the medical center, costs about $15, a good deal less than the cost of a single pint of blood. Moreover, there's no problem about scarce blood types or possible mismatching.

If the auto-transfusers were in general use, Dr. Klebanoff says, the need for as much as two million pints of stored blood could be eliminated in the U.S. each year. Hats off to you, Dr. Klebanoff.

Money is meaningless without good health. # Over 1,200 Competing In Race Week

By TOM SULLIVAN

The 35th edition of what is now a summer spectacular - Quincy Bay Race Week - got underway Wednesday and will continue through Sunday.

Race Week Association President F. Gordon Davis of Squantum Yacht Club estimates that between 350 and 400 boats and 1,200 to 1,500 sailors will compete each day, making it the second largest event of its kind in the country.

"This includes 160 boats skippered by the youngsters, of the 'inside line'," Davis explained.

Racing is held each day from one of the five participating yacht clubs. Wednesday's opening races were held from Quincy. Thursday's host will be Town River with the races starting from Wessagussett. Friday the races will also start from the host Wessagussett club, Saturday Squantum will be host and Sunday's host will be Wollaston.

The colorful Marine Parade will be held Sunday at noon with the boats leaving Town River and proceeding from Wessagussett Yacht Club to Quincy along Manet Beach and Wollaston Beach to the Squantum Yacht Club.

The Gala Night Kick-Off Dance and get-together will be held Friday night at Quincy Yacht Club and Rendezvous Night will be Saturday at Town River with all boats getting together for the Marine Parade.

The annual 'Cup Night' for presentation of trophies will be held Sept. 8 at Squantum Yacht Club.

35th Annual Race Week

A Tradition Of Excellence To Live Up To

WOLLASTON LEADERS - The officers who will lead members of the Wollaston Yacht Club during Quincy Bay Race Week Aug. 9-13 include Rear Commodore Ray Hutcheon, Commodore Clement Coolidge, Vice Commodore Ray Cunningham.

By DICK MATTULINA

Yachtsmen participating in the 35th annual Quincy Bay Race Week activities August 9-13 have a long tradition of excellence to live up to.

Quincy Bay Race Week has been an outstanding success since its inception in 1938 when the Quincy, Squantum and Wollaston Yacht Clubs formed their association.

Boats competed in 29 separate classes in that first summer sports event from July 31 to August 4, 1938.

The Quincy Bay Race Week Association had been formed the previous winter with Edward P. Shaw of Wollaston Yacht Club as president to supplement Marblehead Race Week with activities on the South Shore.

Roy McPherson of Quincy Yacht Club was the association's first vice president, George Hey of Squantum was treasurer and Arthur Leavitt of Wollaston became the first secretary.

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin

was named honorary chairman of the board and presided over the first year's festivities.

Mayor Burgin provided a trophy for the Adams Class in the competition and his successor, as honorary chairman, Mayor Maurice Tobin set up another in 1939.

It was in that year that Thomas Sheehan of Squantum Yacht Club became secretary of the association and began the work which earned him the title of "Mr. Quincy Bay

Race Week".

The Town River and Merrymount Yacht Clubs swelled the association's membership in 1940 and the first "squadron review" of power boats was held.

Activities were diminished during the war years as many young racers were fighting in Europe, but reflowered in 1946 as the entire shoreline was illuminated with red flares on opening day.

The new Gov. Maurice J. Tobin was chief of judges for the 1946 festivities which featured a marine parade and the largest number of entries ever.

In the years that followed, the Merrymount Yacht Club dissolved and was succeeded in membership by the Wessagussett Club and many older classes of sailboats have been replaced.

Among the prizes added to the competition are Remick Trophies and trophies in memory of James B. Finlay, Howard Grant, John Reynolds and Fred Hunt.

Coveted Trophies Attract Sailors Of All Ages

A wide variety of trophies will be presented at Quincy Bay Race Week.

The Capt. James Berwick Finlay Memorial Trophy was presented to Quincy Yacht Club in 1948 by Alfred W. Finlay, his father, for competition during Race Week. This beautiful trophy given in loving memory of a son who during his lifetime did much to advance the sport of yachting on Mass. Bay is awarded annually to the yacht or yachtsman considered to have made the most outstanding record or to have performed some signal act of sportsmanship during Race Week.

It is annually suitably engraved and remains in the custody of the Quincy Yacht Club. A suitably engraved replica will become the permanent possession of the winner.

The Howard Gannett Memorial Trophy has been presented annually since 1954 by the Quincy Bay Race Week Association in memory of Howard Gannett, who for more than 50 years served his fellow yachtsmen as a member of the race committee and who served on the race committee of this association from 1938 until his death in 1953. It is presented each year to the race week winner in a class selected by the committee.

The Fred Hunt Memorial Trophy is a perpetual trophy presented annually since 1966 by the Patriot Ledger in memory of the man who served that newspaper for more than three decades as a yachting writer and its yachting editor.

A deep water sailor and a racing enthusiast, Fred did as much as any man for Quincy Bay Race Week and for those who love the sport. This trophy is awarded annually to a skipper who has proven his ability in the Race Week series, has demonstrated a high degree of sportsmanship and a willingness to help others in the advancement of the yacht racing sport. It is held for one year by the home club of the winner who receives a suitable replica for his permanent possession.

The Boston-Bermuda Trophy was presented in 1968 to the Race Week Association by Quincy Yacht Club. This cup was originally presented for competition in 1910 to stimulate interest in ocean racing.

The Reynolds Memorial Trophy was presented to the Race Week Association in 1966 by the family of John Reynolds, an ardent supporter of and skipper in the Day Sailer Class until his untimely death in 1965. This beautiful trophy is awarded annually to the Race Week winner in the Day Sailer Class.

The Frank E. Remick Trophy was presented to the Race Week Association to stimulate interest in competition between cruising type sail boats of not less than 17 feet on the water line and not more than 45 feet overall. Raced for annually since 1959, it becomes the permanent possession of the yacht owner who wins it three times.

The 1300 Trophy has been presented each year since 1960 by Radio Station WJDA to demonstrate its co-operative interest in Quincy Bay Race Week and to aid in the stimulation of racing interest among the junior classes. This beautiful trophy is awarded annually to the winning skipper in the Turnabout Class and becomes his permanent possession.

The Commonwealth Trophy was presented to the Race Week Association by the Commonwealth National Bank of Boston. It is awarded annually to the Race Week winner in a class to be selected by the association.

The Harry Warner Memorial

Trophy was presented to the association in 1968 by Harry's family and the Town River

Yacht Club to be raced for by Trimarans.

"You want how much? To go in which direction? To end up where?"

Columbus had an idea. But it took a little explaining before he could get the money to try it out. Some ideas are like that. Others are a lot easier to explain. Your idea might be a new castle. Or a new car. Or a new family room. Or maybe a well-deserved trip.

These are easy to explain... and at the Quincy Co-operative Bank we make it as easy as possible for you to get the money for them. And we promise you the lowest interest rates around.

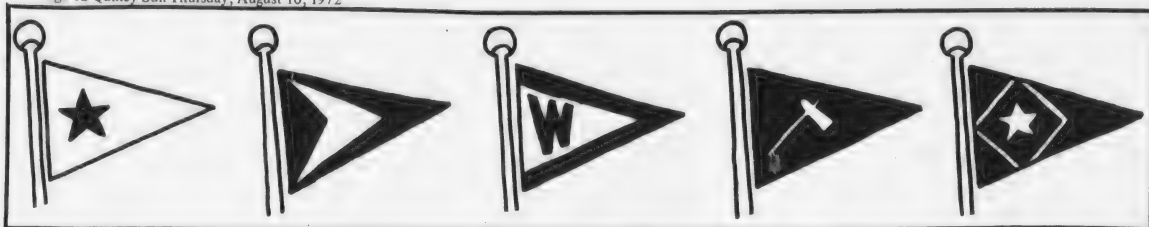

So, drop into our Quincy Square or Hanover office and see one of our loan officers.

They just might be able to open up a whole new world for you.

Colorful Marine Parade Sunday Climax To Week

The Quincy Police boat "Guardian" will lead a marine parade from Town River Yacht Club at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 13 to climax Quincy Bay Race Week Activities.

Boats from five member clubs will fall in behind the "Guardian", Chief Marshal Al Shaughnessy's "Hi Neighbor", Tony DiFilippo's "Casima-Mia", Bernie Reisberg's "Phaedra", and Chairman Charles Romano's "Diana II".

The parade will proceed past Quincy Yacht Club and Nut Island, through West Way, along Manet Beach, Post Island and Wollaston Beach to the Squantum Yacht Club.

All 68 yacht clubs in Massachusetts have been invited to participate.

Half-Mile, Mile Swimming Races Sunday

Half-mile and mile swimming races will be held off the Squantum Yacht Club starting at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in connection with Quincy Bay Race Week.

John Gauthier of the Quincy

YMCA will coordinate open half-mile race for women, mile race for men and a special half-mile race for representatives of the five member yacht clubs.

Trophies will be awarded to winners and first Quincy finishers in each contest. Anyone 12 years of age or older may register by Aug. 11 at the YMCA or with Mr. Gauthier, 3 Poplar St., Braintree.

Two Remick Trophies For Ocean Winners

Two classes of cruising type sail boats will vie in ocean races at 10:30 a.m. Saturday for Frank E. Remick trophies.

The trophies have been presented to the Quincy Bay

Race Week Association by Frank E. Remick of Quincy to stimulate interest in sail boat competition.

Winners in the 17-26-foot and 26-45-foot fleets will be awarded trophies to hold until next year's competition.

Boston Bermuda Cup 'Granddaddy' Of Trophies

Boats ranging in size from 17 to 45 feet will compete at 10:30 a.m. Sunday for the Boston Bermuda Cup, the oldest trophy offered in Quincy Bay Race Week competition.

The silver punch bowl was offered by the City of Boston in 1905 for a yacht race from Boston to Bermuda which was never held.

In 1911, the city again offered the cup as the permanent possession of the winner of a Labor Day ocean race.

That race was won by Hollis Burgess of Quincy Yacht Club in his sloop "Marie L" and the cup has been in custody of Q.Y.C. ever since.

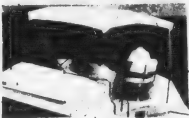

In 1968, the club presented the trophy to the Quincy Bay Race Week Association to be presented to the winner of annual ocean races and held until the succeeding race week.

Reynolds, an ardent supporter and skipper in the Day Sailer Class.

Margaret Sears, Robert Uhlar 'Leaders'

The Quincy Recreation Director William F. Ryan announces Miss Margaret Sears and Robert Uhlar have been selected as "Leaders of the Week".

Uhlar graduated with honors, from both Quincy High School and Quincy Junior College. In addition to his academic achievements he has also received several awards and trophies for basketball, including the Martin C. Finnegan Award for Outstanding Achievement and the Quincy Junior College sportsmanship trophy.

He is also active with the Salvation Army's Basketball Leagues and the Quincy YMCA's program for the physically and mentally handicapped youth.

"Combined with these notable achievements," said Ryan, "his dedication to youth, the continuing interest he has shown in providing more rewarding recreational experiences to the children both on and off the playground, one readily understands why he has been chosen for this honor.

Miss Sears, who graduated with honors from both Archbishop Williams High School and Boston University's College of Liberal Arts, "has demonstrated exemplarily leadership qualities in providing the youth of Atlantic with programming and activities which can only be categorized as outstanding," Ryan said.

Miss Sears intends to continue her schooling and plans to enter Law School this Fall.

Water Carnival To Be Held Thursday

Quincy Recreation Director William F. Ryan and Mrs. Mary Sullivan, Supervisor of Water Safety for the department, announce the annual Water Carnival will be held today [Thursday] at the Fenno Beach,

TENNIS

According to tennis specialist Kevin McGinley the following have demonstrated exceptional tennis ability: Susan Estabrooks of Atlantic; Brian Reale and Joseph Phelan of Merrymount; Robert Gormley, Robert Grizer of Montclair; Marce and Chris Cunniff of Perkins; Debbie Coult of Welcome Young; Phyllis Pucci of Forbes Hill; John Peggano of Faxon Field; Edward Towers, Luigi Avitable of Kincaide and Steve Arnold of O'Rourke Playground.

GOLF

Golf specialist Bradford Buckley reports the city's best girl golfers are Pamela Ahearn and Bonnie Wright of Squantum. In the Boys' Junior division Joe Phelan, Brian Greene and Michael Murphy will be fighting in that divisions amateurs. While Gerald Phelan, Paul Volpini and Bob Ponder will be competing for the Senior Division.

MUSIC, DRAMA

Music specialists Karen Walsh and Susan Morscadelli report the Puppet Musical "This Old Man" was presented at Merrymount and the audience roared its approval of Julie McGowland and Rosemary Shea's extravaganza. In rhythm band competition Montclair's MaryAnne Dyer, David Chapin, Michael and Mathew Higgins, Loretta Maguire and Michael Faherty and Shea Rink's Barbara Riggs, Maureen Callahan, Susan Morrissey, Patricia Austin, Joanne Leone, Judith Costello and Donna Iavicoli are the ones to watch.

Drama reports the thrilling production of the week was turned in by the Pollard Playground with "The Last Monkey". The cast included: Carol Brillo as narrator, Elise LeBlanc as the Clown, Maureen Lamie as Sue, Wendy Merritt as Karen and Paul Sarno as the Monkey.

BOATING

The Black's Creek Boating Program, winner of the National Gold Cup Award for Boating safety announces the following have passed Basic Seaman and have advanced to Sailing: Kevin Garrity, Paul Cooney, Anne McLellan, Judy Kelly, Chris McLellan, Richard Hawley, Tom Conti, James Abdon, Karen Sorenson, Mark Whalen, Joanne Kerwin, Susan Delaphe, Randy Ward, Thomas McAleny, Susan McHenry, Kathy Griffith, Susan Shea, Lisa Sullivan and Paul Collins.

AROUND THE PLAYGROUNDS

From the playgrounds we hear: that Christopher Bray, Gerard Shepard, Tom McGivary, Steve Flate and Mike Bellotti furnished the needed support for Joseph Johnson's no-hitter over Faxon Field score 5-0. From Faxon Field we learn that Rich Finnegan, Daniel McDonald, John Mullen, Christopher Cully, John Behan, Linda MacDonald, Julia Mullen, Susan Campbell, Michael King, MaryAnne Shanahan and Linda Rickson were the winners of summer Halloween costume contest.

From Whitwell playground Susan and Peter Gardiner, Joyce Larson, Michael Norris, Michelle Carigan, Nancy Nystrom, Joy Kaplan, Steven Donovan and John Morris participated in a rather messy pie-eating contest.

From Stoney Brae we hear that they have just completed Nature Week and that Donna Caruso and Susan Green made colorful and delicate free-flow flowers; Wollaston with some strong playing by Bruce Losen, Robert D'Angelo, Michael Clifford, Christopher Cordeiro and Paul Carr had an easy win over Stoney Brae's basketball team with a score of 52-20; Montclair announced its Senior Girls Softball with some great hitting from Rhonda and Gail Zoia, Dorothy Petit, Veronica Mysic, Lauren Baker, MaryAnne Malzone, Kathy McGue, Karen Brinkett and Cheryl Hayes beat Myles Standish playground 11-4. Myles Standish's Junior Boys Baseball recently played Squantum and thanks to runs by Joel Meckler, Joseph and Paul Deane and Joseph Chuba won 5-3.

Squantum's artists Joy Pimental, Shelia Graham, Frances Gillespie and Dawn MacLeod made some very elegant masks. Squantum's Deborah and Patricia Salton along with Rosemary Hanrahan worked very hard in preparing for their highly successful Parent's Night. In Senior Baseball losing Welcome Young sprang to life in the last minutes of the game and changed what appeared to be a sure 9-2 loss into a brilliant 15-9 victory over Squantum.

Red Sox-Rangers Play For 'Jimmy' Aug. 25

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy Sun Writer

Several years ago the Red Sox and Braves played an annual exhibition game for the Jimmy Fund.

When that series ended and when Dick Williams was fired as Red Sox manager and coached for the Montreal Expos of the National League, it was planned to hold a Jimmy Fund series between these teams.

However, when Williams was named manager of the Oakland Athletics, this game fizzled and the game scheduled for this year was cancelled.

However, the Sox will still do their part as always for the Jimmy Fund and President Tom Yawkey has designated Friday night, Aug. 15, when the Sox host Ted Williams' Texas Rangers, as official Jimmy Fund night for 1972.

The entire Boston share of the gate receipts, concessions, etc., for that night will be given to the Jimmy Fund to continue the fight against cancer in little children.

It is appropriate the Sox chose a night when they would be facing Ted Williams' team as the former Sox slugger has been one of the hardest workers for the Jimmy Fund through the years.

The fans will be treated to a great pre-game show in which former Sox stars Dom DiMaggio, Quincy's Sam Mele, Frank Malzone, Ted Lepcio, Haywood Sullivan, Johnny Pesky, Eddie Pellagrini and Walt Drogo will compete in a hitting contest for the benefit of the Jimmy Fund against many of the top radio personalities from the Boston area.

Special concessions will be made to the disc jockeys to insure a close contest for the money awards to the Jimmy Fund contributed by the F & M Schaffer Brewing Co.

Williams has been invited to judge the contest and it is hoped he will decide to take a few swings himself for the fund.

Tickets for this Jimmy Fund game can be purchased at all regular Red Sox ticket outlets.

The Jimmy Fund game, incidentally, opens a home stand which will have a good deal of bearing on just how much chance the Sox have of battling it out for the Eastern Division championship.

The way the Tigers and Orioles have been floundering, the Sox and Yankees are in a good spot to give these teams, heavily favored at the start of the season, a run for the money.

Following games with Texas on the 25th at 7:30, 26th and 27th at 2 p.m., the Sox host the Chicago White Sox on the 28th and 29th at 7:30 and 30th at 1:30, and the Kansas City Royals on Sept. 1 at 7:30, 2 and 3 at 2 p.m.

The Sox then go to Milwaukee for a Labor Day doubleheader and one game on Sept. 5 at 8:30 and return home for three games with the Yankees on Sept. 6 and 7 at 7:30 and a twilight game on the 8th at 6.

Following a successful home stand which pushed the team back into the thick of things, the Sox open an important road trip Friday night at Baltimore.

Following games at Baltimore Friday at 7:30, Saturday at 7 and Sunday at 5:30, the Sox take off for Texas for night games Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, a night game at Chicago Friday, an afternoon game Saturday and a Sunday doubleheader, then night games at Kansas City on the 22nd and 23rd.

Despite one of the worst road records in the league, the Sox are closing in on Detroit but face a lot of trouble on this road trip, meeting three teams with which they have had much trouble.

It appears certain that Carlton Fisk, the sensational Sox rookie catcher, will be very much in the running for Rookie of the Year honors. In fact, if he doesn't falter late in the season, he should make it without any trouble. He has certainly been the brightest spot in the Sox picture this season.

Mrs. Eramo, Mrs. Spinello, Mrs. Harrison Top Furnace Brook Team Tourney

Mrs. John Eramo, Mrs. Anthony Spinello and Mrs. Richard Harrison combined for a 31 to win the team tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Finishing second were Miss Ginnie McCann, Mrs. George Hodges and Mrs. Richard Hoag.

Mrs. Adolph Aimola carded the low gross score.

John Donovan and Mrs. John Pagnano scored a 38 for the low gross in Scotch foursome play with Tony Spinello and Mrs. Joseph DiFederico tallying first net at 31.

Tied for second net with 33 were Ed O'Neill and Mrs. Matthew Smith and Matt Smith and Mrs. Paul O'Leary.

Third net was a tie between Mr. and Mrs. Ray McPeck and Don Chasson and Marie Corayer.

Youth Football Registration Aug. 12

The Quincy Youth Football League will hold registrations for boys 11 to 14 years of age on August 12.

The South Quincy Elks will meet at Kincaide Park at 10 a.m., Quincy Point Panthers at Fore River Field at 10, North Quincy Apaches at Atlantic Junior High at 10 and Houghs Neck Manets at LaBrecque Field at 11.

The league will open its season Sept. 10 at 1 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Favored To Take Tourney

Morrisette Wins 18th Zone 6 Title

Some phenomenal pitching sparked the Morrisette Legion baseball team to its 18th Zone 6 championship [second straight for Coach Ray Cattaneo] and is a big reason the team is favored to win the Southeastern sectional championship this week.

The Legion state tournament format was changed this year. Instead of the individual best of three series which led to the state finals in the past, four sectional tournaments are being held this year with the survivors meeting in the state championship tournament. All are double elimination affairs with a team losing twice being eliminated.

Morrisette, Zone 9 champion New Bedford, Zone 6-B champion Holbrook and 10-10A champ East Bridgewater competed in the Southeastern sectionals at Adams Field, beginning last Saturday. The other sectionals are at Lynn, Milford and Watertown.

The championship series will be played at Milford, probably beginning Monday.

In last Saturday's openers Morrisette defeated New Bedford, 5-2, ending Morrisette's shutout streak at seven games, and Holbrook topped E. Bridgewater 6-2.

Jimmy Walker, who had won two of the games in the seven-game shutout streak as well as pitching a scoreless tie, held New Bedford to five hits while Morrisette collected eight.

Russ MacDonald collected two triples and a single and Joe Marani, who has been playing outstanding ball, had two hits.

Sunday Morrisette was due to face Holbrook in the second game of a doubleheader but the game had to be postponed until Monday when the New Bedford-E. Bridgewater game went 15 innings and six hours before New Bedford won, 9-7, to eliminate the Easties. The Morrisette-Holbrook game was scheduled for 4 p.m. but the other game did not end until after 7.

Monday Morrisette buried Holbrook, 11-0, as Bobby Malvesti scattered seven hits, struck out five and walked three.

Morrisette had its batting shoes on as it started off with five runs in the first and breezed from there.

Dave Nelson drove in five runs with two doubles and a triple, MacDonald and Marani, who had played 19 successive games at shortstop without an error, had three hits, Joe Driscoll a triple and single and Tom Burke two singles.

Holbrook and New Bedford were scheduled to play Tuesday with the loser being eliminated, and Morrisette was then to play the winner last night. A Morrisette win would have clinched the sectional title while a Holbrook victory would mean the deciding game today at 4 at Adams Field.

Jimmy Walker won one complete game in the sensational shutout streak, also won a second in a combined effort with Tony Knasas, Malvesti and Len Pepe each won two and Walker pitched the seventh, the scoreless game with Braintree.

Morrisette, in winning its 18 zone titles, 11 under Nick Malvesti, now post athletic officer; five in seven years under Connie Carlozzi and two in three years for Cattaneo, has reached the state finals five times, including a year ago, but has never won the state championship. Last year, after ousting Needham, Arlington and Salem, for the Eastern Mass. crown, Morrisette lost to Leominster in the state finals.

Morrisette won its 18th zone championship by nipping Braintree, 1-0, in the season's finale, a replay of their scoreless tie of two nights before, in the seventh successive shutout for Morrisette.

Bobby Malvesti, who had earlier pitched another shutout in the amazing streak, held Braintree to two hits but Jimmy Walker, who had blanked Braintree two nights before but had to be satisfied with a tie, relieved with one man on and one out in the final inning. He retired the last two batters, ending the game with a swinging strikeout, save the win.

As in the previous games between these rivals, the baseball was exceptional as both teams came up with brilliant fielding plays and masterful pitching.

Braintree's infielders saved runs with some sensational plays and left fielder Dom D'Olympio saved the day for Morrisette with a great catch near the fence with his back to the plate in the last inning.

It was a shame either team had to lose because the only run of the game scored on a wild pitch by Scott Smith, who also pitched an outstanding game, in the third inning.

Tom Burke and Joe Marani each had two hits as Morrisette collected seven off Smith and Glenn Comoletti.

Braintree had set up the decisive game with Morrisette by topping Quincy, 6-2, the night before. Quincy took a 1-0 lead in the first inning but Braintree took the lead with three runs in the third and coasted in.

To keep in shape for the tourney, Morrisette played a team from the Ted Williams Baseball Camp and scored in the final inning to gain a 4-4 tie. The Williams team was coached by Tommy O'Connell, former Braintree High and Legion coach and now Brandeis University mentor.

Mrs. Ann Gaffey Attends 60th Reunion Of Stetson High

Mrs. Ann Gaffey of 173 North Central Ave., Wollaston, was among eight members of the Class of 1912 at Stetson High School, Randolph, who attended the recent 60th reunion.

Mrs. Gaffey was class prophet for the 21 people who graduated 60 years ago from the school.

She has been named co-chairman with Mrs. Madeline Devine of Brookline for the 61st reunion next year.

All class officers and honor recipients were on hand, including President Charles Kiley of Randolph and Sandwich, Valedictorian Mrs. Ellen Stanton Fahey of Randolph, Salutatorian Miss Svea Johnson of Plymouth.

Also Mrs. Madeline Dillon Devine of Brookline, class poet; Mrs. Alice Sheppard Donlin of West Newton, class historian and Mrs. Gaffey, class prophet.

The class of 1912 started its high school career at the Randolph Town Hall and moved during its first year into the brick building which has since become a junior high school.

Pictures were shown at the reunion of school plays and baseball teams as well as recent ones of classmates' great-grandchildren.

Delahunt Wants Investigation Of Drug Traffic At North

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt said he intends to call a meeting of the Council Drug Abuse Committee to investigate drug traffic at North Quincy High School.

In a letter to Police Chief Francis X. Finn, Delahunt said he has received complaints and reports from students and residents that drug use and traffic is commonplace at the school.

"If this condition does, in fact, exist, it must be quickly eliminated and steps must be taken now to establish a program before the commencement of the school year," he said.

He asked the chief to notify him as to when would be a convenient time for the meeting and urged him to invite any department member he felt should be involved.

Smyth Anxious For Hearing On Drug Problem

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has informed Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt that he is looking forward to a meeting to discuss drug problems at North Quincy High School.

Delahunt, co-chairman of the Council Drug Abuse Committee, has called for a meeting with Police Chief Francis X. Finn to investigate the problem.

Smyth said he shares a "concern over the drug problem that exists not only in North Quincy but also at North Quincy High School.

"This serious social sickness has extended to every section of our city," he said. "This problem and its solution should be brought forth to as many people as possible."

Midshipman Douglas Lane Training In Pacific

Midshipman Douglas A. Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Lane of 24 Ellington Rd, Wollaston, is on a special eight-week summer training cruise in the Pacific aboard a modern amphibious transport ship of the U.S. First Fleet.

The cruise is designed to give Naval Academy midshipmen practical shipboard experience in naval command and management.

Lane is a graduate of North Quincy High School, and a member of the class of 1975 at the academy.

McCormick 'Well Received' In Campaign For Treasurer

A house party was held for James F. McCormick Sr. candidate for Norfolk County Treasurer, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Tweedy, 22 Williams St., North Quincy.

McCormick said "he has been well received" everywhere he has been able to state his qualifications. He said he believes that if the voters are made aware of the duties of County Treasurer they will then select the right man.

McCormick said his background in financial affairs such as buying and selling bonds and insurance stocks more than qualify him for this position. "It is imperative for the treasurer to have this knowledge as 70% - 75% of his time will be in this area," McCormick said. "Money rates and an understanding of bond interest is important to those who are seeking this office."

"The town employees who depend on the Norfolk Board of Retirement for their pension should be especially interested in whom is elected County Treasurer for the next six years."

McCormick asked his helpers to continue to spread the word and he would continue to travel the county. He expressed confidence he will be elected.

Two Quincy Youths Admitted To Mass. Maritime Academy

Two Quincy High School seniors have been appointed for admission to the class of 1976 at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy, in Buzzards Bay.

They are Joseph A. Fleming of Furnace Brook Parkway, and Richard Cushing Leuchte of Nut Island Ave. They will be among 200 freshmen cadets joining the Academy in September, according to Lee F. Harrington, Academy President.

Leuchte is a member of the baseball team, the soccer team, and the Chess Club. He is also a Boy Scout, and a Sea Scout. His hobbies include chess and skiing.

Fleming played hockey with the school team and was a Junior Class homeroom representative. He attended Merrymount School, and North Quincy High School.

An $11 million expansion program at the Maritime Academy is nearing completion and the incoming freshman class and expanding student body totaling more than 400 will be using the new facilities for the first time.

Philip Luoma, Robert Petit

On Wentworth President's Roll

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Jane Fonda Treason?

For those who keep score, from Jan. 5 to June 28 the top five SSS grossing pictures of the year have been: "THE GODFATHER", "THE FRENCH CONNECTION", "FIDDLER ON THE ROOF", "DIAMONDS ARE FOREVER" and "HOSPITAL"... GENE KELLY'S back!... After an 8 year absence from the screen KELLY makes his return in Columbia's "FORTY CARATS". For his many fans KELLY'S "comeback" will be a happy homecoming... He was last seen in the runaway box office hit, "WHAT A WAY TO GO" [1964]...

QUOTE. UNQUOTE: Rep. FLETCHER THOMPSON [R-Ga.] ripping into Award winning actress JANE FONDA with a terse, "she should be charged with treason for urging U.S. troops to desert and turn themselves in to the North Vietnamese"... National General Pictures is exiting the English film distribution scene. After taking a financial beating the past three years, NGP has decided to close it's book on their red inked United Kingdom dealings...

"THE BOBBY DARIN AMUSEMENT CO." came as a pleasant jolt. I never realized BOBBY DARIN was such a versatile craftsman... Hopefully NBC will find a slot for him in January... Nostalgia is dipping back into it's memory bank of "bad vibes" with the film "HOOVER BLUES", a tell-it-like-it-was film of the HERBERT HOOVER depression... DONALD SUTHERLAND and JENNIFER O'NEIL are toppled in "THE MASTER". On locale shooting is slated to roll Aug. 28 in Nassau...

My but those Jesuit priests are turning up everywhere. Riots. Courts. Draft card burnings. Prisons. Politics. And now even in the movies... The Rev. WILLIAM [call me Bill] J. O'MALLEY has been cast to play a Jesuit priest [what else?] in the motion picture "THE EXORCIST"... And Warner Bros. is giving the Rev. "Bill" the star build up with press releases describing him as "dashing goodlooking"... Which is all well and good. But as a priest, or as an actor?...

To date only one Western has won an Academy Award for Best Picture of the Year, and that was "CIMARRON" [1931]. Starring RICHARD DIX and then newcomer IRENE DUNNE, the picture captured all the flavor and adventure of EDNA FERBER'S novel of the land rush to Oklahoma... And keeping in tune with this era, CLARK GABLE and CLAUDETTE COLBERT became the first, and only, co-starring team to win Oscars at the same time. The film was "IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT" [1934]...

"YOUNG WINSTON", a biopic on the early life of WINSTON CHURCHILL, is snaring superlative raves at an unprecedented rate. The picture world premiered in London the latter part of July to reviews of "the best family movie since celluloid was invented," "a triumph" to "a beautifully constructed film that is attractive and compulsively entertaining"... The picture boasts an all-star cast including SIMON WARD - in the lead role, ANNE BANCROFT, JACK HAWKINS, ROBERT SHAW, LAURENCE NAISMITH and PATRICK MAGEE... RICHARD ATTENBOROUGH directed what will surely be a contender come Oscar time next spring...

"THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN RIDE" need no review except in passing I can only say, spend your money elsewhere. The LEE VAN CLEEF oater has no redeeming qualities. And I mean none... A shoddily pieced work with acting and a script to match... STERLING HAYDEN was a last minute co-star replacement for the picture "THE LONG GOODBYE". HAYDEN plays a two-fisted writer in a role originally written for the late DAN BLOCKER... New York Erotic Film Festival director KEN GAUL would like BURT "MR. Cosmopolitan" REYNOLDS to be a festival jury member. Not in the buff I hope!...

Maybe one of these days American actor DEAN REED will make it in this country. In the meantime, REED has been playing his craft in Italian westerns, and more recently signed for a lead role in the East German production, "EXCERPTS FROM THE LIFE OF A GOOD-FOR-NOTHING"... ERNEST BORGNINE is as busy as ever. The former Academy Award winning thespian ["MARTY", 1954] has been added to the cast of "EMPEROR OF THE NORTH POLE"... And in London, "SKYJACKED" is flying high, playing to SRO throngs only...

"THE SWINGIN' PUSSYCATS" is a swish followup to last years surprise hit, "THE SWINGIN' STEWARDESSES". And, if I may add, the former leaves little to the imagination...

You May File Amended Tax Return For Storm Agnes

The ill winds of tropical storm Agnes have blown some good to certain residents of Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex and Plymouth counties.

William E. Williams, district director of the Internal Revenue Service in Massachusetts, said a recent amendment to the Federal tax laws makes it possible for those who suffered storm damage last February, to file an amended 1971 income tax return and claim the casualty losses.

"The recent amendment to assist victims of Hurricane Agnes will help those whose property was damaged by last winter's snowstorm and flooding on Feb. 18, 1972. Suffolk, Essex, Norfolk and Plymouth counties were declared disaster areas by President Nixon and, with this new amendment, the deadline for filing amended returns has been extended," Williams said.

The Federal tax official advised residents, if they haven't filed on these losses so far, to claim the casualty losses by sending in a Form 1040X. Corporation may file also by sending in Form 1120X.

Williams also stated that the envelopes and amended returns should be marked "Flood Disaster" and mailed to Internal Revenue Service, P.O. Box 1500, Andover, Mass. 01810.

IRS Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts", describes procedures for claiming casualty losses. For a free copy send a post card to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Boston, Mass. 02203 or visit your nearest IRS office.

Business News

'Little Miss North Quincy' Contest Forms Available

Members of the North Quincy Business and Professional Association invite families in their area to enter the "Little Miss North Quincy" contest.

A lucky young lady between the ages of 3 and 7 will reign over North Quincy's "Get Acquainted Days" in the Fall.

To be eligible the entrant must have been born between Sept. 30, 1965 and Sept. 30, 1969 and live in the 02171 postal zone.

Entry blanks may be obtained from almost any North Quincy businessman and must be completed and returned by Aug. 26. Final judging of the three finalists will be by popular vote of shoppers in North Quincy. Voting ballots will be available at North Quincy businesses and banks after September 25th.

Announcement of finalists will be made in the Quincy Sun.

A top prize of a $50 bond will be presented to the winner and other prizes for her court will also be awarded.

Dr. Martin Dunn Promoted At B.U. School Of Graduate Dentistry

Dr. Martin J. Dunn of Quincy has been promoted to an associate clinical professor of oral surgery at the Boston University School of Graduate Dentistry.

Dr. Dunn is also chief of the Division of Dental Medicine at the Kennedy Memorial Hospital in Brighton, one of the 20 affiliates of the Medical Center. He also serves on the staff of the St. Elizabeth's, the Harley and the Milton Hospitals.

In 1957 he received his B.A. degree from the Boston College and in 1961 his D.M.D. Degree from the Tufts University Dental School.

Dr. Dunn is a member of the Massachusetts Dental Society, the American Dental Society of Anesthesiology and the South Shore District Dental Society.

Dr. Dunn and his wife, Carol, live on Puritan Drive.

Raytheon Receives $107,372 Defense Supply Contract

The Raytheon Company, 465 Centre St., has received a $107,372 Defense contract to supply 23,352 electron tubes.

The contract was awarded by the Defense Supply Agency's Electronics Supply Center in Dayton, Ohio.

Sherry's New Owner Bob Galligan Plans Sept. 15 Grand Opening

Sherry's Restaurant at 579 Southern Artery will hold a grand opening under new management Sept. 15.

Robert E. Galligan, 29, of Sea St. purchased the restaurant and function hall last week from Denis Donoghue and Edward Baldwin for an undisclosed price.

Galligan, a life resident of Quincy, is supervising renovations to the interior of the building in preparation for the celebration.

"We're going with an early American theme and nautical atmosphere because the dining area is called the Quincy Room and the function hall is the Presidential Room," Galligan said.

"A newspaper article about 17 years ago said 'Sherry's is as much a part of Quincy as its historical landmarks' and I intend to maintain that feeling," he said.

Sherry's own history is somewhat clouded in mystery, he said.

"Denis and Eddie bought it 18 years ago and it was Sherry's then, but nobody knows how it got the name," he said.

The building was known as Diana's when it was a dance hall in the Roaring Twenties and the name changed sometime during its gradual expansion to include restaurant and lounge.

Galligan said the restaurant staff will remain substantially the same with the addition of Jay Nolan as maitre d' and Donoghue as public relations man.

"And I'll be here full-time to greet patrons and act as manager and assistant maitre d'," he said.

Maitre d' Nolan doubles as drummer and vocalist with the Tim Donovan Trio which will entertain nightly.

Galligan is a graduate of Quincy High School, attended the University of Maryland and Northeastern University and served four years in the Navy.

He was manager of the former Daby's Snack Shop in Quincy, former owner of the Houghs Neck Package Store, and a member of the Elks, Lions and Houghs Neck Community Council.

He and his wife, the former Donna Cutillo, have a five-month old daughter Kelly Ann.

Living, Today

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'I Have This Problem Doctor'

A person can have almost any ailment and be accepted by people...or run for public office...except an emotional disturbance. If a person is wise enough to seek professional help for an emotional problem...in the eyes of the unenlightened he's a "nut"...he's been to a "shrink"...a sign of weakness. Perhaps Senator McGovern missed a greater opportunity to do something for the mental health of the people of the United States by dumping Senator Eagleton than he'll ever have again. The exigencies of politics can be cruel. We are still in the "dark ages" so far as mental health is concerned...and this is all too evident when we reject a candidate otherwise qualified because once upon a time ten years ago he sought therapy for his depression.

Franklin Roosevelt wore nine pounds of metal braces from his bout with polio. Jack Kennedy wore a back brace because of a war injury. Dwight Eisenhower and Lyndon Johnson had heart disease. But if a public figure admits nervous exhaustion...depression...anxiety because he's conscientious and wisely seeks psychotherapy, in the eyes of some he becomes a "marked man"...a "weak man"..."unstable"..."unfit for public office."

The truth is that the man who has been in therapy is probably more fitted for public office than many who have not...because in therapy one learns to know oneself...learns to evaluate his/her personality in relationship with other people...learns how to cope with his/her feelings...learns how to love...and to be loved...learns what real values are in human life. Who else is teaching us these things? It is a sad situation when one seeks this kind of personality growth and development only to be penalized by his peers. What it says is...if you want to be a public official...a teacher...a clergyman...a doctor...or for that matter your auto mechanic...[because who wants a "nut" tinkering with your motor] better not admit..."I have a problem, Doctor".

There is nothing more devastating to a country than ignorance. A major national party has...in my opinion...bowed to ignorance and fear. It's all right to vote billions of dollars for bombs...that doesn't make you a "nut"...but to get disturbed about such things to the point where you are anxious and depressed...and decide to seek the counsel and therapeutic services of a qualified psychiatrist or counselor, this makes you suspect.

The truth is that there isn't a person among us who could not say honestly..."I have a problem, Doctor"...and benefit from counselling regarding our feelings and relationships. It is not a sign of strength that a person has not had therapy. It is a sign of strength that a person wants to learn how to be a more fulfilled person.

To be able to endure as a Spartan the tortures of depression [which nearly everyone has in varying degrees]...with the defensive boast..."I can handle my own problems"...while you make yourself and everyone close to you miserable...is no credit to you, Sir. On the contrary...it is a sign of weakness.

Just as our women change their hair styles...men change to wider lapels...we buy cars with dual headlamps...use the computer for business records instead of pen and ink bookkeepers...it's time we changed our antiquated attitude toward mental health...toward those who help us to attain it...and toward those who seek it. No one should need to hesitate to say..."I have a problem, Doctor".

FOR YOUR COMMENTS...For Group therapy...For private counselling...you may write Dr. Knox at 628 High St., Dedham, Mass., or call 326-5990 or 659-7595.

Five Quincy Residents Assist In GOP Drive

Five Quincy residents are members of the youth group assisting in a drive by the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee.

John Allen, Robert Jacobson,

Ronald Kaufman, Donna Roberts and Mrs. Kathy Roberts will be helping to sell 1,900 tickets to New England Patriots pre-season games.

The end-zone and sideline seats are available for the Aug. 20 game with the Chicago Bears, Aug. 27 with the New York Giants and Sept. 10 with the Detroit Lions at Schaeffer Stadium.

Mrs. Hanabury Vows To Work For Increased MBTA Service

Marilyn Bishop Hanabury has promised to propose increased MBTA service if elected to the House of Representatives from Wards 4, 5 and 6.

Mrs. Hanabury said she would also ask that reduced-rate MBTA tokens be sold by drivers.

She was speaking at a recent coffee hour hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dindy of 140 Grandview Ave.

Transfers and reduced-rate tokens would bring more people to use the MBTA and help cut down its deficit, she said, and will in turn lower Quincy's tax assessment.

The Department of Wire Inspection issued 114 permits for an estimated $251,544 in new wiring during the month of July.

Inspector William H. Pitts and his staff granted 49 certificates of approval, noted 21 defects, conducted 160 inspections and collected $1,398.21 in fees.

They also had nine re-inspections and five fire calls.

Major projects are at President Gardens Drive, 16 Lawrence St., 540 Hancock St. and 211 West St.

Brownell Wants New Street Light At Sea St. Albatross Road

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has asked that "the obsolete street light on the right hand corner of Sea Street and Albatross Road be replaced immediately."

In a letter to Mayor Walter J.

Hannon, Brownell said the light "is badly needed to protect the many small children in the general vicinity from the increasingly treacherous traffic situation."

Adeline Pompeo To Speak At State Women's Caucus Reception

Miss Adeline Pompeo of 15 Watson Rd. Quincy, will be a guest Aug. 25 at a reception for women candidates sponsored by the Massachusetts Women's Political Caucus.

Miss Pompeo, a candidate for state Senate from Quincy, Braintree and Holbrook, will speak at the Parker House Roof in Boston to members of the MWPC and the National Organization for Women [NOW].

In their invitation, the groups said they "will do everything we can to give your candidacy attention and support."

HISTORIC DOROTHY QUINCY HOUSE

Dorothy Quincy House To Get Facelift, Structural Uplift

The historic Dorothy Quincy House is in line for an external facelift and a structural uplift, announces MDC Commissioner John W. Sears.

The $20,000 restoration project will be financed by a $10,000 grant from the U.S. Department of the Interior, U.S. Park Service, and matching MDC funds. Work is expected to start in the early fall.

Sears said the exterior of the homestead - built originally in 1636 by William Coddington, then treasurer of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, and added to in 1706 by Edmund Quincy - will be repainted. A serious structural failure in the southeast corner of the house will be repaired, and extensive landscaping will be undertaken. Abbott Cummings, director of the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, has taken a clipboard from the original section of the house for analysis to determine the true Colonial-era color of the house - believed to be a New England colonial yellow. The new painting will match this as closely as possible, along with contrasting black shutters and white trim.

The Massachusetts Chapter of Colonial Dames, who manage the museum will work with MDC landscape architects to design a comprehensive, historically-sensitive landscaping plan, including new pathways, trees, and herb and flower gardens. Part of this plan will be implemented next spring.

The homestead, owned by the MDC and managed by the Colonial Dames, was the birthplace of Dorothy Quincy, wife of John Hancock. It is located at 34 Butler Rd at the corner of Hancock St. near Quincy Center. Quincy is also the birthplace of Presidents John and John Quincy Adams.

The Hancock love note etched into a window of the house - "Dear Cutie, I love you and you alone" - won't be disturbed. Legend has it that it was written by Hancock to his beloved Dorothy during their courting days.

Neighbors Petition For Lighting At Paul Grasso Park

Residents of the Columbia Street area in South Quincy have petitioned Mayor Hannon to have lights installed at Paul Grasso Park "for the safety and well being of the children."

The petition, circulated by Ronald N. Halter of 119 Federal Ave. also asks that the tennis court area be marked with white lines and that skating facilities be set up in winter months.

Veterans
News

Q - I am attending school under the GI Bill and receive $205 monthly educational allowance for myself and wife. Will my wife be dropped as my dependent if she works and earns a certain amount of money?

A -No. Your wife's income has no bearing on the amount of educational assistance you receive.

Q - I receive compensation based on a 100 percent disability. May I obtain employment without a reduction in compensation?

A - Yes, if your condition is rated 100 percent. However, if your condition is rated less than 100 percent and you are receiving temporary compensation at 100 percent based on unemployability, your compensation would be reduced if you became employed.

Q - I am a World War II veteran who never used his GI loan benefits. Is it true that I can still use this benefit?

A - Yes. The Veterans Housing Act of 1970 restored unused, expired loan benefits to all veterans who were previously eligible. These benefits are now available until used.

You Can Still Join Marines After Induction Notice

Received your induction notice? You can still enlist in the U.S. Marine Corps.

SSgt. Peter H. Murphy, Marine Corps representative at 231 Parking Way, Quincy, announces that young men who have 10 or more days left before their induction date are eligible to enlist in the Marine Corps for two, three, or four years.

Those affected by the draft and choosing to enlist in the U.S. Marine Corps are eligible for most of the Marine Corps enlistment programs. This includes the $1,500 Enlistment Bonus Program, Aviation Guarantee Program, and the Ground Enlistment Programs. An applicant can also enlist in the 180-day Delay Program, but the enlistment must be effected at least 10 days prior to his scheduled induction date.

This new program, allowing draftees an opportunity to enlist in the Marine Corps, is the result of an agreement between the Director of Selective Service and the Secretary of Defense. It went into effect June 30.

Additional information on this and other opportunities in the U.S. Marine Corps can be obtained from SSgt. Peter H. Murphy by calling 472-6650 or contacting him at his office, 231 Parking Way, Quincy, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Using Small Claims Court

By ATTY. GEN.
ROBERT H. QUINN

[Attorney General Robert H. Quinn prepares this weekly column to inform Massachusetts residents about the state consumer laws.]

Under Massachusetts law, a myriad of consumer problems on claims up to $400 may be remedied in the Small Claims Court.

For example, you may use court proceedings if someone does not pay you money owed; if someone damages your property; if an appliance you have bought breaks down and you are refused a refund; or if the cleaners have lost your clothing and will not pay for the loss.

Anyone over 21 may go to Small Claims. If you are under 21, bring your claim through a parent or an older friend. One of the advantages of Small Claims Court is that you will not have to hire a lawyer. However, you may contact your own attorney or your Neighborhood Legal Services Office.

Locate the Small Claims Court for the city or town in which the person to be sued lives or does business. Contact the court clerk. He will tell you when court is in session, when court begins, and answer any questions you may have about the process of bringing your claim.

If you decide to sue, this is the procedure:

1. You must fill out an order slip, supplied by the clerk, on which you state the reason for suing. A summons will be sent to the defendant informing him of the suit and hearing date. The cost to you will be approximately $3.50.

2. Make sure the defendant's name is listed correctly. No abbreviations, initials or nicknames. If you are suing a business, be sure that you use the full name. The clerk will inform you by post card of the hearing date and your docket number. Refer to this number whenever you call the clerk with a question.

3. Call the clerk at least one day before the trial to make sure the defendant has received the summons and also to obtain a copy of his defense if one has been submitted. If the defendant has not received the summons, you may hire a constable [check the Yellow Pages] to serve additional papers on the defendant. These will be given to you by the clerk to fill out. Cost to you for the constable: $10-15.

4. Contact any witnesses who may help you. Bring willing witnesses with you to the trial. You may summons a reluctant witness to testify, but the summons must be served by a constable or a person not involved in the claim [not a relative].

5. Arrive at court early on the day of the trial. Bring all evidence and find your name on the court calendar. Both parties will be sworn in and each will be given a chance to tell his side of the story. The judge will then make his decision. If you win, try to settle with the other party in full that day.

Note that if the defendant does not come to trial he has defaulted and you win.

If the defendant refuses to pay, you may file a petition for a show cause hearing. If the defendant does not appear at this hearing to explain why he has failed to pay, the court will issue a capias. This is an order subjecting the defendant to arrest.

If the defendant has decided to pay before the trial, call the clerk and tell him that the case is settled.

A 'Thank You' From Social Security Office

Editor, Quincy Sun:

On behalf of the Social Security Administration, I wish to thank you for your generous and wholehearted cooperation in helping us to inform the public of the various benefits provided by our programs.

This year our message was brought to the public, especially, in the news media, in a volume which exceeded all previous records. Without your willingness to help in every possible way, this could never have been accomplished.

Your public service is to be commended. May we take this opportunity to extend to you and your staff at The Quincy Sun, our very best wishes for the coming year.

- India, Israel And The Bomb
- Bugging Bugs Republicans
- Crucial Time For McGovern

WASHINGTON—New evidence has come to light that India and Israel have made the scientific breakthrough necessary to develop nuclear weapons.

We first learned of this alarming possibility in an intelligence report which we saw a few weeks ago. Although the report offers no conclusive proof, it quotes reliable sources who claim that Israel and India have actually developed atomic weapons.

We have now uncovered a new document, prepared by an associate group of the United Nations, that tends to confirm the intelligence report.

The U.N. report states that India has the material and scientific expertise available to produce 19 atomic bombs and that Israel is capable of producing eight.

One crucial step in making these bombs is converting plutonium found in nuclear power reactors for use in atomic weapons. Apparently, the conversion process is no longer a scientific monopoly among the five nuclear powers.

BOONDOGGLE CLOSES DOWN

The biggest construction boondoggle in history has quietly closed down in Vietnam.

Two construction firms, Raymond International and Morrison-Knudsen, started out in 1962 to build airfields in South Vietnam. This burgeoned into a construction program that transformed sleepy villages into great airbases and seaports.

Mountains of lumber, steel, cement and machinery piled up faster than the construction crews could use the material. From these docksides mountains, truckloads of supplies frequently disappeared in the night.

The loss from pilferage has been estimated over $100 million. What supplies weren't pilfered were often used to build fancy quarters for company officials and officers' clubs for the brass.

The losses didn't come out of the profits but were merely charged to the taxpayers. For the construction firms had a cost-plus-fixed-fee contract. This was clearly the biggest windfall that had ever blown their way.

In early 1965, two more firms, Brown and Root and J.A. Jones, were cut in for a share. Together, they formed RMK-BRJ, which signed contracts to complete history's largest construction job.

It is an interesting coincidence that the Brown and Root firm, whose owners helped finance the political career of Lyndon B. Johnson, was dealt into the contract after Johnson became president.

With the profits guaranteed under the contract, the giant combine never spared the taxpayers' money. It went through nearly two billion dollars in government green like a cow through clover. Now, the big construction boys are quietly packing their tools and going home.

THE DIRTY DOZEN

The environmentalists have all but given up hope that they can make ecology a major issue in the presidential race this fall. So they are concentrating on the elections in the House and Senate.

They have singled out 12 congressmen—dubbed the Dirty Dozen—for defeat. The number one target of the environmental movement is Wayne Aspinall, the chairman of the House Interior Committee.

At 76, Aspinall probably has more influence than any man in America over government land policy. His critics charge that his record is the dirtiest one in Congress.

He has opened wilderness areas to mining operations. He has supported an amendment that would repeal the President's authority to establish national monuments. He has spoken out against establishing a big redwoods national park. Once, he even supported a dam that would have backed water into the Grand Canyon National Park.

He devoutly believes that America should exploit its natural resources rather than preserve them.

Aspinall boasts that he has never lost a committee bill on the House floor. But he suffered a moral setback this summer when the Colorado state Democratic party refused to endorse him and instead endorsed his opponent, law professor Alan Merson.

The showdown between Merson and Aspinall will take place in the Democratic primary, September 12. Environmental groups plan to lead the fight against the dirtiest of the Dirty Dozen.

IT'S BUGGING GOP

The confident smiles around Republican campaign headquarters these days quickly turn to nervous frowns at the mention of one subject: the bugging of the Democratic National Committee. No one knows what turn the bizarre episode will take next, but the signs always seem to point toward the White House.

The most damaging disclosure so far is that a $25,000 check, intended for President Nixon's re-election campaign, somehow ended up in the bank account of one of the men arrested in the bugging incident. What's more, two officials of the President's campaign organization left suddenly after the FBI began investigating.

Adding to the intrigue, a White House consultant named Howard Hunt was listed in the address books of two of the men arrested in the case. Hunt, meanwhile, dropped out of sight when his name became connected with the case.

Officials now are trying to play down Hunt's White House connections, but embarrassing details keep popping up. I have learned, for example, that Hunt and his wife were present at a White House soiree last year.

The bugging caper has not yet exploded into a major, election-year scandal. But the ingredients are all there and they are making the Republicans extremely nervous.

ELECTION BRIEFS

•The White House has been noticeably reluctant to fire any of its customary broadsides against the media in recent weeks. Even Spiro Agnew has been on good behavior. The reason: President Nixon does not want to discredit the press while it is focusing on George McGovern's problems.

Now that McGovern has finally patched up the Eagleton affair, President Nixon's undeclared truce with the media is likely to come to an end. We expect any day now new charges from the White House that the TV networks and liberal newspapers are biased in their reporting in favor of McGovern.

•Despite the polls, it is still too early to count McGovern out of the presidential race. But McGovern insiders admit that the next few weeks will be crucial to their man's chances. Unless McGovern begins to move up dramatically in the polls this month, even Democrats predict that he will lose in November and lose badly.

City Braces For Anticipated $160 + Tax Rate

Quincy taxpayers are bracing themselves for word on an anticipated $15-$20 increase in the tax rate, expected to be announced within two weeks.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon met Tuesday with assessors to discuss the new rate which is expected to be $15 or $20 over last year's $142.50-per-thousand assessment.

John E. Murray, sales manager for South Shore National Bank, has been named executive director of the newly-formed Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

President Robert J. Colman said Murray is spearheading a membership drive to "enlist each and every business and professional person in the Quincy Center area."

In his recruiting campaign, Murray will call on Quincy Center merchants and professional men to delineate the association's goals for the betterment of the shopping district.

Colman said the group's purpose is "to promote and/or create a more dynamic Quincy Center and sustain its growth and expansion as the shopping and business capitol of the South Shore."

Murray, 58, of 797 East Squantum St., is former marketing officer of the First Bank and Trust Co. of Lowell and served 25 years as New England sales manager for R. L. Polk Co., publishers of bank and city directories.

He was born in Lynn, graduated from Tilton Academy and attended Suffolk Law School before entering the banking industry.

He and his wife, the former Helen F. Burns, have three daughters, Joanne, Patricia and Mrs. Charles Rogers.

Murray's appointment was finalized at a recent meeting with Colman, Remo DeNicola of South Shore Television and Appliance, George White of The Patriot Ledger and Henry Bosworth of The Quincy Sun.

His services were made available through the cooperation of Winthrop Sargent IV, executive vice president of South Shore National Bank.

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association [QCBPA] is an independent, cooperative effort by the Quincy Center community to promote and improve the Quincy Center area.

Recent meetings among businessmen and the success of the third annual Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar have convinced members that "now is the hour to organize and be heard," Colman said.

The highly successful, three-day bazaar was the first of several special promotional events planned by the organization.

Colman stressed that membership in the QCBPA is open to all members of the Quincy Center community, regardless of size.

"The strength and success of our organization depends on the participation of every person in the Quincy Center area, whether he be merchant, professional man or property owner," Colman said.

Smoking And Amputation

Dr. John Juergens, who specializes in problems of hardening of the arteries at the famed Mayo clinic tells his fellow artery surgeons, "I can do as much for a patient's legs by getting him to quit smoking as they can by operating."

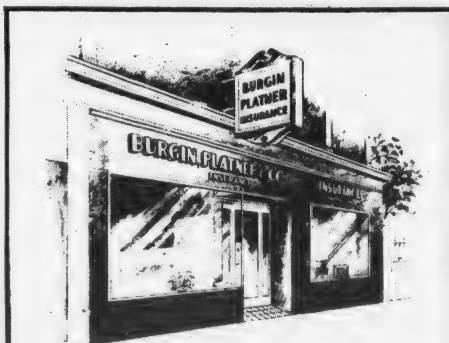

Dr. Juergens has followed closely the progress of 158 cigarette smokers suffering from advanced arteriosclerosis of the extremities. Of the 71 who stopped smoking, none required amputation. But of the 88 who continued to smoke, ten had to lose a limb.

"Nicotine," says Dr. Juergens, "is a potent constrictor of arteries." I tell patients, "It's your cigarettes or your leg."

All of the Mayo Clinic surgeons in cardiology speak with a single voice on the dangers of smoking. They see too many needless deaths and amputations which could have been prevented by the simple motivation to prolong one's life by giving up smoking cigarettes.

Sun And Sea

As I wake I look and see
The sun has risen above the sea
It's bright rays have burned the waves
With a soft touch of velvet and yellow streak of haze
It makes me wonder about my life
If I need struggle to see the light
When all I want is really near
About the waves that echo in my ear
What I have though need not be
When I think of wonders of sun and sea.

Good Sense About Scents

Most perfume purchased in the United States is purchased: one-by males; two-around Christmas time; three—in drug stores, without ever being opened. What a shame! Scientists tell us that our sense of smell can often arouse emotions more than any other sense. So ladies, we have a built-in enticement we're not even taking advantage of!

Buying perfume or cologne should be like buying a dress. You have to try it on first, and it should suit your personality. You will also soon tire of the same fragrance day after day, so interchange two or more.

Unfortunately for all the well-meaning gift-givers, you should try perfume on yourself before using it. Some women simply don't have the kind of skin chemistry that brings out the very best in a fragrance, so you must experiment. The correct way to apply is to spray at the "pulse points"—the wrists, the backs of the ears, behind the knees, between the breasts. (If you dab rather than spray, you mix your finger oils, then your body oils with the perfume.) Wait at least five minutes before smelling it. (Smelling out of a bottle gives you no idea of how a scent is going to smell on you!)

Note: perfume does age and can go "bad." After six months, if you haven't used it all, you probably didn't like it enough anyway, so pitch it!

Fix-It Tip

Treads (the part of the step you put your feet on) on an outside door stairway are attached to the stringer by cleats fastened to the inside of the stringer or by grooves cut into the stringer.

Loose cleats can be tightened with new screws. Badly damaged or decayed cleats should be replaced. If the wood around grooves has started to splinter or decay, reinforce with cleats.

Treads should be replaced if badly worn. If a tread is worn slightly at the center, get extra wear out of it by turning it over.

Fast To Fix

A simply-made dessert can also be a sumptuous one, as is clearly indicated by "Broiled Caramel Pears." Tender fresh California Bartlett pear halves are broiled in butter and caramel sauce with a sprinkling of roasted diced almonds for this fast-to-fix sweet tooth specialty.

Broiled Caramel Pears

3 fresh California Bartlett pears
Salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
2 tablespoons roasted diced almonds
1/4 to 3/4 cup caramel sauce
Pare, halve and core pears. Sprinkle both sides with salt. Place cut-sides down in 8- or 9-inch pie pan. Pour butter over pears and place under broiler 4 to 6-inches from source of heat 1 to 2 minutes. Remove and turn pears cut-sides up. Place 1 teaspoon almonds in each pear; spoon caramel sauce over pears. Run under broiler 1 minute. Serve each pear-half in shallow bowl with hot caramel sauce spooned over top. Dollop with whipped cream if you wish. Makes 6 servings.

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of Aug. 17 - 24

ARIES [Mar 21-Apr. 19] - Your erratic behaviour is likely to cause trouble at home, avoid disputes that could end in a separation.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Those at home are not listening to you and it will take a lot of understanding to patch things up.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Lack of funds puts a damper on your amusements, put your time to good use by working around the house.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - You don't feel like performing the services, short trips and errands unexpected company is forcing upon you.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 21] - In typical Leo fashion, your necessary shopping has been put off until the last moment, causing a flurry of activity.

VIRGO [Aug. 22-Sept. 22] - Some of you are spending money on travel while others are doing a little extra remodeling in the home.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - You may feel the professional fees being charged are too high but if you want the service, you'll have to pay.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - The increase in income is only temporary so bank the extra money rather than spend it foolishly.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Your fortunes now take a turn for better or worse, according to what you have been up to lately.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Friends and associates are unreliable now so depend upon your own good sense to solve problems that have arisen.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Your explanation or advice is being ignored and circumstances have taken matters out of your hands. Sit tight and watch.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - You may not approve of what others are doing but you are going along anyway - simply hoping for the best.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Running helps a lot.... In fact, it's the best for exercise for the dieters. Whenever I find myself lingering longingly before the window of a bakery, I run. If an ice cream man's bell looms a little too loud in my ears as I drive into the yard, I run. Should I happen within sniffing and salivating distance of an opened-door pizzeria, I run.

I'm not running because I am a coward. I am not running away from anything other than my fat past. I am running toward my slim present and my slim future. Don't ever let years of being thin make you complacent. Once you've been fat, you're fat forever under your skinny skin. I rely on my feet to take me out of danger zones. It works best that way.

Once the feet have removed me, I trust my head to take over to see that my eating program is all that it should be. I have found that I am not even tempted off the diet wagon when I am adhering heart and soul to the program. Generally the temptations tempt on a day when I have unwisely let myself slip past lunchtime. I review my schedule and find that I may not have drunk a glass of skim milk when it was due. I discover on thinking things over that I omitted the breakfast fruit that would have brought my meals into balance. That's what's tipped me into temptation and forced me to rely on my faithful feet.

It happens to the most devout of dieters. When it happens to you, concentrate on thinking about the preparation of a dish like this:

VEGETABLE CHOW MEIN

1 1/2 cups sliced onion
2 large ribs celery cut in 1/2" diagonal slices
4 large leaves Chinese-Cabbage cut in half lengthwise, then in 1/2" strips

1/2 cup scallions cut diagonally into 1/2" strips—include some green

2 1/2 cups bean sprouts. [Freshen canned sprouts by draining and soaking in ice water for one hour.]

1/2 cup bamboo shoots
1/2 cup water chestnuts, sliced
1 1/2 cups chicken broth
1 small can mushrooms, drained

3 tablespoons Kikkoman Soy Sauce

In a pan-sprayed or teflon fry pan or wok, stir-fry onion slices until limp but not brown. Add remaining vegetables and stir rapidly until heated. Pour in chicken broth then cover and let steam 5 minutes. Uncover and add the soy sauce.

Makes six servings and contains 6 limited vegetables or one limited vegetable per serving.

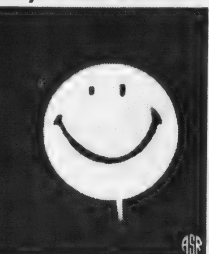

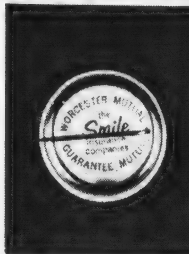

To turn this into a one-dish meal, 6 ounces of meat per serving may be added after the last step.

In the meantime, keep those track shoes polished and your muscles in tone. The best way of facing a diet dilemma is with your back. Put some distance between you and it, and you'll see that it scales down in size almost immediately. On days when your emotional picture is colored blue, be certain that you widen the gap between your personal inedibles and your mouth. When you're down, you are vulnerable. A fast run in the opposite direction will kick in the old adrenals, start the juices jangling, and you'll be back on the track once more.

Don't hesitate to write me about any diet problems you may have, in care of the Quincy Sun or at The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, New York 11554.

The Diet Workshop

Where Did 'Smiley' Come From?

Millions of Americans, of all ages, are wearing or using items - buttons, handbags, shirts, drinking glasses - carrying this famous image without knowing its origin or who has been responsible for putting this glow on the face of America in recent years.

It all started with the "smile power" campaign launched in 1963 by the Worcester Mutual Fire Insurance Company of America and the Guarantee Mutual Assurance Company of America, who distributed the original "smiley buttons" to employees in order to promote a "smile attitude" toward customers and toward each other.

"I guess we proved that a smile really goes a long way," Worcester/Guarantee president John Adam, Jr., admitted. He added, in response to queries why the companies had not trademarked the button design: "We never intended to keep the smile to ourselves—we want everyone to smile and to keep smiling and to remind them that that is our first goal in serving our customers—keep 'em smiling!"

The original "smiley buttons" produced in 1963 were 1 1/2" in diameter, made of celluloid and carried the inscription on the back: "The Smile Insurance Companies, Worcester Mutual and Guarantee Mutual." Initially designed for use by home office employees only, the buttons quickly became popular with agents and field men. Requests for buttons have been pouring in from all over the country ever since, although today the company, due to excessive demand, only distributes them to employees.

The Worcester/Guarantee companies are members of "The American Group" of companies based in Worcester, Massachusetts.

Fr. John Duffy's 'Breathing Silence' Best-Seller On Book World Shelves

One of the fastest-moving items on the shelves at Book World in Quincy Center is a volume of poetry entitled "The Breathing Silence".

The book is the second published collection of poems by Rev. John Duffy, a Redemptorist priest from Houghs Neck.

Liner notes to "The Breathing Silence" call it a "haunting collection of spiritual poems ... as timeless as eternity and as broad as infinity."

In style, Fr. Duffy's works range from blank verse to sonnets.

In content, they are reminiscent of Robert Frost, Thomas Hardy and Gerard Manley Hopkins.

In total effect, they are deeply personal statements of one man's respect for nature and adoration of God.

And the combination is a remarkable success.

Mrs. William Quinn, manager of Book World, said Fr. Duffy ranks as one of the best-selling poets her store has seen.

"We've never had a volume of poetry except by [Kahlil] Gibran or [Rod] McKuen which has sold like this one," Mrs. Quinn said.

Knights Of Columbus Election Of Officers Tonight

Quincy Council Knights of Columbus will hold their election of officers for the 1972-73 season Aug. 17.

Officers nominated include Malcahy Creaven Jr., grand knight; Nicholas Cristiani,

FR. JOHN DUFFY

"People buy a copy, read it and come back a few days later to buy more and give them as gifts," she said.

Fr. Duffy was born in Roxbury in 1914, moved to Houghs Neck at age 10 and developed an interest in poetry through a sixth-grade writing assignment at Atherton Hough School.

After graduating from Central Junior High School in 1928, he spent 13 years preparing for the Redemptorist priesthood.

He earned a doctorate in philosophy from Catholic University in Washington and taught for 21 years in the Redemptorist Minor Seminary in North East, Pa.

Fr. Duffy was assigned to the Redemptorist college seminary of St. Alphonsus in Suffield, Conn., four years ago.

His is a familiar face at Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck, where he offers Mass during frequent visits to his sister, Mrs. Joseph Nichol of Quincy.

During his most recent visit he spent a day at Book World autographing copies of his book.

Fr. Duffy's first published poem appeared in 1936 in "Spirit", a magazine sponsored by the Catholic Poetry Society of America.

He was a regular contributor to "Spirit" until its recent demise and received the society's annual Spirit medal in 1966.

His works have appeared twice in "Borestone Mountain Poetry Awards" and his first volume of poetry, "Thou and I", was published in 1947.

"The Breathing Silence" is published by Exposition Press Inc., Jericho, N.Y.

deputy grand knight; Walter Carroll, financial secretary.

And Walter Condon, advocate; Bernard Dill, Harold Fisher, Leo McLaughlin, trustees, and Vincent Cristiani and Nicholas Cristiani, delegates.

WKBG To Broadcast Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Labor Day

WKBG-TV in Boston will join more than 150 television stations nationwide in broadcasting the 20-hour Jerry Lewis Telethon for muscular dystrophy Labor Day weekend. Lewis, honorary chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, said he hopes to surpass the $8 million raised in last year's telethon.

Jan Murray, Sammy Davis Jr. and Johnny Cash will serve as masters of ceremonies in Hollywood, Las Vegas and Nashville and Lewis will anchor the show from New York.

The program also calls for cuts to Boston every hour for local entertainers and dignitaries.

Mayor Requests State Funds For Fort Square Light

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has asked the State Department of Public Works for funds to install traffic signals at the Fort Square intersection.

Funding is possible for such highway safety projects, but the distribution of funds to local communities remains uncertain, the mayor said.

When the present construction of the School Street bridge is completed, traffic will increase substantially in the area, he said.

With the construction of a new elementary school in the immediate area, Hannon expressed concern for the safety of the school children and the need for a safer means of pedestrian crossing.

QCA Opposes Fourth MBTA Station In Quincy

The Quincy Citizens Association has announced its opposition to the proposed construction of a fourth MBTA station in Quincy.

QCA President Joseph A. Slattery and Secretary Dorothy C. Kelly notified MBTA Board Chairman Henry Sears Lodge that the association has voted unanimously against the proposal.

"We feel that Quincy residents should not be further assessed for thousands of Braintree residents using MBTA service by boarding trains in Quincy rather than in Braintree," they said.

"We recommend that the station be built in South Braintree and definitely not in Quincy."

School Work A Joy For Students In Summer Primary Program

Some 200 primary-age children in Quincy are anxious to go to school every morning this summer.

But their school is not what you would expect. There are no grades, marks or what the children would call "school work".

Their school for the day may be a bus, park, museum, classroom or even their own back yard.

These children are studying science, environmental studies, vocational education and the arts, subjects which were considered to be "too hard" or irrelevant to the young child.

Fortunately the children were not aware of these restrictions. A boy at the Webster School worked after the dismissal bell on the fossils he was making with plaster because he wanted to finish the work he was obviously enjoying.

The children who made an oil slick as part of an Environmental Studies project at the Willard School can now better understand the effect of pollution on their own lives.

Upon the completion of a week's study concerning the "world of work" at the Hancock School a young boy said, "If I can't be a cowboy I want to be an architect."

The displays of possible careers made by the children were not only very informative but also displayed the great interest they have in the real world of work.

Brownell Requests Lighting

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has asked that the Taffrail Road Playground in Germantown be lighted after dark.

In a letter to Mayor Hannon, Brownell said the play area is one of few in the city that does not have lighting and is one of the most used parks in Quincy.

"It is my understanding that there are already poles and electricity that could be utilized to light the area," he said.

Clifton Sommers To Head John Sullivan Campaign

John J. Sullivan, former Commissioner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and presently a candidate for Norfolk County Register of Probate has appointed Clifton E. Sommers, 86 Sachem St., Wollaston as his campaign director.

Sommers, a New England Organizer and National Representative of the United Steelworkers of America, served with Sullivan on the City of Quincy Salary Survey Board under former Mayor James McIntyre. He was also the labor representative on the "Blue Ribbon Committee" to overhaul and update the salaries of the Mayor and City Councillors.

William S. Grindlay Jr., President of the Tax Accountants, Inc. of Norfolk County, with headquarters at 2 Wollaston Ave., Wollaston, was named campaign treasurer. Grindlay, vice-chairman of the Ward 5 Democratic Committee, is a former president of the Young Democrats of Quincy and is presently a director of the latter group. He is also chairman of the Capital Improvements Committee for the City of Quincy.

Mrs. Mary-Jane Fandel of 94 Grand View Ave., Wollaston, will serve as campaign committee secretary and assistant treasurer. Mrs. Fandel is corporation clerk of J. Fandel's Sons, Inc. of Braintree, sheet metal and air conditioning contractors. Mrs. Fandel has been active in the fund-raising campaigns of Archbishop Williams High School. She is past president of the Marianns of Wollaston, and past president of the South Shore Ladies of St. James the Apostle.

Joseph A. Sullivan, first Quincy president of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor AFL-CIO, has delegated Richard M. Post, Norfolk County Labor Council Director of C.O.P.E. [A.F.L.-C.I.O. Committee of Political Action] to be his personal representative on the campaign committee and to be liaison between the committee and the Norfolk County Labor Council.

Post was one of the founders of the Montclair Men's Club and for many years has been one of its officers.

William F. Lyden, 266 East St., East Weymouth, vice president Local 25 Teamsters Union and a director of the Massachusetts Port Authority, will be labor-coordinator and will set up committees throughout Norfolk County. Lyden was appointed by Governor Sargent to succeed Nicholas P. Morrissey, New England Organizer for the Teamsters Union as the labor representative on the Port Authority.

Quentin E. Bloomer, 15 Moffat Rd., North Quincy, personnel manager for a national chain of retail food stores, is management consultant to the committee and will coordinate and organize industrial leaders in Norfolk County for the campaign committee.

Allen Glayzerman and Frank Cohen of Brookline, will co-chairman the lawyers for Sullivan's unit and will work out of 73 Tremont St., Boston.

Ward 3 Councillor Theophilus McLelland will be general chairman of registration and will set up committees for this purpose in all towns in the county.

Delahunt Urges City To Enroll In Harvard Health Plan

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt has urged Mayor Hannon to enroll the city in the Harvard Community Health Plan [HCHP] for health coverage of city employees.

Delahunt said the plan affords a wider variety of protection and services than standard coverage at lower cost to both employer and employee.

In a letter to the mayor, he said "one of the most critical problems currently facing the citizens of Quincy . . . is the rising cost of day-to-day emergency health care.

"Area hospitals, private physicians and pharmaceutical companies continue escalating their prices. The cost of such care is rapidly approaching prohibitive levels," he said.

If Quincy were to join the HCHP plan, Delahunt said, "the city would not only save money, but municipal employees would be eligible for benefits not presently available."

He said "continued delay in this matter can no longer be tolerated."

"If better health care coverage can be made available to the employees of Quincy at lower cost, there is and can be no valid reason to delay."

Airman Paul O'Brien Completes Recruit Program

Airman Recruit Paul E. O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. O'Brien of 60 Marlboro St., Wollaston, has completed the recruit phase of the Navy's "Four to Ten Month" active duty program at Millington.

He will complete the remainder of his active duty training lasting from four to ten months, at a specialized aviation school.

MONEY TALKS

How the Nation's Wealthy Handle their Money

By Philip J. Lawrence
President

COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursdays

An interesting piece of research published by a Washington organization specializing in the social sciences reveals the savings objectives and investment policies, the working behavior, and the tax consciousness of the country's high-income people.

The study involved interviews with a sampling of Americans whose annual incomes ranged in groups from $10,000-$15,000 to $300,000 and over.

Insights of this kind hold a fascination for us, since they help to discover the motivations that influence Americans in the management of their money. We have long shared the regret of the U.S. Department of Labor consultant that so little is known about the determinants of individual savings when information on family spending has been available for so long.

One of the surprises in the study relates to the attractiveness to high-income people of institutions like ours that offer fixed yields on assets. The public impression of affluent persons is that they are wheeler-dealers who are seeking high though speculative returns on their investments.

While three-fourths of the high-income respondents own common stock, three-fourths also have savings accounts. Ownership of accounts is fairly consistent at all levels:

—70 per cent of those with annual income of $300,000 and over.

—74 per cent of those with $150,000-300,000 annual income.

—78 per cent of those with $75,000-150,000 annual income.

—84 per cent of those with $30,000-75,000 annual income.

—79 per cent of those with $15,000-30,000 annual income.

—67 per cent of those with $10,000-15,000 annual income.

These figures would not be significant if the amounts in savings accounts were of a token nature. But the evidence shows they are substantial.

Most of the high-income individuals struck a fairly even balance among their three types of assets — fixed-yield interest and rent, common stocks, and investments in real estate and unincorporated businesses.

A few respondents specifically mentioned that they regarded savings accounts as an attractive investment because of the insurance of accounts by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and Loan Insurance Corporation.

One man said: "I have more than half a million in savings institutions. I have it in perhaps 55 institutions in different cities throughout the country."

Since the survey was completed before the stock market decline, this distribution of wealth among fixed-yield assets, stocks, and other investments reflects a prudent judgment at one time, not just in the face of an uncertain market.

South Shore Line To Pass 6 Million Mark By Sept. 1 Birthday

By the time its first birthday arrives on September 1, the six-mile rapid transit extension of the MBTA's South Shore Line will have carried more than six million revenue passengers.

The new line is the initial segment of a planned South Shore Extension to Braintree and to Weymouth or Holbrook.

It was officially opened with a gala celebration on September 1, 1971, and placed in revenue service the following day.

Within a few weeks of the opening, the line, which serves three stations in Quincy, was carrying more than the 20,000 daily revenue passengers in both directions, Mondays through Fridays, that had been projected for the line after 12 months of operation.

Even now during the Summer months when ridership normally slackens, the number of daily revenue passengers ranges from over 20,000 to nearly 22,000.

On the basis of the 5,456,699 revenue passengers on the new line from September 2 through July 26, the six millionth revenue passenger can be expected to board a South Shore train about two days before the line's first birthday, according to General Manager Joseph C. Kelly.

Brett Repeats Opposition

To South Quincy MBTA Station

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has written Transportation Secretary Alan Altshuler to reiterate his opposition to locating an MBTA station near Capens Circle.

Brett said the "next station after Quincy Center should be located at the proposed Braintree Center location which is adjacent to Route 3 and other arterial highways."

The site also has "many acres of abutting open space land for development and parking purposes, which the South Quincy area does not offer," he said.

A Capens Circle Station would also cause hazardous traffic situation in the South Quincy-North Braintree area, he said.

Santa Claus (Dick Blazo) Takes Top Honors In Marine Parade

Santa apparently is a hit anytime of the year and Sunday was no exception as he took top honors in the Quincy Bay Race Week Marine Parade.

Dick Blazo's "Nancy III" out of the Wessagusset Yacht Club was the unanimous choice of the judges as the best decorated cabin cruiser.

Santa rode atop the cruiser in his sleigh, with youngsters and a number of pretty elves up front.

Runner-up honors went to John Howley's "Sea Wife II" from Town River Yacht Club, decorated in a circus theme, including clowns and a trapeze artist.

Third place went to Baintree Yacht Club's Emil Bernier whose "Pegasus II" was decorated in a "Smile Bruins" theme.

In fourth place was Town River Yacht Club's Sted Beckwith with a timely question for his theme: "Where Have Our Haddock Gone?"

A total of 113 boats crossed the parade finish line with Town

River Yacht Club leading with 29 representatives. Metropolitan Yacht Club was second with 25 and Baintree Yacht Club third with 23.

Judges were Joseph C. Aveni, commodore of the Massachusetts Bay Yacht Clubs Association; Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun; F. Gordon Davis, president Quincy Bay Race Week Association; Police Chief Francis X. Finn and Willis A. Smith.

Cavicchi Brothers Win Hustler Class

Famous Loan Series #37

"You want how much?
To go in which direction?
To end up where?"

Columbus had an idea. But it took a little explaining before he could get the money to try it out. Some ideas are like that. Others are a lot easier to explain. Your idea might be a new castle. Or a new car. Or a new family room. Or maybe a well-deserved trip.

These are easy to explain... and at the Quincy Co-operative Bank we make it as easy as possible for you to get the money for them. And we promise you the lowest interest rates around.

So, drop into our Quincy Square or Hanover office and see one of our loan officers.

They just might be able to open up a whole new world for you.

Haley Keeps Bermuda Cup

Dick Haley of Weymouth retained possession of the Boston Bermuda Cup last week as his "Checkmate" finished with a corrected time of 6:24:59.

Haley won the race last year in his "Holiday III".

Dave Johnson's "Whereaway" finished second Sunday, followed by James Coppedge's "Bemide Derde", Steve Hazeltine's "Penny Pincher".

James Pagliaro's "Born Free" and George Billings' "Katmau".

The silver punch bowl, in the custody of Quincy Yacht Club for more than 50 years, was originally established as trophy for a Boston-to-Bermuda yacht race.

That race was never held and Hollis Burgess of Quincy Yacht Club won the cup in 1911 for a Labor Day ocean race.

Pyramid Class Title To Peter Schnerch

Peter Schnerch scored 6.75 points to win the Pyramid Class competition during Quincy Bay Race Week.

Finishing behind him were

Joe Balfe, Jim Baldwin, Art Mellyn, Bob Preble, Oby Welliver, Ralph Larson and Larry Callahan.

Paul Feeney's 3.5 Tops Sprites

The Sprite Class competition title went to Paul Feeney with 3.5 points during Quincy Bay Race Week.

Feeney defeated Paul Duffy, Frank Hanson, Bill Donald, Barry Callo and Jimmy Milan for the victory.

Elins Brothers Capture 420 Title

The Elins Brothers amassed 56.5 points to edge out Sam Johnson for the 420 Class title in Quincy Bay Race Week.

King Stops Sears To Give Keohane's Championship

A five-hitter by Dave King and Steve Jaehnig's two-run single gave Keohane's a 2-0 victory over Sears and the Quincy Little League championship last week.

A capacity crowd saw Andy Carrera and Butch Olson scramble across the plate in the third inning for what proved to be the winning runs to end a hard-fought, three-game series.

Sears waltzed to a 6-2 victory in the first game behind a five-hit pitching performance by Joe Burke and a homer and two singles by Lenny Picot.

Steve Hale collected two singles for Sears in that first game and Andy Carrera collected a double and single for Keohane's.

It looked like Sears was going to sweep as they led 9-5 in the last inning of the second game until Keohane's came up with four runs to send it into extra innings.

The game was called due to darkness and replayed the next day with Sears rallying for two runs in their last inning to tie the game. Butch Olson drove in Bobby Biagini in the eighth to give Keohane's the victory and even the series at one all.

Jimmy Deitch had three singles for Sears in that second game and Rich King picked up the win in relief of Steve Jaehnig.

Keohane's players include Kevin O'Connell, Rich Olson, Butch Olson, Steve Jaehnig, Eddy Kane, Bob Biagini, Jack Dunn, Rich King, Mike McCarthy.

Also Steve Canavan, Billy Jaehnig, John Newcomb, Dave King, Mike Jaehnig and Andy Carrera. Coaches are Charlie Jaehnig, Gildo Carrera and Vern Olson.

Morrisette's Len Pepe A Profile In Courage

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy Sun Writer

The Morrisette Legion baseball team's triumphant march, on the wings of phenomenal pitching, to its 18th Zone 6 championship, the Southeastern Sectional title and a berth in the state championship tourney, highlighted a story of great courage which is known to only a few people.

Pitching the deciding game in the sectional tourney, a 5-1 win over New Bedford, and hurling two of the seven successive shutouts which gave Morrisette the zone crown, was Leonard [Len] Pepe, slim southpaw who has never lost a Legion game in three years.

His five-hitter against New Bedford last week put the Morrisette team in the state championship tourney with Arlington, Milford and a team from the Springfield area. The winner of the double elimination tourney which opened Monday at Milford, will move into the New England tournament.

The rain probably saved Morrisette from a defeat in Monday's opening game of the state finals as the game was called in the third inning with Arlington leading, 4-0.

Pepe, who last year won three games in the state playoffs which saw Morrisette advance to the finals for the fifth time, ran his Legion record to 11-0 with the big win over New Bedford.

And therein lies the little-known story of courage and determination.

"We are delighted that Len is even able to play baseball," his mother, Mrs. Nicholas Pepe, said. "When he was six months old back in 1954, we were visiting my family in Louisiana and he contracted polio."

"It was the only known case of polio in the entire state and the doctors down there saw little hope of him surviving. But they did a marvelous job of pulling him through the really critical stages and I took him to the Boston Children's Hospital.

"There, a specialist in polio praised the efforts of the doctors in Louisiana and continued the work here. Len's bones were weakening and his spine curving and the specialist prescribed a therapy and exercise program for him.

"He had temporarily lost the use of his right arm and that is the reason he became a southpaw, as he began to use his left arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Pepe worked hard through the years as Len continued to show improvement, his bones strengthened, his spine straightened and he was able to move around well.

"My husband and I worked hard to make sure Len was faithful to his therapy but it is he who deserves the credit. He was determined to overcome his handicap and to play sports and we are all so happy for him."

Len, who will be a sophomore at Holy Cross College next month, began playing baseball in the Quincy Little League and played in the Babe Ruth League.

He graduated from Abp. Williams High school where he played baseball and hockey and doctors feel playing hockey did much to strengthen his bones and help him conquer the disease.

He joined the Morrisette team two years ago and has been used as a spot pitcher by Coach Ray Cattaneo.

The story of Len's early brush with death came as a surprise to even those closely associated with the team.

Pepe struck out seven and walked four against New Bedford and an unearned run in the fifth inning robbed him of still another shutout.

Mike Marvelle drove in two runs with a long triple, Dave Nelson, outstanding catcher who threw out a runner at second and another off first, drove in a run with a double, Tom Burke had two hits and an RBI, Russ MacDonald had two hits, Marvelle also had a single, Pepe had a hit and Joe Marani, playing his 20th straight game without an error, also had an RBI.

Thus Morrisette won the sectional tourney, a new innovation in Legion ball this year, without a loss as it defeated New Bedford, 5-2; Holbrook, 11-0 and New Bedford again. New Bedford, Zone 9 champion, qualified for the title game by ousting Holbrook, 3-1.

"You know, despite our amazing pitching record, the pitchers are not overpowering," Cattaneo said. "They get the ball over and make the batter hit the ball. We have a good defense and can pull off the double play when we have to."

"This is a great bunch of kids, everyone of them. I've had most of them for three years, ever since they got out of Babe Ruth ball. It is basically the same team that went to the state finals a year ago, only we are a better team this year."

"Len Pepe is a great example of the players' spirit and determination. Very few people knew of his polio and he was determined he would be a good baseball player. He certainly has achieved that goal. He is a good, steady player and a wonderful kid."

The Morrisette-Arlington game was to have been replayed Tuesday night at Milford, followed by the rained-out Milford-Springfield game.

Arlington, the Zone 5-A champion, is one of the favorites to cop the state title. It wound up its season with an 18-0 record and won a tournament in New York.

Tuesday's winners were scheduled to play last night, preceded by a game between the losers. The loser of that game would be eliminated and the other teams will continue tonight and Friday at the Milford field.

BOATING PROGRAM

Black's Creek Boating Program Director Joseph Daly reports that John and Maureen Swanton, Margot Callahan, Edward Rooney, James Kelly, Janice DeFura, Kevin McCormick, Mark Whalen, Paul Palmer and Diane and Dale Solander have passed rowing and now receive instruction in sailing.

Music specialists Susan Moscardelli and Karen Walsh note that the Perkins playground with Timothy Barry, Marla Bloom, Janice and Michael McAuliff, Chris Gorman and John Kelly, along with Pollard's vocalists and players Gordon and John Spencer, Wendi and David Sprowl all have demonstrated natural musical abilities.

TENNIS

Tennis Specialist Kevin McGinley muses that in his "racket" the ones to watch are Fred Palmer and Thomas Bamberry of Heron Road playground, Kevin Sullivan and Michael Menconi of O'Rourke, Steven Connolly, Kevin, William and Scott Anson of Snug Harbor, Janet and Ann Sines of LaBriere, Daniel MacDonald and Gregory Dansack of Faxon Field, Mark Hussey of Perkins, Timothy Estabrooks and Brian Ellis of Atlantic and Margaret Allen and Paul Sullivan of Forbes Hill playground.

AROUND THE ### PLAYGROUNDS

At the 31 playgrounds across the city:

Arts & Crafts specialist Marilyn Mele and Margaret Daly feel that Christine O'Rourke and Arvela Hogan of Forbes Hill, Robert Sullivan of Merrymount, Joanne Runge, Dawn Dabrolet, Mark Hayes and Michael Mattson of Quarterdeck playground, Carol Brillo, Daniel Whyte and Paul Samo of Pollard, Louis Guglieloni of Shea Rink, Mark Landry and Lisa Radley of Snug Harbor, John Greene of Squantum have made exceptional mobiles, earrings and flou-film flowers.

Other honorable mentions include: burlap flowers and macrame by Susanne Jay, Beatrice Peat, Dyan Collins, Heather McCann, Denise Jay, Bridget Feeney, Jean and Chris Cavanaugh, Mark Gallozia and Michelle DeMasi of Wollaston. Tie Dying entries by Anne O'Leary, Chris Scott, Jeffery and Jill Price, Deborah Mann and Louise Shaffer of Stoney Brae. Flo-Film entries by Gayle Grant of Myles Standish; Headbands, belts and bracelets by Steven McCluskey, Linda Nutting, and Diane Flynn of Atlantic; uniquely colored flowers by Karen Brinkert, Ann Miceli, Mary Anne Malzone, Lauren Baker, Cheryl Hayes, Gayle Zoia, Kathy and Karen O'Brien of Montclair.

David Moscow of Quarterdeck, a very artistic and useful potholder. Paper lanterns by Kathy Boyd, Ann Sines, Janice Lorenzetti and Bob Vicioni of LaBriere; Flowers by Maureen Desmond of Merrymount; dragon puppets by Gary Durante and Mike Jordan of Pond Street; a realistic football and stuffed animal figure of Snoopy by Robert Sabatini and Scott McCormack of Elm Street. Turtles by Donald Heath, Jeffery Heath, Louis Ventrelli and Richard Coose of Shea Rink; collages by Lisa and James Walker of O'Rourke playground; Yarn Dolls by Leslie DiStefano and Jacqueline Mallet of Bradford. Bear Bags by Maureen Kelly, Laurie Clark, Matthew Favara, Connie Parnani, Kevin Prezioso, John and Ellen Kilduff, Joseph Daniel, Thomas Pettigrew, Linda Preziosa, Lisa Edwards and Susan Smith of Kincade playground.

ARCHERY

Archery Specialist Daniel Coughlin reports Robert Arnold of O'Rourke, Dennis Connors of Pond Street, Dennis Bertoni of Shea Rink and Claire Oliverio of Fore River will most likely be the top competitors to beat in the up coming district meets. Also demonstrating exceptional skill are Dorothy Peterson, Michael and Robert Colin, Faith Lindberg, James Moore and Deborah Coutts.

At Schaefer Stadium it's a whole new ball game.

When you plug in a place like Schaefer Stadium, it's a whole lot different than flipping on the family television set. It takes a powerful lot of energy.

The new home of the New England Patriots professional football team in Foxboro, Massachusetts will use about 400,000 kilowatt hours of electricity annually.

That's enough to run all the lights, refrigerators, ranges, washers, dryers and other appliances in 80 homes for a whole year!

New construction like this will mean new additions for us, too, if we are to provide the kind of facilities it will take to meet these growing demands and satisfy our mutual environmental concerns. Like we say, it's a whole new ball game... and it will take teamwork to win it.

People like you working to make life a little better.

'My Ride On The Subway'

As I was riding into the city on the subway train recently, I studied the faces of the people in the car. Some of them were standing. I was. I saw an older man dozing...a woman wrestling with four children...one a baby in her arms...a lady whose cheap perfume matched the purple hair and gaudy jewelry she was wearing...a man with a short hair cut...gray suit...brief case...I think he was a lawyer...maybe a minister because he had a black tie and white shirt...there was the lady at least 50 pounds too heavy...the man with braces on his legs...and others. Nobody talked...you can't hear a thing when the train is rolling anyway...no greeting when anyone entered at a stop...no "goodbye" when anyone got off.

On the trip back there were different people...but the same glum expression...stone faces. The only difference was that they were wrestling with packages and bags with the names of the department stores where they had been shopping.

My impression was that the people on the subway train...going both ways...were really not a happy lot...but more than that I doubt that more than a very small percent of them will be living much differently ten years from now than they are right now. Most people abhor change. Most of the people will ride the same cars...go at the same time...shop in the same stores...have the same complaints about life...have the same friends...live in the same house...with the same husband/wife...with the same unresolved conflicts...with the same ideas taught to them in childhood. The point is...Most people resist change. Most people are more likely to remain in their dull...unhappy...uncomfortable situation than they are to get disturbed enough to do something to improve their situation.

One reader writes... "My husband doesn't believe in counselling...but I can't go on living this way. I must see you for help with my own life." Even though his wife is very unhappy with the relationship...this fellow...like most people...refuses to do anything that could change his situation. Now she's beginning to do something. People can change an unhappy situation.

What will help the "subway" people...people just like all of us...to experience a more satisfying kind of life? The politician's solution is usually better economics. The religionist says... "get religion...follow the rules of the Church". The educator says... "get learning...go to school...get your diploma...degree." Perhaps all these are needed...in various ways.

Where I think most people need change is first...to feel and express feelings. The stone faces in the subway car go back into their homes...and remain stony...and cold...and lacking in the expression of feeling. Cold people usually can't be very happy people.

Secondly...Most people need to outgrow their fear to love. Loving is trusting...feeling warm toward another person...not threatening...not hating...not suspicious...just believing in and accepting the other person...wanting to be close...and being close. But you can't do this unless you outgrow your fear to love.

I'd like to see the same people on the subway one year after they begin to feel...and express their feelings...and outgrow their fear to love. What a ride into the city that would be.

SS Beneficiaries Do Not Have To Apply For 20% Increase

Social security beneficiaries need not apply for the 20 percent benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon July 1.

Social security Quincy District Manager Frank G. Culkin, announces that all social security beneficiaries who are on the benefit rolls in September will receive the increase automatically. The increase is effective beginning with the payments for the month of September.

The average monthly benefit for a retired worker goes up from $134 to $162; for a retired couple from $224 to about $271. A widowed mother with two children will receive an average social security benefit of about $386, up from $322. For a disabled worker with a wife and one or more children, the new average monthly payment will be about $354, increased from $295.

The special monthly payments that are made to certain individuals age 72 and over who are not insured for regular social security case benefits will also be increased by 20 percent, from $48.30 to $58 for an individual and from $72.50 to $87 for a couple.

The new law also includes a provision for automatic annual increases in social security benefits as the cost of living rises in the future - a recommendation made by President Nixon in his 1969 message on social security.

Under the new law the contribution and benefit base - the maximum amount of annual earning that is counted for benefit and contribution purposes - will rise from the present $9,000 a year to $10,800 in 1973 and to $12,000 in 1974.

Thereafter, this amount would be adjusted automatically to keep pace with rising wages. This means that as earnings rise, workers whose earnings are at or above the level of the maximum earnings base will pay contributions on higher earnings - but they also will have those additional earnings counted toward the benefits that will be payable to them and their families in the future.

MBTA, McGilvray In Relocation 'First'

The MBTA was the first public agency in the country to apply a 1970 federal assistance program that enabled a relocated Quincy business firm to open for business with all new equipment and fixtures, reports Joseph C. Kelly, general manager.

The new federal program, established by the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act, was applied to resolve moving problems faced by McGilvray Drug which was displaced by construction of the Quincy Center Station and garage complex for the South Shore rapid transit extension.

Under provisions of the Act, McGilvray Drug was able to receive a substantial relocation payment for moving expenses for the actual cost of replacement equipment delivered and installed at its new location, less any proceeds received from the sale or trade-in of the old equipment.

Kelly said the relocation of this business with 100 percent new equipment and fixtures is being looked upon very closely as a pilot program by both the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Department of Transportation so that they may use it as a model for future moves wherever applicable.

Overseeing the move of the drugstore into a commercial area in the Quincy Center Station was the Right-of-Way and Relocation Section of the Authority's Law Department. This Section first began working with the owner in October 1967 and became responsible for the management of the building, in which he was located, when it was taken by eminent domain in September 1968.

In addition to assisting this business concern at the federal level, the Right-of-Way and Relocation Section was instrumental in obtaining passage of a 1968 statute by the Massachusetts General Court, authorizing the MBTA to lease property to certain displaced persons.

Passage of this Act permitted the drugstore to become the first tenant in the New Quincy Center Station and, simultaneously, achieve another distinction of being the first business to take advantage of this Act.

Judges Selected For 'Little Miss N. Quincy' Contest

The North Quincy Business and Professional Association has selected its committee to judge entries and determine the three finalists in the "Little Miss North Quincy" contest.

"Get Acquainted Days" chairman, Harold Glickman of Dudley Furniture Co., announced the judges will be:

Mrs. Mary Johnson, hostess of the "Stork Club", radio station WIDA.

Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun.

Thomas A. Corcoran, advertising director of the Granite Co-Operative Bank.

The committee will select three finalists from all entries submitted and final judging will be done by popular vote of North Quincy shoppers.

Entries of any young lady, living in the 02171 postal zone and born after Sept. 30, 1965 but before Sept. 30, 1969 will be accepted by most any North Quincy business before Aug. 26.

A prize of a $50 bond will be awarded to "Little Miss North Quincy". Other prizes will be awarded to her court. She will reign over North Quincy "Get Acquainted Days" September 28 - 29 - 30.

RUBIN DORFMAN, owner of Quincy Cycle Company at President Plaza, exhibits part of his store's large line of domestic and imported bicycles.

World Of Experience Packed Into Rubin Dorfman's Quincy Cycle Co.

Rubin Dorfman has literally brought a world of experience to his Quincy Cycle Company at President Plaza.

Dorfman, of Revere, has worked with bicycles for more than 30 years in Greater Boston and throughout Europe.

He was born in Vienna, Austria, graduated from the University of Vienna and, as a boy, helped his brother-in-law in one of that city's largest bicycle shops.

He left Vienna for France in 1936, worked two years at a Paris bicycle store and then moved to London where he spent 11 years with a bicycle manufacturer.

After six years with the British Army, he came to the United States, earned an engineering degree from MIT and rejoined his brother-in-law in a Lynnway bike shop.

And then, three months ago, his brother-in-law "pushed" him into his own business.

Dorfman's Quincy Cycle Company offers wholesale and retail sales of "practically every leading name in bicycles," Dorfman said.

Every bike is assembled and tested before it leaves the store and the shop features a large parts department with trained, experienced mechanics.

Dorfman, 55, and his wife, the former Mitzi Barras, have a son, Gerald J. Dorfman in Connecticut, also an engineer.

On The Screen

By Vincent Puleo

Average Six Hours
16 Minutes Of TV A Day

Will he or won't he? The SEAN CONNERY quiz game is rolling into motion again... Producers HARRY SALTZMAN and ALBERT R. BROCCOLI are readying the next James Bond film, "LIVE AND LET DIE", with a filming target date of October in mind. Each have had lengthy discussions with CONNERY trying to persuade him to make the next Bond caper... As of this writing CONNERY is sticking firm with an adamant "no thanks". But you never know...

SEAN CONNERY took the same stance when approached to make "DIAMONDS ARE FOREVER". SALTZMAN and BROCCOLI sweet talked him out of his negative Bondism with $1 million up front and a guarantee of 12½ percent of the take... From "DIAMONDS" CONNERY will eventually make $6 million... The producers have reportedly upped the ante to 15 percent of the gross with a $1.5 million up front salary... How CONNERY can refuse such an offer is beyond me. But with October right around the corner, SALTZMAN and BROCCOLI aren't taking any chances on not signing CONNERY...

As insurance, they've already scouted various prominent actors for the James Bond role. BURT REYNOLDS, ROGER MOORE and even PAUL NEWMAN have been approached by the producers to see if they would be "interested". All three have replied in the affirmative... With two months to go the SEAN CONNERY quiz game should account for SALTZMAN and BROCCOLI to lose more than their share of sleep... Personally I can't envision anyone but CONNERY in the famed James Bond role. GEORGE LAZENBY failed dismally in "ON HER MAJESTY'S SECRET SERVICE". And as a reviewer I wouldn't want to go thru another two-plus hour seat squirming episode ever again...

Just when I was wondering whatever because of STEPHEN McNALLY he turns up on the set of "BLACK GUNN". No, not in a featured part, but that of a character role... Oops, and look who's going straight. JOE DALLESSANDRO!... A product of the WARHOHL underground factory, DALLESSANDRO is making a clean break from the New York scene with a starring role in the legit motion picture, "THE GARDENER"... "THE MAN" was selected by the Overseas Press Club as the film of the month for July...

QUOTE, UNQUOTE: Presidential hopeful GEORGE McGOVERN on the Circus: "The Circus is a wonderful American Institution. When I was growing up the yearly arrival of the RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY was looked forward to with great excitement..." And the Senator enjoys film also; but of the G-rated variety... "THE LEGEND OF NIGGER CHARLEY" is one of the brighter flic spots on the summer horizon. In it's first 10 weeks the picture exceeded $7 million...

If you still haven't seen "THE GODFATHER", I can only quiz what are you waiting for?... From where I sit "MANNIX" is one of the best ways to while away a Wednesday eve... and MIKE CONNORS is the four star reason why... JACKIE GLEASON will [?] appear in a dramatic series the TV season of 1973-74. At least says CBS bigwig ROBERT WOOD. The ? is whether the "Great One" signs on the dotted line... "THE VALACHI PAPERS" will be released shortly. Just a matter of when... Paramount studio brass say February of '73, with producer DINO DE LAURENTIIS holding firm on an October release date...

According to a report released by the Television Bureau of Advertising, the average American views television six hours and 16 minutes a day, a jump of four minutes over last year. This marks the 10th straight year that small tube blurring has been on the increase... Next on the X-rated animated agenda is "SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN PERVERTS". And please, don't ask me what's next... I shudder to think... "DELIVERANCE", starring JON VOIGHT and BURT REYNOLDS, has been tapped to open the Atlanta Film Festival Aug. 10...

Dr. JOYCE BROTHERS has an identity problem. Is she a shrink, or a slapstick comic for the like of Talk Host gabquestioners?... The Walter Reade theater chain has only one link outside the U.S... And that's the Bloomsbury, back of the British Museum, if you're ever in London... Novelist turned screenwriter ALISTAIR MCLEAN just completed "THE WAY TO DUSTY DEATH", a bitter tale of a has-been race driver... That campaign to save the DICK CAVETT SHOW just won't work. CAVETT doesn't have that many tuned in pseudo-intellectuals to impress the Nielsen's. Ratings are the name of the game...

After a 14-year-old stall, STANLEY KUBRICK'S anti-war masterpiece "PATHS OF GLORY" [1958] may get a chance to be shown in France. Though never officially banned by that country's government, "GLORY" met with tremendous pressure due to the political climate in Paris at the time... The CHARLIE CHAPLIN nostalgia boom has thunderstruck Japan, with massive lines queuing up at Tokyo box offices...

English sensation SUZY KENDALL just completed her starring role in "FEAR IS THE KEY". The picture will be released stateside the first of next year, and is already being press-billed as one of the best of '73... "THE THING WITH TWO HEADS" has a police-chase sequel reminiscent of earlier MACK SENNETT speed-a-longs...

So you've always wondered why films aren't always shot on schedule. Well illness has something to do with it... "NIGHT WATCH" was stalled for a week because ELIZABETH TAYLOR caught the bug; and more recently because her male counterpart LAURENCE HARVEY had an appendicitis attack... And on the set of "THEATRE OF BLOOD", production temporarily shut down when DIANA RIGG suffered a slipped disc.

Along The Campaign Trail

Paul C. Gay Says He Is Most Qualified For Register

Paul C. Gay said Tuesday his six years' experience as First Assistant Register of Probate make him the most qualified candidate for the register's post in the November election.

Gay made the statement in an interview at The Quincy Sun during a whirlwind tour of Quincy to promote his candidacy.

Gay, a Norwood attorney, and Democrat, said he has spent six years as first assistant register of Norfolk County Probate Court dealing with "every aspect of family life from cradle to grave."

"My duties include handling adoptions, guardianships, custody of minors, separate support, divorce, administrations, probate of wills and equity petitions," he said.

He said he is also responsible for advising attorneys, preparing legislation, preparing trial schedules, processing and recording documents and regular staff and budgetary problems.

"I feel this experience and my interest makes me the most qualified man for the job," he said.

Gay spent all day Tuesday with campaign workers visiting Quincy sites including General Dynamics shipyard, Proctor & Gamble, Quincy Center MBTA station, City Hall, Quincy District Court and police station.

Among those accompanying him were his 10-year-old son John, and Atty. Richard W. Barry who is his Quincy campaign coordinator. He also toured with Quincy attorneys Joseph McFarland, George Tull, Thomas Byrnes, Nathaniel Sherman and Richard McCormick.

Treasurer Modernization Collins' Goal

Atty. James M. Collins of Milton, Democratic candidate for Norfolk County Treasurer, says that modernization and efficiency in the treasurer's office "mark the basis of my concern in running for Treasurer."

Hitting the campaign trail in Dedham, Quincy, Weymouth and Norwood, Collins said he hopes to meet several thousand voters in the next few weeks before the September primary "to bring home to them the problems that confront the treasurer's office, and the means which can be used to bring efficiency to it."

In recent weeks, Collins said he has spoken before nearly 100 civic and social groups in the county, and has made other appearances at public functions, community anniversaries and parades.

"Norfolk County is an $8 million business, but in many cases we are using 19th century methods to deal with 20th century problems," he declared.

"The thrust of my campaign will be to bring efficiency - and tax savings - to an office that most citizens have never heard of and know nothing about."

Collins, an assistant District Attorney for the past five years, is also an accountant, and was formerly associated with a major Boston certified public accountant.

An honor graduate of Stoughton High School, Collins received his accounting degree from Bentley College and his Business Administration Degree from Suffolk University before earning his Doctor of Jurisprudence Degree at New England School of Law.

In his role as Assistant District Attorney, Collins prosecuted welfare fraud and embezzlement cases in the county.

"A thorough knowledge of the law, and a thorough dedication to efficient operation of the Treasurer's office, are the most important things in a treasurer," he said. "We have for too long accepted inaction and silence in the face of rising county expenditures and legislative attacks upon county government."

Collins concluded: "As auditor of the books of all Norfolk County agencies, and as a member of the Norfolk County Retirement Board by virtue of his office, the County Treasurer bears the responsibility for assuring that expenditures are correctly made, that budget limits are carefully observed, and that retiring municipal and county employees are fairly treated."

Roy Lawson, William Tuttle Nominated As GOP Electors

At a recent meeting of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee, Roy A. Lawson, of Quincy, and William R. Tuttle of Abington, were nominated as Electors of their party to the Electoral College.

Lawson, long politically active, said he would like to see more people become interested in the "political system". He said he believes "whatever your party leaning, you should support it and if you feel change is necessary then the best way to change it is to join and become active from within."

Lawson was elected to the Republican State Committee last Spring and was appointed by State Chairman Otto Wahrab as Budget Committee Chairman.

Tuttle is a Quincy native and for a number of years, like his father, Sam, was an active member of the Republican Ward

I Committee. He has since moved to Abington and became active in the party's function in that community. He was elected to the Republican State Committee last Fall and was recently elected Assistant Treasurer of that body.

Brett To Refrain From Signs

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has announced that he will again refrain from posting political signs on poles, lawns, fences and buildings in his reelection bid to the House of Representatives.

Brett has urged all political candidates to join with him in keeping signs from "locations where they would tend to detract from the appearance of the community."

He has called for "a joint effort to keep Quincy as an attractive and desirable city in which to live."

Quincy Ecology Group Restocks Stores With Litter Bags, Stickers

Nearly 5,000 free anti-litter bags and stickers were handed out by five stores during the first week of a campaign by the Quincy Ecology Group.

Chairman Ron Halter said all stores have been restocked and Preville's Market, 72 Summer St., and D & D Delicatessen, 101 Liberty St., have been added to the list.

The free items are available at Brett's Package Store, Mecagni's Variety Store, Naborhood Drug, Brewer's Corner Pharmacy and Page's Drug Store.

David Petterson Enrolled At Berklee

Berklee College of Music, has enrolled David Petterson of 55 Haviland St., Wollaston in its Freshman Class of 1972.

His curriculum will include courses in arranging, composition, improvisation, solo and orchestral performance as well as courses in the humanities. Upon graduation he will be qualified for a career as a teacher, arranger, composer and instrumentalist.

CITY OF QUINCY Registration Of Voters

For the purpose of adding names to the voting list, there will be Daily Registration up to and including August 19, 1972 during office hours at City Hall, Quincy

ADDITIONAL SESSION WILL BE HELD AS FOLLOWS:

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19

at City Hall, from 10 A.M. to 10 P.M., this being the last day for registration before the State Primary, September 19, 1972.

John M. Gillis
Clerk of the Board of Registrars

Saturday Deadline To Register For Primary

Paul D. Harold, President of the Massachusetts Young Democrats, reminds Quincy residents that Saturday is the last day to register to vote for the Sept. 19 primary.

Registration is held Monday through Friday at Quincy City Hall, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. A special registration session will be held at city hall this Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

To be eligible to register, Harold pointed out, persons must be 18 years of age or older and be residents of Quincy for at least 30 days.

If you are living in Quincy any time before August 19, even if it is one day, you have fulfilled the residency requirement. Registration is closed 30 days before the election and thus ensures that the people voting in the election have lived in Quincy at least 30 days, he explained.

The Sept. 19 primary is especially important because of the fact that a number of contests will be decided in the primary. Since there are no Republican candidates in a number of races, nomination in the Democratic primary is tantamount to election.

Sept. 30 Application Deadline

For Academies Civil Service Exam

Congressman James A. Burke announces the deadline for applications for the competitive civil service examination for appointments to Annapolis, West Point, Air Force and Merchant Marine Academies is Sept. 3.

The exam is open to young men between the ages of 17 and 21 who are residents of Avon, Braintree, Brockton, Holbrook, Milton, Quincy, Randolph, Stoughton, Abington, Whitman, Boston Wards 15, 16 and 17 [Dorchester] and Ward 18 [Hyde Park-Mattapan area].

Anyone seeking additional information regarding applications may write to: Congressman James A. Burke, 241 Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Coleen O'Day, Richard Morrissey 'Leaders'

Recreation Director William F. Ryan announces the selection of Michael Morrissey and Miss Coleen O'Day as "Leaders of the Week".

Miss O'Day, LaBrique playground leader, "has demonstrated exceptional skill at not only providing and maintaining interesting programming for the youth of that community, but also in creating one of the best Arts & Crafts programs in the city," Ryan said. "Miss O'Day's ability to motivate and bring to fruition the hidden talents of the LaBrique youth underscore her high degree of professionalism."

Miss O'Day, a graduate of North Quincy High, is presently a junior majoring in Speech Therapy and Communication Disorders at the University of Massachusetts. She is a member of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority, the ARCON Campus Guides and is a Belchertown Volunteer, devoting considerable time working with the mentally retarded and cerebral palsy children. She is also a Board of Higher Education Scholarship recipient.

Morrissey, two year veteran of the sailing program located at Black's Creek, "has shown an outstanding talent and skill in teaching students the art of sailing," Ryan said. "Mr. Morrissey's knowledge and ability is extensive as is evidenced in his being selected to represent the United States last summer in the International 420 Meter Class Sailing Races held off France. This winter he plans to compete again when the series moves "Down Under" to Australia."

A 1972 North Quincy High graduate, team manager for the "Raiders" football and basketball teams, plans to enter the University of Massachusetts, Amherst this Fall.

Francis Mullen At Education Workshop

Francis L. Mullen of Quincy is one of only six school guidance specialists from New England who is participating in the first Career Education Workshop sponsored by Houghton Mifflin Company.

Mullen, who is head counselor at the Reay E. Sterling Junior High School, is participating in the six-week workshop which is designed to produce pragmatic and relevant career education materials for use by students, young adults, teachers and guidance counselors.

Participants in the workshop were selected from more than 50 applicants to perform basic editorial screening work on the more than 100 publishing proposals and manuscripts in the career education area which have been submitted to HMC. From all over the country. Many of these proposals for programs and manuscripts will be published by HMC.

New directions and greater

emphasis on career education and vocational guidance can be anticipated in the immediate future as these types of programs are gaining heavy support from government, business, non-profit organizations, educators and the general public. These programs are becoming part of the curriculum at all levels of education.

Mullen is a graduate of Boston College and the State Teachers' College at Boston. He has been an associate professor at State Teachers' College at Boston.

He has been head counselor at Quincy Vocational-Technical School, curriculum coordinator and guidance counselor at Quincy Trade School, counselor in the Quincy Adult Basic Education Program and recreational supervisor for the Quincy Recreation Department.

Mullen is a member of the Massachusetts Teachers Association, the Massachusetts School Counselors Association, the Quincy Teachers Association, the National Education Association and the South Shore Guidance Association. He lives on Forbes Hill Rd, Quincy.

New Booklet On Heart Attack Available

Most of the time you are not aware of your heart.

You go about your daily activities rarely feeling it beat. Seldom, if ever, do you think about how your heart is doing its job and what sustains it in its work.

A new booklet available from your Heart Association entitled, Heart Attack: How To Reduce

Your Risk", has been written to help you understand some of the factors doctors believe are related to heart attack. It also provides you with some good reasons for checking up on your heart, and for eliminating habits which may be endangering its health.

The booklet also contains a glossary of terms your doctor may use. If you ever wanted to know the definition of such words as arteriosclerosis, embolus, myocardial infarction - they are listed.

To obtain "Heart Attack: How To Reduce Your Risk", write to the Southeast Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association, 495 Westgate Drive, Brockton, Massachusetts 02401.

Veterans News

A veteran who received an "other than honorable" discharge from military service because of drug use or possession may apply for a discharge review, according to a reminder from the Veterans Administration.

Some months ago, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird announced that military departments would "review for recharacterization administrative discharges issued under 'other than honorable conditions' solely on the basis of personal use of drugs or possession of drugs for such use."

It was explained the purpose of the review policy is to provide an opportunity for this group of veterans to become eligible for VA medical treatment. VA has 44 drug treatment centers, but is barred by law from treating veterans with dishonorable discharges.

Following the Secretary's announcement, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson issued a directive to VA personnel to be on the alert for veterans with such discharges, and to encourage them to request reviews.

Johnson pointed out that each review application must be submitted to the military department that issued the discharge, and that self-explanatory review applications (DD Form 293) are available at VA offices and military installations.

Jean Conley Finds 'Dream Job' As Patriots Cheerleader

It's amazing where a secretarial course can lead to these days.

Take Jean Conley of 57 Division St., North Quincy, for instance.

Jean took the shorthand and typing route at Quincy Junior College after graduating from North Quincy High School in 1967 and wound up in what she considers "a dream job".

Her duties include five days a week as private secretary to New England Patriots President Billy Sullivan and spending Sundays on the sidelines at Schaeffer Stadium in Foxboro.

For Jean is one of 20 New England Patriots cheerleaders.

Through her Foxboro duties, she has come to know many of the superstars of professional football and has become somewhat of a celebrity herself.

Since becoming a cheerleader, Jean has appeared on television several times, including a guest shot on a talk show.

Also "many people stop and ask me if I am a cheerleader with the Patriots and if I will be back next season," she said.

"It sort of gives you a good feeling to know you're not killing yourself to stay in shape for no reason," she said.

Jean says cheerleading is "not only fun, but also a lot of hard work. It's time consuming and takes a lot of practice."

The cheering squad

practices twice a week from 7 p.m. on, working on precision dance routines and pom-pom girl numbers.

Jean has had many interesting job offers since working for the Patriots, including a request that she work for the Boston Bruins. But she's a Patriots girl all the way.

"The most important thing to me is being associated with Mr. Sullivan, who is the second most important man to me," she said.

The first, of course, is her father, Robert W. Conley of North Quincy.

Jean is also assistant manager of the China Lido Men's Softball Club in Quincy, the only female assistant manager in the league.

Superstructure Completed

765-Car Ross Area.. Parking Garage Will Be Open By Oct. 16

The last of 572 concrete slabs for the $2.4-million Ross Parking Garage was hoisted into place at topping-off ceremonies Monday.

The facility is scheduled to be opened Oct. 16.

A crane lifted the 63-foot, 14-ton spandrel to the top of the southwest corner of the garage four days ahead of schedule to complete phase one of the construction.

City officials and business leaders joined architect Joseph A. Donahue and representatives of Gil-Bern Construction Co. for the ceremony.

On hand were Public Works Comr. James J. Ricciuti, Development Coordinator John Cheney and Frank E. Remick, co-chairman of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association promotion committee.

Workers spent eight weeks erecting the superstructure of the garage, which Donahue said should be opened by the October 16 deadline.

The 765-car garage will be open for the Christmas shopping season with metered parking at 10 cents per hour, making it one of the most inexpensive enclosed parking facilities in the nation.

Landscaping plans include converting Cliveden St. and the alley between the Hancock Bank and Remick's into pedestrian malls with trees and benches, Donahue said.

Construction crews have begun laying three-inch reinforced concrete floors over the "T" slabs which support each level of the facility.

The garage will have entrances at Granite Street and on Parking Way by Gilchrist's with stairwells at each corner and an elevator facing the Hancock Bank, Donahue said.

Pre-stressed slabs used in the construction range in weight from 14 to 28 tons.

Smyth Announces Street Resurfacing Program List

Transfer High School Students Urged To Report

All high school students new to the city and to Quincy public schools are urged to report to the guidance offices at Quincy and North Quincy High Schools Aug. 21 - Sept. 1.

Members of the guidance staff will be available from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily to meet with students and parents and assist them with admission procedures and program planning.

Counselor Peter Fitch will be on duty at North and Counselors Richard Haines and Edward Nankin will be available at Quincy High.

Students should bring transfer cards with them.

● Editorials

Quincy Moves Ahead

More than 100 Quincy Center stores and businesses worked together last month to organize the city's third annual Sidewalk Bazaar.

The great success of that event proved beyond doubt that, with cooperative effort, Quincy Center can continue to grow and prosper as the shopping and business capitol of the South Shore.

With these goals in mind, a group of merchants has organized as the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association with Robert J. Colman as president and John E. Murray as executive director.

Stores and businesses in the Quincy Center area are enthusiastically joining the organization and we join with them as a member in offering our whole-hearted support.

The Quincy Sun has a deep-seated belief in and commitment to the future of Quincy Center.

We have stated in earlier editorials our conviction that the shopping district can and will retain its position of leadership in the suburban area.

Quincy Center offers a larger variety of stores, products and services than any of the suburban shopping plazas.

The area houses specialty and department stores, plus professional services such as medical, dental, legal and financial offices which can not be found in any plaza.

And the soon to be completed Ross Parking Garage will add some 800 spaces to the already formidable parking capacity of the shopping district.

All that is needed is a concentrated effort for the advancement of the entire area.

And, we believe, the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association will provide just that.

The rapidly-growing organization is already planning regular promotional activities to keep the shopping community bustling year-round.

We applaud Mr. Colman and Mr. Murray and those working with them for the initiative and dedicated effort which they have already exhibited.

And we pledge our support to those efforts which, we are convinced, will work for the benefit of every merchant, businessman and property owner in Quincy Center.

A Superb Season

Some of the finest baseball in New England has been played this summer right here at Adams Field in Quincy.

The Morrisette Post American Legion club thrilled spectators by compiling a 15-4 record to win its 18th Zone 6 championship and the Southeastern Sectional title.

Morrisette pitchers ran up an incredible string of seven consecutive shut-outs and the team was edged out by Milford in the state finals.

The loss of the state championships must be a cause of great disappointment to the young men who worked so hard and played so well all summer.

But we can't say enough in the way of congratulations for a job well done.

Special praise is in order for Jimmy Walker, Bob Malvesti, Len Pepe, Tony Knasas, Tom Burke, Russ MacDonald, Joe Marani and Dom D'Olimpio in their last year as legion players.

And thanks and a fond farewell go to Nick Malvesti, athletic director of the post, who is retiring to Florida this year.

We look forward now to next year when coach Ray Cattaneo will lead a team including this year's stars Dave Nelson, Jim Driscoll, Artie Boyle and Mike Marvelle to another fine season.

Dr. Creedon Urges Nixon To Sign Education Bill

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools, has written President Nixon to urge him to sign the new Education Appropriation Bill.

Dr. Creedon said federal money already earmarked for local school systems would be held up if the president does not sign the bill.

The superintendent also wrote to Cong. James A. Burke to thank him for his vote for the bill and to urge him to vote to override if the President should veto the legislation.

- McGovern Far Behind In Polls
- Chinese Aim Russia Counter-Strike
- Meat Prices Bring Back Rustlers

WASHINGTON—The grim reaper of political ambitions—the American pollster—has dealt a heavy blow to George McGovern.

The latest polls show McGovern more than 20 percentage points behind Richard Nixon.

Normally when an underdog is faced with such gloomy polls, he hires his own pollster to come up with figures to dispute the experts. But we have learned that McGovern's own private polls also show him running far behind the President.

Yet, despite these polls, it is still too early to count George McGovern out of the presidential race. The next few weeks, however, are crucial to his chances. Unless McGovern begins to move up dramatically in the polls this month, according to his own analysis, he simply will not have enough time to catch Nixon by election day.

So, what is the real deadline for McGovern—the date when he must begin to make his move in the polls? McGovern himself says the middle of October. But his aides privately are more realistic. They say the deadline is Labor Day. If McGovern isn't beginning to move in the polls by then, he's had it.

CHINESE COUNTER-STRIKE

If the Russians ever decide to move against China's nuclear works, the Chinese in retaliation would probably strike Vladivostok, the important Russian port on the Sea of Japan.

U.S. intelligence reports reveal that Mainland China has deployed its tiny arsenal of short-ranged nuclear missiles in the north near the Soviet border.

The missiles, we understand, are all aimed at Vladivostok, which lies only 30 miles from the Sino-Soviet border.

Intelligence reports also reveal trouble on China's home front. Mao Tse-tung, we have learned, is becoming increasingly concerned about unrest among Chinese youth.

An old revolutionary romantic who believes the peasant life can purify young people, Mao has sent thousands of city youths to work on agricultural communes.

But many Chinese youngsters are rebelling against the simple life. Thousands are fleeing the farms and sneaking back into the cities. Hundreds more, say the reports, have made it all the way to Hong Kong.

MINE FINE BACKLOG

Among our most dismal statistics are the growing casualties in the nation's mines. Congress passed a tough mine safety law three years ago. But the Bureau of Mines has been far from tough in enforcing it.

Now, the General Accounting Office has accused the Bureau of "negligence" in assessing and collecting fines. The GAO charges that an average of four months usually goes by between the discovery of a mine safety violation and the assessment of a fine.

Yet this is just the beginning. The big corporations, which control America's coal mines, can tie the case up in appeal proceedings almost indefinitely. At the end of last year, the GAO found, there was a backlog of more than a thousand fines totaling nearly $3 million. Even after the appeals are exhausted, the GAO found that the Bureau of Mines still dawdles.

The result of this astonishing performance is that the safety record of the nation's most hazardous industry is not improving significantly.

The public has been given all too many dramatic reminders of this. Only a few weeks ago, for example, a fire at the Blackville Number One mine in West Virginia killed nine men. That mine had been assessed fines of more than $10,000 during the previous year. But more than $9,000 remained unpaid at the time of the fatal accident.

FLOOD SINKS 'WILKES-BARRE'

It is part of a congressman's duties to cut ribbons, shovel ceremonial soil, attend banquets—and even, perhaps launch ships. But Rep. Dan Flood has come up with a new one. He was invited by the Navy to witness a "ship-sinking."

The Navy recently selected a 29-year-old cruiser, the "Wilkes-Barre," to test the "vulnerability of light cruisers to torpedo attack."

The sinking was supposed to take place far out to sea. But the city of Key West, Florida, prevailed upon the Navy to lay the ship to rest a mere 13 miles off the coast. The idea was to create an artificial reef, around which fish would congregate.

The Navy, ever in search of a public relations coup, graciously agreed. Congressman Flood, whose hometown in Pennsylvania is also named Wilkes-Barre, was invited to the event. The cruiser was positioned, the explosives were attached, but the rusty old Wilkes-Barre refused to cooperate.

Instead of plunging to the bottom, she broke into two large pieces. Both ends poked out of the water. Instead of an artificial reef, the Navy had created a water hazard. A demolition squad had to come out the next day to finish off the job—without the congressman and the ceremony.

RUSTLERS RIDE AGAIN

The rising price of meat in today's supermarkets has helped revive cattle rustling out west.

Modern bandits now use trucks rather than horses to steal the beef. The rustlers pull up alongside some stray cattle, drive the animals into a truck and then speed down a superhighway with hundreds of dollars worth of beef.

With no hoof prints to follow, sheriffs out west are often at a loss to track down the rustlers.

Our Flag's Birthday

By JAMES KEANE
Atherton Hough School

Following is the essay by James Keane of Atherton Hough School which won first prize in the Flag Day contest sponsored by Houghs Neck Legion Post.

On Flag Day we celebrate the Birth of our Flag. We honor our Flag on that day because it is the symbol of our country and us. It is also the symbol of our gaining independence from England. Ever since that time our Flag has been the symbol of our way of life, our government, and our freedom.

In America we can live without fear of someone spying on us or putting us in jail without a trial. That's because in America we have certain rights and freedoms that people in other countries do not have. I think that is why people come from other countries to live in America. Some people come from Cuba on rafts just to get away from a communistic government and enjoy freedom in the United States. Usually the first thing these people see is our Flag. It reminds them of the freedom that lies ahead.

In the United States we all have a chance to vote for our leaders. The person who we pick isn't a dictator, he just signs laws made by congress, picks his cabinet members, and does other things connected with running our country. The President is picked by the people while in other countries sometimes the most powerful man in the country is made the leader. Picking our leaders is another freedom of ours.

The Flag is the symbol of all this. I'm proud of the Flag. That's why we should celebrate Flag Day, Our Flag's Birthday.

17 Businesses Join Quincy Center Association During First Week

NEW MEMBER — Ethelyn Sacchetti of Lynn's Card and Gift Shop receives certificate of membership into the new Quincy Center Business and Professional Association. With her are Association Executive Director John E. Murray, center, and President Robert J. Colman.

Seventeen stores and businesses have enrolled in the new Quincy Center Business and Professional Association in the first four days of its membership drive.

Executive Director John E. Murray said he was "extremely pleased" by the enthusiasm shown by merchants he has visited.

Murray said several branches of chain stores in the shopping district have committed themselves to membership pending approval of their home offices.

Signed members include:

- Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream.
- Burgin & Platner Insurance Agency.

- Child Teen Shoe Shop.
- Colman Sporting Goods.
- Granite City Hardware.
- Hancock Bank and Trust Co.

- Jason's Luggage and Music Shop.
- Kincaide Furniture Corp.

- Lynn's Card & Gift Shop.
- Montilio's Bakery.
- The Quincy Sun.
- Remick's of Quincy.
- Roger's Jewelry Store.
- Sawyer's Campus Shop.
- South Shore National Bank.

- South Shore Television & Appliance.
- Tag's Sleep & Lounge Shop.

Murray said he "purposely visited a cross-section" of the business community in order that businesses of all types and sizes would be represented among early members.

Some 45 merchants and businessmen attended a meeting of the association Tuesday at the South Shore National Bank to discuss future projects.

The association will organize all future promotions for the shopping district including the sidewalk bazaar, Christmas festival and monthly "mini-promotions," Murray said.

Among topics for discussion were the new Ross Parking Garage, setting up of Christmas lights and establishment of a committee to take charge of promotions.

Murray said he will continue to canvass the Quincy Center area to enlist members into the organization.

"It is absolutely imperative that we have the full support of each and every business and professional man in the Quincy Center area to ensure the success of the association," he said.

New South Suburban Telephone Directories Being Delivered

Quincy area telephone customers, Wednesday began receiving their 1972 New England South Suburban Telephone directories.

Local telephone manager William J. Knox said 150,000 copies of the directory will be delivered to customers in the following exchange areas by Sept. 15:

Quincy, Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Holbrook, Hull,

Milton, Randolph, Scituate and Weymouth.

Knox said the new directory contains the new numbers of North Quincy customers who will be served by the new electronic Switching System that will go into operation at the company's Hancock St. central office Sept. 2.

"Thus the numbers listed for these customers in the new directory will not be effective until the Sept. 2 conversion to the new exchange," Knox said.

A card enclosed with each directory will inform customers of the Sept. 2 effective date.

The directory has a photograph of a Scituate Harbor scene on its cover.

Special features include emergency numbers for fire and police listed on the inside front cover.

The inside back cover provides space for jotting down frequently called numbers.

Brownell Calls Mandatory

Retirement 'Gross Discrimination'

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has termed as "gross discrimination against the elderly" provisions of an act requiring retirement of court officers at age 65.

Brownell said he will file a bill to repeal the requirement in favor of optional retirement.

"It is unfortunate that this provision was slipped into the intermediate court legislation," he said.

"The trend to discriminate against the elderly merely because of their age must be stopped," he said.

Longer Life Up To You

To a greater extent than ever before, barring accidents, realizing a longer life is up to the individual. The enormous gain in life expectancy in America - 71 years in 1967 [an increase of 22 years since 1900] is a gift of modern medicine, research and public health measures. The top killers at the beginning of the century were infectious diseases - pneumonia and influenza; tuberculosis; diarrhea and enteritis and diphtheria. They accounted for one third of all fatalities. Now, thanks to medical advances, all are far down on the danger list.

Today's major killers are the diseases of the middle and later years. Arteriosclerosis and cancer account for 75 percent of all non-accidental deaths among adults.

In many cases, these killing diseases can be cured, avoided or arrested if the patient reports the earliest symptoms to a doctor. A good place to start, is with a regular, complete medical checkup - especially during the crucial years between ages 40 to 50.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to a NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. You can also pay your electric or telephone bills or use our notary public service. Hospital equipment and supplies for rent or sale. Prescription tax and insurance records kept plus 24 hour emergency service in North Quincy. Open 7 days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Special Features

Setting A Lively Pace...

Cottons Parade Back To School

COTTON GET TOGETHER—Separates in brushed cotton offer multiple ways to head back-to-school stylishly. Snap-front shirt jackets team up here with front-zipped A-line skirt and bellbottoms. Completely machine-washable, the Cinderella separates in Wamsutta cottons feature a multi-colored fruit print on navy blue.

"Batch" It ---- Don't Botch It!

Whether you're a Summer bachelor (male or female), or the year-round variety, there is a basic attitude toward living alone that can make it much more enjoyable. That attitude is: you deserve the best. Take as good care of yourself as you would of an honored guest. Don't "make do" with unattractive linens, for instance, just because nobody generally sees them except you. Who is more important? Decorating can be done attractively on any budget. The idea is to surround yourself with objects that do something for your own solitary spirits. Towels and bedsheets come in dozens of handsome patterns today at reasonable cost. Patterned sheets make great curtains and summer bedspreads or tablecloths, too—as do the Madras throws available at import bargain stores.

Even a hamburger-and-salad dinner seems more palatable when it's served well. Set a place for yourself at the table. A few cut flowers are in order. Ditto candlelight, if you're the type, and background music. If this sounds overdone when it's dinner for one, ask yourself which sounds more relaxing: the scene above or a TV tray dumped in front of the Boob Tube ... or eaten at the sink in a few hasty mouthfuls?

Show me a bachelor with style, and I'll show you a bachelor with good eating habits. This applies to breakfast especially. When you live alone, it's easy to get into the habit of sleeping until the last possible moment before dressing and dashing for work. If that's becoming your morning pattern, start adding a glass of Carnation Instant Breakfast to the routine—preferably served in style on Vera's black and white art placemat called "Reflections". Of course, you could drink your Instant Breakfast while shaving or applying make-up, but it's more fun this way. Mixed with 8 ounces of whole milk, one packet becomes a bacon-and-egg kind of nutritious meal. Don't you owe it to yourself to start off with this energy edge ... every single day?

CLASSIC—The cotton corduroy jumper is updated with a little help from the kitchen. Quilted potholder mitts in a lively calico print replace ordinary pockets. The same print shapes a long-sleeved blouse. By Country Aire.

KID STUFF—Cotton corduroy breaks into colorful argyle print for casual school pants cut with flared legs. Styled by Chevron, they're worn with a zip-front knit top. Corduroy by Cone.

Sun Signs

By Regina Russell

Week of Aug. 24 - 31

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - What you say to children this week makes good sense, don't be surprised if they listen for once!

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - This is a good time to take the bull by the horns and push thru those things which require courage on your part.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - In spite of minor irritations and disagreements that plague you this week, an important decision will be made.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - This is an excellent time to put together your fall wardrobe and to generally improve your personal appearance.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 21] - You are on an enthusiastic but practical spending spree. A lot of thought is going into your purchases.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - To accomplish all the tasks you have in mind you will need a well planned schedule, don't neglect health.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - An unexpected purchase upsets your budget and causes difficulties at home, you may be able to talk your way out.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - You are going through a period of mixed emotions. The change that's coming in financial affairs will help.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Good fortune and social success is assured for those who have been working in the right direction. Avoid excess!

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Now would be a good time to visit the doctor or dentist and clear up any health problems you have.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Things are now going well for you and you are able to see more clearly the course your life should take.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - What is happening now is for your own good, take time to think things over and don't rush into changes.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

"I can't afford to diet..." said the woman in the supermarket to her friend. "Those diet foods are expensive. Have you looked at the price of veal and fish these days?"

I watched the two of them closely as they wound through the aisles. The talker plopped a package of dip crackers into her cart, next a package of pretzel sticks, and finally a bag of potato chips. Then I lost her as she made her way to the check-out counter.

For noney me, it was just too much. Back I went to the meat counter. Veal chops were $1.79 a pound. That's high, I'll admit, but it's all clear meat and that means all clear protein. At the fish counter I had to agree that prices had spurted upwards, but there was frozen turbot to be had for 69 cents a pound. Also, I could have bought whole flounder for 59 cents a pound.

Back in the junk food aisle, I whipped over to check the prices on the items that the non-dieter had selected. The dip crackers were 45 cents for a 4 ounce box. That comes to $1.80 per pound. The pretzel sticks figured out to 76 cents for a pound; the potato chips, 90 cents. I am talking about the same brands that I watched her buy.

There's a moral there. You get what you pay for. When you pay $1.79 for veal chops you are purchasing protein power. But spend the like amount on dip crackers, and how much nourishment will you buy? Fish at 69 cents and 59 cents will fill a bigger void than will pretzels and chips at 76 cents and 90 cents a pound.

Spend your money for the ingredients in a dish like this, and you have invested in good nutrition, not squandered on worthless junk.

SWEET & SOUR MEATBALLS

2 lbs. ground Veal
1 tablespoon MSG
1 tablespoon parsley
½ cup dry minced onions
1 teaspoon salt

Mix together and form in small balls. Brown in teflon or Pam-sprayed skillet and drain fat off.

Add:
4 cups tomato juice
2/3 cup vinegar
1/3 cup Brown Sugar Twin

Add six diced celery ribs to this mixture, bring to boil and reduce heat. Simmer for 1-2 hours until the sauce thickens. Contains 24 ounces of protein. This will give you either 4 dinner proteins or 8 luncheon proteins.

A volume of empty calories make their ways down the throats of the American eater just because they satisfy eye appetite with vast size and little weight [and that little weight of theirs is calculated to add much to yours!]. Take time out of shopping to multiply the ounce cost factor of the foods you buy! Buy by the pound. Become pound-wise and the pennies will take care of themselves.

Questions? I have answers. Just write to me at The Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, N.Y. 11554.

Quincy Art Association Members To Exhibit

Members of the Quincy Art Association will exhibit paintings at the South Shore Plaza Outdoor Exhibition of Works of Art Sept. 6-9.

Works by Quincy artists and members of other area associations will be on display from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. each day.

Mrs. Eleanor McCarthy, president of the QAA, said proceeds from sales of paintings will go to the Woodward School for Girls Scholarship Fund.

One of your neighbors could turn into your best friend.

He's your independent Gas Heating Contractor. Your neighbor, who knows his job backwards and forwards. And he's every bit as reliable, efficient and concerned for your comfort as Boston Gas itself.

So if you're planning to replace your present furnace or boiler because it's old and inefficient, your Gas Heating Contractor is the man to call.

He'll advise you on the size and type of equipment that will provide you with the most efficient heating system. And greater efficiency means you'll burn less fuel and save money.

Even if you need to replace your present water heater, range or dryer, you can count on the skill and experience of your Gas Heating Contractor or Master Plumber. Because your comfort, his reputation and ours depend on it.

Seven Quincy Residents Accepted At Maritime Academy

Seven Quincy youths have been appointed for admission to the Class of 1976 at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy, Buzzards Bay.

They are:
Francis Bradley, Greenview St.; Bruce Alan Forbush, Brook St.; Mark Stephen Gillis, Richard St.; Michael James Lorman, Gordon St.; Charles K. Tobin, Taylor St.; Joseph Thomas Trabucco, Glendale Rd.; and John Peter White, Sterling St.

All will be among more than 200 freshmen cadets joining the Academy in September, according to Lee F. Harrington, Academy President.

Bradley is a graduate of North Quincy High School, where he was a member of the media team and homeroom representative. He is treasurer of the Quincy Police Explorer Post of the Boy Scouts, and served as U.S. Naval Cadet at both Great Lakes Training Center and Newport, R.I. Naval bases. He served as a first aid volunteer for fund marches.

Forbush is a graduate of Quincy High where he played on the basketball team. He is a Naval Cadet and studied nautical sciences and oceanography. He is a patrol leader and scribe in the Boy Scouts, a third class petty officer in Naval Cadets, and a volunteer in Operation Pride and received an award granted by the Mayor.

Lorman is a graduate of North Quincy High School where he played baseball. Tobin is also a graduate of North Quincy High where he was a member of the gymnastics team.

White is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School, Weymouth. He was manager of the basketball team. He is a Boy Scout and a member of the South Shore Neptunes Diving Club.

Trabucco attended Catholic Memorial High School, 1967-71 and Suffolk University, 1971-72. He was a member of the basketball, football and softball teams, and participated in the MDC program of dinghy sailing on the Charles River basin. He is a Boy Scout, an altar boy and a member of the choir.

Gillis attended Quincy High and later Bridgton Academy in Maine. He was a member of the basketball, track and tennis teams, the Key Club, Outing Club, Ski Club and on the staff of the School newspaper. He also was a member of the Student Teacher Decision Committee. He is a member of the Catholic Youth Organization and an Explorer Scout.

Graduates receive a Bachelor of Science degree and an opportunity for U.S. Coast Guard licenses as maritime officer and commission in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

The 81-year-old Academy is the oldest continuously operating Maritime Academy in the U.S.

The rigorous training includes an annual two-month cruise on the Academy's 415-foot "Bay State" a former Navy attack vessel in the Pacific.

Convenience is having everything together.

Convenience is one of the reasons we at Norfolk developed the All Purpose Bank Plan. Now you don't have to make jumps between banks.

With the All Purpose Bank Plan if you want to transfer money between accounts, you just fill out a transfer form and mail it to us. We'll do the rest. You can also set up a systematic savings program. Let us know how much you want to save, and we'll take that amount out of your checking account and deposit it in your savings account every month. You'll become a good saver automatically.

We include all your accounts — checking, savings, notice, and Reserve Credit — under one number and on one easy-to-read monthly statement. You know at a glance the status of each of your accounts.

You can have Reserve Credit when you have the All Purpose Bank Plan. We establish a personal line of credit for you. Then whenever you need more money than you have available you simply fill out a transfer form and mail it to us. We deposit the amount you need in your checking account so you can write your own personal checks. You'll actually be writing yourself a loan.

You can get full details about the All Purpose Bank Plan at any of our 32 neighborhood offices. Convenience is having all your accounts together.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration reminds college bound veterans that they should contact VA as soon as possible to avoid unnecessary delay in their monthly education allowance checks.

The VA regional office offered these additional tips for veterans looking forward to getting started in college:

"The first thing a veteran should do," a spokesman said, "is to decide on an educational objective. He should then choose a school and apply for admission as soon as possible.

"The veteran then should request a certificate of eligibility from the nearest VA office. VA will send two copies of the certificate, which must be submitted to the school. The school will endorse one copy and forward it to the VA regional office."

The VA official strongly suggested that the veteran check back with the school to make certain the certificate has been forwarded. This is to help insure that the veteran starts receiving monthly education allowance checks promptly.

Veterans returning to the same school need not get another certificate. Those who plan to change schools or educational objectives within the same school, however, must get VA approval.

To be eligible for educational benefits, a veteran or serviceman must have served at least 181 days of continuous active duty, any part of it after Jan. 31, 1955. Or, he must have been separated from service because of a service connected disability without regard to length of service.

Veterans were urged to contact their nearest VA office or their local veterans service organization representatives if further information on educational benefits is desired.

Smyth Says Wollaston Golf Course 'Ideally Suited' For County Use

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt said he will file a resolution to have a traffic light installed at the intersection of Hancock and Fenno Sts., Wollaston.

Delahunt said motorists have difficulty making turns into Hancock from Fenno St. because of parked cars.

He said traffic controls would provide a greater degree of safety for motorists at the intersection.

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has voiced support for Norfolk County takeover of Wollaston Golf Course.

In a letter to County Commissioners, Smyth said the course "is ideally suited for all the residents of Norfolk County to reach for recreational use."

He said it "could be operated at a small profit or at least at the break-even point by modeling its successful operation after the MDC-sponsored Ponkapoag Golf Course in Canton."

Mental Health Association Supports National Health Insurance Specifics

The executive committee of the South Shore Mental Health Association has voted to support specifics for mental health coverage under National Health Insurance.

The plan would facilitate development and use of community mental health centers and revise the entire mental health service delivery system.

Sections of the program which won support included provisions for out-patient services, private professional services, partial hospitalization, in-patient service and chronic long-term care.

Officers said they supported the program, provided there be no limitations of coverage or discrimination based on age, sex, race, creed or economic circumstances.

The association's public affairs committee will be actively engaged in supporting mental health coverage under National Health Insurance during the coming year.

Serving on the committee are Mrs. Anthony Arnold, Mrs. Theodore Hanna, Mrs. Kenneth Moll, Robert West, Morris Scolnick and John Woods.

Two Chamber Executives Complete Institute Seminar

Two members of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce have completed a one week personnel development program at the University of Delaware.

There were over 300 participants in the Institute for Organization Management, a representation of Chamber of Commerce executives from over 21 states.

South Shore Chamber Executive Vice-President Eric M. Swider who had attended seven previous Institute programs served this year as a class advisor to second-year students. In his roll he coordinated class activities.

Ronald F. Frazier, Manager of Organizational Services attended the Institute as a fourth-year student with in-depth studies in Contemporary Economic Issues, Communications, Environmental Dynamics, Group Action, and other areas specifically relating to Organization Management.

The Institute Program is an intensive professional training program designed to expose Chamber of Commerce Managers and staff to the techniques of effective volunteer motivation and organizational management. The Institute is sponsored annually by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Instructors are University Professors from throughout the country who are distinguished authorities in their respective fields, and selected Chamber of Commerce executives.

A Message To Quincy Voters

Dear Quincy Voters:

As a result of your confidence in me I received the highest number of votes in the last School Committee election. I have attempted to the best of my ability to carry out the promises made during my campaign. Some of these are already an accomplished fact. I have tried to be an active, constructive member of the committee.

Obviously our school system has many unsolved problems. I intend to remain on the School Committee to continue the search for their solution.

Quite frankly, I have enjoyed the work of the committee. Largely because of this interest in government, I decided in June to run for the position of Norfolk County Register of Probate in order to devote more of my time to public service. If elected I will be a full-time Register of Probate. The School Committee, which is unpaid, meets twice a month in the evening. I therefore believe that both positions are compatible.

As the only candidate for Register of Probate who has a real record as an elected official to run on, I ask that you examine my past actions and training before voting in September.

Sincerely

Harold Davis

Collins Says Taxpayers Have Right To Know Treasurer's Activities

Atty. James M. Collins said recently that the taxpayers have a right to know how their county treasurer is handling their money.

Collins, Democratic candidate for the treasurer's post, said "no public office should be isolated from the scrutiny of the taxpayers."

As treasurer, he said he would use community meetings, civic forums and the news media to familiarize the people of Norfolk County with the office of the county treasurer.

"Throughout my campaign I have sought to reach out and meet as many people as possible and openly discuss the critical issues that face our county," he said.

said.
"We must study, evaluate and propose new programs and concepts in order to best serve the needs of the people," he said.

Collins, a practicing attorney and accountant for five years, is an assistant district attorney for Norfolk County.

Sullivan Calls For New Registration Approach

At a fund-raising cookout held at the Lorton St. home of Joseph A. Sullivan, president Local 2 Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America A.F.L.-C.I.O., John J. Sullivan, retired federal mediator and candidate for Norfolk County of Probate said the need for a whole new approach to registration techniques is obviously apparent.

Sullivan said that "priority treatment must be given by the Registrar's of Voters in the city of Quincy, and the majority of towns throughout Norfolk County, in the development of streamlined practices to encourage new voters."

"Despite the commendable efforts by the city and town officials, via the news media, to enlist new voters to their rolls, we find in Quincy, and in other Norfolk County communities, a "falling-off" of new registrants for the Sept. 19th primary."

Sullivan noted that 1972 is a presidential year, residential voting requirements have been relaxed, the voting eligibility age has been reduced - "yet we find the registration pattern this year has not kept pace with the drives of recent years."

"If the democratic party is to add to its roster, some thought might be given to tapping a major source of supply - the schools," he continued.

In an effort to drive home his point, Sullivan said that his registration chairman, City Councilor Theophilus McLelland, indicates the 18 and 19 year old youth is not "rushing" to City Hall and local town halls to become a registered voter, leaving a large reservoir of potential voter talent untapped.

"Perhaps the various Boards of Registrars might give some serious consideration, in cooperation with school department administrators, to hold "on-campus" registration periods. It would appear, that open-campus hours, study periods, current events, civic and government classes could provide the necessary time with which the Registrar's of Voters could interest the student in the exercise of his right to become a full-fledged registered voter in his community.

"Perhaps a program which would afford candidates for public office to meet with the students might be an ingredient that would add flavor to a registration drive. Least-wise, you would be going to the student on his territory-the school-rather than sitting and waiting for him to come to you."

Sullivan acknowledged that, if such a program were inaugurated, it might well lend impetus to future registration drives.

Smyth 'Anxious' To Finalize Sale Of Squaw Rock To Quincy

Ward 6 Councilor J. Vincent Smyth said he is "anxious to arrange a meeting" with Boston City Councilors to finalize sale of Squaw Rock in Squantum to the city of Quincy.

In a letter to Boston Councilor Christopher Iannella, Smyth said he felt an MDC takeover of the area would "in no manner be an asset to the City of Quincy.

"The property that is now under [MDC] jurisdiction is not well maintained," he said.

Smyth cited the MDC's allowing the first railroad site in West Quincy to fall into disrepair in his argument that the land should be controlled by the Quincy Park Department.

QCA Concerned About Plans To 'Overdevelop'

The executive board of the Quincy Citizens Association has voiced its concern over proposals "for the overdevelopment of Quincy."

QCA officers wrote Mayor Hannon that development plans threaten to "adversely change the character of our historic city from a quiet suburban community to a second Manhattan."

President Joseph A. Slattery and Secretary Dorothy C. Kelly said their organization wants Quincy to remain "a small city of regulated growth..."

"We oppose Quincy's being subject to experimentation at the hands of city officials and planners, i.e. urban renewal, etc.," they said.

Board members also opposed the hiring of a director of tourism as "an unnecessary expenditure of taxpayers' money."

• Consumer News New Law Aims At Solving Lead Paint Poisoning

By ATTY. GEN.
ROBERT H. QUINN

Concern over the increasing incidence of fatalities due to lead poisoning among infants and small children led the Massachusetts legislature to take serious measures against the problem.

The recently enacted legislation is a comprehensive lead poisoning and prevention program which encompasses the areas of research, education and detection.

Heading the effort to eliminate lead poisoning within the commonwealth is a 9-man advisory committee consisting of at least four physicians and two parents of children under six years who reside in low-income areas.

Under the new law, all incidence of potential lead poisoning detected by hospitals, physicians or nurses must be reported to the advisory committee. All cases will be filed geographically, which will enable the committee to pinpoint areas of highest incidence of poisoning.

This legislation also provides for a continuing education and publicity program aimed at informing teachers, social workers and human services personnel. Owners of residential property are also included, especially owners of property built before 1945.

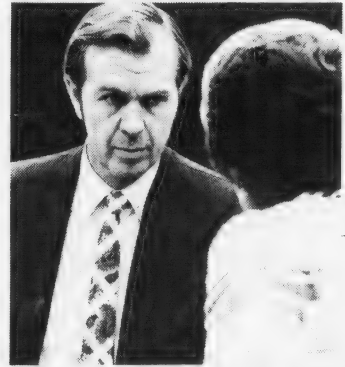

The heart of the lead poisoning detection program consists of the establishment of a center for early diagnosis which aims at screening every child in the state for lead poisoning. Until this can be achieved, priority will be given to children from low income areas.

The committee also hopes to establish a program for the inspection of all possible sources of poisoning. The legislation recommends a service for the inspection of any residence for leaded paints and plasters within 10 days on request.

The laws in addition ensure the stiff enforcement of violations. If a building is found to contain a dangerous level of leaded paint, its existence will be reported to the owner, tenants and mortgagees. If the paint is not removed or covered, the owner will be treated as party to a violation of the state sanitary code and may be held liable for as much as 3 times the actual damages incurred.

It is also illegal under the same statute to sell toys, furniture, cooking or eating utensils, or home fixtures which contain a dangerous level of lead. That has been defined as one half of one per cent by weight. Anyone who violates that section of the new law can be found liable for $100-$500 for each article sold, and up to 3 months in jail.

"Probate court is a family affair ... for better or worse."

Probate court is where family matters come to be settled... separation or divorce of parents, disposition of wills, the long-awaited adoption of a child.

When the Register of Probate runs his court smoothly and well, these events go through with a minimum of delay and anxiety.

But that takes experience. One candidate for Register in Norfolk County has that experience... six years of it. He's Paul C. Gay, your present First Assistant Register. Vote for him on September 19.

STRATEGY SESSION -- Quarterback Jim Plunkett and Number One Fan Richard Morrell discuss game plan for Patriots-Raiders game during practice session in Oakland, California.

Patriots-Oakland Climax Dream Trip For Richard Morrell

Kids today tend to be pretty blasé about traveling.

It's almost as commonplace now for a youngster to vacation in Florida or California as it was for his parents to make the trek to Cape Cod.

But 12-year old Richard Morrell of Houghts Neck has just returned from a California vacation that he's not likely to forget.

Richard is still bubbling about the great time he had in the San Francisco Bay area with new-found friends named Plunkett, Vataha, Bryant and Garrett.

He and his father, firefighter William Morrell of 65 Pawsey St., Houghts Neck, spent their vacation with the New England Patriots in Oakland, California.

Bill Morrell was high-bidder in the Channel Two Auction for the all-expenses-paid trip to see the Patriots do battle with the Oakland Raiders on Aug. 5.

The Morrells flew out and back with the Patriots, stayed with the team at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Berkeley and got to sit in on practice sessions and the game.

It was somewhat of a homecoming for Bill, who was stationed outside San Francisco in the Air Force, but for Richard it was the experience of a lifetime.

The Patriots lost a close game to the powerful Raiders, but if the score had been 55-0 Richard probably wouldn't have minded.

His favorites on the club are Quarterback Jim Plunkett and receivers Randy Vataha and Hubie Bryant.

In Little League Action

Giordani, Anastas Lead Business All-Stars To Series Win

Home runs by Mark Giordani and Steve Anastas and Art Davis' three-hitter gave Business a 7-1 win over Service in the deciding game of the Little League All-Star series.

Brian Watts picked up two doubles and Greg Zoia, Mike Bonderick, Art Davis and Ron Donovan contributed to the Business All-Stars attack.

The lone Service run came on a double by Ed Laracy after Butch Olson singled.

Service romped to a 12-2 decision in the first of the three all-star games as Steve Jaehning and Kurt O'Sullivan combined to yield just four hits.

Fred Kussman and Rich Boyle homered, Butch Olson picked up three hits and Mark Neville reached twice for Service in that game.

Mark Giordani's triple, a double by Bill Phelan and Mike Bonderick's two singles were all that Business could muster.

But Business bounced back in the second game as Mark Giordani and Len Picot each hit three-run homers and Giordani yielded just two hits in an 8-1 win.

Dave McLaughlin's double and singles by Bill Phelan, Bob Roberts and Ron Donovan rounded out the Business attack and Don Perdios doubled and Bill Ross singled for Service.

It was a short summer, wasn't it?

Next Monday the 1972 schoolboy football season officially gets underway when the teams hold their first workouts of the season after undergoing physicals and receiving equipment.

Both the Quincy and North Quincy squads will begin practice Monday at 8:30 a.m., the Presidents at Voc-Tech Field, and the Raiders at Kavanagh Stadium.

Physicals at both schools will be given Saturday. North will issue equipment that same day while Quincy will wait until Monday.

"I'd like the candidates to report with sneakers and shorts in the event it is hot," Quincy Coach Hank Conroy said.

Conroy, who is Scituate's director of recreation this summer, and North's Ralph Frazier, will conduct double sessions all of next week.

Quincy will work out from 8:30 to 10:30, enjoy an hour off and then drill from 11:30 to 1:30.

North will practice from 8:30 to 10:30, and following lunch will meet at noon and work out again from 1 to 2:30.

Conroy has the same assistants as last year, Gene Macomber, Bud Mosher, John Bogan and Dave Burke, who has had such fantastic success with the sophomore team.

Conroy's 1971 varsity squad which had only a 4-5 record following the school's first perfect season [9-0-0] in history, was pretty well depleted and he will be depending to a good extent this fall on last year's powerful junior varsity and sophomore squads, each of which had an outstanding season.

Quincy will open its season at Weymouth South on Sept. 23, a non-Greater Boston League Game.

Frazier has one new assistant at North, Ken McPhee, a fine player at North, who succeeds Jack Bowes, now head coach at Milton.

The other aides, Tom Fitzgerald, Ted Sadowski and Dick Meyer, are back.

Although the Raiders faltered last fall after a good start and failed to win the GBL title, they had a respectable 6-3 mark and ended with a 30-12 romp over Quincy, their first win over Quincy in four years and the first ever for Frazier as a player or coach.

"That win gave me a tremendous thrill and made our season a success," Ralph said. "In three years as a North player, two as an assistant coach and two as a head coach, I had never enjoyed a win over Quincy."

Frazier seems in good shape for the coming season with a number of varsity returnees and some fine players from Sadowski's jayvee and sophomore units.

The Raiders also open on Sept. 23, entertaining Revere in a GBL game at Quincy Veterans' Memorial Stadium.

200 Compete In 'Nautical Day' Recreation Department Races

More than 200 young people participated in rowing and sailing races during the recent annual "Nautical Day" of the Quincy Recreation Department.

Mark Whalen won the blue ribbon in the boys' rowing race for 8 and 9 year-olds, followed by Christopher Gorman and Kevin McWeeny.

Daniel Barry finished first in the 10-11 age group, with Scott Hayward second and Kevin O'Leary third.

The 12-13 race saw Robert Carmody finish first followed by Kenneth Smith and Douglas Tyler.

Edward Donovan won the 14-15 race with Paul O'Donnell taking second place and Michael Manning third.

In girls' rowing, Renie Shea won the 10-11 age group followed by Diane O'Keefe and Katherine Flynn and Shawn O'Leary placed first among 12 and 13-year olds, followed by Jeanné Murphy and Cheryl McKenzie.

Kevin O'Leary and Daniel Gorman won the sailing race for boys aged 10 and 11 with Thomas Lowe and Francis Barry placing second and Michael Whalen and Tom Conti third.

Winners in the 14-15 class were Edward Donovan and Roger Belanger, followed by Kenneth Smith and Edward Carl and Daniel Donovan and Thomas Duane.

Shawn O'Leary and Nancy Maimoran took the blue ribbon for the girls sailing race with Robin Gillis and Joan Higgins second and Jeanne Murphy and Maureen Flynn third.

Don Meyer Line Key At Lafayette

The Lafayette College football team reports for practice today [Thursday] and among the candidates was Don Meyer, senior linebacker from North Quincy.

Meyer, following a brilliant 1970 season during which he earned many awards, broke his leg last fall in the second game of the year and will be attempting a comeback.

He is one of the key men in the hopes of second-year coach Neil Putnam, who led the Leopards to a 5-5 record in his debut last fall.

Riley, Bouley In Golf Classic Aug. 28

Two officers of Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency of Quincy will be among 150 amateurs, professionals and celebrities participating in the Minute Man Classic Golf Tournament.

In the field at Nashawtuc Country Club in Concord, August 28-30, will be President George R. Riley and Vice President David F. Bouley of the agency.

They will compete with 41 members of the New England PGA and players from the Bruins, Celtics, Patriots and Whalers for thousands of dollars worth of merchandise awards.

Tickets for the tournament are available from Minute Man insurance agencies or at the golf club.

Proceeds will benefit the Pro Speakout drug abuse education program.

Atlantic Downs Fore River 5-4 For Senior Girls Softball Title

Atlantic edged Fore River 5-4 for the recreation department's Senior Girls City Softball Championship.

On the Atlantic team were Susan and Colleen Campbell, Denise Bereszewicz, Betsy Witt, Nancy Willard, Patricia Nestor, Connie White, Jacqueline Adams, Carol Sears and Susan Doran.

Fore River team members included Cindy Tozzi, Ann

Marie Cahill, Kathy Arnold, Judith Grant, Cheryl Chiaramonte, Donna Caporale, Randi DiPietro, Patricia Martin, Sharon Paolucci and Patricia Meyers.

In the junior championships, Beechwood Knoll defeated Shea Rink 20-16 behind the hitting of Claudia Torino, Nancy Smith, Janice Kelly, Gera Foy and Elaine Galvin.

Montclair Takes City Basketball Championship

Montclair Junior Boys Basketball team edged Merrymount 23-19 to take the Recreation Department city title.

Merrymount led 16-7 at half-time but John Timmons paced Montclair to a 19-19 tie at the end of the third quarter and Merrymount was held scoreless in the final period.

John Timmons collected 15 points in the game, John Wilkason hit for six and Steve Cook scored four.

Bridesmaid, Again

By TOM SULLIVAN

The failure to install lights, as scheduled, this summer at Adams Field probably played a key role in the Morrisette Legion baseball team winding up as the bridesmaid in state championship play for the sixth time.

It had been planned to install the lights at Adams Field about July but due to a number of reasons, they still are in the talking stage.

As a result, Morrisette did not play a game under lights this summer and when the Zone 6 and Southeastern sectional championships entered the state championship tourney at Milford last week they were at a decided disadvantage.

Milford has had lights at Fino Field for years and the Legion team, which represented its section in the title tourney, played many games under them.

Morrisette, which has never won a state crown, twice defeated Arlington, undefeated Zone 5-A champion, to eliminate it from the tourney while Milford ousted West Springfield.

When Morrisette, following a 7-3 win over Arlington, a 4-0 loss to Milford and a 4-0 decision over Arlington, went against Milford, a winner over West Springfield and Morrisette, it faced the unenviable task of having to win two in a row to capture the title.

This didn't happen and when Milford blanked Morrisette, 6-0 last Thursday, it ended the tourney and gave Milford another state crown.

This marked the second straight year Morrisette eliminated Arlington from the state championships.

"It was a disappointing way to end the season but the boys did an excellent job and it was another outstanding year," said Coach Ray Cattaneo, who led Morrisette to the second Zone 6 title in his three years as coach.

"It is tough being runner-up twice in a row. It wasn't as bad losing to Leominster in the finals last year, but the kids are really taking it tough this year."

It was especially tough because this was virtually the same Morrisette team which won the zone title and went to the state finals last year.

And for eight of them this was their last chance to do it. Cattaneo will be hit hard next year with all four pitchers who turned in the seven successive shutouts to win the zone crown and pitched 11 shutouts during the year, will be too old next year, as will be four other outstanding starters.

Gone will be Jimmy Walker, Bobby Malvesti, Len Pepe and Tony Knasas, the four great pitchers; center fielder Tom Burke, outfielder-third baseman Russ MacDonald, shortstop Joe Marani and outfielder Dom D'Olimpio.

And it won't seem the same next year when Nick Malvesti, who has been associated with Morrisette baseball since 1946 as coach and athletic director and who led the team to 11 zone championships, is not around. Nick, recently retired, will soon be living in Florida.

The lone pitcher returning will be Bob Lane, who saw very limited service this year, but Cattaneo will have some fine players back.

They will be led by Dave Nelson, one of the top catchers in Legion ball; Jim Driscoll, long ball hitting first baseman; second baseman Artie Boyle and outfielder-first baseman Mike Marvelle.

Others returning will include outfielders Lee Watkins and John Warren.

Rain probably saved Morrisette from losing the opener of the tournament to Arlington, but the local club could have used more of the same before the final game with Milford.

The Legion national rule regarding length of the players' hair resulted in a close scrutiny by the Legion state commander before the opening of the state championships and the boys had to give each other haircuts before the game could get started.

The Morrisette-Arlington game was 40 minutes late in starting and was rained out in the fourth inning with Arlington ahead, 4-0.

It seems fairly certain that, except for the delay, the game would have gone the required five innings with Morrisette losing.

But they had to replay the game the following night and Morrisette won, 7-3.

Another Legion rule stipulates that a pitcher cannot pitch more than 12 innings over a three-day stretch. Walker hurled the three innings in the rain-shortened opener, and the full nine innings the second night. Therefore, he was forced to start the final game with only two days rest after pitching 12 innings the first two nights. He was bombed in the second inning when Milford scored five runs and Morrisette never had a chance despite an excellent seven innings pitched by Knasas.

Morrisette bowed in the finale, 5-0, to give Milford the title. The locals could collect only four hits, two of them by MacDonald.

In the previous game Morrisette eliminated Arlington and stayed in the running with a 4-0 win as Malvesti went all the way and held Arlington to four hits.

Nelson had three hits, Burke and Marvelle two apiece to pace the winners.

In the game before that Milford blanked Morrisette, 4-0, as it scored all its runs off Pepe in the sixth inning.

Following the opening night rainout, Walker pitched Morrisette over Arlington, 7-3, as he effectively scattered 11 hits, two more than his team collected.

Driscoll, MacDonald and Marvelle had two hits apiece and Nelson hit a long triple.

Morrisette's overall record for the year was an impressive 21-6. It finished 14-4 in Zone 6, topped Somerville and Keene, N.H., in exhibition games, won all three games in the sectional tourney and was 2-2 in the state championships.

Atty. Robert M. Murphy Candidate For County Register Of Probate

Atty. Robert M. Murphy, 46, of 34 York Way, Westwood, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Norfolk County Register of Probate and Insolvency.

Murphy is a graduate of Suffolk University Law School, attended Harvard Law School and has been an active trial lawyer with offices in Boston and Westwood for 20 years.

He is admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court, U.S. Court of Appeals and Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court.

He is a member of the American Trial Lawyers Association, Massachusetts and Norfolk County Bar Associations, American Judicature Society and Massachusetts Trial Lawyers Association.

Association.

He is a former Westwood town auditor and served as member and chairman of the Westwood Board of Appeals from 1959 to 1970.

Murphy is a former assistant Massachusetts Attorney General and was board chairman of the Massachusetts Sport Parachuting Commission during the 1962 World Parachuting Championship.

He served with the 82nd Airborne Division in Africa and Europe during World War II, including the Normandy invasion, and is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve.

He and his wife, the former Barbara Atwood of Wellfleet, have 11 children ranging in age from 10 to 24.

Murphy, who sponsored the 1970 bill to allow 18-year-olds to draw a will, said there is "a crying need" for changes in the probate system.

He said he would like to speed up the system to assist widows, children and elderly remaining spouses by uncomplicating the delay in probating estates.

Smyth Commends MDC For Pumping Site

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has commended MDC officials for their selection of the beach side of Quincy Shore Drive as the site of their North Quincy pumping station.

In a letter to MDC Chief Engineer Frank Bergin, Smyth said the site "will save the taxpayers thousands of dollars since it does not involve any land taking."

"Also thousands of dollars will be saved from the standpoint of connecting the pumping station to the already installed high gravity line at this junction," he said.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Little Chance For A Nixon-McGovern Debate

Veteran film director HOWARD HAWKS is dusting off an earlier vintage production with a remake of his silent motion picture "A GIRL IN EVERY PORT"... And for those old enough to remember, the original sported a cast of VICTOR MACLAGLEN, LOUISE BROOKS and ROBERT ARMSTRONG... "YOUNG WINSTON" is premiere engaged to showcase in Boston Oct. 12 exclusively at the Sack Cheri 2. The biopic of the early years of WINSTON CHURCHILL set an all-time record in London where it world premiered July 20... A blockbuster in the tradition of classic, blockbusting entertainment...

Was VANESSA REDGRAVE pink slipped, or did she really leave of her own accord?... In a last minute casting shuffle LIV ULLMAN walked in, and the fiery MISS REDGRAVE bounced out as Queen Christina in the Warner Bros. historical feature, "THE ABDICATION"... According to a spokesman for Warners' Miss REDGRAVE's departure was a result of a "conflict of film schedules." However, sources closer to director ANTHONY HARVEY insist it was a matter of "conflict of personalities"... With her exit, HARVEY opted for the less temperamental, yet equally talented, Miss ULLMAN...

QUOTE, UNQUOTE: CBS vice chairman FRANK STANTON on the impossibility of a televised NIXON-McGOVERN debate: "Unless at the last minute President NIXON thinks he is in trouble, I see no hope for debates between the Presidential candidates this year"... Maybe STANTON'S right. But from where this critic sits, a televised debate is not only a ratings plus, but a political necessity as well...

Evidently JAMES COBURN'S idea of relaxation is work, work and more work... Having just wrapped up his assignment in "A REASON TO LIVE, A REASON TO DIE", COBURN immediately jetted to N.Y.C. for a starring berth in "THE LAST OF SHEILA"... Taking into consideration he had had two releases this year, "THE HONKERS" and "THE CAREY TREATMENT", and starred in two yet to be released films made between January and May, and you have some idea of JAMES COBURN'S burning ambition to become one of the select 10 Box Office champs of 1972...

Screen comebacks seem the vogue these days, especially amongst "retired" actresses. TERRY MOORE, best forgotten for her camping in "MIGHTY JOE YOUNG" [circa 1953], is one of the stars in the now-being-lensed "A VOICE IN THE NIGHT"; PATRICIA CROWLEY, a not too long ago favorite, charmingly returns in WALT DISNEY'S "THE BISCUIT EATER"; and IDA LUPINO, after a 17 year exile from the big screen, garnered rave reviews for her excellent performance in "JUNIOR BONNER"... And on the chauvinist side of the slate, DONALD O'CONNOR insists he will stay away from motion pictures "until I find a script worthy of a G-rated tag"...

Is the Second Annual New York Erotic Film Festival going legit? KEVIN SANDERS, an establishment film critic for New York's WABC-TV, has signed with festival organizer KEN GAUL as a jury member... SANDERS joins "select" panelists actress/female impersonator HOLLY WOODLAWN, screen-writer and notorious rebel, TERRY SOUTHERN, and the ever outspoken Women's Libber, GERMAINE GEER... And for the curious, JILL ST. JOHN, ANGIE DICKINSON and BARBRA STREISAND do "all" their own stunt work in each and every film they make...

"A SEPARATE PEACE" screenwriter FRED SEGAL is no relation to love author ERICH... Director LUCHINO VISCONTI is on the mend after suffering a mild heart seizure a month back... "WHERE DOES IT HURT?" won't make many friends amongst the medical fraternity. The PETER SELLERS chuckler takes a comical poke at the high cost of being in a hospital... And in it's own way the JO ANN PFLUG co-starrer raises some interesting queries about the escalating risk of being sick and at mercy of those doctors who tax a patient to the limit of his medical insurance... A fun little satire which only raises an ouch when the viewer ask "WHERE DOES IT HURT?"...

Keep your eye on young screenwriter LONNE ELDER 3rd. He has scenarioed two excellent films, "MELINDA" and "SOUNDER"... "CLEOPATRA JONES" is the female's answer to James Bond and Shaft. A tough little chick, replete with her own arsenal of holds, judo, karate and otherwise... Not that it really matters, but actress DOLLY SHARP holds the distinction of being the best and most versatile porno performer currently making the X-rated rounds...

Does mankind have a chance what with rodents, rabbits, apes and now insects taking a bite at the human of the species? "FOUR FLIES ON GREY VELVET" is another of a filmed series of mankind playing the heavy to our unappreciated little friends... If you're over 40, take a minor with you to see this PG rated flick. This year junior will be able to calm your nerves. A chiller of a film - not to see alone...

"PORTNOY'S COMPLAINT" received a quick heave-ho out of Alberta, Canada for being "morally offensive"... BURT REYNOLD'S next is "W. W. AND THE DIXIE DANCE KINGS" [with his shirt on he promises]...

Why They Change Film Titles Dept: "DANGERFIELD" was title switched to "THE SCORPIO FILE" only because director MICHAEL WINNER, star BURT LANCASTER and producer WALTER MIRISH were born under the zodiac of Scorpio... Doesn't make much sense, but then again the elements of logic have nothing to do with Show Biz...

'The Ability To Let Go'

"Why don't you go home?" the boss said to his very conscientious secretary who was working much over her normal quitting time.

"Why don't you?" she replied in tones of concern for his welfare. These two fine people...the secretary and the boss were so caught up in the job they were doing...so anxious to do a good job...that neither of them knew how to let go. Many people are like this with their work...workaholics...I often call such persons. Why do they not let go? Many reasons...escape from home...eagerness to earn money...trying to prove oneself...not balancing one's life with proportions of work and play. With your work...do you know how to let go?

Have you ever watched an older brother tease a younger brother or sister...on and on and on...until the younger becomes so angry that he/she cries or throws things...or runs away? Again...no sense of how or when to let go.

I see women living with husbands who are alcoholic...year after year...the deprivation...the uncertainty...the disappointment...the disgust...even the violence. All the time Mr. Alcoholic is denying that he has a drink problem. Often he doesn't even remember the provoking situations...the ugly words...the bad environment for children which he has created. But the wife just won't let go...she just won't admit a marriage failure...her "loving endurance" becomes her vice...and his downfall. For if she would let go...simply face up to the fact that he wants to have his cake and eat it too...make it clear to him that he can't have her and his family and his alcoholism too...and then stand firm on her resolve...in most instances that man would choose his family and get the help he needs to overcome his addiction. Since she will not let go the bad situation goes on...and on...and on...until children's lives are adversely affected...a wife loses her own self esteem...the man becomes sick and old.

Why do people hold on...refuse to let go of situations and habits...and ways of life which don't work? Why do people keep saying... "I just can't live with it"...but keep on living with it? One reason is FEAR...fear of the unknown. The wife of the alcoholic knows this situation...she's afraid of being completely alone...afraid of "losing love"...for often the alcoholic shows much tenderness at times. She fears to lose those times.

Then...many people live on hope...hope that the situation will get better. The boss promises his secretary that when "things get straightened out I'll quit earlier." The wife lives in hope that some day "he'll quit his drinking"... "or cut down"...not understanding that he probably won't until he has sufficient motivation.

Another reason is that many people blame themselves for the condition that they can't tolerate...feel "I must be doing something wrong." This low opinion of oneself is self-defeating...may be causing you to hold on unwisely...refusing to let go. Some people even use overwork...the alcoholic partner...the tormentor as a means of being punished...since they feel so much self hate and that they deserve the mistreatment.

The most important thing that some of us can do is to...let go.

$2,725 Grant To Purchase

Police Video Tape Equipment

Governor Francis W. Sargent announces the approval of $2,725 of funding assistance to the city of Quincy from the U.S. Department of Transportation through the Governor's Highway Safety Office.

These monies will be expended by the city in purchasing video tape equipment for the local police force.

Utilization of video tape represents a total new concept in police traffic law enforcement. It will be effective in enforcement of traffic laws; training of police personnel and public education. This new technique is currently being used as evidence in courts across the nation and is proving to be as effective as radar and breathalyzers in apprehending and convicting violators.

"It is imperative," the Governor said, "that we provide our local law enforcement officials with the most up-to-date equipment available not only to train their police officers, but also to aid in apprehending and convicting the dangerous driver and further ensuring the safety of all citizens in the Commonwealth."

Seven-Day Cancellation Law Protects Used Car Buyers

By
Atty. Gen. ROBERT H. QUINN

Consumers who buy used cars which fail to pass state motor vehicle inspection requirements can obtain a refund under conditions according to Massachusetts law.

Before the law's enactment my Consumer Protection Division received many complaints from customers who bought used cars only to find that major repairs were necessary before the car would qualify for an inspection sticker. Now a used car buyer may return the car and demand a refund.

Under the law car buyers have seven days from the purchase date to obtain an inspection sticker. If the car fails to pass inspection, the owner should request a list of the malfunctioning parts and an estimate of the probable repair costs. If these costs exceed ten per cent of the purchase price, the owner must return the vehicle along with a written estimate of repairs to the seller within ten days after the date of purchase to cancel the contract. The seller must take the car back and refund all payment.

If a dealer refuses to make refund, the buyer should take license plates and all personal property from the car and return the car to the lot. The buyer should then contact the Consumer Protection Division.

The division urges prospective used car buyers to learn the identity of the previous owner and to carefully check the identity of the car. Potential used car buyers should test drive the automobile before buying it.

Used cars should be purchased during the day when it is possible to examine the car for repair jobs which may indicate severe body damage.

Consumers should look at the brake and accelerator pedals for extensive wear. Lubrication stickers are a good indication of the true mileage on cars since the oil changes and the mileage is usually listed.

Used car buyers with questions about the cancellation law or complaints should contact the Consumer Protection Division of my office.

- Bombing Claims Disputed
- Politicians Hair Conscious
- GOP Wooing Senior Citizens

WASHINGTON—Henry Kissinger's staff is privately questioning the accuracy of recent military reports ballyhooing the effectiveness of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

These reports claim the bombing has caused massive disruption of Hanoi's supply line. But other intelligence sources, particularly the CIA, have filed reports that dispute these claims.

Aerial photographs show no backup of supplies on the Chinese side of the border. This indicates the supplies are flowing freely into North Vietnam. In addition, say the CIA reports, Hanoi still finds it unnecessary to ration food and fuel.

Meanwhile, civilian casualties in at least one region in South Vietnam are going up since the South Vietnamese began to take control of American fire power.

A secret report directed to the U.S. high command in Vietnam charges that the Saigon troops in the Binh Dinh area indiscriminately called for American bombing and naval gun fire. The report says the South Vietnam commanders have little regard for the devastating effect the bombing has upon the civilian population. A U.S. army team has been sent to investigate.

GROOMING THE CANDIDATES

The politicians, in this age of long hair, have become suddenly hair conscious.

Lyndon Johnson came into office sporting a plastered-down look reminiscent of the 1930's. By the time he retired to Texas, however, his hair was long in back and creeping over his ears. He had the modern "dry look".

Richard Nixon assumed the presidency wearing his hair in the slicked-down style. Soon, however, his barber got into tax trouble, and Nixon dumped him in favor of a tonsorial artist more attuned to the styles of the day.

The new barber, Milton Pitts, threw out the oils and goo, clipped the President's curly ends, and gave him a sculptured, razor cut. Pitts now visits the White House about once a week to keep the President's new "natural look" in trim.

The Democratic candidate for President, Senator George McGovern, frequents a salon called "Hair, Incorporated," located in Washington's fashionable Georgetown section. McGovern gets the standard treatment. His hair is shampooed, given a "layered" scissors cut, and carefully dried with a hand-held dryer.

He is particularly concerned about his receding hair line. His stylist, as a result, makes the most of what the Senator has by applying a hair conditioner called "thicken-up."

WOOLING THE ELDERLY

The Nixon Administration's wide lead in the polls reflects the fact that the Republicans have been making inroads with traditional Democratic voters. The South is moving rapidly toward the GOP and the ethnic, blue-collar vote may soon follow. But there is one traditional Republican bloc that has been slipping toward the Democrats.

Republican strategists are increasingly concerned about the party's ability to win the elderly vote. In the past, senior citizens have always favored the GOP. In 1956, for example, the party got an estimated 61 percent of their votes. But four years ago, the percentage had slipped to below 50 percent.

The reason seems to be that the aging are acting like other American minorities. They have grown militant and are organizing to make their demands heard.

The Republican National Committee has now prepared a special manual for all the party's candidates warning them not to forget the elderly. "The unique, special problems of growing old," in America, the manual says, "have sparked the emergence of the over-sixty generation into a strong political bloc with the power to make or break a campaign."

The manual also points out that unlike some noisy minorities, the elderly always turn out on election day. Eighty-four percent are registered to vote and 70 percent vote regularly. There are now 20 million senior citizens. If they swing heavily toward one party, their votes could decide the presidency.

DILEMMA IN YEMEN

The Soviet Union has been ushered out of Egypt, but their problems in the Middle East are far from over. They are deeply involved in a little-publicized civil war now going on between North and South Yemen. And it's unlikely they will be able to extricate themselves without getting burned.

The two Yemens lie at the tip of the Arab Peninsula where the Red Sea meets the Gulf of Aden. A fairly moderate government rules North Yemen, formally known as the Yemen Arab Republic. But in South Yemen, otherwise known as the People's Democratic Republic of Yemen, a radical government holds power.

When the radicals took over in 1969, after kicking out a more moderate government, the Russians began to gaze on South Yemen with greedy eyes. For perched at the very tip of the country lies the Port of Aden, which was one of the world's largest oil bunkering ports when the Suez Canal was open. It now lies dormant, but it is a potential bonanza for whoever controls it if the Suez re-opens.

So with their eyes fixed on Aden, the Soviets began pumping aid and advisors into South Yemen. Most of Russia's Arab allies, however, are opposed to South Yemen. The Soviet assistance, therefore, has weakened their relationships with their other Arab friends.

But Russia's real problems began when the two Yemens recently began feuding. The Soviet Union, it seems, also has advisors in North Yemen. In the event of war, which intelligence reports predict is imminent, the Russians would be left in the unenviable position of having their military experts advising both sides in the same war.

The Soviets can't lose that way, but they can't win either.

Wants Legislation To Aid Dog, Cat Overpopulation Problem

Editor, Quincy Sun:

In this election year, the prominent issues like the Vietnam War, busing, the cost of living and unemployment have received the most attention. These issues, I agree, are most important; but let's not forget about the problem of animal overpopulation. This problem is many times pushed aside because of lack of funds or just plain disinterest.

I for one, vote to see some action in this year's legislature on the sad and serious problem of runaway breeding of cats and dogs.

At the present rate, 10,000 unwanted cats and dogs are born every hour to serve no useful purpose. They are abandoned, starved, tortured and ultimately meet death, often on cruel terms.

Many people accept an animal which they really do not want to be responsible for. They allow these animals to bear litter after litter without altering the animal.

Many parents use the poor excuse of letting their children witness the beauty of birth. Let these same children witness the death of these same animals.

I vote for strict enforcement of existing laws such as licensing and the leash law. License money should only be used for the care of animals at city pounds and other animal induces problems.

Perhaps, a $25.00 fine could be given to an owner if his dog is caught wandering the streets. This fine could be used towards the city pound or given to a cooperating veterinarian to have more animals spayed when the owner can't afford to pay the entire fee.

Also, many apartment dwellers aren't allowed to have pets. This rule should read in the lease - pets allowed, but any damage done to the apartment will be paid by the tenant, or part of the security deposit kept by the landlord for this purpose.

Animals are still an important asset to the lives of both young and old. They offer companionship and can teach a child compassion, kindness and trust towards other human beings.

More citizens should get involved in animal problems. Join an humane animal program and contact your elected officials and ask for strict enforcement of existing laws such as licensing.

"It's a new industry in town. They manufacture Anti-Pollution Devices."

Up $12.90 Over Last Year

Mayor Announces $155.40 Municipal Tax Rate

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has announced a 1972 municipal tax rate of $155.40 representing an increase of $12.90 over last year's $142.50 assessment.

The mayor told a press conference Wednesday that new construction and an equalization program of assessments kept the overall figure from reaching $169.50.

Estimates based on last year's property valuation had predicted a whopping $27 increase in the rate.

New apartments, developments such as State Street South and Kemper Insurance projects and the equalization broadened the tax base from $221 million to $240,308,800, the mayor said.

Assessor Chairman Elmer K. Fagerlund said the new rate reflects the record $52.6 million budget passed by the City Council in March plus subsequent appropriations.

These additions include pay raises, the school budget, cherry sheet distribution, state and county taxes and assessments including the MBTA levy.

Fagerlund said a "compromise with the taxpayers group which sought revaluation of the city's 24,000 taxable parcels" entered a "new factor" into the total.

"The assessors had to show that an orderly and fair equalization of the tax burden is being carried out in 1972 so that tax bills this year will reflect each taxpayer's 'fair share,'" he said.

"As a result, the city gained another year's delay of the revaluation order, thereby saving veterans, elderly and widows the exemptions they would have lost," he said.

Business Association Planning 10-Day Garage Opening Celebration

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association is preparing a 10-day celebration beginning Nov. 2 for the official opening of the Ross Parking Area Garage.

Executive Director John E. Murray is distributing a letter to all area merchants inviting them to join the festivities which will include more than $1,000 in prizes for shoppers.

The theme of the celebration will be that Quincy Center has "always had the products and now we have the parking," Murray said.

The $2.4 million parking facility is expected to be completed by October 16 and operated for a "shakedown period" until the official opening, he said.

The garage will have an 800-car capacity in an area which formerly held just 250 cars and will feature elevator access to every floor.

Ramps and lanes are wider than those to be found in any other municipal garage and high-density fluorescent lights will keep the entire area bright.

"The time has come for Quincy Center merchants to come out swinging and let everyone know that we always had the products and now we also have the parking," Murray said.

Taxes, Crime, Pollution Top Problems In Eyes Of Ward One Voters

Taxes, crime and pollution are the problems which most concern Ward One voters, according to a poll conducted by Rep. Thomas F. Brownell.

Brownell sent questionnaires to 800 families in his district in May and June to give himself a clear indication of the opinions of his constituents.

Some 31 percent of the 128 families responding cited taxation as the top state problem. Twenty-five percent chose crime and 16 percent felt pollution the most serious.

On the question of Vietnam bonuses, 53 percent felt bonuses should only go to those who served in the war zone, 38 percent felt all veterans should get bonuses and 9 percent said there should be no bonus.

Voters were overwhelmingly in favor of stricter controls on handguns, improvements to the penal system and requiring convicted prisoners to serve two-thirds of their terms.

Seventy percent were opposed to 100 percent assessment in Quincy and 44 percent favored a graduate state income tax in place of the present flat-rate system.

City council powers to cut school budgets received support of 66 percent of those polled, 67 percent felt happy with Quincy municipal services and 77 percent said the downtown shopping district should be revitalized.

P. K. Ganga Batik

Exhibit At Main Library

P. K. Ganga, originally from Shoranur, in Southern India, will exhibit his masterly batik paintings for the first two weeks of September at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Main Hall Gallery.

Purayath Kondodathodi Gangadharan, who is only 24, came to the U.S. after graduating from art school with highest honors, being first in his class. He then received a grant for study in this country and went to Cranbrook Academy of Art, in Michigan.

Among a long list of his awards are the Government of India Scholarship and the States Scholarship for 1969, 1970 and 1971. He has participated in every major art show in India since 1965 and his work was chosen to represent India at Expo '70, in Osaka, Japan.

Private and public collections in eight countries have acquired Mr. Ganga's work and he has had one-man shows in Spain, Africa, England and the U.S.

Ganga works in watercolor, batik, oils and collage. One of his batiks was chosen by the Indian Government as the national poster for the coming year.

As an altruistic gesture he established the Maharaj Gallery, on Newbury St., in Boston, to help young or unknown artists to become established. He also shows his own work there but considers it in terms of being instructive to those who view it.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein

'Broken Heart' Can Kill

According to a study by British doctors, you can really die of a "broken heart". An extraordinarily high coronary death rate - 67 percent above normal - among widowers with wives dead less than six months, layed to this conclusion.

In the study, the mortality rate at 4,486 widowers aged 55 and over was compared with the mortality figures for married men in the same age bracket. Of the 213 deaths that occurred within six months of the wife's death, heart disease accounted for 77 widowers' deaths as compared against an expected 46; an increase of 67 percent.

The medical researchers say emotional stress alters the consumption of fats, sugar, coffee, or tobacco, all of which are related to coronary artery disease. In some cases, however, emotional stress alone may be enough to cause death. It can bring about changes in pulse rates, blood pressure and other heart functions.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., North Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service. ## Special Features

CORDUROY THREESOME... the mother wears a modified blazer with big side pockets and a wide wale corduroy skirt. The blouse can be tied as a necktie or a bow. The little girl wears an animal-printed smock over slacks, and the boy wears a long striped jumpsuit.

CORDUROY DRESSING... for little girls just growing up! Left, her patchwork zip-up jacket is waist length and shirt-shaped. It is worn over a beige corduroy skirt, very short. Right, the baby dress, in printed corduroy, is a little smock which buttons on the shoulder. Both girls have matching toys in corduroy.

Corduroy Corners Fall Fashion Scene

Corduroy is the big fashion fabric for the young at heart this fall. Known for years as the back-to-school fabric, it is so new and different this season it is barely recognizable.

Exercising Made Fun

Don't make exercising a bore. It doesn't have to be! Here are some easy fun ways to help keep yourself in shape.

Walking. Walk wherever, whenever you can. Pretend all elevators are out of order. Making a quick trip to the store? Walk it!

Running or jogging. If you have never done much jogging, you should consult your doctor for advice and begin slowly. If you're not an outdoor fiend, start your day by jogging inside. One hundred steps is fine, but find your own endurance level. Morning is better because you'll find that you wind up your metabolism early and "run faster" all day—running off more calories, too. Jog with knees raised to a comfortable level but not too high. Be sure that you come down on the ball of the foot, then gently put heel down and quickly spring again to ball of foot. Beginners, take it slow.

Bicycling. It's one of the newest crazes sweeping the country, and a fun way to keep yourself at a physical peak. Ride your bike to the store or to school. (Get a basket or back rack, so you'll have no excuses!) If you don't have a bike, in most cities you can rent them for a complete day.

Swim, kip rope, play tennis, volleyball, touch football. In other words get involved in some sport you enjoy, and you'll soon feel yourself "perk" up—looking and feeling better than ever!

Of course, the big items for going back to classes in style are septets... in a multiplicity of looks. The layered look in tops prevails, going over pants or tiny short skirts, for little girls. As an alternate look there are smocks which can be sewn in little or no time. For dressier occasions, there are long skirts with the layered look in a vest and a blouse. All of these fashions take their lead from the adult world, and separates are the one thing children and adults can both wear with ease. The young message for fall is a total picture of well thought out components.

The new corduroys have no wale, and you'd think they were velvet; in addition, some are printed. The biggest prints are animal motifs, tattersalls and plaids. And as always, they're washable and sometimes even durable press.

No Gimmicks

Gone are the children's clothes with gimmicks and here to stay are modified classics for fall and winter that are sure and easy clothes. There is a mood of assurance in children's clothes, reality and practicality. The casual look is intended to play in and to dress up in... everything is simplified and frequently based on the shirt shape, the go-together layers, the straight-legged pants. Watch for corduroy jeans. And there are a bunch of new toppers to wear over them... little jackets, with shirly shapes.

The most feminine look for little girls is the smock with animals overprinted on it. The colors are bright and clear, and the length is very short, slightly flared. The same look will be prevalent in the back to school coat market.

The Singer Company suggests that, when sewing corduroy, the pile of the garment is placed upward for a richer color. To determine which way the pile runs, brush your hand lightly over the surface. The smoother feel indicates the direction.

Corduroys for Fall are sold at Singer from $1.99 a yard.

THE LONG LOOK—Cotton in a menswear pattern goes feminine in a long dress. In blue and white green plaid, it's a simulated jumper with red-dotted shirt and navy four-in-hand tie. Styled by Cinderella.

OUT TO LUNCH—Colorful random stripes on cotton corduroy create a jaunty zip-front jumpsuit for the lunch box brigade. In Cone fabric, the outfit was designed by Phyllis Berens for Magic Years.

Week of Aug. 31 - Sept. 7

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Seek to understand the wishes of others and you will make great strides in your own behalf this week.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Accept the invitations, you will meet stimulating people and possibly form an attachment for a particular one.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Some of you are moving, others are making an important decision. It's a good time to start that new venture.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - There are unsettled domestic conditions around you that undermine your feeling of security. Turn to creative work.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 21] - Put your original ideas to work now that you can see the whole picture - the results will be gratifying.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - A new long range plan will work out well so get it started now, especially if it involves permanent position.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Your attitude is changing and you have more faith in yourself - make this a period of accomplishment.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - This is a time for general self improvement. If you've been working in right direction, ambitions are gratified.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Some experience a psychic awakening, others will experience weird dreams or give up a prized possession.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - The activities you are now engaged in bring satisfaction and will have a lasting effect on your life.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Working with groups will give you a chance to show off your abilities for organization and political know-how.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - The struggle you are going through strengthens your character, seek out the difficulties and do something about them!

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

1972 - an election year....

There's nothing political about a diet, except that you could elect now to be ready to inaugurate a new you by Election Day. There's no way of predicting a presidential election, but there's plenty of opportunity to foretell your fate, not fat, when an August day marks your determination to wage a fall slimming campaign.

Heat and humidity may hang heavy on the land, but before long the leaves will turn. Even if you live where the leaves remain green all year, turn your personal leaf today - begin thinking diet.

Everyone has some favorite fall dishes that announce to the family that there's been a change of seasons. Review your fall menus now so that you can adjust them to the requirements of diet cookery. Remember that you'll be substituting bouillon for shortening, and artificial sweeteners for sugar. This August primary will prepare you for the main event.

How about a main dish as a diet party platform? One that will serve now on the patio with a crisp salad? One that will heat and hearten a crackling cool fall day? A dish for all seasons, that is?

CHILI CHICKEN

1 tablespoon water
3 tablespoons instant onion
1 cup minced green pepper
1 clove minced garlic
1 cup chicken bouillon
1 4-ounce can tomatoes [chopped]
1 1/2 lbs. chopped cooked chicken [white meat] in large chunks.

1 4-ounce can mushrooms
2 tablespoons parsley
1 packet Sweet 'N Low
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
3 pinches oregano
salt & pepper to taste

Put water, onion, green pepper and garlic in pan and cook until onion and green pepper are soft. Remove from heat and add bouillon, tomatoes, mushrooms, parsley, Sweet 'N Low, chili powder, oregano, salt, pepper. Stir and blend well. Place chicken chunks in casserole and pour sauce over it. Bake for 30 minutes at 400.

Standing on a platform of meals like that, the candidate for diet office must succeed. Show me the woman who starts in the summer to be slim for fall, and I'll give you the woman of charm, the woman of creative endeavor, the woman who cares about herself, the woman who cares about her family, the woman whose vision encompasses long range plans for the benefit of those she meets.

Ladies - I am happy to nominate the woman who is all these things and more. The woman who will be the most attractive woman to listen to election returns on the night of November 7, 1972. The woman who is all of these things. Who? You!

If your heating bill takes a big bite out of your budget...

Nancy Girard can make it more of a nibble.

Nancy helps administer our Equal Payment Plan. "Here's how it works," says she.

"We figure out how much gas you will use during the 10-month heating season - September through June - and divide the cost into ten equal payments. That's what you pay each month.

"Even though you're on the Equal Payment Plan, we still read your meter as scheduled. Both the Equal Payment Plan charge and the actual amount of your bill for the month appear on your bill. However, you pay just the same Equal Payment Plan figure each month. In July, we send you a summary of your account for the 10-month period. In July and August, you are billed just for the gas you use those months.

"Over 42,000 of our heating customers use this convenient plan. It helps level high winter expenses around Christmas and at income-tax time - and there are no interest or carrying charges involved.

"If you think the Equal Payment Plan would suit you better, just call us at 522-6000, or the toll free number listed in your area phone book."

I'd like to discuss the Equal Payment Plan with one of your representatives. Please contact me.

Citizen Group Objects To Low-Flying Jets

The Quincy Citizens Association has voiced objection to increased noise and air pollution from low-flying jets routed over Quincy to Logan Airport.

QCA President Joseph A. Slattery has asked Mayor Hannon to seek the cooperation of Massport officials in rerouting planes over the ocean.

"Now we Quincy residents know how the people of East Boston and Winthrop feel," Slattery said. "Many planes are so low you'd swear they are coming in your bedroom window."

At The Beginning...

JAMES P. PAPILE
President

A small group of immigrated Italian male citizens with tremendous foresight as to the economic problems which may beset their families if they were unable to remain healthy and continue supporting themselves, decided to band together and mutually aid one another should such a crisis befall their homes.

It was decided to enlist as a unit in the Order of the Sons of Italy In America. However, in the year 1932 they decided to leave this order and attempt an organization of their own. How well they did organize! The choice of a name for the organization was relatively easy . . . TORRE DEI PASSERI . . . the name of the town in Italy most of the men had immigrated from.

Financial assets were low but courage was extremely high. This same intestinal fortitude formed the foundation of the highly successful mutual benefit society which exists today - one of the most financially sound and consistent in membership of all mutual benefit societies in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. We are able to now boast of several third generation members.

Thoughts were only of financial aid and assistance to any brother and his family in legitimate need but as membership increased so did the need for socializing and entertaining in the "Old Country" style. How well some of our second generation members do remember events of our childhood, the annual family picnic with busload after busload of families with enough good food to last from early morning until late in the evening when the buses returned . . . the singing.

Necessity for mutual financial assistance sustained membership in the society. As the second generation membership allows our third generation members to assume the responsibility of continuing the great tradition of the society, PRIDE becomes the cause for continuance. We are proud of our heritage and PROUD OF THE MEN BOTH LIVING AND DEAD WHO BEGAN THE TORRE DEI PASSERI MUTUAL BENEFIT SOCIETY SOME 50 YEARS AGO.

James P. Papile
President

Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Society To Mark 50th Anniversary Friday

Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society Inc. will mark its 50th anniversary Friday night at a banquet at Sons of Italy Hall, West Quincy.

Some 300 members and guests are expected to attend festivities at 7:30 p.m. in the hall's Golden Lion Suite.

Hon. Vincent A. Mottola, special justice of Boston Municipal Court, will be guest speaker.

Joining him at the head table will be Chancellor Michael Tiritico of the Italian Consulate in Boston, Mayor Walter J. Hannon and Sen. Arthur H. Tobin.

Victor D'Olympio will be master of ceremonies and Torre Dei Passeri President James P. Papile and Ladies Society President Sadie E. Papile will be at the head table.

John Chiavaroli is chairman of the anniversary committee which includes James Papile, Victor D'Olympio, Robert Galante, Pasquale Mariani, Raymond Papile, John Papile and Domenic Serafini.

Torre Dei Passeri, located at 262 Washington St., Quincy Point, was founded in 1922 by Raffaele V. Papile for immigrants from the Italian town of Torre Dei Passeri [Tower of Sparrows].

The society has expanded to offer membership to all persons of Italian descent and has added a ladies' society and a social club for men of all races.

Regular activities include annual banquets, Monday night bocce, winter bowling and a scholarship for a Quincy High School graduate.

Officers include Mr. Papile; John Chiavaroli, vice president; Raymond Papile, financial secretary; Luigi Mariano, recording secretary.

Also Alfonzo Papile, treasurer; Sante Chella, orator; Carmine Mariani, outside guard; John Papile, chaplain; Arthur Della Barba, Rocco Della Barba and Domenic Serafini, trustees.

Mayor's Proclamation Declares Sept. 1 Torre Dei Passeri Day

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has cited Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society for bringing "credit upon its members, its families and the City of Quincy."

Following is the text of the mayor's proclamation declaring Sept. 1 as Torre Dei Passeri Day in Quincy:

WHEREAS, America's and Quincy's greatness comes from the contributions of peoples of various ethnic regions and cultures; and

WHEREAS, The Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society, Quincy, Massachusetts, is one of the oldest and most sound mutual benefit societies in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and

WHEREAS, The Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society

and its Women's Auxiliary, and its Italian Social Club benefits their members in times of need, death, and illness and awards scholarships to deserving children in the community; and

Torre Dei Passeri Formed As Mutual Aid Society For Italian Immigrants

In the early 1920's, Raffaele V. Papile became concerned over conditions facing immigrants from his birthplace of Torre Dei Passeri, Italy.

Unlike him, most of his friends from "the old country" could not speak English and, therefore, were reluctant to join fraternal organizations.

And they shared a common worry about financial difficulties in the event that anyone would become injured or unable to work.

So, in 1922, Mr. Papile and Luigi Pica gathered 14 of their friends from Pescara and formed the Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society.

The group met originally at the old Johnson Hall on Maple St., serving both as a social outlet and a financial safety valve for its members.

Membership was open only to men from Torre Dei Passeri but gradually expanded to include all men of Italian descent.

RAFFAELE PAPILE

The society spent a short time as an affiliate of the Sons of Italy until members formed their own by-laws and incorporated under a charter in 1932.

Meetings bounced around from place to place until 1957.

After Johnson Hall was torn down they moved to the now defunct Moose Hall on Hancock St. and then to the former IAAA Hall on Canal St.

They took temporary residence at the Eagles Hall on Massachusetts Ave. before buying their own hall at 136 Washington St., Quincy Point.

In 1957 Torre Dei Passeri built the hall they now inhabit at 252 Washington St.

The society has grown to include some 150 members and has added a ladies society founded by Mr. Papile's sister Sadie and a social club for men of all races.

Among its regular activities are annual banquets, Monday night bocce, winter bowling and the offering of a scholarship for a Quincy High School graduate

Sullivan Hails Dedication Of Detoxification Center

Former Federal Mediator John J. Sullivan, candidate for Norfolk County Register of Probate, speaking at house parties this past weekend in Quincy, Canton and Sharon, hailed the dedication of the Quincy Detoxification Center.

At the homes of J. Herbert Cushman, 72 Sherman St., Canton, and David E. Wilson, 65 Beach Rd., Sharon, Sullivan expressed the hope that a similar alcoholic treatment center would be established in the Canton, Sharon and Stoughton areas.

At the home of George Fandel, 94 Grand View Ave., Wollaston, Sullivan reminded the audience that, as early as last Fall's Mayoralty contest in Quincy, he had urged all candidates for mayor to turn their attention toward aiding the sick and suffering alcoholic. Sullivan said as much effort should be extended to curb the disease of alcoholism as is currently being afforded drug arresting centers.

At each of the house parties, Sullivan extended a "verbal hand-shake" to Mayor Walter J. Hannon for taking a strong step forward in his determination to open a detoxification center at the Faxon House site for the alcoholic-prone citizens of Quincy and the Norfolk County towns of Braintree, Weymouth, Milton, Randolph and Cohasset.

Mayor Hannon and his advisory committee, continued Sullivan, will be memorialized in the minds of the families who are innocent victims of an active alcoholic, but who now see hope through the detoxification program.

Sullivan said that the Quincy Detoxification Center officials wisely decided to call upon the expertise of recovered alcoholics who regularly share their experience with other alcoholics in the Alcoholics Anonymous program to serve as a referral group. This kind of wisdom, Sullivan said, puts the right kind of people at the right place at the right time.

Sullivan further pointed out that early in his campaign for Register of Probate, he had proposed, if elected, to appoint to the probate office staff a knowledgeable layman and laywoman who could assist persons who find themselves in a domestic conflict as a direct result of tendency towards alcohol.

Hopefully, he said, this addition to the probate staff could lend itself to reducing the divorce rate where the underlying issue is excessive drinking. If one marriage can be saved by these appointments he stated he would term the program a success.

Sullivan acknowledged that the average person can drink alcohol successfully throughout his or her lifetime without suffering anything more than a routine hangover. On the other hand the helpless alcoholic, he said, is doomed from his first drink unless he takes advantage of the available help

Daniel Barry To Host Chamber Program Development Session Sept. 20

Daniel R. Barry of Barry's Deli has been named to host the Program Development Session of the new South Shore Chamber of Commerce, for the Wollaston area, to be held at Wollaston Methodist Church, Sept. 20 at 7 p.m.

Announcement was made today by John W. Blake, first Vice President and Chairman of the Chambers Program of Work Committee.

The Session is one of a series of 12 meetings to be held throughout the South Shore. About 500 businessmen, as well as elected officials, news media, planning board members, industrial development commissioners and representatives of community organizations, are expected to take part in the goal-setting sessions to develop a 1973 Program of Work for the South Shore Chamber. Each session will last about one hour, and will include a 15 minute orientation and a 45 minute "brain-picking" session with those in attendance.

Once the priorities are developed from the suggestions and ideas of the participants, a committee under the Chairmanship of Mr. Blake, of Colony, Inc. and including William Kelley, Hancock Bank; Frank Remick, Remick's; Scott Low, Patriot Ledger; and Charles Pearce, Quincy Savings Bank will mold them into a Chamber Program of Work which can be realistically financed and implemented during 1973.

Mr. Barry as host will coordinate the various aspects of the meeting.

Barry attended Northeastern University, and is the owner of Barry's Delicatessen in Wollaston and Barry's Ship Haven Restaurant in Quincy Center. He is President of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association, a member of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Quincy Rotary Club and the United Commercial Travelers.

He is married to the former Mary L. Kneeland. They live with their two sons and two daughters at 19 Ward St., in Randolph.

Delahunt To Attend Drug Seminar At Yale

Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt will represent the City Administration at a two week federal seminar series in the establishment and operation of local drug programs.

Dates for the drug dependence institute are Nov. 6 through Nov. 17. The seminar will be held at Yale University, New Haven, Conn.

Delahunt is Co-chairman of the City Council's Committee on drug abuse and recently conducted a hearing regarding the use of drugs in the Quincy school system. Delahunt will be joined by other community leaders who will coordinate all aspects of drug control and the rehabilitation of drug addicts in Quincy.

Wealthy Seek Safety First in Savings Accounts

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursday

High-income groups are relatively uninfluenced by interest rate changes in savings institutions, we were surprised to discover. Safety rather than earnings seems to be the principal reason for entrusting a substantial portion of their wealth to savings accounts.

Source of this information was the report of a Washington social science organization which studied savings objectives and investment policies of affluent Americans.

Interviewed in the survey were groups of Americans whose annual income ranged from $10,000 to over $300,000.

Only 22 per cent of the high-income respondents said that their use of savings accounts had been affected by changes in savings account interest rates. And one-half of these people had reacted simply by shifting funds from one savings account to another, a transaction that usually involved taking money out of one institution and putting it in another.

"There was little evidence from our questioning," the report stated, "that the rising level of interest rates on savings accounts has had much effect on the total amount of funds maintained in recent years in savings accounts. To a limited extent the rising rates have stimulated transfers among savings accounts in competing financial institutions."

Another method of inquiry, through the balances kept in checking accounts, produced the same conclusion about the influence of interest rates. Interviewers asked whether more or less money was kept in checking accounts than a few years earlier—and why.

Only 21 1/2 per cent of the entire high-income groups had lower checking-account balances, and of these only one-fourth implied that the rise in interest rates had prompted them to reduce their funds in checking accounts.

The most common savings objective among the wealthy, mentioned by half of the respondents, was to accumulate funds for retirement years.

One-third of the high-income persons were interested primarily in their children's education, and one-fourth wished most to leave an estate to their heirs. As the income rose, the bequest motive grew more important, being mentioned by half of those with incomes over $300,000.

As incomes increased, there was a steady decline in the proportions saving for retirement or for their children's education. On the other hand, the objective of saving to meet future emergencies remained at roughly the same importance at all income levels.

Apparently, most individuals at higher income brackets feel themselves increasingly capable of providing for retirement or children's education out of current income. But the uncertainties of future emergencies are sufficient to maintain this savings motive regardless of income level.

(One of a series on how the nation's wealthy handle their money)

Frank E. Remick To Host Two Development Sessions Sept. 13-20

Frank E. Remick, President of Remick's of Quincy has been named to host two Program Development Sessions in Quincy.

One session will be for the trade development oriented businessmen, on Sept. 13 at 8 a.m. at First Parish Church. The other, for the physical development oriented businessmen will be held Sept. 20 at the Neighborhood Club at 12:15 P.M.

Announcement was made today by John W. Blake, first Vice President and Chairman of the Chambers Program of Work Committee.

The sessions are two in a series of 12 meetings to be held throughout the South Shore. About 500 businessmen, as well as elected officials, news media, planning board members, industrial development commissioners and representatives of community organizations, are expected to take part in the goal-setting sessions to develop a 1973 Program of Work for the South Shore Chamber. Each session will last about one hour, and will include a 15

Mr. Remick as host will coordinate the various aspects of the meetings.

A native of Quincy, Mr. Remick is a graduate of Thayer Academy and Harvard University. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of Thayer Academy, Director of the Massachusetts Merchants Association, Director of the Rice Eventide Home, Director of Hancock Bank, Past President and Current Director of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, Past General Chairman of the United

He has a son, Bruce and a daughter, Actress Lee Remick. Mr. Remick and his wife, Margaret [Boney] reside in Boston.

Davis Stresses Need For Probate Legal Training

Harold Davis, candidate for Norfolk County Register of Probate, today stressed the need for the public to examine the legal experience of the nine candidates for Register of Probate.

Davis said that many of the candidates are not lawyers nor have had any experience in the law.

I believe that the public would be best served by electing an individual familiar with the problems faced by our courts,"

Davis cited his legal training at the Georgetown University Law Center and practical experience with the largest law firm in New England.

"I believe that my exposure to many areas of the law besides probate practice can be put to use in improving the operation of the Probate Court," Davis said.

McCormick Finds Voters Unaware Of Treasurer's Duties

A house party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Connor, 57 Apthorp St., North Quincy, for James F. McCormick, Sr., candidate for Norfolk County Treasurer.

McCormick noted the public does not seem to be aware of the duties of the Treasurer of Norfolk County. He said he found that in speaking to the voters around the county they are not aware of the fact that the treasurer is responsible for the funds of the Norfolk County Board of Retirement, and that it is the treasurer's duty to invest these funds which amount to one and one half million dollars every year.

McCormick informed the group that his 30 plus years as a bond specialist and investment advisor to profit sharing plans and retirement boards should be the deciding factor in selecting the qualified candidate.

The everyday duties of the Treasurer were also discussed.

McCormick informed the group he has been an office manager for many years, and that he is knowledgeable in the affairs of banking and money rates, another requisite for the important position of Treasurer.

Adeline Pompeo Thanks Mayor

Miss Adeline Pompeo of Watson Rd has thanked Mayor Hannon for his quick response to a petition to have Victory Park cleaned up.

In a letter to the mayor, Miss Pompeo said "the citizens of Watson Rd Broadway and all streets surrounding the Pollard School wish to express great appreciation for your quick action."

She singled out the forestry and park departments and the National Guard for "a magnificent job" of cleaning up the Pollard School area.

"It has been some time since we have wanted this work done and it is wonderful to have Victory Park clean of its debris," she said.

Sales Increase Of $70 Million Seen

Angelo's Acquires Curtis Food Stores

Ralph D. Tedeschi, President of Angelo's Super Markets, Inc. announces acquisition of Curtis Food Stores. Effective date was Monday, Aug. 28.

Curtis Food Stores' 33 units include six supermarkets, three mid-markets and 24 compacts, all located in the South Shore area. The new combination will account for approximately $70 million in sales in 1972, according to Mr. Tedeschi.

The acquisition highlights almost 50 continuous years of grocery business for the Tedeschi family. In 1923, Angelo Tedeschi began operating in Rockland, out of the basement of the family home on Belmont St. It was here that the public's high regard for the Tedeschi family's meats was to begin and continue to the present day in Angelo's Super Markets.

Ironically, 1923 was the founding year of the Curtis family operation with a small store in Dorchester. Begun by the late Thomas L. Curtis, Curtis Food Stores grew steadily with the much-acclaimed poultry farms operation and the supermarket and compact chain, developed by brothers Thomas, David, Alan, Richard Curtis, and brother-in-law Robert Barrett.

The Tedeschi family, including Ralph, William, Robert, Dominic and brother-in-law Charles Fitzgibbons, launched their first super market in November, 1946 in their hometown of Rockland. Fifteen years later, after growing to become one of the largest per store volume chains in America, the respected chain of six Tedeschi Super Markets merged with Stop & Shop Supermarkets.

In 1963, Ralph Tedeschi, along with his brothers, brother-in-law and Edward Berry, Earl Wallace and Philip Vargus, left Stop & Shop to re-establish the family business.

Named in honor of their father and the business founder, Angelo's Super Markets grew in eight short years to eight stores on Cape Cod and Southeastern Massachusetts, and again gained the esteem of the public and food industry.

Each Angelo's unit is marked by the same dedication and desire that transformed the first unit in Holbrook from a low volume, remodeled chain unit into a high volume super market and an accepted public success. Other stores quickly followed on Cape Cod and elsewhere, culminating in Hanover, with an Angelo's that food store experts concur is "America's finest supermarket".

In a recent issue of Progressive Grocer, a national trade publication geared to supermarket professionals, Angelo's Hanover store was cited as the National Supermarket of the month. The market incorporates all that has made the Tedeschi name so familiar and respected for innovative and progressive approaches to food retailing.

With the acquisition of the Curtis Food Stores, the Tedeschi family now returns to the areas of its early success stories. Already well-known for the early Tedeschi Supermarket locations on the South Shore, the Tedeschi family, through their acquisition, compliments exceptionally well the existing Angelo's Super Markets and at the same time returns to the South Shore area the most accepted Tedeschi approach to food retailing.

As far as organizational changes are concerned, the Curtis brothers will join Angelo's Super Markets, with Thomas Curtis as president of the compacts. All Curtis Food Store employees now will be under the Angelo's name and will remain in their respective positions. Headquarters employees will be relocated to Angelo's Rockland, offices.

Changes coordinating all Curtis Food Stores with Angelo's, Ralph Tedeschi notes, will take place as soon as is efficiently possible and then only when needed. According to Mr. Tedeschi, all areas of both chains are now being studied, and programs to make the new corporation a better and more innovative force in food retailing will be forthcoming. The Curtis supermarkets, along with the mid-markets, will be changed to Angelo's Supermarkets in name and policy. The Curtis compacts will remain unchanged in name.

After the Curtis acquisition, the Angelo's name will represent almost 100 years of combined retail food experience and must be looked upon as a definite benefit to the consumer in the months and years ahead.

With the new combination, Angelo's will have markets in the following areas: East Weymouth, Holbrook Highlands, Marshfield, East Milton, Holbrook, Hanover, Scituate, South Weymouth, Quincy, Hingham.

Angelo's will have Curtis Compact Stores in the following areas: Milton, Cohasset, Houghs Neck, Randolph, Rockland, Weymouth, Kingston, Braintree, Brockton, Hanover, West Hingham, Raynham, Duxbury, Whitman, Marshfield, Hingham, South Weymouth, Scituate, North Quincy, Weylesley Hills, Scituate, Hanson.

"Justice delayed is justice denied..."

That saying is more than 2000 years old, but lawyers still quote it today.

And nowhere is it more true than in Probate Court. Because Probate Court is where family matters come for settlement... adoption of children, child custody, wills, separation, divorce.

So Probate Court needs a Register with experience, to ensure that anxious families aren't faced with weeks or months of unnecessary delay and heartache.

One man running for Register of Probate in Norfolk County has that experience... six years of it, as First Assistant Register. Vote for him on September 19.

QCA Opposed To Continuation Of Quincy High School Open Campus

The Quincy Citizens Association has notified the School Committee that it is "opposed to a further extension of the open campus concept in the Quincy Schools."

In a letter to School Committee Vice Chairman Paul C. Kelly, QCA officials said they felt last year's trial period of the open campus system at Quincy High School was "a worthless experiment."

"With an educational cost this year of $955 per student, we think it is imperative that each and every student gets back to the classroom and makes the most of the education the taxpayers are providing," they said.

President Joseph J. Slattery and Secretary Dorothy C. Kelly said they felt students should be in school "not on the streets of Quincy."

Kelly said the school committee is now receiving reports on "open campus" from school officials and expects a decision on continuance at the Sept. 13 meeting.

"The opinion of the Quincy Citizens Association will be taken into consideration," he said.

83rd Annual Highland Gathering

Saturday At Weymouth Fair Grounds

Contestants from Nova Scotia to Delaware will meet at Weymouth Fair Grounds Sept. 2 for the 83rd annual New England Highland Gathering of Scottish games.

The program will start at 10 a.m. with Highland dancing and end around 5 p.m. with a pageant of massed pipe bands.

Activities will include exhibitions by the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society, Irish Step Dancers and the 10th Regiment of Foot.

Teams representing Luthans of Germany and Aerlingus of Ireland will add an international flavor to the soccer championships.

The Clan McGregor Band will represent Quincy in the competition. Bob Jack of Tabor St., South Quincy, is publicity chairman.

Quincy Junior Baseball Leagues will hold annual pre-season registration from 9 a.m. to noon Sept. 9 at the Vocational-Technical School gym.

Boys born between August 1, 1957 and August 1, 1965, are eligible to play for either Babe Ruth, Junior, Triple A or Junior Farm teams.

Registration will also be held for the new Senior Babe Ruth team for boys 16 to 18.

Anyone who was not on a team last year must register before tryouts.

Paul Sullivan Wins Clifford Mason Trophy

Paul Sullivan of Milton has received the Clifford O. Mason Memorial Trophy for outstanding performance in the Quincy YMCA Sailing Program.

Director James Bonney presented trophies last week as the program completed another season at Mason's Point in Squantum.

Adam Nagy received the Ship-Shape Award, Elizabeth

Keohan the Skipper Award and Margie Donlan and Rich Davies won Blue Jacket Awards.

George Winters, Miss Zoe Ann Spinks and Mrs. Lynne Bragoli were instructors assisting Mr. and Mrs. James Bonney in the program.

Instructions included drown-proofing, lifesaving, sailing, boat rigging, knot tying, rowing and canoeing.

Some 9,700 litter bags and stickers were handed out in seven stores in a two-week campaign by the Quincy Ecology Group.

Chairman Ronald N. Halter has thanked participants who "have recognized that the problem of litter is no more than a problem of human behavior."

Member stores included Page's Drug Store, Naborhood Pharmacy, Brewster's Corner Pharmacy, Previte's Market, McEgani's Variety, D & D Delicatessen and Brett's Package Store.

Conroy Greets 110

Presidents Looking For Offensive Punch

Quincy Football Coach Hank Conroy, who greeted 110 candidates on Monday and expects another 10 when school opens, envisions another strong defensive club this year and feels his biggest job is to try and mold an offensive unit which can move the ball.

"We have some fine defensive players back but we lost our two top quarterbacks, some outstanding ball carriers, including Steve McCarthy, and some fine offensive linemen," Conroy said. "I think we should be strong defensively but we'll have to move the ball."

Among the top returning linemen is Ron Smith, a brilliant player two years ago as a sophomore but who was sidelined after the second game last year with an injury.

Guards Frank Guido and Ed Sylva, tackles Dave Sten and Mike Varrasso, sophomore giants a year ago, and end Jack Spillaine, are other veterans. Ray Papile, who starred for the junior varsity, is another promising end.

Quarterbacks Jim Walker and Kevin Shea graduated and this year Paul Creedon, a senior who sparked for the jayvees, and Junior Robin Carrera, a soph star in 1971, will be battling it out for the job.

Carrera's brother, Steve, was an all-time great at Quincy and shone at Brown University.

Paul Riggs, a fine sophomore end last year, will be moved to the backfield, while John Whitney is another back with varsity experience.

"We have more experience on defense than offense but we have some fine boys coming up from last year's powerful sophomore club who should help," Conroy added. "And there is another promising group of sophomores again this year. Our sophs have had tremendous success under Dave Burke."

Quincy is holding double sessions daily this week and Conroy is pleased that most of the Presidents reported in excellent condition.

Quincy hopes to rebound from a disappointing 4-5 record which followed the school's only perfect 9-0-0 season in 1970.

Raiders Look Small But Quick

A turnout of 95 [at least five more are expected by the time school opens], one of the largest in years, has buoyed North Quincy Football Coach Ralph Frazier's hopes for a successful 1972 season.

The large turnout underwent two strenuous opening day workouts on Monday and the double sessions have continued daily this week.

"I was delighted by the fine turnout and I think we accomplished more on the first day than we ever did in the past," Frazier said. "Most of the boys reported in good condition and they really want to work."

The North coach sees a small but quick team this fall and is especially pleased with the outlook on defense.

"We are smaller than last year but I think we will make up for our lack of size with a lot of speed," he said. "I think we will be strong on defense with the boys being very quick."

Frazier also was tickled with an unusually large turnout of 40 sophomores.

In regard to veterans, the Raiders are better off on defense than offense with Center Paul Cadigan the only offensive starter among the returnees.

Jim Sarruda Grid Candidate At U. of Pa.

Quincy's Jim Sarruda is among 95 football candidates reporting to the University of Pennsylvania pre-season football camp Sept. 1 in Philadelphia as the Quakers prepare for their home opener with Lafayette Sept. 29.

Sarruda, a sophomore from North Quincy High School, will be tried at roverback in Penn's defense. He was a tri-captain at North Quincy and was selected for the Harry Agganis all-star

Others who saw some action on offense are End Billy Carroll, Halfback Paul Cuniff, Bobby Morton, last year's No. 2 quarterback who looms as the number one signal caller this fall; and Tackles Peter Quinn and Jim Neal. There are a few others who played regularly on the junior varsity with a smattering of varsity experience.

On defense Morton was a regular starter but Frazier plans to use him strictly on offense at quarterback this season. Others with a good deal of defensive experience are Wayne Bell, cornerback; Steve Fransoso, defensive end; Mark Mulvaney and Burt Bray, linebackers; John Stevens and Bernie Halloran.

Despite the graduation of Bob McKay, one of the Greater Boston League's premier quarterbacks who sparked in the winning South team in the recent Harry Agganis all-star game, North appears to be set at this important position. Morton, backup to McKay a year ago, was the starting quarterback for the jayvees and he is joined by Carl Leone and Bruce Stephansky, who shared the quarterback chores last year for the sophomore team.

football game.

Penn's defense needs bolstering after the Red and Blue were able to do no better than win two of nine games last fall. Coach Harry Gamble welcomes back nine of 11 offensive starters and 10 of 11 defensive starters as he tries to steer the Quakers to better times.

Sarruda is an English major at Penn with his career plans aimed at becoming a lawyer.

Nancy Tepper Wins Silver Medal In International Special Olympics

Nancy Tepper of Canton won a silver medal in the 25-yard backstroke to lead Norfolk County competitors in the third International Special Olympics in Los Angeles.

Twelve area children competed in swimming and track and field events at the University of California at Los Angeles August 13-18.

John Brennan of Braintree finished fourth in the 50-yard dash finals and Nancy Tepper was also a finalist in the 25-yard free-style.

Don Robertson of Quincy finished fifth in his 300-yard dash heat, Bill Pyne of Quincy came in fourth in the 50 and 300-yard dashes.

Siobhan Nolan, Jackie Pettinelli and Mary O'Brien, all of Quincy, placed 1-2-3 in their 50-yard heats.

Pam Dellafor of Braintree and Julie Leonard of Holbrook came in fifth and sixth in their 300 heats and Paul Frechette of Holbrook came in fifth in the 50.

Margaret Scully of Braintree finished fifth in her 300 race and Bill Stevenson of Quincy placed second in his 25-yard free-style and third in the 50-yard free-style.

Television and movie celebrities escorted teams onto the field as Eunice Kennedy Shriver of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation officially opened the games.

In addition to competitions, the children visited Disneyland and were treated to variety shows, a victory banquet and a dance.

Preparations are underway for the next Norfolk County Special Olympics in May and the state games in June.

The next International games will be held in 1976.

Three thousand children from the United States, France and Puerto Rico participated in the event.

Soccer Officials Clinic Set For Sept. 5-6

The annual clinic for new officials will be held by the Eastern Mass. Soccer Officials Association Sept. 5 and 6 at 7 p.m. at Canton and Saugus High Schools.

The annual exam will be held Sept. 7 at Saugus High.

Anyone interested in becoming a certified soccer official is asked to write to Paul Beaver, 10 Donna Lane, Burlington, Mass.

"With the development of soccer on a broader level, especially in the South Shore area, the need for more competent and qualified officials grows larger," said Robert L. Ringnette, South Shore representative of the Eastern Mass. Officials Association. "We hope interested persons will come forward and avail themselves of the opportunity to advance the game of soccer in this area."

Chamber Sees New Quincy Center Association As 'A Real Asset'

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce today said it believes the formation of the new Quincy Center Business and Professional Association is "a real asset" to the community and will substantially complement the Chamber's efforts at downtown revitalization.

Chamber Executive Vice-President Eric Swider said: "I am pleased to see the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association organizing to effectively promote the retail interests of Quincy Center and the many fine establishments that are located in the downtown area. It has been long recognized that intimate involvement of businessmen in any project will make it successful.

"The enthusiasm of our members and other retailers in the downtown area to effectively compete against the shopping centers is most heartening."

The Chamber will continue to be involved in efforts to physically revitalize Quincy Center, he said, and will be substantially increasing its staff time during the coming months on gaining:

The southern extension of the MBTA.

Completion of the Upland Road Extension and the cloverleaf at Capen's Circle.

The Chamber continues to maintain an extremely close liaison with City officials in working to attract potential development in the downtown area, Swider said. He continued:

"We, however, realize that somehow the physical revitalization of downtown Quincy had to be separated from the day-to-day promotional effort; that is why we encouraged the formation of a Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, and are highly encourage that it is taking on the responsibility of this day-to-day promotion.

"The Chamber has been extremely instrumental in the past in gaining additional parking for Quincy Center and was a key mover in the construction of the soon-to-be completed, Ross Area Parking Structure."

Swider said he has worked with downtown businessmen throughout the planning stages for creation of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, and continues to maintain close contacts with the group's leadership.

"Giving birth to a new organization like the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association is a difficult but worthwhile exercise," Swider said.

"I firmly believe that the downtown business community can understand the reasons for supporting both organizations, and have received assurances from the vast majority of our downtown membership that they firmly support what we are attempting to accomplish through the reorganization of the South Shore Chamber.

"The business community must work to improve the economic vitality of this area, and we believe that the new South Shore Chamber of Commerce and the new Quincy Center-Business and Professional Association will both do a lot to make that happen."

Brownell Seeks Decision On Seawall Maintenance Responsibility

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has asked the Division of Waterways to determine who is responsible for maintenance of existing seawalls.

In a letter to Chief Engineer

Frederick Schwelm, Brownell said the General Laws require the Division of Waterways to install seawalls on private and public property.

But questions have arisen as to who has responsibility for maintenance, repair and upgrading of the walls, he said. "Your prompt reply to this inquiry will be of great assistance to both myself and many municipal officials who are uncertain of their legal responsibilities," he said.

'Talk Down The Walls'

Would you believe that a man and woman could live together for seven years with resentment so great that both look haggard...sad...gaunt...that both are on tranquilizers and suffer from various nervous disorders? This is what resentment can do to people. Friends have long ago ceased to invite them...their two children left home as early as they could...17 and 18...they say they have nothing in common...dislike everything the other likes. They view everything from the opposite side of their resentment wall. They ridicule and belittle each other...even in public...like in a restaurant...or at a bargain counter. I felt the resentment between them as they sat in my office.

"Why are you so resentful of each other?" I asked. "Where did it all start?" Would you believe it? They couldn't remember for sure where it started. The imprint of hurts of the past had been carved deeply into each other. My job...to find some way to pull down the resentment wall between them.

Right now as you read this you probably have enough resentment in your own heart to identify with these suffering people. If resentment is your marital problem I must tell you as I have them that the quicker you pull down the resentment wall the better...because nothing will kill love and destroy a marriage any quicker than resentment.

How can resentment walls between husbands and wives be demolished? First...STOP the cause of the resentment. If a wife is living behind a resentment wall because her husband is never home on time...or comes home drunk...or lets her face the bill collectors...or drives like a demon when they're out together...or something else which causes resentment...that something must STOP...before one single stone in the wall will come down. Ask if you don't know how you're causing the wall. Listen...don't be defensive of yourself...look at yourself seriously...take to heart the cause of the resentment wall. STOP supplying resentment wall materials for bigger walls between you.

Secondly...START doing what will be pleasing to your partner. That's really what marriage is all about. One wife said..."If only he'd take me in his arms...I feel starved." Her husband STARTED to show affection...and the resentment wall crumbled. Said a man who now slept in a separate room..."until she STOPS belittling me and STARTS showing sexual desire for me those walls aren't coming down." She did...and their walls of resentment fell. Resentment lasts long after provocation ceases...that's why we must start replacing the hurt actions with healing love actions.

Thirdly...TIME. Time can be a great healer...when the hurtful actions and words STOP...and new healing closeness STARTS. In time you can TALK about the provoking "old days"...the ways you have found to pull down the walls...and the new system of not letting resentment walls get built up again.

Lots of people are pulling down the walls these days. You can too.

- Shriver Declares His Independence
- White House Kills No-Fault Insurance
- Nixon's 20-Year Power Plan

WASHINGTON—In the midst of campaigning hard for George McGovern, Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver is quietly declaring his independence of the Kennedys.

Shriver, whose marriage to Eunice Kennedy 19 years ago made him a charter member of the Kennedy circle, has thus far carefully avoided painting himself as a bearer of the Kennedy legacy.

Instead, in his campaign speeches, Shriver has drawn on his experiences with Lyndon Johnson, whom Shriver repeatedly describes as a great architect of domestic affairs.

Shriver's campaign tactics rebut those who claimed a month ago that McGovern's choice of Shriver as his running mate was an attempt to cash in on the Kennedy charisma.

Intimates tell us just the opposite is true—that neither the Shriver nor the Kennedys particularly want the association.

Members of Ted Kennedy's staff, we are told, often view Shriver as an outsider who parlayed his association with the family into a shot at the big time. As proof, they review his resume of jobs:

First, Shriver managed the Chicago Merchandise Mart for old Joe Kennedy. Then he ran the Peace Corps and the poverty program. Finally, he became Ambassador to France.

All along the way, some Kennedy insiders feel, Shriver traded on the family name.

But Shriver's friends argue that the association with the Kennedys has hurt as well as helped the vice presidential candidate.

Twice, the Kennedys intervened to prevent Shriver from accepting the vice presidency. In 1964, Lyndon Johnson dangled the job in front of Shriver, but the Kennedys reportedly objected and LBJ withdrew the offer.

Shriver reacted by staying with the Johnson Administration even after Bobby Kennedy announced he would run against LBJ in 1968.

Four years ago, Hubert

Humphrey considered choosing Shriver as his running mate, but once again the Kennedys intervened.

Then came George McGovern, who may have offered Shriver his last chance to declare his independence of the Kennedys. If Shriver runs a good race, he will become a powerful figure in the presidential stakes in 1976.

Perhaps this is what Teddy Kennedy is really worried about.

NIXON'S PLAN

President Nixon intends not only to win the November election but to keep the republican party in power for the next 20 years. The President has adopted a methodical, four-strategy plan to broaden the party's base and to make the GOP the majority party in America. Here are his four strategies:

—Southern strategy—To break the Democratic party's hold on the South, Nixon began playing Southern politics in 1968. He promised a Supreme Court more sympathetic to the South and tried unsuccessfully to appoint a southerner to the first Supreme Court vacancy. The President also slowed down the rush to integrate the schools and came out against busing.

—Catholic strategy—The President has courted Catholics assiduously by opposing abortion and favoring federal aid to parochial schools. This is expected to cut into the traditional Democratic vote in Catholic parishes.

—Jewish strategy—Nixon has taken a strong pro-Israel stand, which is winning Jewish votes away from the Democratic party.

—Labor strategy—The President intervened to prevent the GOP from adopting its customary anti-labor platform. He also arranged to be at the golf course at the right time to join AFL-CIO chief George Meany for a round of golf. Afterward, the two men talked privately for more than an hour. Thereafter, Meany used his personal influence to try to stop individual unions from endorsing George McGovern.

FRIEND OR FOE?

President Nixon would like to be known as the consumer's friend. Yet it was the White House that delivered the final, killing blow to no-fault auto insurance.

No-fault insurance would do away with the problem of deciding who's responsible for auto accidents. Every driver would look to his own insurance company to pay his medical and repair bills. No longer would we need lawyers to settle accident cases.

This, of course, would mean that trial lawyers would lose about a billion dollars a year in fees. Their loss would be the consumers' gain ultimately in the form of lower premiums.

The bill that would have established a national no-fault system finally came to the Senate floor a few weeks ago. Despite the opposition of the trial lawyers, it was given a good chance to pass. But then the White House went to work.

The President's team of lobbyists included David Gunning, who works for White House fixer Peter Flanigan. Wallace Johnson, the President's lobbyist in the Senate, also worked against the bill. The Department of Transportation contributed one of its congressional "liaison men," Jim Rose. Even the Justice Department sent two powerful operatives, Donald Santarelli and Paul Woodward, up to Capitol Hill to lobby against no-fault insurance.

At least four Republican senators, we are told, were originally in favor of no-fault but their minds were changed by the White House team. By voting time, the administration knew the bill was dead. John Evans, a staff man for the President's domestic affairs adviser, John Erlichman, sat in the Senate gallery and witnessed the execution.

It may have been a triumph for the White House, but it was a defeat for the nation's auto owners.

Receives Special Trophy

'Miss Teenage' Contest Builds New Friendships For Mary Beth

By DICK MATTULINA

Mary Beth Mulcahy returned from New York recently with three rolls of undeveloped film, a modeling offer and a lot of great memories.

Mary Beth, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mulcahy of 107 Assabet Rd, Merrymount.

She is also "Miss Massachusetts Teenager" of 1972 and represented the state in the Miss American Teenager contest in New York City this month.

Now added to her list of souvenirs is a 20-inch, crowned trophy in honor of her "Miss Massachusetts Teenager" title made by Vincent R. Nobile of West Quincy.

Mr. Nobile, owner of Nobile Sporting Goods Inc. on Furnace Brook Parkway was walking through the lobby of the New York Sheraton Hotel when he met Mary Beth, wearing her "Massachusetts" sash.

"We wore the sashes everywhere we went in New York," she said, "and I met a lot of people from

MEMENTO - Mary Beth Mulcahy received a trophy declaring her "Miss Massachusetts Teenager" of 1972 from Vincent R. Nobile of Nobile Sporting Goods Inc., Furnace Brook Parkway. [Ron Goodman Photo]

Massachusetts.

"Mr. Nobile and I talked for a while and he asked me for my autograph for his daughter, Lee Ann, then he asked if I'd gotten a trophy," she said.

Mary Beth said she hadn't received one and Nobile made arrangements to present the keepsake to her on her return to Quincy.

The petite, sandy-haired sophomore at Quincy High School was persuaded to join the state contest while a student at Academic Moderne in Boston.

She won a silver bracelet and the trip to New York when she was chosen among 28 contestants in the pageant held at Lenox, Mass.

She was not among the finalists in the 44-girl New York competition, but she has no regrets.

"I had a great time and I met a lot of people," she said. And she made what looks to be a lasting friendship with Miss New York, Virginia Nardone.

The contest marked Mary Beth's second trip to New York City, but she didn't get a chance to do too much sightseeing.

Mary Beth and her mother arrived on Aug. 14 in time to do a little shopping before the contestants held a televised press conference at the hotel.

The next two days were devoted almost entirely to rehearsals in the WNEW-TV studios, private interviews with judges and about four hours under klieg lights taping the show.

She got to see more of the town last week when she spent a few days visiting Miss New York.

Mary Beth was runner-up last year in the Miss Merrymount Contest, was a high-honor student, co-head cheerleader and mayor of Central Junior High School and is a member of the Quincy High student council.

Teacher Contracts Up In Air As 17,000 Return To School

Some 17,000 Quincy public school children were scheduled to go back to school Wednesday as teachers and school officials remain at odds on contract negotiations.

All of the city's 22 elementary schools, five junior high and three high schools were to reopen for the school year Wednesday morning.

And, at press time, their teachers were expected to be present despite a "professional day" of meetings Tuesday and rumors of injunctions, firings and pay dockings.

Two thirds of the city's 1,000 teachers took a "professional day" off the job Tuesday for meetings at Sons of Italy Hall in West Quincy to express their dissatisfaction with the progress of negotiations.

The contract with the Quincy Education Association expired on August 31, but teachers indicated they had no intention of boycotting classes unless the school committee took punitive action against them.

Some 333 teachers were in their classrooms as scheduled on Tuesday.

School officials debated whether to seek an injunction against the meeting and took no action but indicated injunctions may be sought to prevent further "professional days".

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon declined comment on possible school committee action but said he had "no doubt the schools will open as scheduled." QEA Attorney Tom Sullivan said the group "would go to court" to defend any teacher if firings occurred.

The teachers voted to request that any docked pay be put towards needs of the individual schools, Sullivan said.

Students entering Grades 9 and 10 were to report at 8 a.m. Wednesday and be released at 12:15 p.m. until Friday morning.

Grades 11 and 12 are to report at 8 a.m. Thursday for a half day. All high school students will attend a regular schedule of classes beginning at 8 a.m. Friday.

Students at the five junior high schools will have a full day of classes starting at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday and grade school children were to have classes from 8:25 to 11 a.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Kindergarten classes are scheduled to begin on Thursday.

SOFT TOUCH — Brushed cotton denim in navy overprinted with red creates a junior pants outfit with all the western flavor of a Texas sunset. It's teamed with a red and white dotted shirt with frosted collar. By Jeenz.

PLUSH—Cotton velour in a rich chocolate brown color is tailored by Halston for the gentleman at home. The outfit includes a belted tunic shirt and pipe-stem trousers. Fabric by Dan River.

SCHOOLMATES—This two-piece outfit's as perfect in a math class as it is in a crafts class. The butcher apron of brown cotton suede tops a long-sleeved cotton shirt in a brown and white wallpaper stripe. White collar and cuffs add a fresh look to the Cinderella design.

Poet's Corner

School-Time

Skip, Hop! Skip, Hop!
Boys and girls gather around,
Swinging here and there ...
Whistling happy tunes as Their light steps approach
The beckoning school-house.

Though the familiar building
Years to be filled with Life and laughter, it Points a grim finger at Them ... behind a smiling
Face ... as if to say,
"Back to the grind we go,
To sharpen and polish
M-i-n-d-s."

Indeed! Summer vacation is over.
But, let's be grateful for These in-between study pauses:

And look at the bright side, Gleaning beauty-goodness and amusements,

Blessing you with sunny dispositions,
Strong, tanned bodies and flashy brains.

Anna T. Anderson, Quincy

Fix-It Tip

If a flat tire, empty gas tank or dead battery stalls you on a dark road at night, you can make a warning signal by stretching a long sheet of aluminum foil along the back and side of your car nearest the road. Secure the foil by closing the car doors or windows on it. The foil will reflect the headlights of oncoming cars and could be a lifesaver.

Dr. Eberhart on: VD

There are many questions surrounding Venereal Disease, but too many people are embarrassed to ask them. Dr. Claude M.

Eberhart, Associate Medical Director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company answers questions relating to VD.

Q. What are the forms of VD?

A. The most common forms of venereal disease are syphilis and gonorrhea.

Q. Of the two, which form is worse?

A. Syphilis is more deadly; but gonorrhea is 20 times more common than syphilis. Either can do great damage to health.

Q. How do you get VD?

A. Through sexual intercourse. And, because of this, many people are embarrassed to seek professional help.

Q. What happens if syphilis is not treated?

A. In time, syphilis can destroy the cells in your brain, or ravage your spinal cord; it can damage your heart and blood vessels ... it can drive you insane, paralyze you, or cripple you.

Q. Can you die from syphilis?

A. Absolutely, but it doesn't happen suddenly. It is drawn out and can take years of suffering. Fifteen to 25 percent of those who do not get treatment die prematurely.

Q. What can gonorrhea do?

A. Without treatment, gonorrhea can make you sterile, lead to crippling arthritis, meningitis, or heart disease.

Q. Is there a cure for VD?

A. Yes, science has known how to cure syphilis since 1909 and gonorrhea since 1943.

Q. What if I don't have a private physician?

A. Free treatment is available in most parts of the country. Ask your state or local health department where to get help.

Q. Can a doctor give treatment to a young person without telling his or her parents?

A. In many states, if you are a minor, the doctor is able to treat you without the consent of your parent; but this is not true for all states. In a few, it is against the law to treat a minor without parental approval.

Q. How do I find out about my state?

A. Call your state or local department of health, they'll have the information. If you think you have VD, do something about it ... VD doesn't go away by itself.

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of September 7 - 14

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Your continued cooperation regarding the feelings of others is having a pleasant reaction on your personality.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Watch your money while in places of amusement, a loss could cause an unpleasant reaction at home.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Domestic affairs are most important at this time. Keep busy cleaning, repairing or redecorating instead of fighting.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Don't waste your breath rebelling against prevailing conditions, turn attention to creative accomplishments.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - There are benefits coming your way, either through friends and social affairs or through your own efforts.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - By directing your efforts into the right channels you can accomplish that which is important to your well being.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - The great changes that are taking place within you will have far reaching effects so choose your course wisely.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Watch your budget this coming month, extravagance causes friction in the home. The loss of a friend upsets you.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Insisting on your "rights" is not the method to use, ride easy and Lady Luck will favor you.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - If your work has been consistent and your hopes within reason, you should soon see the results of your labor.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - You could relax in blissful contentment or improve your mind by studying a subject in metaphysics.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - The contacts you make now may fascinate you but they are of a temporary nature so don't get too involved.

New School Year Resolutions

Don't go to school on an empty stomach! For late sleepers there's always time for an instant breakfast, served up in style here on Vera's "Apple for the Teacher" placemat.

To help your teenage son (and the rest of the family) make the transition from vacation to school as painlessly as possible, try pinning these resolutions on his bulletin board.

RESOLVED:

1. I will concentrate on one thing at a time: TV, the radio or homework—not necessarily in that order.
2. I might engage in two of the above activities simultaneously but absolutely never all three!
3. I will respect my parents' eardrums when adjusting any dial marked VOLUME.
4. When borrowing Dad's car, I will not bring it home running on the fumes.
5. To please Mother I occasionally shall modify my costume to fit the occasion.
6. At no time shall I rush into the house and grab the phone immediately after greasing my motorbike.
7. The posters on the walls of my room shall not get an X rating.
8. I will synchronize my watch with local standard time before going out on a date—and will look at it periodically.
9. To please my sister I shall refrain from discussing women's lib or her choice of boyfriends.
10. I will accept the fact that man does not live by pizza alone.
11. I will never skip breakfast. When I oversleep, I'll drink Carnation Instant Breakfast for a bacon-and-egg kind of energy.
12. I shall overcome!

300 Members, Guests Mark Golden Anniversary Of Torre Dei Passeri

Some 300 members and guests gathered at Sons of Italy Hall on Quarry St. Friday night to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society.

Judge Vincent A. Mottola of Boston Municipal Court was guest speaker at the dinner-dance for the Quincy-based Italian-American organization.

Head table guests included Society President James Papile, Vice President John Chiavoli, Ladies Society President Sadie Papile and Chancellor Michael Tiriticco of the Italian Consulate.

Also Mayor Walter J. Hannon, Senator Arthur H. Tobin, Rev. John J. Tierney of St. John's Church, and Master of Ceremonies Victor D'Olympio.

Chancellor Tiriticco told extended congratulations in Italian and Mayor Hannon and Sen. Tobin brought greetings of the city and state.

President James Papile and Past President Fiorenzo Fertile presented charter members with special mementos of the golden anniversary of their lodge.

Music was provided by the Paul Lombardo string quartet.

Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society was founded in 1922 by Raffaele V. Papile and several fellow immigrants from the Italian village of Torre Dei Passeri.

The organization, based at 252 Washington St., Quincy, has grown in its 50 years to include a ladies' society and a social club for men of all ancestry.

Activities include bocce and bowling leagues, banquets, outings and the presentation of an annual scholarship to a Quincy High School graduate.

Judge Mottola Tells Torre Members 'U.S.A. Is The Hope Of The World'

Judge Vincent A. Mottola of Boston Municipal Court told members of Loggia Torre Dei Passeri Friday night that the "United States of America is the hope of the world."

Judge Mottola was guest speaker at the 50th anniversary celebration of the Quincy-based society Friday night at Sons of Italy Hall on Quarry St.

"We must preserve and protect this hope," he said. "If we don't, not only the United States, but the entire world will suffer."

The judge said this country must continue to live up to its history of helping other nations, dating back to our aid in wiping out piracy on the Barbary Coast in the early 1800's.

Reaching back into history, he cited President John Adams as helping to establish America's tradition of justice and fair play following the Boston Massacre in 1770.

Adams defended British soldiers on trial for slaying American revolutionaries despite "great animosity from the public," Judge Mottola said.

"His residence was repeatedly stoned by the young revolutionaries but he continued to make certain the soldiers received a fair trial," he said.

Judge Mottola said America's greatness lies in "the opportunity it offers to anyone who wants to pay the price of hard work and attain whatever goal he wants to achieve."

And the judge is living proof of that opportunity.

Born in Avelino, Italy, he came to Boston in 1916 at age 10 and worked as a barber to pay his way to the New England Conservatory of Music.

After completing that course, he worked his way through law school playing the violin, became a lawyer and was later appointed a special justice of Boston Municipal Court.

Tobin Presents Senate Certificate

Sen. Arthur H. Tobin presented a certificate of recognition from the Massachusetts State Senate at the 50th anniversary celebration of Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society.

Sen. Tobin, in a brief statement, reminisced about his growing up and playing sports with boys from the Daniel Webster School area who form a large part of the group's membership.

Mayor's Proclamation Declares Torre Dei Passeri Day

Mayor Walter J. Hannon has declared Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society for bringing "credit upon its members, its families and the City of Quincy."

Following is the text of the mayor's proclamation declaring Sept. 1 as Torre Dei Passeri Day in Quincy:

WHEREAS, America's and Quincy's greatness comes from the contributions of peoples of various ethnic regions and cultures; and

WHEREAS, The Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society,

Quincy, Massachusetts, is one of the oldest and most sound mutual benefit societies in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and

WHEREAS, The Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society

and its Women's Auxiliary, and its Italian Social Club benefits their members in times of need, death, and illness and awards scholarships to deserving children in the community; and

WHEREAS, The Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society's participation in these various fraternal and civic endeavors brings credit upon its members, its families and the City of Quincy as well;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Walter J. Hannon, Mayor of the City of Quincy, do hereby proclaim September 1, 1972, as in the City of Quincy commemorating their 50th Anniversary as a mutual benefit society.

Torre Dei Passeri Day

At The Beginning...

A small group of immigrated Italian male citizens with tremendous foresight as to the economic problems which may beset their families if they were unable to remain healthy and continue supporting themselves, decided to band together and mutually aid one another should such a crisis befall their homes.

It was decided to enlist as a unit in the Order of the Sons of Italy In America. However, in the year 1932 they decided to leave this order and attempt an organization of their own. How well they did organize! The choice of a name for the organization was relatively easy . . . TORRE DEI PASSERI . . . the name of the town in Italy most of the men had immigrated from.

Financial assets were low but courage was extremely high. This same intestinal fortitude formed the foundation of the highly successful mutual benefit society which exists today - one of the most financially sound and consistent in membership of all mutual benefit societies in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. We are able to now boast of several third generation members.

Thoughts were only of financial aid and assistance to any brother and his family in legitimate need but as membership increased so did the need for socializing and entertaining in the "Old Country" style. How well some of us second generation members do remember events of our childhood, the annual family picnic with busload after busload of families with enough good food to last from early morning until late in the evening when the buses returned . . . the singing.

Necessity for mutual financial assistance sustained membership in the society. As the second generation membership allows our third generation members to assume the responsibility of continuing the great tradition of the society, PRIDE becomes the cause for continuance. We are proud of our heritage and PROUD OF THE MEN BOTH LIVING AND DEAD WHO BEGAN THE TORRE DEI PASSERI MUTUAL BENEFIT SOCIETY SOME 50 YEARS AGO.

Chancellor Tiriticco

Hails Torre Dei Passeri

Chancellor Michael Tiriticco of the Italian Consulate in Boston congratulated members of Loggia Torre Dei Passeri for maintaining the Italian heritage and way of life "in a new and beautiful country.

"It is this way of living that makes for harmony and love of fellow man the world over," he said.

GUEST SPEAKER - Mrs. Minnie Coletti, left, and Mrs. Bruna Stracco escort Judge Vincent Mottola of Boston Municipal Court to the head table at the 50th anniversary of Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society.

Torre Dei Passeri Formed As Mutual Aid Society For Italian Immigrants

In the early 1920's, Raffaele V. Papile became concerned over conditions facing immigrants from his birthplace of Torre Dei Passeri, Italy.

Unlike him, most of his friends from "the old country" could not speak English and, therefore, were reluctant to join fraternal organizations.

And they shared a common worry about financial difficulties in the event that anyone would become injured or unable to work.

So, in 1922, Mr. Papile and Luigi Pica gathered 14 of their friends from Pescara and formed the Torre Dei Passeri Mutual Benefit Society.

The group met originally at the old Johnson Hall on Maple St., serving both as a social outlet and a financial safety valve for its members.

Membership was open only to men from Torre Dei Passeri but gradually expanded to include all men of Italian descent.

The society spent a short time as an affiliate of the Sons of Italy until members formed their own by-laws and incorporated under a charter in 1932.

Meetings bounced around from place to place until 1957.

After Johnson Hall was torn down they moved to the now defunct Moose Hall on Hancock St. and then to the former IAAA Hall on Canal St.

They took temporary residence at the Eagles Hall on Massachusetts Ave. before buying their own hall at 136 Washington St., Quincy Point.

In 1957 Torre Dei Passeri built the hall they now inhabit at 252 Washington St.

The society has grown to include some 150 members and has added a ladies society founded by Mr. Papile's sister Sadie and a social club for men of all races.

Among its regular activities are annual banquets, Monday night bocce, winter bowling and the offering of a scholarship for a Quincy High School graduate

Candidates Present Views On Issues

The 27 local candidates in the Sept. 19 State Primary election have been given the opportunity to speak out on key issues through a questionnaire compiled by the League of Women Voters of Quincy.

The public service project was carried out under the direction of Dr. Luleen Anderson, League President, and Mrs. John Toland, Voter Services Chairman.

Assisting them were committee members Mrs. Thomas Stevenson, Mrs. David Coletti, Mrs. John Kane, Mrs. David Burns, Mrs. Shirley Sweet, Mrs. Carol Howley, Mrs. Sue Donovan, Mrs. James O'Brien, Mrs. Phyllis Morse and Mrs. Marion Marsh.

The candidates were asked questions pertaining to the office they seek and requested to keep their answers brief.

Five of the 27 candidates failed to respond.

Following are the replies of the 22 who did, printed here by The Quincy Sun as a public service:

• Congress

11th District

Question 1: How would you deal with the question of rising health costs?

Question 2: Do you think the President has usurped power that belongs to Congress? Explain.

JAMES A. BURKE, 55 Brook Hill Rd, Milton. Age: 62

[Unopposed]

Occupation: U. S. Congressman.

Education: Boston Public Schools, Lincoln Preparatory, Suffolk University.

Public Service: Member of Congress since 1958; member Ways and Means Committee; formerly Assistant Majority Leader Mass. House of Representatives; Vice Chairman Mass. Democratic State Committee [4 years].

Answer 1 - I am convinced that Medicare and Medicaid, while great advances in their day, have been proven outmoded and in need of reform. I feel that all Americans today have the right to expect adequate health care and should not be denied such care for lack of money. Some form of comprehensive national health insurance is necessary along with strict controls over health costs. The present system of Federal insurance payments for locally administered health programs has meant that effective controls fall between two stools of authority. Medicaid is probably the classic example of how not to administer any future health assistance program.

Answer 2 - To some extent, increase Presidential power is not so much the result of deliberate usurpation as it is of tremendously increased Federal activity in the daily lives of our citizens. The more reforms and programs Congress passes, the more power the Executive receives.

It is in the area of foreign policy and the conduct of war that Congress has probably witnessed the greatest erosion of its power. Our tragic experience in Vietnam hopefully has taught Congress its lesson and, in the future, Congressional approval must be obtained within a narrow period of time for any Executive decision to commit troops overseas.

• State Senate

Norfolk District

[Quincy, Braintree, Hollbrook]

Question 1: What measures would you support for relief of the property tax?

Question 2: How would you change the welfare system to meet the needs of the poor?

Question 3: How and by whom would solid waste in Massachusetts be managed without jeopardizing air, water and land resources?

ARTHUR H. TOBIN, 58 Huntly Rd, Quincy. Age: 41

Occupation: Legislator - Attorney.

Education: Boston College, BS/BA, Suffolk Law, Juris Doctor.

Public Service: Former City Assessor, former State Representative [3 terms] City Council President [3 years], City Councillor [6 years], State Senator [2nd term].

Answer 1 - Graduated income tax and other proposals to bring relief to the overburdened homeowner.

Answer 2 - Replace the existing non-working system with a community oriented plan which would include a fixed income and guaranteed work program.

PREPARING FOR Candidates Night to be held Sept. 12 at 8 p.m. at Beechwood Knoll School are League of Women Voters of Quincy committee. From the left, seated, are Mrs. Joseph Duffy, Mrs. Thomas Stevenson, Mrs. John Toland, Voter Service Chairman and Mrs. Francis Sweet. Standing are Mrs. Alan Anderson, League president, and Mrs. James Howley. The League is sponsoring the Candidates Night as a public service.

Answer 3 - Should be a State run system under the jurisdiction of the DPW. It should be on a regionalization plan utilizing incineration, sanitary landfill, recycling, compacting and should have approval of Environmental Control Commission to protect air-water and land resources.

ADELINE POMPEO, 15 Watson Rd, Quincy. [No reply received]

• State Representative

First Norfolk District

[Ward 1]

Question 1: What measures would you support for relief of the property tax?

Question 2: How would you change the welfare system to meet the needs of the poor?

Question 3: How and by whom would solid waste in Massachusetts be managed without jeopardizing air, water and land resources?

THOMAS F. BROWNELL, 15 Moreland Rd, Quincy. Age: 32.

[Unopposed]

Occupation: Legislator.

Education: B.S. Degree "Cum Laude", Suffolk University; Doctor of Laws Degree, Suffolk Law School; Boston University Graduate Law Tax Program.

Public Service: Former Assistant Attorney General, Former Legislative Counsel for the Mass. Taxpayers Foundations, Chairman Ward One Cancer Crusade, Chairman Ward One Democratic Committee.

Answer 1 - Take the emphasis off the regressive antiquated property tax by the adoption of a graduated income tax. Massachusetts relies too heavily on the property tax as a vehicle to finance our government. In the past five years there has been a massive increase in property tax rates across the Commonwealth. If something isn't done soon to reverse this trend the average home owner, the elderly, and fixed income group will be unable to afford their own home.

Answer 2 - The Welfare Department is the most mismanaged and poorly administered department in our state government. The net result is that the taxpayers are paying dearly for a welfare system that does not deliver a service which helps the poor become a constructive member of society. The Governor should conduct a management survey of the department to improve its efficiency and reduce its unwarranted high cost.

Answer 3 - I favor the establishment of solid waste disposal districts by various communities, supervised and controlled by the state bureau of solid waste disposal in the DPW. Also the state bureau should conduct a long term research program to develop a lasting solution to the disposal problem ultimately to be recommended and adopted by various disposal districts.

Second Norfolk District [Wards 2-3]

CLIFFORD H. MARSHALL,
64 Edison St., Quincy. Age: 34.
[Unopposed]
Occupation: State Legislator.

Education: Quincy Public Schools, Quincy Jr. College Adult Drug Ed. Attended Suffolk University.

Public Service: Quincy City Councilor, 1966 to present; State Representative, 1969 to present; City Chairman Heart Fund, 1966 & 1967; Board of Directors Southeastern Chapter Heart Association.

Answer 1 - Evaluation of School Programs w/ability to cut budget if found excessive. Tax on Rental Income. Administrative Procedure & Evaluation of Welfare, to meet the needs of those in need, but restrict where possible. Evaluate & cut the unnecessary expenditures in Consultant Area of MBTA and other State Expenditures. State must put money & programs under tighter security.

Answer 2 - At this point I'm not sure - however, I am on Special Comm. on guaranteed income & I hope we can come up with the right program for the poor and needy.

Answer 3 - Regional control with some State supervision is necessary I believe. This is going to be accomplished in Norfolk County by Legislation and funding of programs passed last year.

Third Norfolk District [Wards 4-5-6]

JOSEPH E. BRETT, 254
Fenno St., Quincy. Age: 65

Occupation: Representative in the General Court.

Education: Graduate-Dean Academy and Junior College - High School Equivalent.

Public Service: Former City Councilor, State Representative for past 14 years; Former chairman-Metropolitan Affairs and Social Welfare Committees; Present Chairman-Urban Affairs Committee, Previous service on Transportation Committee.

Answer 1 - I would prefer more emphasis be placed on taxes on income; the more income, the more taxes. The property tax is fair insofar as paying costs of street and sidewalk construction, police and fire services, water and sewer connections, and other costs related directly to property.

Answer 2 - I have felt and still feel that administration of welfare should be within the local community with state minimum standards applicable. This would give a greater degree of control over the administration because of a closer, more personal contact.

Answer 3 - In my opinion, based on many years of consideration, the only long range solution for solid waste disposal is reclamation of those materials worthy of reclamation and incineration of all others. At the present rate of refuse disposal, disposal areas will soon be unavailable. Incineration can reduce bulk of waste to about five percent and provide a solid germfree ash which can be used as solid fill.

WILLIAM D. DELAHUNT,
33 Elmwood Park, Quincy. Age: 31

Occupation: Attorney; Quincy City Councilor.

Education: Thayer Academy, Middlebury College A.B. Political Science, Boston College Law School, J.D.

Public Service: Assistant Clerk, Superior Court; Legal Counsel, Quincy Police Department; Quincy City Councilor; Chairman, City Council Committee on Drug Abuse; Chairman, City Council Committee on Park & Recreation.

Answer 1 - I would favor a freeze on property tax rates at this time. Further increases in the cost of local government should be assumed by the State and funded by the adoption of a graduated income tax. I would also favor the total elimination of the property tax as it applies to owners of single family residences who are over 65 years of age and who make such residence their domicile. The graduated income tax again would be utilized to make this proposal feasible.

Answer 2 - I favor a change to a total flat grant system in an attempt to eliminate the bureaucracy which has practically immobilized the welfare system to the detriment of both the taxpayer and the recipient.

Answer 3 - The State should take over the ultimate responsibility by establishing regional districts to handle the problem of solid waste disposal.

GREGORY R. FALLON,
857 Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy. Age: 22

Occupation: Student

Education: Will complete Degree 1/1/73 B.S. Political Science, Curry College, Milton.

Answer 1 - The measure I would support for relief of the property tax would be the regionalization of school districts which would cut down on the administrative costs of running city and town operated school systems.

Answer 2 - I would return the administration of the Welfare system to the cities and towns, so that a more personally supervised program would provide a closer relationship with the individual needs of the poor.

Answer 3 - The Army Corps of Engineers should assume the management of solid waste disposal with the method of disposal being pollution free incineration.

MRS. MARILYN D. HANABURY, 2 Old Colony Ave., Quincy. Age: 43.

Occupation: Secretary-Treasurer small business.

Education: Quincy High School - 1948.

Public Service: Former Chairwoman of Social Action Community, Wollaston Cong. Church; Planning Br. Morality in Media; Legislative Comm. Churchman's League for Civic Welfare; Quincy Citizen's Association.

Answer 1 - Implementation of the graduated income tax should hold the line on property taxes, but the federal or state government should assume at least one third of the cost for education since schools are supported mostly by real estate taxes.

Answer 2 - The federal government should establish a decent minimum income i.e. negative income tax. Emphasis must be upon job training, day care. Computer accounting and separating fiscal and social responsibility should help eliminate waste.

Answer 3 - As recommended by the Dept. Public Works report by the Raytheon Service Co. and other studies [one not yet completed by the county] it has to be done on a regional basis to reduce cost. The problem of pollution control to meet DPH standards is great and the costs too high for local cities and towns.

J. VINCENT SMYTH, 184
Lansdowne St., Quincy. Age: 52

Occupation: President & Treasurer, Smyth's Package Store.

Education: Boston College High [1938]; Boston College [1942] A.B. Economics.

Public Service: Quincy City Council [Ward 6] 7 years; City Council President 1968-1969; Chairman, Council Public Works Committee; Chairman, Council Veteran Services Committee.

Answer 1 - Relief from property taxes can only be achieved by giving top priority to money appropriations and cutting back in other areas. Capital outlays must be geared to the national economy. The bonded indebtedness of the State should be liquidated as soon as possible to relieve both our generation and our children from this tax load.

Answer 2 - We must recognize that the worthy and deserving poor will always be a reality. The flagrant abuses of the Welfare system must be eliminated. This can be achieved by closer scrutiny of the applicants and work programs for those who are physically and mentally able to perform.

Answer 3 - Due to cost factors solid waste disposal in the future should be under a regional management. Sanitary land fill operations [where possible] or incineration with strict pollution controls are, in my opinion, workable programs.

JENS E. THORNTON, 14
Orchard St., Quincy. Age: 48.

Occupation: Commercial fisherman.

Education: Quincy Schools, Norfolk Co. Agri. School, Brandeis 1 year, Tufts, 3 years.

Public Service: 3 years QPD [Patrolman]

Answer 1 - Freeze property tax at or below present rates, thus allowing inflationary pressure of growing economy to slowly create a more favorable ratio between property tax and total income.

Answer 2 - Day care centers for working mothers. Computerize welfare system to reduce cost, fraud and inefficiency.

Answer 3 - Authorize county government to conduct experimental programs of waste disposal; and require cooperation across county lines, when necessary for efficient operation.

County Commission

Question 1: What changes would you propose in county budgetary procedures to provide for professional administration?

Question 2: Do you feel county employees should contribute in any way to fund raising events for elected county officials?

Question 3: Should there be local approval for new county bonding?

JAMES J. COLLINS, 63
Governors Road, Milton. Age: 49.

Occupation: Lawyer

Education: Harvard College A.B., Boston College Law School: Juris Doctor.

Public Service: County Commissioner, Chairman local and regional United Fund Drives; Assistant Attorney General.

Answer 1 - In Norfolk County a high degree of professional administration now exists. Any budgetary procedural changes I might recommend would have nothing to do with professional administration.

Answer 2 - I'm completing second term in office and have never had [nor allowed anyone to have] a fund-raising event or testimonial in my behalf. Obviously I am not in favor but if a county employee genuinely wants to work for an official on his own time and there is no coercion then it could be wrong to prohibit an employee from such activity.

Answer 3 - It is my opinion that local control already exists. New County bonding follows new County projects which must first be approved by the Legislature who represent local government in any regional endeavor.

GEORGE H. FERRAN, 929
Webster St., Needham. Age: 69

Occupation: Retired but am employed as Supt. of Mails, Boston College.

Education: Graduate of Boston University.

Public Service: I am not a Politician as such but a citizen concerned with costs, taxes and ecology. Part in Fund Drives. Member Fraternal and Social Organizations.

Answer 1 - At present the budgets are submitted by the various departments to the Commissioners who review them and they may or may not make revisions. The complete budget is then referred to the Legislature for approval. It might be well and more representative if possibly a representative group from the larger towns and city in Norfolk County, preferably members of finance committees could act as a subcommittee on budgets to make recommendations for consideration.

Answer 2 - No. As a general principle, I do not believe that county employees should contribute or should be asked to contribute to fund raising events for elected county officials. However, if a county employee wishes to make a voluntary, personal contribution that would be his right and his decision and I could have no objection.

Answer 3 - No. I believe that this would not be in the interest of efficiency and expediency. There would necessarily be a delay in approval and sometimes, when the time factor is important, delays could be detrimental to the proper administration of County affairs.

GEORGE B. McDONALD,
133 Grove St., Quincy. Age: 49

Occupation: County Commissioner. Principal Storekeeper, M.D.C. Sewerage Division, 18 years; 1954 to present.

Education: Quincy School System; University of Southern California.

Public Service: Quincy City Councilor & Councilor-at-Large totalling 12 years, 1960-1972. Member of the following standing committees: Ordinance, Finance, Public Works, Veterans Services, Pensions and Parks & Recreation Committee Chairman: Rules and Public Safety, Disposal and Dumping Problems. Appointed: Legislative Agent for Workmen's Compensation.

Answer 1 - Remove statutory control of County budgets from legislative control and set up new procedures providing controls to a committee of local elected officials within that specific county.

Answer 2 - No, not in the actual fund raising. But we must not ever infringe on their constitutional rights to take active part in the election of their representatives in government.

Answer 3 - Yes - provided approval control is removed from the Great and General Court.

THOMAS K. McMANUS,
Shattuck Rd, Norwood. [No reply received]

● County Register Of Probate

Question 1: What is the most pressing problem of the office to which you seek election and what solution do you propose?

HAROLD DAVIS, 176 Presidents Lane, Quincy. Age: 27

Occupation: Lawyer

Education: Thayer Academy, Bowdoin College 1966 A.B. Magna cum laude, Georgetown University Law Center 1969, Juris Doctor.

Public Service: Elected member Quincy School Committee, Quincy Democratic City Committee, Executive Committee State Young Democrats, Norfolk County Heart Assoc. Board of Directors.

Answer 1 - Providing more efficient services to the Public beyond the mere record keeping functions of the Register of Probate, I would move into the area of law reform. For example I would move for the adoption of a uniform set of Probate rules to be followed by all counties in the Commonwealth. I believe in general that The Register is in a position to draft legislation and testify before legislative committees.

PAUL C. GAY, 501 North St., Walpole. Age: 43

Occupation: First Assistant Register of Probate.

Education: Norwood High School, Northeastern University - Bachelor of Arts, History and Government; Boston University Law School - Dr. of Law.

Public Service: Massachusetts Bar Association Committees on Family Law - Probate; Executive Committee - Massachusetts Registers of Probate; Committee of Administrative Offices of the Massachusetts Courts; Council - Norfolk County Bar Association.

Answer 1 - To modernize the domestic aspect of Probate by: 1. Creating an independent, full time, Chief Judge to administer court sessions, staff, and facilities and to coordinate court services with public services such as police, Department of Mental Health, Department of Public Welfare and other private social agencies. 2. Establishing a total Family Court by including juvenile offenses within Probate jurisdiction.

PAUL P. HAYES JR., 263 Elm St., Braintree. Age: 33

Occupation: Practicing Attorney at Law; Assistant Adjunct Professor of Law, New England School of Law.

Education: A.B. Boston College, L.L.B. and L.L.M. Suffolk University.

Answer 1 - The public must recognize their responsibility of seeing to the election of an attorney, who has had extensive practice in this area, so that the functions of this office may be competently fulfilled. Also, with the present heavy caseload of the Norfolk County Probate Court, there exists the need for additional personnel to service the public.

JOSEPH P. McDONOUGH, 65A Miller St., Quincy. Age: 57

Occupation: Lawyer

Education: Bishop Cheverus High School; Suffolk Law School, Honor Graduate.

Public Service: Decorated war veteran [WW Two]; Former Chairman of Quincy Rent Control Board [unpaid position]; Delegate Democratic National Convention [1956] Active in Community affairs such as Mothers March against Polio.

Answer 1 - Register should be qualified to pass upon sufficiency Petitions presented to Court; on question of jurisdiction of parties and subject matter of petitions. In this area he is assistant to the Judges. Most pressing problem, budgetary. United States is No. 1 in the world according to Divorce Statistics. Solution-Use of a professional marriage counsellor in the Probate office which would reduce the number of Divorce trials, leaving personnel more time for other work.

ROBERT M. MURPHY, 34 York Way, Westwood. Age: 47

Occupation: Attorney at Law.

Education: Harvard Law School; Suffolk Law School 1950; Doctor Juris.

Public Service: Former Assistant Attorney General; Former Elected Town Auditor, Westwood; Chairman, Westwood Board of Appeals 1958-1970; Chairman, Massachusetts Sport Parachuting Commission; Lt. Col. U.S. Army Reserve.

Answer 1 - Legislation is the solution for the dire need of changes in Probate Court & the office of Register. 1. Divorce laws that are now so archaic should be rewritten to divorce and separation without the agonization and humiliation required now. 2. We should stop the practice of appointing the favored few lawyers in certain cases who collect sizable fees and have an assistant Register handle estates under $50,000 and return the estate money to widows and children, in these cases settlement should be complete in months instead of years. 3. The 200 ridiculous court forms should be eliminated, saving a fortune in printing costs.

JOHN J. SULLIVAN, 23 Marion St., Quincy. Age: 54

Occupation: Former Commissioner Federal Mediation - Conciliation Service.

Education: Faculty - Holy Cross College - Industrial Relations Institute.

Public Service: Chairman - Salary Survey Board - Quincy; Chairman - Professional Conditions Committee [Quincy School Committee - Quincy Education Association]; Labor-Management advisor - New England Governors, Senators, and Congressmen Federal Mediator.

Answer 1 - The number of domestic case problems appearing for probate action is rising. The cancerous root of some divorce actions today is caused by alcoholism by at least one contesting party. Victims of this disease are seeking suffrage in the probate court. My membership on the South Shore Council for Alcoholism and mv many years dealing with human relations as a federal mediator should tend me well in counseling these unfortunates, and hopefully save a marriage.

WARREN R. BLACKADAR, 18 Greenwood Ave., Stoughton. [No reply received]

ROBERT G. DONOGHUE, 50 Pleasant St., Brookline. [No reply received]

THOMAS F. CAVANAUGH, 42 Windsor Road, Norwood. [No reply received]

● County Treasurer

Question 1: What is the most pressing problem of the office to which you seek election and what solution do you propose?

JOSEPH G. GRAZIANI JR., 46 Houston Ave., Milton. Age: 39

Occupation: Milton Town Treasurer.

Education: Milton High School. 1950 Northeastern U. 1958. B.C. Grad. 1970.

Public Service: Town Meeting Member, 18 years, Elected. Park Comm. 4 years [2 years Chairman]. Democratic Town Comm. 16 years, Elected. Milton Town Treasurer, 8 years since 1964. Elected.

Answer 1 - After 22 years a new County Treasurer will be sworn into office Jan. 3, 1973. The most pressing problem is to elect a person with 14 years experience to fill this position so that the County Treasurer's office can continue to function in the fine manner that it has in the last 22 years. I have 14 years of Municipal Finance Experience.

The duties and responsibilities of being Town Treasurer are exactly the same as they are for the County Treasurer. Elect a Treasurer for a Treasurer's job.

JOSEPH J. LARAIA, 54 Grogan Ave., Quincy. Age: 39

Occupation: Finance Director, Mass. Dept. of Public Welfare.

Education: Boston College BS/BA in Finance.

Public Service: Quincy City Councilor, 7 years. President of the City Council, 2 years. First Chairman Quincy Industrial Development Commission. Veteran - Korean War.

Answer 1 - The problem with the Treasurers office is one of identity. Few people realize that the County Treasurer is responsible for the administration of $8.2 million annually. The Treasurer is also a member of the County Retirement Board which invests the pension funds of the County Employees and the municipal workers in 19 Norfolk County Towns.

By opening the County Financial Records for public inspection, I hope to encourage more citizens to learn about County Government.

JAMES F. McCORMICK SR., 100 Reservoir Road, Quincy. Age: 59

Occupation: Manager, H. C. Wainwright & Co., Branch Office, Quincy.

Education: High School graduate, Harvard College, Courses in Finance.

Public Service: Quincy School Committeeman, 13 years. Vice Chairman, two years. Chairman, Quincy Park-Recreation & Forestry Board, six years. Member, Quincy Democratic City Committee.

Answer 1 - The office of treasurer of Norfolk County will need a man who understands money rates, is familiar with the bond market, and has the maturity to make decisions. A great deal of the treasurer's time is taken up with the Norfolk County Board of Retirement, a ten million dollar fund. I have over thirty years experience in the investment field. My first concern would be the modernization of the bookkeeping system and the office in general.

JAMES M. COLLINS, 1120 Brook Road, Milton. [No reply received]

Write-Ins Allowed For President, Vice-President

For the first time in Massachusetts history, voters will be able to write-in candidates for President and Vice President this year.

The General Court recently passed legislation allowing write-ins on the Nov. 7 ballot.

Absentee Ballots Allowed

Elections Supervisor W. Norman Gleason is preparing the ballots for distribution to cities and town before the election.

Recently enacted legislation will allow absentee ballots to be cast in the Sept. 19 primary election.

League Of Women Voters To Sponsor Candidates Night At Beechwood Knoll

The League of Women Voters of Quincy will hold a candidates night at the Beechwood Knoll School at 8 p.m. Sept. 12.

All candidates for Congress, state senate and house and county treasurer and register of probate have been invited to attend.

The format for the evening will consist of a three-minute statement on "the most serious issues to be faced during your term of office and how do you plan to contribute to their solution?"

Following this, the candidates will participate in small, informal group discussions on a timed, rotating basis.

The public is invited to attend the seminar which League spokesmen promise will be beneficial to both candidate and voter.

Mrs. Patricia Toland is voter service chairman. Dr. Lurleen Anderson is president.

10,000 Copies Of This Special Section Going To Quincy Schools

Ten thousand extra copies of this Quincy Sun Special Election pull-out section are going to school.

As a public service project by the League of Women Voters of Quincy, the Quincy Public School System and the Quincy Sun, the 10,000 copies will be distributed thusly:

- To Quincy, North Quincy and Quincy Vocational Technical High Schools for use by registered voters at those schools.
- To Quincy Junior College for registered voters there.
- To Quincy public elementary schools for pupils to bring home.

- To seventh and eighth grade parochial school classes for use in the schools and to be brought home.

The copies are being distributed as a public service to acquaint students and parents with the candidates seeking office in the Nov. 2 city election and where they stand.

Independents May Keep Status While Voting In Primary

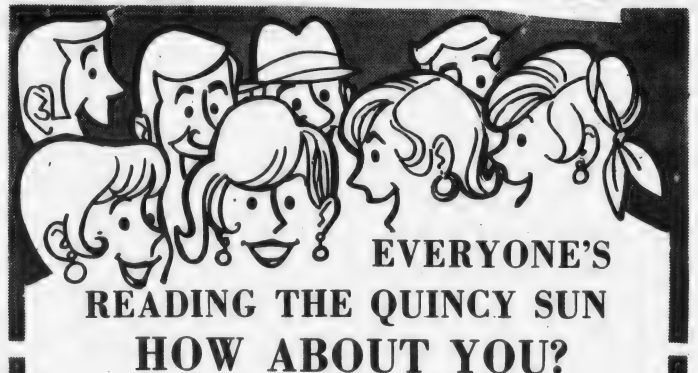

Independent voters may cast ballots in the Sept. 19 primary without sacrificing their independent status.

Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren will provide forms at all polling places to allow independents to regain their status instantly.

Under previous procedure, a voter would be classified as a member of the party in whose primary he voted and would have to wait 30 days to change his status.

Nine More Businesses Join Quincy Center Professional Association

Nine more stores and businesses have enrolled in the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, swelling the group's membership to 26.

Executive Director John E. Murray said the reception and cooperation afforded to the organization by businessmen was "remarkably good".

Murray said merchants are proving themselves to be "very much interested in participating in their own promotions and the promotion of the Quincy Center area."

Of 50 calls he has made to stores and businesses in the past three weeks, only one response was negative, Murray said.

Some 14 branches of chain stores have committed themselves to membership pending approval of their home offices, he said.

New members include:

- Barker's Stationery.
- Golden Print.
- Kustom TV.
- Marvel Beauty Shop.
- Milton's of Quincy.

- Patterson Flower Shop.
  - Pewter Pot.
  - Pilgrim Diner.
  - The Patriot Ledger.
- Previous members include Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream, Burgin & Platner Insurance Agency, Child Teen Shoe Shop, Colman Sporting Goods, Also Granite City Hardware.

- Hancock Bank and Trust Co., Jason's Luggage and Music Shop, Kincaide Furniture Corp., Lynn's Card and Gift Shop.
- And Montilio's Bakery, The Quincy Sun, Remick's of Quincy, Rogers Jewelry Store, Sawyer's Campus Shop, South Shore National Bank, South Shore Television and Appliance, and Tag's Sleep and Lounge Shop.

The organization is holding constant meetings planning promotions for the new Ross area parking garage to be opened in October.

Joseph Angelo of Remick's is chairman of the activities committee for the event.

VOTERS! Read This:

$19,725 is what the taxpayer pays his Register. Doesn't it make sense to get the most qualified?

$50,000 Estates and under could be probated in months instead of years. And the money can be returned intact to widows and children. Why the delay? Isn't it time for a change in the system?

$$$$$$ The printing of 200 separate Probate forms is ridiculous and costly. Eliminate this practice—modernize Probate Court. This antiquated system perpetuates long delays and red tape in probating estates, divorces and family support.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein

Closing In On Cancer

One of the most frantic searches in the history of man is to find the elusive human cancer virus. Now, there is a little light at the end of the tunnel. An international group of scientists at the Institute for Medical Research in Camden, N.J., has discovered that a human virus, strongly resembling the virus found in mouse breast cancer, turns up much more often in women with breast than in healthy women.

For example, the suspicious virus was found in only 7 of the 156 breast milk samples taken from healthy women [less than 5%], while researchers found that it was present in milk samples of 8 of the 16 women with breast cancer [50%].

Dr. Moore, who leads the team, acknowledges that more work must be done before absolute proof of the virus-cancer link is nailed down. But he believes that the work is promising enough to raise the eventual hope of developing a vaccine effective against breast cancer.

If your heating bill takes a big bite out of your budget...

Nancy Girard can make it more of a nibble.

Nancy helps administer our Equal Payment Plan. "Here's how it works," says she.

"We figure out how much gas you will use during the 10-month heating season—September through June—and divide the cost into ten equal payments. That's what you pay each month.

"Even though you're on the Equal Payment Plan, we still read your meter as scheduled. Both the Equal Payment Plan charge and the actual amount of your bill for the month appear on your bill. However, you pay just the same Equal Payment Plan figure each month. In July, we send you a summary of your account for the 10-month period. In July and August, you are billed just for the gas you use those months.

"Over 42,000 of our heating customers use this convenient plan. It helps level high winter expenses around Christmas and at income-tax time—and there are no interest or carrying charges involved.

"If you think the Equal Payment Plan would suit you better, just call us at 522-6000, or the toll free number listed in your area phone book."

I'd like to discuss the Equal Payment Plan with one of your representatives. Please contact me

"Does it really matter who the Register of Probate is, anyway?"

It sure does.

Probate court is the "family court". Adoption of children, child custody, disposition of wills, divorce . . . all these go through the Probate Court.

So it matters very much who the Register of Probate is. His practical experience in administering the court can speed the legal process and shorten the anxious hours of waiting.

One man running for Register of Probate in Norfolk County has that experience . . . six years of it. He's Paul C. Gay, your present First Assistant Register. Vote for him on September 19.

Despite Illness, Injuries

Raiders Progress Pleases Frazier

Although slowed down a bit by illness and injuries and the hot weather, the progress of North Quincy's football team has pleased Coach Ralph Frazier.

"We are not at the point that I had hoped for, but we have made good progress and I'm especially pleased with the defensive outlook," Frazier said. "We are very inexperienced on offense but we have come a long way."

North scrimmaged Catholic Memorial last Saturday with satisfactory results and Frazier has several more scrimmages lined up as the Raiders prepare for their opener Sept. 23 against Revere.

"Paul Cadigan, our center, is the only returning offensive starter, so we have a long way to go offensively," the North coach said.

All positions are open but Frazier has been working with a number one offensive unit of Billy Carroll, who has a good deal of varsity experience, and Joe Carroll, a sophomore star last year, at end; varsity veterans Peter Quinn and John Stevens, tackles; Wayne Bell and Mark Mulvaney, also with quite a bit of varsity service, at guard, and Cadigan, center.

Working out in the backfield have been Bobby Morton, backup to Bob McKay a year ago, at quarterback; John Flynn and Paul Cuniff, who saw varsity action [Flynn was one of the few sophs with varsity service], at halfback, and Rich Desmond, another 1971 soph star, at fullback.

Among those working out with the second offensive unit are Burt Bray, a back last year, and Chuck deVarennes, ends; Jim Neal, tackle; Eugene Griffin, guard; Tom Donovan, center; Bruce Stephansky, quarterback;

Jack Pomerole and Bob McCormick, halfbacks, and Phil Robinson, fullback.

Stephansky and Carl Leone are battling Morton for the quarterback job. They shared the sophomore signal calling chores a year ago. Griffin, Neal, Bray, Pomerole and McCormick all saw varsity or junior varsity action, while Donovan and Robinson played with the sophomores.

Also working out at end are George Hill, Bob Pierce, Joe Condon, Dave Chartier, Paul Kelliher and Gary Hanigan, trying out for tackle are Chris Costello, Bernie Doherty, Don McParland and Joe Marinelli. Striving for guard spots are Steve Constant, Bob Murphy, Bernie Holleran, Brett McGrath and Bert Bertoni, while Ron Frizzell is a center hopeful.

Leone at quarter, Mike Boyd and Terry Egan at halfback and Ken Perrin at fullback round out another prospective backfield.

Still others working out on offense are Mike Dever, Wayne Gobbi, Paul Keeley, Steve Paglierani, Brian Faherty, Mike White, Al O'Sullivan, Bill Schaezel, Dave Fick, Steve Fransoso, Billy Shea, Dick Koch, Charlie Smith, Bob Boussy and Steve Durkin.

"I hope to platoon as much as possible and many of these boys may find themselves playing defense instead of offense," Frazier explained. "I have them all working out both ways in an effort to mold our strongest defensive and offensive units."

The Raiders held double sessions throughout last week, but, with school opening yesterday, one session will be the order of the day from now on.

Less Trickery Presidents Put Accent On Offensive Power

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy Football Coach Hank Conroy plans to use a different offense this year with more power than trickery and he was extremely pleased with the results of last Saturday's first scrimmage against Dedham.

"I'm putting in a lot of different plays and the boys did a good job adjusting to them against Dedham," Conroy said. "We have several more scrimmages coming up but I would like to arrange one for next Wednesday [Sept. 13], because Brockton was forced to cancel its scheduled scrimmage with us."

A number of Presidents will be playing two ways this fall but Conroy hopes to be able to do some platooning to rest up some of them.

"I have been experimenting with a lot of different plays and used two offenses and two defenses against Dedham," the veteran coach went on. "We are a bit more experienced on defense than on offense, but do have a lot of boys who saw some action on offense."

There are a large number of offensive end hopefuls including Bob Spillane, Bob Benn, Mike Ryan, Paul Flynn, Mike Donovan, Gordon King, Steve Burke, Rich Folino and Rich Meegan.

"The ends are new but Spillane starred for the junior varsity and is a fine receiver, while Benn, King, Ryan and Folino all look good," Conroy added.

Quincy is well off at tackle, and guard on offense. At tackle 230-pound Mike Varrasso and 235-pound Dave Sten were varsity standouts although only sophomores last year. Bob Pettiti, Bob O'Neill and Jerry Fanning are other fine tackle prospects. Pettiti was injured last year but looks good and O'Neill was a jayvee star a year ago.

At guard last year's starters,

Ed Sylva and Frank Guido, are back and are being pushed by Jim French, Vin Picardi, whose father was a standout at Braintree High; Dave Maggiani, Jeff Aristide, Steve Goulart, Bob Oliver, Bob Megina, Rich Della Barbara, Garry Moore and Paul Conners. Conroy is especially high on Picardi, Della Barbara and French. He predicts a great future for French.

Ron Smith, a 220-pounder who was the starter two years ago as a sophomore but who missed most of last season because of an injury, is back at center and other fine prospects are Joe Haefner, Roy Shea and Glen Prescott. Prescott, a jayvee graduate and also a fine hockey player, rates high with his coach.

Quincy lost some outstanding offensive backs including the number one and two quarterbacks, Jimmy Walker and Kevin Shea and battling it out for the all-important spot are Paul Creedon, the jayvee starter last year, and the soph starter, Robin Carrera, whose brother Steve was a great runner at Quincy. Another hopeful is Kim Derbes.

"There is some great competition between Creedon and Carrera and that is a good sign," Conroy noted.

Among the top runners who graduated were Steve McCarthy and Bobby Malvesti as well as others. The most experienced back is John Whitney, battling it out with Dan McDermott and Dave Ciani for fullback.

Others fighting for jobs in the offensive backfield include Paul Riggs, outstanding varsity end last year as a sophomore; Rich Silva, John Ford, Randy Califano, Pete Ramponi, Mike Kelley, Wayne Ponder, Ray Lawyer and Steve Oriola.

"Riggs, who has good size, and Ford, who is very fast, look especially good and our 'pony' backs, Ramponi and Oriola, are small and very quick," Conroy concluded.

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico Low Scorer In Furnace Brook Best-Six Tourney

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico carded the low gross score in the Women's Best Selected Six Holes tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Mrs. Adolph Aimola and Mrs. Thomas Mulroy tied for low net, followed by Mrs. Edward O'Neill Jr.

Chairmen for the tourney were Mrs. Anthony Spinello and Mrs. Robert Roche.

Mrs. DiFederico and Ed O'Neill Jr. scored low gross in the Scotch Foursome competition with Mrs. John Pagnano and John Donovan scoring first net.

Mrs. Walter Phelps and Roy Christenson placed second, Mrs. Joyce Robbins and Joe Barranco came in third and Mrs. Ray McPeck and Matt Smith came in fourth.

Tied for fifth place were Mrs. Adolph Aimola and John Donovan, Mrs. Richard Corbin and Tony Spinello, Ginnie McCann and Lou Cugini and Mrs. Matt Smith and Mario Serafinelli.

Mrs. James Morrison and George Hodges tied Mrs. Robert Roche and Quentin McCaffery for sixth place.

North Quincy Boosters Club To Meet Sept. 12

The North Quincy High School Boosters Club will hold its first meeting of the year Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 117 of the High School.

The new slate of officers for 1972 is as follows:

President, William J. Schaeztl; Vice President, Daniel S. Coughlin; Treasurer, Mrs. Ann Doherty; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Schaeztl; Corresponding Secretary, Dana P. Smith.

Membership Chairmen are Mrs. Eleanor Coughlin, Mrs. Bea Dieso.

Publicity chairman is Mrs. Marion Morrissey and Dance chairman is Nick Panarelli.

The new officers ask all parents whether or not their children participate in sports to join and actively support the club and the school authorities in their overall plans for North Quincy High School.

Diet Workshop To Hold Open Houses Sept. 11

The Quincy Diet Workshop will hold two free Open Houses, Sept. 13 at the Quincy YMCA, Coddington St. at 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend both sessions and hear about the diet program at no obligation.

These Open Houses will provide an opportunity to see first hand why this method of losing weight has proved so successful. The liberal diet which has been nutritionally balanced by Dr. Morton B. Glenn of New York, medical advisor to The Diet Workshop, was combined with the moral support of group participation, mild exercises and good tasting recipes.

No more effective and safe method for losing weight has yet been devised. Men, women and teenagers will be welcome to join at all meetings.

All other Quincy Diet

Workshops will also be open to the public that week. Those seeking further information are asked to call 395-1111.

Only 9,000 To Vote

20 Percent Turnout Forecast For Primary Election

By DICK MATTULINA

A sparse 20 percent of Quincy's 46,904 registered voters are expected to participate in Tuesday's primary election, according to City Clerk John M. Gillis.

Gillis said he expects the vast majority of the 9,000 who do go to the polls will be Democrats. Quincy Republicans aren't expected to turn out in any semblance of force because there are no contests and only three candidates on the ballot.

Democrats, on the other hand, will be asked to choose from among 31 contenders for 12 offices affecting Quincy.

The biggest race in Norfolk County is for Register of Probate and Insolvency, with nine Democrats seeking nomination to succeed Bennett V. McLaughlin.

Mr. McLaughlin, of Holbrook, is not seeking re-election.

In that Democratic race are Warren R. Blackadar of Stoughton, Thomas F. Cavanaugh of Norwood, Harold Davis of Quincy, Robert G. Donoghue of Brookline.

Also Paul C. Gay of Walpole, Paul P. Hayes Jr. of Braintree, Joseph P. McDonough of Quincy, Robert M. Murphy of Westwood and John J. Sullivan of Quincy.

There is no Republican candidate for the post.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke will be unopposed for his party's senatorial nomination as John J. Droney, John Pierce Lynch and Gerald F. O'Leary vie for the Democratic nod.

Unopposed in both the Democratic primary and November election will be Cong. James A. Burke of Milton and State Reps. Thomas F. Brownell and Clifford H. Marshall.

Democrats are enmeshed in a five-way race for the two House seats from Wards 4, 5 and 6 while Republican Jens E. Thornton of 14 Orchard St. is the only GOP contender.

Incumbent Joseph E. Brett, Ward 5 Councillor William D. Delahunt, Gregory R. Fallon, Mrs. Marilyn Hanabury and Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth are seeking the two nominations.

The winner of the primary fight between incumbent Arthur H. Tobin and Miss Adeline Tompeo of 15 Watson Rd will be unopposed in the November election for State Senate.

Increase Seen This Year

Flu Clinic Set For Sept. 23 At Kennedy Health Center

The Quincy Health Department will hold its annual influenza immunization clinic from 1 to 4 p.m. Sept. 23 at the Kennedy Health Center.

Dr. Alfred V. Mahoney, health commissioner, warns Quincy residents of an expected increase in flu cases this year and urges immunization.

Inoculation is particularly important for persons over 50 years of age, especially nursing and convalescent home patients, Dr. Mahoney said.

Also those with cardiovascular, pulmonary, renal or metabolic disorders should make a special effort to attend, he said.

Special senior citizen clinics will be held on the following schedule:

- Sawyer Towers, 95 Martensen St., Sept. 20, 2-3 p.m.
- Ocean View, 73 Bicknell St., Sept. 21, 2-3 p.m.
- Pagnano Towers, 109 Curtis Ave., Sept. 22, 2-3 p.m.
- St. Thomas Aquinas, Artery, Sept. 26, 2-3 p.m.
- Star of the Sea Church, 103

Bellevue Rd, Sept. 27, 2-3 p.m.

• Atlantic Methodist Church,

Darrow St., Sept. 25, 2-3 p.m.

• North Wing, 1000 Southern

East Squantum St., Sept. 28, 2-3 p.m.

• Drop-In Center, 24 High

School Ave., Sept. 29, 2-3 p.m.

• Southwest Community Center, 372 Granite St., Oct. 2,

2-3 p.m.

• St. Ann's School, St. Ann's

Rd, Oct. 3, 2-3 p.m.

• Our Lady of Good Counsel,

Oct. 4, 2-3 p.m.

Oct. 7 Registration Deadline For November Election

Quincy residents 18 years of age and older may register to vote in the November

Presidential election until Oct. 7.

Although the registration deadline for Tuesday's primary has passed, residents may sign up at the City Hall election office for the final election.

We're Four Years Old

The Quincy Sun marks its fourth anniversary today--thanks to you.

With next week's issue we will begin our fifth year as "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper".

The Sun was established in September, 1968 as a community oriented weekly newspaper concentrating on Quincy News. And, it still is today.

We said back then that we would let the dailies, TV and radio take care of the news of the rest of the world. Our purpose was to present to Quincy comprehensive coverage of Quincy news.

And that is still our purpose today.

In fact, we don't think we would get an argument if we said we have more Quincy news in our newspaper than any other newspaper in the world.

So, we'll say it.

The Quincy Sun is a paid circulation newspaper published by The Quincy Sun Publishing Company, 1601 Hancock St., in downtown Quincy.

The Quincy Sun is published every Thursday.

And it is still just 10 cents a copy at newsstands or delivered by carrier boy or girl.

Yearly mail subscriptions are $3.50 inside Massachusetts and $4.50 outside of the state. They are delivered to homes and businesses on Thursday mornings by second class mail--the best mailing permit any newspaper can have.

We hope to do some more growing and expanding in the months ahead with more local news and features.

And, as we celebrate our fourth birthday today, we want to sincerely thank you--our readers and advertisers--for your support and encouragement these past four years.

Without you, it just couldn't be done.

Funds Cut Hurts Service

At S. S. Mental Health Center

Editor, Quincy Sun:

The South Shore Mental Health Association welcomed Governor Francis Sargent's genuine attempt to restore budget cuts to the Department of Mental Health by announcing a one million dollar recommendation for restoration of funds at his press conference on Aug. 15, 1972. Mental health services, however, will still suffer a four million dollar cut as a result of the Shepard amendment passed by the Legislature in the 1972 session.

In Region V [Norfolk, Newton, South Shore, Framingham and Marlborough] sufficient funds have not been restored in order to maintain the present level of service in the region.

The two budgets most severely effected are the "Community Services" budget and the "Institutions" budget. The loss to the Community Service budget totals $627,500 and "Institutions" stand to lose $50,000.

This means that the South Shore Mental Health Center, Quincy, will lose certain psychiatric consultants providing service to courts and court clinics plus a number of teacher aides in the long established Education and Rehabilitation program for emotionally disturbed, retarded and physically handicapped children. As a result, 25 percent fewer consultation hours will be provided and a 10 percent cut in the total appropriation for teacher aides will reduce the number of working hours for remaining teacher personnel.

Although the executive branch has promised not to discharge any other current staff, it has put a freeze on hirings as positions become vacant. This endangers community mental health clinics with staff turnover where a freeze on hiring could mean less service for patients.

In regards to the "Institutions" budget, the Wrentham State School has not received enough funding for the 236 "02 positions" needed to staff the institution. Even though $200,000 has been restored, the school is still short $50,000 and service to patients is being effected because of the reduced number of personnel.

The Region V "Travel" account has also been cut by $800, $400 of which will effect South Shore personnel. This also means that institution teachers will not be reimbursed for travel in fiscal 1973.

Governor Sargent also made it plain in his press conference that he will leave it up to the Legislature to decide in January whether the austerity programs are worth the cutbacks in services. We urge the Governor to prepare a deficiency budget at the beginning of 1973 if mental health and human services cannot be met by the present budget limitations.

The South Shore Mental Health Association has recently received letters from Senator James A. Kelly Jr., Chairman of the Senate Committee on Ways and Means, Senator Allan R. McKinnon and Representative William J. Spence deploring the cuts and assuring us of their complete cooperation in supplying these funds in the next legislation session. We hope that the cooperation of both branches of government will result in the restoration of full mental health services for the people of the South Shore.

Mrs. Muriel L. Douglass
Executive Director
South Shore Mental Health Assn.

- Chill In U.S. - China Thaw
- Nixon Won't Anoint Agnew
- POW Families Being Briefed

WASHINGTON—Warning Chinese-American relations, which weathered the bombing and mining of North Vietnam's supply lines, are chilling again.

The interception of Chinese shipments, according to a CIA report, has soured U.S. relations with mainland China.

The report reveals that Chinese freighters are successfully unloading an astonishing amount of supplies at hidden anchorages up and down the North Vietnam coast.

The supplies are unloaded on small barges and boats, which smuggle the war booty to shore. The ingenious Chinese, we have learned, even use huge waterproof plastic bags to float supplies ashore.

To disrupt Hanoi's supply line, the U.S. Seventh Fleet has intercepted some Chinese shipping. But such action, according to the CIA, has only prompted the Chinese to renew their pledges of support of North Vietnam.

One strongly worded message of support reportedly was signed by Chairman Mao Tse-tung himself. Such a rare message from Mao has the force of being engraved on the great wall of China.

The CIA report, furthermore, affirms our earlier report that heavy U.S. bombing has failed to halt the flow of supplies across the network of rail lines, roads and trails that lead into North Vietnam.

The CIA report claims more than half of the war material, which used to be shipped to North Vietnam before the bombing, is getting through. Even the Air Force, which has a vested interest in demonstrating its bombing raids are effective, acknowledges that more than a quarter of the former shipments are reaching North Vietnam.

—Nixon's '76 Strategy—

White House aides tell us that President Nixon will not anoint Spiro Agnew as his successor in 1976 if the President is re-elected this fall. The President, say our sources, wants a wide open Republican convention in 1976.

With this in mind, the President intends to give national exposure to several presidential prospects, including New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally, cost-of-living czar Donald Rumsfeld and United Nations ambassador George Bush.

The President is not likely to embrace liberal Illinois Senator Chuck Percy. But even if a Percy bandwagon begins to pick up steam, the President is expected to remain above an election fight.

—POW Preparations—

The date remains uncertain when the 528 American prisoners of war in North Vietnam will return home. But the Nixon Administration has made sure it won't be caught unprepared when the prisoners are finally released.

A special government task force—using the code name "Operation Egress Recap"—has already set up medical centers around the country to receive the POWs. Once they arrive, each will be assigned a special counselor who has been thoroughly briefed on the prisoner's background from his eating habits to his sex life.

The difficulty of readjustment is expected to vary widely. A team of doctors, who have made exhaustive studies of POW problems, have told the Pentagon that some POWs may be surprisingly healthy despite their ordeal.

Others, say the doctors, will suffer from what is called the "concentration camp syndrome." The symptoms include fatigue, fits of depression, memory loss and temporary impotence.

The Defense Department has begun to brief families on what to expect when their imprisoned loved ones come home. Wives are warned to expect a tremendous emotional letdown a few weeks following the return. This will come once the wife realizes that her husband's presence does not solve all her problems.

At the medical centers, care will be taken not to force the prisoners to readjust to American life too quickly. Each prisoner will be allowed only a few phone calls, and his immediate family will be kept at a distance until the prisoner has been thoroughly examined.

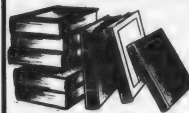

Even after the prisoner is pronounced fit, the doctors will try to discourage a big homecoming. Studies show these affairs can be traumatic and impair the readjustment of an ex-prisoner.

—Political Potpourri—

George McGovern has received more lip service than campaign funds from the unions that have endorsed him. The labor committee, which is trying to raise money for McGovern, has collected only $125,000 so far. Security around the President is so tight that the Secret Service now routinely excludes all casually dressed, long-haired young people whenever the President makes an appearance in public. The Secret Service says it is purging the long-hairs to protect the President, but the action also insures that the President is free of the young protestors who dogged his campaign in 1968.

BOTOLPH OF BOSTON, by George E. Ryan [Christopher. $10.]

How Boston got its name. The prominence of St. Botolph in England and Scandinavia, too.

THE MEGASTATES OF AMERICA: People, Politics, and Power by Neal R. Peirce. [Norton. $12.95]. A fascinating profile of the 10 most powerful states. Massachusetts is one.

ONCE UPON A STORE: A Biography of the World's First Supermarket, by William H. Marnell. [Herder. $6.95]. Recollections of the Ciffrino brothers and the Uphams Corner Market.

MY OWN CAPE COD, by Gladys Taber. [Lippincott. $5.95]. More about her cat "Amber".

CAPE COD, by William Berchen and Monica Dickens. [Viking. $10.95]. Mr. Berchen is a local photographer and husband of Ursula Berchen of the Library staff.

LAW AND ORDER IN GRADE 6-E, A Story of Chaos and Innovation in a Ghetto School, by Kim Marshall. [Little, Brown. $7.95]. The author's experiences as a teacher at the Martin Luther King Jr. School in Roxbury.

THURSDAY, MY LOVE, by Robert H. Rimmer. [New American Library. $6.95]. Quincy author's latest novel.

WRONG WAY - Cars travel against one-way sign from Temple to Hancock Street during traffic pattern test around proposed mall between City Hall and United First Parish Church.

Two-way Traffic On Temple St.

Traffic traveled both ways on Temple Street in Quincy Center this week for the first time in almost a quarter of a century.

Cars were detoured around United First Parish Church along Washington and Temple Sts. in a test of traffic flow as a preliminary to the establishment of a "People's Park" at City Hall.

The testing, to be continued 24 hours a day through Friday, proved very encouraging at press time as traffic flowed by with hardly a hitch.

Mayor Walter J. Hannon said Tuesday he felt the project was "going pretty well."

Police Chief Francis X. Finn said he remained hesitant about the prospects and Rep. Joseph E. Brett labeled the proposal a "needless" expense.

If results of the test are good, the area between City Hall and the "Church of the Presidents" will be converted to a pedestrian mall with trees and benches.

20 Percent Voter Turnout Seen

of Milton and George B. McDonald of Quincy will be opposed in their re-election bid for County Commissioner by Republican George H. Ferran of Needham.

Four Democrats are the only contenders to succeed retiring Norfolk County Treasurer Raymond C. Warrington of Quincy.

Candidates include Assistant District Atty. James M. Collins, Milton, Treasurer Joseph G. Graziani, Councilor-at-Large Joseph J. LaRaia and former school Committee Vice Chairman James F. McCormick Sr.

And Democrats form the only opposition in Patrick J.

McDonough's re-election bid to the Governor's Council.

Running against McDonough in the primary are Anthony V. Giantonio of Revere and Salvatore A. LaRosa of Chelsea.

City Leases Academy To Historical Society

The City of Quincy has executed a 50-year renewable lease of the Adams Academy at Hancock and Dimmock Sts. to the Quincy Historical Society.

Mayor Hannon, the five supervisors of the Adams Temple and School Fund and Historical Society President H. Hobart Holly signed the agreement, effective Sept. 1.

The former boys' school and birthplace of John Hancock has been used since 1907 for various community services.

It now houses the Massachusetts Bay United Fund, United Community Services and the General Services Administration but the historical society will soon occupy the entire building.

The property was deeded to the Town of Quincy by John Adams in 1822 under condition that rental of the pasture be used to "build a temple of stone for the public worship of God."

The stone temple, now United First Parish Church, was completed and a stone school house [the academy] was constructed over the site of the John Hancock home.

Holly called the acquisition "a milestone toward the realization of a long-time plan for a much-needed historical library and museum to serve as an historical and cultural center for Quincy and its area."

The building, "after suitable modification, will be utilized for exhibition space, class and meeting rooms and work areas," he said.

Detailed building plans will be developed and a fund raising campaign organized to facilitate development of the facility.

Supervisors of the Adams Temple and School Fund are Charles F. Adams, Thomas S. Burgin, Robert M. Faxon, Dr. Morgan Sargent and Robert L. Blair.

Car Wash Sunday To Benefit North Band Trip To Ireland

Members of the North Quincy High School Band will hold a fund-raising car wash from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 16 in front of the school.

Proceeds will help finance the band's trip to Ireland next spring to participate in the Dublin St. Patrick's Day Parade.

Francis X. Dorney To Be Installed As North Quincy Grand Knight

Francis X. Dorney will be installed Sept. 17 to succeed John J. Sullivan Jr. as grand knight of North Quincy Knights of Columbus.

A buffet and dancing will follow the 6 p.m. installation at the council's hall, 5 Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

Officers include Maurice F. Dunn Jr., deputy grand knight; Edward Keohane, chancellor; Nicholas Fasano, warden; Thomas Joyce, inside guard.

Also John J. Lydon Jr., outside guard; Richard Parrotta, lecturer; Blase J. DeLollis, recorder; Donald Haley, financial secretary.

And Peter P. Golden, treasurer; Gerald J. Connor, advocate; James Mullaney, John J. Burke and Robert F. Tweedy, trustees.

Tickets may be obtained from co-chairmen Walter MacKerr and Bob O'Hara.

Grand Knight Dorney, of 111 West Elm Ave., is directing programs to benefit school children, senior citizens and other aspects of the Quincy community during the coming months.

District Deputy Fred Speranzo of Dorchester will officiate at the ceremonies. Mr. Dorney's father, Grand Knight Patrick F. Dorney of Robert Fulton Council in Boston, will be special guest.

Nine Quincy Youths At Christian Science Weekend

Nine Quincy residents were among the nearly 1,000 young people from New England, upstate New York, and eastern Canada attending the three-day North East Regional Weekend at Union College, Schenectady, New York recently.

Attending from Quincy were: Peter Larrington, Knollwood Rd.; Gary Snell, Squanto Rd.; Barbara Senter, Tyler St.; and Barbara Frazier, Barbara Pierce, Beth Richards, Beth Robinson, Harriet Rowe and Janet Ryniec, all of 274 Washington St.

The weekend was for young people ages 16-25 who are interested in Christian Science. It was one of 17 worldwide Christian Science regional youth meetings being held this year to help youth learn how God can play a more effective role in their lives and in turn how they can make this understanding benefit the world.

Keynote speaker was James Spencer of Detroit, a Christian Science practitioner, teacher and lecturer, who told the meeting that, "Every personal and social problem, all national and international strife, will be solved by the realization that one infinite God, good, unifies men and nations."

'Good Neighbor' Balloting Continuing In Houghs Neck

Balloting for 1972 "Good Neighbors" at Houghs Neck will continue through Sept. 18, with ballot boxes in the stores of local businessmen.

Persons selected will be honored at the annual Honor Awards Banquet of the Houghs Neck Community Council Oct. 17. To be eligible, the candidate should be a resident of five years or more. He may be chosen for community service, act of heroism or being a "Good Neighbor".

Selections will be announced at the Sept. 19 meeting of the Houghs Neck Community Council at 8 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Legion Post.

Robert F. Denvir Jr., banquet chairman, will have tickets available at that time.

Representing Houghs Neck

civic and patriotic organizations on the selection committee are Commander Willard J. Timcoe and President Mrs. William Clark of the Houghs Neck Legion Post and Auxiliary; Arthur J. Girodani, vice president of Atherton Hough PTA; Robert Allan, president of Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club; David MacMillan, a director of the Gresham Youth Center; and John Urbanus, former president of the Rock Island Cove Improvement Association.

Droney Calls Brooke 'Do-Nothing' Economy, Crime Major Issues

By DICK MATTULINA

Middlesex County District Attorney John J. Droney said Sen. Edward W. Brooke has "done nothing" for the state since his election to the Senate.

Droney, the Democratic endorsee to oppose Brooke in the November election, made the statement during a whirlwind tour of Quincy last week.

He said he was dismayed that Mayor Hannon was "forced to go to Washington to beg work" for General Dynamics shipyard.

"The fact that the mayor, a member of Brooke's own party, had to go is an indication that [Brooke] is not doing his job," he said.

"I believe that a mayor has enough to do to hold the tax rate down without having to be our Senator," he said.

Droney criticized Brooke's record as Massachusetts attorney general, citing indictments which were thrown out of court for lack of evidence.

"He was elected to the Senate on his record as attorney general and after he got to Washington people realized he wasn't such a good attorney general," he said.

"All through the state, people ask what Brooke has done and they find out he has done nothing," he said.

Droney said voters are "amazed to hear that Brooke started as a Democrat and has lost three of five elections."

"He came along at the right time six years ago and a lot of people felt he had done a good job as attorney general.

"Now, if they are satisfied with him doing nothing and they feel good having him down there, then they should vote for him again," Droney said.

"But I wouldn't have taken about five months out of my life and worked from dawn to dusk if I didn't believe he could be beaten," he said.

Droney, 61, has been district attorney of Middlesex County since 1959.

He is a graduate of Suffolk Law School and past president of the Massachusetts District Attorneys Association and Cambridge Bar Association.

He was treasurer of the John F. Kennedy Congressional campaign in 1946, general chairman of Kennedy's Senatorial campaign in 1952 and was a Presidential elector in 1956.

Accompanying him on his tour of Quincy were Rep. Joseph E. Brett and Don Oulton, an assistant district attorney and former counsel for General Dynamics.

Six-Day Class Cycle At High Schools

A novel, new approach to the scheduling of high school classes—designed to eliminate the troublesome loss of instructional time due to holidays and snow days—is now in effect at the city's senior high schools.

Class work is now divided into six day cycles rather than the old five day cycle. The first day of school last week [Wednesday] became Day 1 under the new system and continues until next Wednesday which will be Day 6.

Thusly, if for some reason school were not in session on any particular day during the six day cycle, the learning activities scheduled for that day would take place the next day that school is in session.

Take, for example, where a biology section has a lab scheduled for next Tuesday which will be day five under the present six day cycle. In the past students would have lost the activities and the lab scheduled for that day. Under the new system, however, Wednesday of this week would become Day five of the cycle and the student's biology lab would be held.

The following are some of the major points of the six day cycle:

- * No class is skipped when school is closed for any reason. The next school day will be the next class day in the cycle.

- * Time is allowed for a resource center period for independent study or individualized learning.

- * It utilizes time as a resource to meet curriculum needs.

- * It doesn't mean that classes will be held on Saturday.

- * It doesn't mean that the school year will be extended.

SCHOOL MENUS

Menu for the eight cafeterias of the Quincy Public School System, Sept. 18-22.

Monday - Hamburg Pattie, roll, potatoe chips, tossed salad, milk.

Tuesday - Sausages, mashed potato, buttered carrots, apple sauce, roll, milk.

Wednesday - Barbequed Beef on roll, waxed beans, fruit juice, milk.

Thursday - School baked Lasagna, green beans, fruit juice, milk.

Friday - Baked fish, creole sauce, kernel corn, fruit juice, buttered roll, milk.

- * It doesn't mean that the school day will be increased.

- * It doesn't mean less need for classroom space.

The six day cycle, basically, is a technique to manipulate, time to serve the student, the teacher, and the curriculum.

St. Ann's Seniors To Meet Sept. 18

St. Ann's Senior Citizen Club will hold a business meeting at 1 p.m. Sept. 18 at St. Ann's Recreation Center, Wollaston.

Mrs. Mary Whalen will preside at the meeting. A bingo game will follow. John Harmon is chairman.

In an effort to better serve its members and friends, the Quincy YMCA is inaugurating a Registration Week, Sept. 11-16, for fall programs and all special interest courses.

During the week, staff members from all departments will be available from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday to assist in a selection of a program of activities for each member of a family. Regularly scheduled programs begin the week of Sept. 18.

The Fall - Winter - Spring schedule for 1972-73, has been designed to meet the varied interests and needs of youth and adults, whether the needs be physical, creative or social.

Full privilege adult membership in the Quincy YMCA entitles women to participate in regularly scheduled gym programs such as Slynastics classes held Tuesday and Thursday mornings and Tuesday and Friday evenings, Volleyball, Gymnastics and Judo. Men may enroll in the Fitness Program as well as participate in Handball, Basketball, Wrestling, Weightlifting, Judo, Volleyball, Badminton and Gymnastics. The clinic for the Fitness Program will be held on Saturday, Oct. 14 at 2 p.m.

Pool activities for men and women include daily recreation swims, weekly aquatic lessons, scuba diving and senior life saving. Women members may also join the synchronized swimming classes on Wednesday mornings.

Adults interested in the Men's Fitness Program and scuba diving should register for these activities during Registration Week, as well as for any of the special interest courses offered for adults.

If dancing is your pleasure, you will find a full range of offerings in this category. Ballet and Modern Jazz classes, instructed by Sharon Kimball will be held for women on Monday evenings. Beginners classes will be from 7 to 8:15 p.m. for continuing students, from 8:30 to 9:45 p.m. Each course which consists of eight lessons will begin Sept. 25. A ten lesson course in ballroom and Latin American dancing will be offered Friday evenings from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. beginning Oct. 6. Singles, as well as couples, may enroll in this course instructed by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Berger.

If "Swing Your Partner" is more your forte a fun-filled evening is in store the second Saturday evening of each month, beginning Oct. 14, when Square Dancing returns to the Quincy YMCA. Planned for novice square dancers, the first night's caller will be Dick Davis. On Nov. 11, Charlie Baldwin, a familiar name to many South Shore Square Dancers, will do the honors. No pre-registration is required for square dancing.

Those who wish to sharpen their bridge skills will find Intermediate Bridge Lessons on Wednesday evenings, with Dr. Donald Deschenes, most rewarding. A beginners' Bridge Course will be held Tuesday evenings. Classes are scheduled from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. Starting dates for the series of eight lessons are Tuesday, Oct. 3 and Wednesday, Oct. 4.

For those with literary pursuits, Creative Writing will be offered on eight Tuesday afternoons from 1 to 2:30 p.m., beginning Oct. 3. Here is an opportunity to develop and refine your writing ability as well as share your work with others.

Guitar Lessons for Beginners will begin Oct. 9 for adults, and Oct. 10 for boys and girls. Paul Anderson, noted guitarist and entertainer, will instruct each course of 10 one-hour lessons.

Although golf will not be offered until January, Tennis Classes For Beginners will be held throughout the year. Open to full privilege members only, the each series of eight lessons will be held Tuesday evenings from 8:45 to 9:45 p.m. and Wednesday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Starting dates for fall courses are Sept. 26-27.

Individualized group instruction in Horseback Riding will also be offered this Fall. The course of six one-hour lessons will be held Thursday mornings, beginning Sept. 28. Transportation to and from the YMCA will be provided, leaving the "Y" at 9:30 and returning at approximately 11:30 a.m.

Workshop Courses for Women are:

POTPOURRI I - a series of eight lessons, of which, four will be devoted to Cake Decorating, and four to Crafts.

POTPOURRI II - eight sessions devoted to Crafts - includes Creative Stitching and Macrame.

Both courses will be held on Thursday afternoons from 1 to 2:30 p.m., beginning Oct. 12.

Sewing for the Beginning and Experienced Home Seamstress - a series of 10 lessons begins Friday, Sept. 29.

Class times - Class 1 - 9:30 - 11 a.m. Class 2 - 11 - 12:30 p.m. Class 3 - 1 - 2:30 p.m.

Two contrasting, but beneficial ways to good health are Swimmastics and Yoga. Swimmastics classes - for swimmers and non-swimmers alike, will be taught Thursday mornings from 9:45 to 10:15, beginning Sept. 28. This series of 10 lessons is open to women members only.

Yoga classes, under the guidance of Berta Nota, are scheduled for beginning students Wednesdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., and on Thursdays from 7 to 8 p.m. Classes for continuing students are scheduled for Wednesdays from 10:45 to 11:45 a.m., and on Thursdays from 8:15 to 9:15 p.m. Each course is a series of 10 sessions. Course starting dates are Sept. 27-28.

Weekly swimming lessons are a highlight of those activities scheduled for boy and girl members of the Quincy YMCA, of eight to 17 years of age. In accordance with the changes adopted by the National YMCA Aquatic Committee, new stroke techniques, endurance swimming, first aid, water safety and life saving will be an integral part of each level of the Progressive Swimming Program this year.

Desiring to offer its members a more complete and comprehensive program selection, the Y is also initiating Co-ed Youth Swim Instruction Classes on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, as well as classes for girls on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and for boys on Fridays and Saturdays.

New and current youth members should register for swimming lessons during Registration Week, Sept. 11-16, as well as for advanced aquatic programs.

These advanced programs are:
CO-ED JR./SR. LIFE SAVING - for those 12 and older, Tuesdays - 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Course dates: Oct. 3 and Jan. 23.

CO-ED SENIOR LIFE SAVING - for those 15 and older, Fridays - 7 to 9 p.m. Course dates - Oct. 6 and Jan. 26.

CO-ED SKIN DIVING - for Jr. and Senior High Boys and Girls. Mondays - 7 to 8 p.m. Course dates - Sept. 18, Jan. 8 and April 9.

Registration and Tryouts are required for those qualified swimmers wishing to join either the Boys Swim Team, the Girls Swim Team or the Girls Synchronized Swimming Club. Tryouts for these are scheduled Saturday afternoons from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. as follows:

Sept. 16 - Boys Swim Team.
Sept. 23 and 30 - Girls Swim Team.

Oct. 7 and 14 - Girls Synchronized Swimming Club. In addition to these pool activities for boys and girls, membership in the Y entitles girl members to participate in weekly classes of tumbling, gymnastics, seasonal sports, games, arts and crafts, folk and square dancing, springboard diving and beginning synchronized swimming.

Boys activities include sports, recreational gym, tumbling, gymnastics, arts and crafts, wrestling, judo and floor hockey. Tryouts for the Floor Hockey League for boys of 8-16 are scheduled for boys in Junior High Sept. 30, and those in Grade School on Oct. 7, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Week of September 14 - 21

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Finish up all things that rely on luck or social prestige - next week things may not be so easy for you.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - If you want to get your project off the ground, you'll have to hurry up and put forth more effort.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - The things that have been going wrong lately may be due to faulty thinking. Now try some cooperation.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Add a touch of diplomacy as you wind up a service you've been giving - the break will be less painful.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Take time out from your pleasures of the moment and give some thought to future activities and studies.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Catch up on correspondence and finish literary work to make room for the opportunities that are coming your way.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Invitations, new friends, may be taking up too much of your time. Give some thought to your own hopes and wishes.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Your actions may be too independent, give a little and take some of the pressure off your relationships.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Some of the things you have attempted lately had disastrous results, ease off and try again later.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - The favorable influence you have been working under is about over so hurry and finish as much as you can.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - You have been relying on the actions of others lately, October will find you in control once more.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - You may be feeling left out just now but your turn is coming shortly so relax while you have the time.

Jim Collins Thinks YOU Are Important

Dear Neighbor:

My family and I thank you for the warm and wonderful manner in which you have accepted my candidacy for Treasurer of Norfolk County.

Throughout the entire campaign, I have reached out and met as many people as possible in order to discuss the critical issues facing the taxpayers of our county.

Costs keep soaring, tax bills continue to increase and the taxpayer's burden become unbearable. It is imperative that we eliminate waste and inefficiency.

The County Treasurer must be one who is knowledgeable and experienced in both Accounting and Law.

I have the qualifications, Accountant, Attorney, your Assistant District Attorney for the past 6 years, prosecuting welfare fraud and embezzlement.

Thank you, for your courtesy,

Jim Collins

What Wealthy Persons Seek from Their Assets

By Philip J. Lawrence
President
COLONIAL FEDERAL SAVINGS
And Loan Association
of Quincy and Holbrook
8-6 Weekdays 8-7:30 Thursday's

An area of great interest to us in financial management is what high-income people are looking for from their savings and investments.

This is revealed in a survey sponsored by a Washington social science organization.

Giving the respondents an opportunity to choose among four investment characteristics, the researchers asked them to describe each as "very important," "important," "somewhat important," "not very important," or "not important at all."

The four characteristics were 1) a high current yield (interest and rent), 2) safety, 3) liquidity, and 4) capital gains.

Safety and liquidity, in that order, were considered the most important savings characteristics. These are paramount features in savings accounts in institutions like ours.

Safety was regarded as important by a majority at all income levels. Its importance was not affected by the respondent's age nor by the size of his portfolio.

Liquidity was regarded as important or very important by about half of the investors. The proportion tended to increase slightly as income rose.

Interestingly enough, those holding the highest opinion of liquidity were the experts in the field of investment management, those employed in the financial sector.

When asked if there was anything else important to them in managing their investments, about one-third of the respondents said they took other things into consideration. The most common observation was that they thought it important to have some familiarity with the company in which they were investing and some acquaintance with its management.

Some stressed the desire to minimize anxiety—a concern that was repeated many times in other contexts throughout the interviews. Typical were expressions like "what we are striving for is peace of mind" and "I'm afraid of a tumbling market."

The conclusion of the report, on the basis of sources of information sought and other criteria, was that only about half of the total income represented in the survey was handled by "very highly informed" (15 per cent), "highly informed" (21 per cent), or "fairly well informed" (18 per cent) persons.

"Considerable investing was done by persons who did not make use of the information and advice available to them," the report said.

A "widespread aversion to decision-making" was noted, with many stockholders concerned chiefly with minimizing the number of decisions in the management of their assets.

This bespeaks an understandable fear on the part of many persons who are poorly informed about the complexities of the stock market and the many variables that affect it.

Delahunt Reception Sept. 15

The committee to elect William D. Delahunt State Representative will hold a reception at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall Sept. 15.

The program will include dancing and light refreshments from 8 p.m. to midnight

Delahunt will review his platform in the campaign for those in attendance.

Persons interested in attending are asked to contact John J. Lydon Jr., 644 Hancock St., Wollaston, or Atty. Joseph Killion, 339 Hancock St., Wollaston.

"HERE'S HOW IT WORKS", Ted Johnson of Granite City Hardware, 1617 Hancock St., Quincy Center, tells Robert Bosworth, 7, of 111 Parkside Ave., Braintree as his sister, Dorothy, 10, looks on. Robert won the 22-inch self-propelled power mower in a drawing at Granite City Hardware during the Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar.

Citizens For North Quincy High School

To Hold Organizational Meeting Sept. 20

The Citizens for North Quincy High School will hold an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 20 in the school auditorium.

The group is being organized to help develop plans for the immediate and future needs of the school as a community representative before the School Committee.

Membership is open to parents, teachers, students and residents of the North Quincy High School district.

An election of officers will be held at the end of the month.

'Reefer Madness' 36 Years Ahead Of Its Time

The "Superstar" director!... From where this columnist sits the best American film directors in the industry today are the bakers dozen of an elite 13 men who warrant the tag Superstar... MIKE NICHOLS, GEORGE ROY HILL, FRANKLIN J. SCHAFFNER, ARTHUR PENN, STANLEY KUBRICK, ARTHUR HILLER, WILLIAM FRIEDKIN, ALAN J. PAKULA, GORDON PARKS SR., FRANCIS FORD COPPOLA, NORMAN JEWISON, PETER BAGDANOVICH and MARK RYDELL...

Individualists. Talented. Dedicated. Hardworking, bordering on fanaticism for quality and perfection... And charismatic!... Each have their own following of film buffs. As such, the aforementioned bakers dozen of directing elitism spark a stampede to theaters whenever their signatures appear on the billing... Each continue to carry on the traditions of film excellence set by their predecessors. Men of the stature of JOHN FORD, WILLIAM WYLER, LEO MCCAREY, ELIA KAZAN, BILLY WILDER, JOSEPH L. MANKIEWICZ, FRED ZINNEMANN, GEORGE STEVENS, ROBERT WISE and JOHN HUSTON...

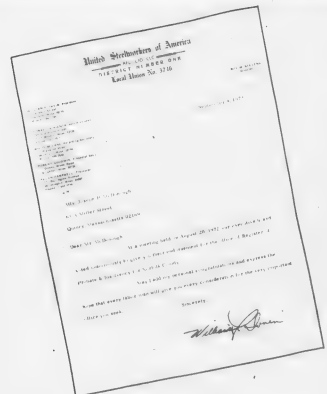

Any declaimers???

Some motion pictures are made decades ahead of their times. Such it is with "REEFER MADNESS", a documentary made in 1936... When first released away back when, the picture met with less than moderate success at the box office, "REEFER MADNESS" documents coldly the perils of marijuana... A chilling indictment of today's society, produced 36 years ahead of its time... The film is now playing to SRO throngs in New York City. Will be nationally distributed in the ensuing months. Very possible one of the more relevant films of the '72 season...

Another graduate from the daytime soap opera scene has made the jump to the big time. RALPH MANZA, co-star of NBC's fall production "BANACEK", is best remembered by his numerous "GENERAL HOSPITAL" [ABC] fans as Mr. Costello, Angie's father... "I played that role for four years. You could say I was the reactor in the series", said MANZA. "As Angie's father she came to me with all her problems. Boyfriends. School problems. Pregnancies. You name it. And I got hit with it"...

MANZA plays the role of GEORGE PEPPARD's chauffeur in the action-crammed series... "My biggest fear in this business is not working. Part of the hazards of acting. Insecurity. An actor is only happy when he is working. Eating"... "BANACEK" world premiere's Sept. 2, and will be part of a rotating three week trilogy of features including "MADIGAN" and "COOL MILLIONS".

Boys Town Choir To Present Benefit Concert Here Nov. 3

The internationally acclaimed Boys Town Choir of Omaha, Nebraska will pay a return visit to Quincy to present a benefit concert Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. at the Wollaston Theater under the auspices of Quincy Knights of Columbus Council No. 96.

Music critics in this country and abroad have called this famed choral group of boys, ages 10 to 18, "second to none and superior to most." The group has travelled over 200,000 miles and given more than 1,000 concerts in all parts of the United States and abroad. The group appeared in Quincy 12 years ago and was enthusiastically received.

The varied repertoire of the choir is a source of amazement to music critics. The group consists of citizens of famed Father Flanagan's Boys Town which was founded 55 years ago. The boys were neglected, homeless and disadvantaged before they became citizens of Boys Town. They are not recruited for their voices or their musical talent. Under the able direction of Monsignor Francis P. Schmitt, the choirboys project their artistry in varied programs to include lilting Viennese waltzes, gay folk songs of all nations, glorious polyphony of 16th century composers as well as contemporary ballads.

Laurence J. Curtin, Program Chairman for Quincy K of C Council, announces that tickets will be available at various outlets throughout Quincy.

Elinor Deveau Elected HN Post Adjutant

The Houghs Neck Legion Post has elected Elinor Deveau as adjutant for 1972-73.

Chairmen for the year appointed by Commander

Willard J. Timcoe are Thomas Hurlebaus, service officer and graves registration; Ernest Deveau, community service, Americanism and Boys' State; D.

Paul Shaw, judge advocate; Richard Wainwright, oratorical and public relations.

Elinor Deveau, blood program; John Timcoe, children and youth, and Sons of the American Legion with John A. Morris and William Morrill; Willard J. Timcoe, rehabilitation stamp program; Ernest Fitzgibbon, Legion extension course and Legion college; Paul McKeon, Civil Defense and by-laws.

Compilation of a list of items needed in case of emergency is being made by Paul McKeon. Recently the Post Home was opened to flood victims, and in the future will be open also to families following a serious fire. Persons with extra bedding, cots or other emergency items may call Mr. McKeon.

And Norfolk County's lawyers know who he is.

The chances are good that your lawyer... or a lawyer you know... is voting for Paul C. Gay for Register of Norfolk Probate Court on Primary Day, September 19.

That's because most lawyers spend a good part of their lives in court. They know how a court should be run... and who can run it well.

Lawyers know how the cases that come into probate can affect whole families; because Probate Court is the "family" court, where adoptions, wills, child custody, separation and divorce come for decision.

And the lawyers of Norfolk County know Paul Gay. They know he's the only candidate with experience... six years of experience as First Assistant Register of Norfolk Probate. They know how he has handled his job. And that's why more than 250 of them have publicly endorsed Paul C. Gay for Register of Norfolk County Probate Court.

The lawyers in your area have signed this ad... to urge you to do the same.

Andrew Walsh, Wilfred Mathewson To Host Chamber Sessions

Andrew T. Walsh and Wilfred B. Mathewson will host program development sessions for the South Shore Chamber of Commerce Sept. 19 and 20.

Walsh, president of Walsh's Restaurant, will host the session dealing with the North Quincy area at 5 p.m. Sept. 19 at his restaurant.

Mathewson, vice president of the Mathewson Corp., has been named to host the session for Quincy manufacturers at 4 p.m. Sept. 20 at the Neighborhood Club.

Announcement was made by John W. Blake, first vice president and chairman of the Chamber's Program of Work Committee.

Some 500 businessmen, elected officials, news media, planning board members, industrial development commissioners and representatives of community organizations are expected to participate in the 12 meetings in the series.

The sessions are designed to develop a 1973 program of work for the Chamber.

Each will last about one hour and will include a 15-minute orientation and a 45-minute "brain picking" period among those in attendance.

Once priorities are developed, a committee headed by Blake, of Colony Inc., will mold them into a Chamber Program of Work.

Committee members include

ANDREW WALSH

William Kelly, Hancock Bank; Frank Remick, Remick's of Quincy; Scott Low, The Patriot Ledger, and Charles Pearce, Quincy Savings Bank.

Walsh, a native of Quincy, attended Maryknoll College and holds a master's degree from Fordham University.

He is a member of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, Quincy Rotary Club, Quincy Symphony Orchestra, Wollaston Yacht Club, North Quincy and Wollaston Business and Professional Associations, Chamber of Commerce, Quincy Historical Society and Downtown Steering Committee. He and his wife, the former

WILFRED MATHEWSON

Patricia J. Halligan of New York, have three sons and five daughters.

Mathewson, of Weymouth, is a Weymouth Town Meeting member and a member of Wessagussett Yacht Club, director of Weymouth Elks and the American Association of Industrial Management.

He is a trustee of the Quincy Savings Bank, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and a member of the Wessagussett Elementary School Building Committee and the Junior High Facilities Building Committee in Weymouth.

He is married to the former Dorothy A. Clapp of Weymouth and the father of three daughters.

Atomic Energy Lecture At North Quincy High

A demonstration lecture on atomic energy and its uses, sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission, is being presented today [Thursday] at North Quincy High School.

The program, titled "This Atomic World", is designed to acquaint students with the basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources, and its role in agriculture, industry, medicine and research. The grant for conducting this lecture-demonstration program among high schools in Massachusetts was awarded to Wentworth College of Technology.

Christopher Buckley, lecturer-demonstrator from Wentworth College faculty, will present the assembly program which explains in student terms the structure of atoms and the operation of nuclear reactors as well as such concepts as radiation, fission and fusion.

Specially designed electronic equipment is used during the program to demonstrate the sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power for cities, and the use of radioisotopes to aid in diagnosis and treatment of diseases and to learn more about life processes.

Smyth Asks Mayor To Authorize Lighting Survey

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth has asked Mayor Hannon to authorize a survey of lighting conditions in the Montclair section of North Quincy.

"Approximately one year ago," Smyth said, "the North Quincy Improvement Project came to a successful close.

"There still exists in the area many neighborhood streets which have the old-fashioned type of illumination," he said.

Some people say all this talk about a power shortage is a lot of rubbish.

They're right. Because, without enough electricity, a lot of the things that make a mess of our lives would be piling up on us at the rate of 3.5 million tons a year. It takes a lot of energy just to clean up after ourselves.

Take the recycling of waste materials. Discarded cans, papers, bottles, old automobiles—in fact, most of the refuse that fills our trash barrels and litters our landscape—can be converted to useful ends by electric energy.

We will also be using more and more electric power to purify the water we drink and to clean the air we breathe.

That's why we're working now to provide the kind of facilities it will take to not only clean up the world we live in but to keep it that way. Remember, it's as important to us as it is to you... because we live here, too.

People like you working to make life a little better.

Woodward School Opens For 74th Year With New Principal

Mrs. Eunice Gilford has been appointed principal of the Woodward School for Girls which opened for its 74th year this week. Mrs. Gilford, a former director at Brandeis University and former director of the Greater Boston Council of Girl Scouts, has been actively interested in education throughout her career and served as a member of the Governor's Council on Children and Youth [New Hampshire] and as a founder and officer of the Citizens' Committee for Better Education [New Hampshire]. She attended the University of Michigan and Harvard University and received her J.D. degree from Boston University Law School.

Mrs. Gilford succeeds Mrs. Howard Tattre who with her family has moved to Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Gilford announces a change in schedule, with a seven period day and a 1:30 p.m. dismissal replacing the former eight period day. The four day academic week, established last year, with Wednesdays set aside for extra-curricular and minor subjects [art, music, physical education] plus science laboratory work, will continue to be followed. This new scheduling provides the following advantages:

1. By dividing the mid-week day into larger blocks of time, as provided for in this plan, the students are better able to bring their ideas into fruition.

2. More importance can be placed on subjects offered on Wednesday, whereas they were often slighted in favor of academic subjects, under traditional scheduling.

3. This schedule results in a "released time" for teachers of academic subjects and therefore allows for additional help to students who do not elect a full schedule of art, music and science courses.

Short periods and early dismissals are scheduled for this opening week.

Parents, returning students and new students were invited to a Family Cookout on the school grounds.

Several openings are still available for the 1972-73 school year. Interested parents are invited to call at the school or to telephone [773-5610] for further information.

Harold Davis Opens Wollaston Headquarters

School Committeeman Harold Davis, candidate for Norfolk County Register of Probate, has opened his headquarters at 293 Newport Ave., Wollaston.

More than 100 people were present at the official opening.

In a brief talk, Davis said that of the nine candidates for the office of Register of Probate, he is the only one with a record of significant public service, as a member of the Quincy School Committee.

Pointing to his record on the School Committee, Davis outlined a number of areas in which he has been "involved." As a result of his efforts, he said, voter registration sessions will be held at the city high schools and be open to neighboring residents as well as students.

He noted he has encouraged the use of school facilities for youth athletic activities by reducing rental costs. As school committeeman, he said, he has safeguarded the financial interests of the city in the lease of the old court house and as a result of a study of bus service, an estimated $15,000 will be saved.

"I think I have served on the School Committee with an open mind, and intend to work with the same imagination and energy as Register of Probate," said Davis. He also affirmed his intention to remain on the School Committee if elected register.

Hostesses for the headquarter's opening included the candidate's wife Bobby Kay Davis, assisted by Mary Jo Riley, Genevieve Hack, Mrs. Sally Miller, Nancy Riley, Mrs. Albert Davis and Mrs. Kathleen Smith.

The "The Davis for Probate Women's Committee" held its first meeting last week at the Davis Headquarters.

Mrs. Bobby Kay Davis, the candidate's wife and committee chairman, named Mrs. Genevieve Hack, Mrs. Kathleen Smith, Mrs. Helen Davis and Mrs. Sally Miller co-chairmen. Betsey Harold was named publicity director.

"The women's committee was organized to function separately from the regular campaign organization," said Mrs. Davis. "It will handle a number of individual projects from start to finish and give many of the political newcomers an overview of the whole campaign, rather than just piecemeal experience in telephoning or addressing envelopes."

Persons attending last week's meeting included: Mrs. Jabailly, Mrs. Libby Long, Mrs. Nora Hurney, Mrs. Marion Collins, Mrs. Eleanor Twiss, Mrs. Tina Lifeset, Mrs. Eleanor Powers, Mrs. DeChristoforo and Mrs. Janis.

Refreshments for the meeting were provided by Dr. Albert Davis, the candidate's father.

Thomas K. McManus Not Up For Re-election This Year

Norfolk County Commissioner Thomas K. McManus of Norwood is not a candidate for re-election this year.

McManus's present term does not expire until Dec. 31, 1974.

"As far as I know, I will be a candidate for re-election then," he said.

In the special primary election pullout section in last week's Quincy Sun, McManus was listed as one of several candidates in the Sept. 19 primary who had not replied to a questionnaire from the Quincy League of Women Voters.

Sargent Commends Ecology Group For Litter Bag, Sticker Campaign

Gov. Francis W. Sargent has commended the Quincy Ecology Group for its recent clean-up program in Quincy.

In a letter to Group Chairman Ronald N. Halter, Sargent said he was "pleased to hear of such action in helping to solve the solid waste problem."

Members of the group and five stores handed out thousands of litter bags and anti-litter stickers during a two-week program.

Fisk, Tiant Red Sox Pennant Sparkplugs

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy Sun Writer

Have you ordered your World Series tickets yet?

At the start of the season this question would have been considered ridiculous.

In fact, up until a few weeks ago it still would have been pretty ludicrous.

However, for some time this writer has insisted that, despite their mediocrity and one of the poorest road records in the league, the Red Sox had a chance at the American League's Eastern Division crown, the way the favored Orioles and Tigers were floundering.

At this writing the Sox were leading the Eastern Division by a half game over the Orioles and had a two-game edge over the O's and three over the Yanks and Tigers in the all-important loss column.

There are many reasons for the upsurge of the Sox but the two greatest are top contenders for the Rookie of the Year and Comeback of the Year honors.

The rookie, of course, is New Hampshire's Carlton (Pudge) Fisk, who has developed into one of the league's outstanding catchers and power hitters.

Fisk, shunned by Manager Eddie Kasko during spring training because of very unimpressive minor league figures, received his chance to play when Duane Josephson was sidelined with a heart ailment and he more than took advantage of the opportunity.

Always rated a standout receiver with a bullet arm, Fisk's problem had been his batting. But, how he has improved his hitting!

After Monday's game Fisk was batting .294 with 21 home runs, many other extra base hits and had driven in 55 runs. He trailed only Petrocelli and Reggie Smith in runs batted in and many of his hits had won games.

He had a great August as he drove in 16 runs and threw out 10 runners trying to steal, many of the throws nipping budding rallies.

It seems to us that Fisk should be a prime contender for Rookie of the Year honors unless he should falter during the final weeks of the season.

He has given the Sox the best catching and hitting by a catcher in many a year.

The comeback candidate, naturally, is the amazing Luis Tiant, resurrected from the scrap heap by Red Sox Vice President Dick O'Connell.

Tiant was considered all done a year ago when Richmond released him and if he hadn't been a friend of former Sox pitcher Jose Santiago, now with Louisville, the Sox would never have signed him.

He asked Santiago for a chance to tryout for Louisville and Manager Darrell Johnson phoned O'Connell to say Tiant showed signs of coming back.

O'Connell called him up as a relief pitcher and he did well in his appearances and when Ray Culp was sidelined this year, he got a chance to start.

His performances as a starter have been sensational and going into this week's games he had won seven games in a row for an 11-4 record and an impressive 2.08 ERA. His attempt to set a Sox record of five successive shutouts last week was halted by the Yanks, but he still beat them with a four-hitter.

"Luis has been fantastic," Kasko said. "He had done everything I've asked him to do including pitching with about 15 minutes notice. I consider him just about the best pitcher in the league right now."

Tiant has gone back to his jerky-jerky motion which drives the batters crazy.

Only Three Soccer Returnees At Quincy

A year ago, with a lineup stocked with veterans, Quincy's soccer team was undefeated in the Norfolk Association and 13-1 overall, then lost in overtime to Needham in the state tourney.

This year the picture is different and Coach Ron Martin has only three varsity returnees among 43 candidates for the squad.

The lone returnees are Scott Merliss, Mike Priscella and Marty O'Toole.

The remainder of the prospective varsity squad are graduates of last year's unbeaten [10-0] junior varsity squad, coached by Charlie McLaughlin, who is back as Martin's assistant and jayvee mentor.

The Presidents opened their season Tuesday at Sharon. Today they played at Avon, have a bye Tuesday and next Thursday will host Foxboro, expected to be a league power this year.

The starting goalie is Mike Cullen, who did well for the jayvees a year ago.

The other starters are Merliss, Bill Ecklund, Ron Eacobacci, Priscella, O'Toole, twins Steve and Massino Ranalli, Tony Michaelangelo and Tom Tasney.

Tasney is a Vietnamese who has been in this country for four years and starred at Broad Meadows Junior High before playing jayvee ball last year. The Ranalli twins are from Italy and also have been in this country four years.

Bob Boyle, Bob Sullivan and Merrill Cohen are other members of the varsity squad and Martin expects sophomores Scott DeMarco and Mario DiCenzo to stay up with the varsity.

"We have a long way to go but the kids are working hard," Martin said. "We lost to North Quincy, Hingham and Boston College High in scrimmages but I noted improvement in each one."

"We have to be much more aggressive. Against North Quincy they out-hustled us throughout the scrimmage and continually beat us to the ball."

There are a goodly number of promising sophomores working out and will play for McLaughlin's junior varsity, which has looked good in scrimmages."

Recreation Roundup

The Recreation Department's long summer season of playground and aquatic programming ended with the City-wide Recreation Championship Playoffs in tennis, archery, golf, softball and baseball.

TENNIS

In Girls' Tennis, Patricia Bellotti of Forbes Hill defeated Janet Sines of LaBrique for the midget championship, while Anne Bertrand of O'Rourke defeated Claudia Torino of Beechwood Knoll for the Junior division title. In Senior Girls Tennis Arvella Hagan of Forbes Hill defeated Susan Ray of Merrymount.

In Boys' Tennis, Michael Cyr of Beechwood defeated William Burt of Snug Harbor, while Juniors John Timmons of Montclair defeated John Santellis of Beechwood Knoll. In what turned out to be one of the most exciting matches of the tournament, Senior Paul O'Malley of Welcome Young playground turned back John Ryan of Faxon Field for that division title.

GOLF

In golf Gerald Phelan of Merrymount defeated Paul Volpini and David Gosselin of Kincaid and Dave Connell of Faxon Field playground in match play. Gerald Phelan winner of the City Championships was also awarded a putter by Furnace Brook's Golf Pro John Donovan.

ARCHERY

The archery tournament found Daniel Cuddy of Beechwood Knoll defeating William Brabazon of O'Rourke and Richard Morrison of Snug Harbor for the Senior title, while Robert Robertson of Pollard beat Patrick McGahn and Thomas Nolan of Beechwood Knoll for the Junior title. The Girls' Senior title went to Denise Beresziewicz of Atlantic who defeated Barbara Torino of Beechwood Knoll and Veronica Bertrand of O'Rourke. Junior Jean McSweeney of Atlantic edged Kathy Mahoney of Faxon Field and Ann Bertrand of O'Rourke out of the running, and captured the Junior Girls' Title.

BASEBALL

Baseball Junior and Senior City-wide Championships went to Squantum, while the Midget title was won by Bradford Playground. Girls' Softball City-wide championships went to the Atlantic playground for their hard fought Senior game with Fore River, and to Bayside for their win over Wollaston in the Junior Title Playoffs.

AROUND THE PLAYGROUNDS

Leaders from the 32 municipal playgrounds inform us that: Whitwell's Paula Mannai, Beverly and Laura Prescott, Elizabeth Guerin, John Silva, Linda and James Johnson, Tracy Mortel, Joyce Larson, Paula and Michael Mannai and Sandra Williams have made elegant rings and bracelets. Wollaston's Joanne Avane, Jean and Margaret Keogh, Mary O'Malley, Susan Capone, Denise Jay, Joanne O'Leary, Dyan Collins, Joanne Runge led both Junior Girls Baseball and Basketball teams to the city series.

Faxon's Field John Ryan, Tracey Tobin, Mary Jane Valatka and Carol DiBona made it to the city tennis playoffs while Janine Mudge, Kathy Mahoney, Deloris Connors and Judy Todd did well in the Archery meet. Forbes Hill Joseph Johnson, Thomas Bellotti, Carl Bergstrom Steven Johnson, Marsha Mele, and Lori Stevens demonstrated their athletic prowess in district Olympic competitions. Stoney Brae's Scott Clark, Michael, Maureen and John Hatfield, Deborah, Donna and Kenneth Mann, Brian and Kevin Hanley, Bill Johnson, Scott Christopher and Jeffrey price had an eventful day at their Olympic competition. Atlantic's Gina Chetwynd, Jeanne McSweeney, Patricia Naughton, Susan Radigan, Carolyn Butts, Margaret Kelliher, Denise Bersziewicz, Nancy Willard, William Berberan, Philip Robinson, Frank Schuler, Timothy Clifford, Steven McLaughlin, Kevin Jago, Jim Kennelly and Richard Baker brought Atlantic's team to the city wide basketball playoffs.

Montclair's John Timmons, Stephen and John Wilkes, Robert Conville, Lawrence and Christopher Baker, Dean and Gregory Zoia and Jerome Scanlon won the City Junior Boys Basketball trophy while William Mullaney, James Scanlon, Peter Cappola, Paul Mitchell, Daniel Hale and Daniel Mullaney all Montclair's midget leaguers played a magnificent game against Merrymount.

Miles Standish's John Anderson, Robert Boudreau, Elaine Burns, Wanda McIsaac, Beverly DeLoach, Gayle Grant, Susan DeLaCruz, Joycelyn Santos and Patricia Sullivan have enjoyed their crafts and gym projects. Squantum's Robin Jellison, Patricia Scanlon, Deborah Allen, Doreen O'Neil, Kathy Shionis, Dianne Tower, Katherine Donaghy, Mary Damon, Maryanne Byk and Karen Tower gave their parents a dancing treat. Michael McCormack, Robert Doyle, Robert McCabe and Thomas Dow captured the City Junior Baseball title for Squantum as the elder counterparts of James McCabe, Lee Eatkins, Bert McMahon, Tom Largely, David Bowen and Paul Rooney all with batting averages over .430 clinched the City Senior Boys Baseball crown.

Baker's Joseph Megnia, Robert Carpenter, Cindy and Judy Smith were commended for artistic craft projects as Thomas Campbell won the 50-yard dash and shuttle race events. Bayside's Donna Brill, Katherine Black, Jeanine Galloway, Joanne Ruane, Sue Capone, Mary O'Malley edged Wollaston out of the Junior Girls Softball Championship. Lee and Patrick Watkins, Paul Rooney, Harold Hutchings, Paul Courtney, Robert Doyle, Michael Graham, Robin Jellison, received honors at the City Olympics. Quarterdeck's Sherry King was commended for her ecological efforts in the field of nature. Snug Harbor's Donna O'Neil, Patricia McPhillips, Barbara King, Alan Reutiola, Gerald Lumby, William Norton, John McManus, Harold Williams, Thomas Connelly and Brian Nevens received laurels at the recent Olympics. Christopher Lampere, David Austin led Snug Harbor to a victory over LaBrique. LaBrique's Michael Boudreau, Ann Sines, Kathy Boyd enjoyed their Blue Hills trip while Thomas Donovan, Robert Connelly, Denise Giordani, Camille Brooks, Frank McPartland, Michael Abboud, Richard Brooks and Keil Robertson experimented with various crafts stitches. Robert Schnitzlein, Paul Vlassakis and Mark Fanning of Heron Road entered the Tennis tournament at about the same time when Shawn Murray and Michael Bondarick were leading others from their playground through the Blue Hill woods. Mass Field's baseball players Michael Kelly, Richard Beffera, Dave Carbon, Richard Magnirelli, Christopher Morton, John Dunn, Robert Woodman, Patrick McKenna, Thomas Burke, Kyle Morton, Peter Linnehan, Charles Cahill and Michael O'Hara all had nearly or over .300 batting averages while Robert Grant's was .675.

Laine Shea, Nancy Smith and Gera Foy learned how to tie-dye shirts as Claudia Torino, Janice Kelly, Elaine Galvin, Ellen MacDonald, Patricia Irvine, Larry Cyr, Paul Mezzetti, William O'Malley, Daniel Kenney, Brian Crosby and Stephen King gave their all in baseball and basketball for Beechwood Knoll. Merrymount's Daniel Curry, Christopher Phelan and Kenneth Masters carried their baseball team to victory over LaBrique while Kathy and Terri Conroy, Susan Johnson, Joan Vanies, Sue Ray, Maryann Dunn, Joyce Flynn played a great game for their teams. Elm Street's Allison Fay, Janice Barry, Marie Nichols, Diane Russo, Debrah D'Olimpio, Margaret Thorley, Theresa Dean, Ellen Doucette and Diane D'Olimpio made that playground's excellent basketball team. Fore River's Linda Hennessey, James and Timothy Trythall, Karen and Thomas Corless displayed outstanding musical talent at the annual Field Day.

Pollard's Carol Brillo, Wendy Merritt, Gordon Spencer, William Diet, Dave and Kenneth MacDonald, Robert Briers, David Dwyer, Kevin Beliveau and Randy Parker held a benefit for the children at Happy Acres Day Camp and netted $14.90 to help send the youth to the Special Olympics in California.

Pond Street's gym craftsmen include Gary Durante, James Moran, Laura Jordan, Lisa Thompson, Marie Mezzetti, Clair LeCours, Brenda Golden, Edward Tinney, Joseph Shea, Michael Fantasia, John Burns, Raymond Coscia, Robert Thurburne, John Kelsey and Stephen Morrales entered the Midget City Baseball Finals.

Presidents Seen As Strong Contenders

Quincy's football team is being rated by most coaches as one of the top Greater Boston League entries this year.

A big reason is the return of many outstanding defensive players. Quincy has always featured strong defense and this should again be one of the Presidents' strong points in 1972.

In two outside scrimmages Coach Hank Conroy was pleased with the defense and admits the Presidents are farther advanced on defense than offense because of more experience.

Conroy has mostly new ends this year and among the best on defense are Bob Spillane, Bob Benn, Dennis Sullivan, Mike Ryan, Steve Burke, Rich Folino and Dan Maitland. Conroy is especially high on Folino, Spillane and Benn.

At tackle Quincy has two giants who sparked a year ago although only sophomores. Mike Varraso [230] and Dave Sten [235] head the defensive tackles who also include Bob Pettiti, Dan Murphy, Bob O'Neil and Jerry Fanning.

"With two great boys like Varraso and Sten, we should be very strong at defensive tackle," Conroy admitted. "Pettiti was injured most of last year but looks good and O'Neil also is a fine prospect."

Jeff Aristide, Ed Sylva, Frank Guido, Jim French, Dave Maggiani, Steve Goulart, Bob Oliver, Bob Megina, Vin Picardi, Rich Della Barbara, Garry Moore and Paul Connors all are looking good as defensive guards.

At center Ron Smith [220] and Glen Prescott, a javjee graduate and an outstanding athlete, will see considerable service on defense.

Many of the backs will be playing on defense including Robin Carrera, Kim Derbes, John Whitney, Dan McDermott, Dave Ciani, Paul Riggs, Rich Silva, Paul Hajjar, Wayne Ponder, Jim Cahill, John Dahlquist, Carl Awed and Dave Ferris.

"We have always prided ourselves on our defense and I think we will be strong again in this department," Conroy said. "We have moved the ball well in scrimmages and if we can get a good offense rolling, we should rebound from a disappointing [4-5] season."

Quincy had its third scrimmage yesterday [Wednesday], has two more lined up for Saturday and next Wednesday and will open its season on Sept. 23 at Weymouth South in a non-league game.

Football And Knee Injuries

For many years there has been an excessive number of knee injuries to football players. Now, after a three year study at Temple University, the long-suspected cause has been proven. The cleat structure of the conventional football shoe is made in such a way that it firmly fixes the foot to the ground. They may be good for ramming into a ball carrier but it gives rise to abnormal motions to the knee joint.

The researchers studied two leagues of 18 high schools each in Philadelphia. Switching varsity players from shoes with 3/4-inch cleats to a soccer shoe containing fourteen 3/8-inch cleats produced a marked decrease in both the number and severity of knee injuries. Most impressive, the number of surgical operations for knee injuries in a season fell from 11 to 4 in one league, from 17 to 2 in the other. The study recommended changing from football shoes to soccer shoes.

Frazier Pleased With Progress

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team is working hard in preparation for the season's opener Sept. 23 against Revere and Coach Ralph Frazier is pleased with the progress being shown by the Raiders in pre-season scrimmages.

"We have looked especially strong on defense and we are more experienced there," Frazier said. "We have only one returning starter on offense but several of the boys played regularly on defense last year."

One source of satisfaction to the North coach is the quickness of the team on defense.

"We are small but quick and this quickness has been particularly evident in our defense," Ralph explained.

As on offense, all positions are open on defense but Frazier and his assistants have been working with a number one defense which includes Bert Bertoni and Steve Fransoso at end, John Stevens and Pete Quinn tackles, Mark Mulvaney and Burt Bray line backers, Wayne Bell and Charlie Smith cornermen, Bob McCormick and Bruce Stephansky halfbacks or safety and John Pomerole safety.

Among those working on the second defensive unit are George Hill and Billy Shea, ends; Jim Neal and Bill Schaezel tackles.

Brett McGrath and Eugene Griffin line backers, Phil

Robinson cornerman, John Flynn and Carl Leone halfback or safety and Chuck deVarences safety.

Others working out on defense, although many may wind up only on offense, are Paul Kelleher, Dave Fisk, Rich Desmond, Steve Constant, Steve Pagliarini, Bob Boussy, Ron Frizzell, Brian Faherty, Joe Marinelli, Wayne Gobbi, Ken Perrin, Paul Cuniff, Bob Pierce, Terry Egan and Bernie Holleran.

Also, Gary Flanagan, Steve Durkin, Chris Costello, Mike White, Tom Donovan, Mark Hemphill, Paul Keely, Bernie Doherty, Dave Chartier, Mike Dever, Joe Condon, Doug Connors, Billy Carroll, Dick Koch, Al O'Sullivan, Bob Murphy and Mike Boyd.

Many of these boys are graduates of last year's sophomore team which had a 3-2-1 record.

"We have had some fine scrimmages and have a few more lined up before our first game," Frazier said. "We still have a way to go, especially on offense, but we are improving all the time and I think we will be ready for our opener."

A year ago North appeared on its way to the Greater Boston but its chances went out the window when it lost to powerful Everett and was shocked by Somerville, a decided underdog. The Raiders bounced back to wallop Quincy, 30-12, their first win over the Presidents in four years and Frazier's first as a player or coach, to finish 6-3.

Deadline Friday For Winter Recreation Jobs

Applications for part-time work in the Quincy Recreation Department's Winter Program must be submitted at the Recreation Department office, John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., before 4 p.m. Sept. 15th.

Special application forms may be obtained at the Recreation Office, announces Director William F. Ryan.

The Winter program utilizes 22 schools and the Fore River Clubhouse for an after-school program for boys and girls ages eight and over, who attend elementary school. There is also a gymnasium program on Saturday for elementary, junior and senior high school boys.

The program is scheduled to run for a 25 week period, from the end of October until mid April 1973.

Burke Endorses James Collins For Norfolk County Treasurer

Norfolk County District Atty. George G. Burke has endorsed the candidacy of Atty. James M. Collins of Milton for County Treasurer.

Burke said he commended Collins "most highly and asks everyone to consider voting for him."

Collins, an assistant district attorney, "evidenced his leadership in the establishment and administration of the County's six-man jury system, now the most successful in the state," Burke said.

"For more than five years," he said, "Jim Collins has lent distinction to my office."

"He has at all times been industrious, hard working, having tried hundreds of cases as an able, courageous and dedicated assistant district attorney."

Barry's Ship Haven Grand Opening Sept 19

Dan and Tom Barry will open their new Barry's Ship Haven Restaurant at 1237 Hancock St. on primary day, Sept. 19.

The brothers, owners of Barry's Delicatessen in Wollaston, have been busy supervising remodeling of Ship Haven since their recent purchase.

The restaurant will feature cafeteria and dining room with complete breakfast, luncheons and dinners, specializing in delicatessen sandwiches.

Barry's Ship Haven will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday with entrances facing Hancock St. and Quincy Center MBTA Station.

Opening day will see the introduction to Quincy of the "French Dip" sandwich and a drawing for free meals.

Patrons will be eligible to win five dinners for four, 10 luncheons and 10 breakfasts for two in the drawings.

Jerome Quinn Mural

Added To Sherry's Decor

Marshfield artist Jerome Quinn has completed a mural and several sketches to add to the new decor of Sherry's Restaurant, 579 Southern Artery.

Sherry's will celebrate its grand opening this month under new management with a completely remodeled interior featuring a nautical motif.

The "Quincy Room" mural depicts a fishing village scene to provide a back-drop for a fishing shanty-style salad bar in the dining room.

Renovations include a new piano bar and lounge and modernized function facilities with an accent toward wedding receptions and parties.

Quinn, a life resident of the South Shore, has done many murals, including scenes of the Boston Freedom Trail at the Union National Bank in Lowell.

Sherry's will feature entertainment nightly by the Tim Donovan Trio with Jay Nolan, who is also maitre d'hotel.

President Chevrolet Breaks Ground For Heavy Duty Truck Center

President Chevrolet, Inc. has broken ground for its new heavy duty truck center.

The two-story facility is being constructed on a four-acre site at 18 Field St., adjacent to President Chevrolet's Auto Agency, 540 Southern Artery, Quincy.

The new center, scheduled for completion next spring will feature a large showroom, service department and parts department.

It will have eight large stalls and 16-foot clearance in the service department.

President Chevrolet will be the Boston area distributor for Chevrolet heavy duty trucks. It is one of five such distributors in the entire New England area.

President Chevrolet, founded in 1954, is headed by George D. Reardon, president. Vice-president is Louis S. Cassani.

Participating in the ground-breaking ceremonies were Mayor Walter J. Hannon, Mr. Reardon, John Lynch of Stoughton, general manager of the new facility; Edward O'Rourke, Chevrolet Zone Manager; Charles A. Pearce, president Quincy Savings Bank and Stephen A. Vlachos of Hingham, contractor.

Robert Casey of Quincy will be the service manager and Jack Smith of Hingham, jeep and light duty truck manager.

Gerald Rosser Introduces Mar-Hyde Vinyl Restorer

Mar-Hyde, a unique vinyl coloring and restoring product, is being introduced in this area by Rosser Mar-Hyde Sales, a Weymouth firm owned by Gerald Rosser, Shaw St., North Weymouth.

According to Rosser, Mar-Hyde will re-color and preserve all types of leatherette and vinyl fabrics, such as Naugahyde, Herculon and vinyl-treated leathers.

It is a handy spray type product, available in aerosol containers, and usually displayed in a rack with a large choice of practical and appealing colors.

Items which can be brightened or re-colored are chairs, convertible and vinyl car tops, vehicle seats and upholstery, folding doors, vinyl luggage, boat cushions, and even many types of shoes. Mar-Hyde is manufactured by the Talsol Corporation of Cincinnati, and is available now in Quincy at Granite City Hardware, Mary Carter Paint & Wallpaper, Floyd's Upholstering & Decorating Co., Bob's Speed Shop and at Pendoley Hardware in Milton and Adams St. Auto Parts in Dorchester.

Brownell Bill Would Prevent Tax Increases Over 5.5 Percent

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell said he will file legislation to prevent Massachusetts communities from raising their property taxes more than 5.5 percent in 1973.

Brownell said he could see "no good reason" why cities and towns should not be required to stay within the 5.5 percent federal wage-price control limit.

"To me it does not make much sense to regulate the working man's wages on the one hand and not regulate the property taxes he must pay," Brownell said.

If such legislation were in effect this year, Quincy's tax rate could have risen just $8.90 to $151.40 instead of the $12.90 increase to $155.40," he said.

Many people have complained to me that if their property tax continues to rise at the current rate, they will be forced to sell their homes," Brownell said.

"The time has come to take the emphasis off of the property tax for financing local government and place it where it belongs — on a graduated tax where people pay in accordance with their ability," he said.

Favors MDC Taking Over Wollaston Golf Club

Editor, Quincy Sun:

The residents of Norfolk County should know what the impact will be on their real estate taxes in the event the County Commissioners take over the Wollaston Golf Club property located in the town of Milton and the city of Quincy as open space and used for recreational use as compared to what the cost will be if said property is taken and operated by the Metropolitan District Commission.

I favor the taking of this property as open space to be used for recreational purposes by the Metropolitan District Commission rather than the Norfolk County Commissioners for the following reasons.

The county has no facilities and have had absolutely no experience in handling a matter of this sort.

The MDC, however, has the facilities and had the experience of running not only golf courses, skating rinks, swimming pools, ski slopes etc.

The MDC Parks Division is comprised of 37 cities and towns located in the immediate Boston area. It has a population of more than two million people.

Norfolk County on the other hand comprises the City of Quincy and 27 adjoining towns stretching from the Boston line to the State of Rhode Island, a distance of over 40 miles. Population approximately 650,000.

The 1971 MDC report shows that in its parks division are 12 city and towns of Norfolk County. These twelve communities are assessed just under 20 percent of the operational costs. These 12 communities under operation by the county would be assessed for over 80 percent of the cost.

The remaining 16 towns in the county would receive no assessment under MDC operation but under county operation would be called to pay approximately 20 percent of the operational cost.

The assessment against the City of Quincy under MDC operation would be under five percent of the operational cost. Under county management the Quincy cost would exceed 20 percent, more than four hundred percent increase.

The Town of Milton would pay under two percent under MDC operation as compared to nearly seven percent under county operation.

In fact every Norfolk County community would pay several times more under county management as compared to the cost if the facility were to be under MDC management.

Rep. Joseph Brett for Quincy filed legislation for this matter to be under MDC management.

Had Messrs. Hannon, McIntyre, Delahunt and many others given the same support to the Brett bill that they gave the county bill the Brett bill would have become law and the taxpayers of Quincy, Milton and every town in the county have saved thousands of dollars.

What we need is better leadership and less spendamanship.

It might be added that the land in question is located within a half a mile from the City of Boston line and some 40 miles from the State of Rhode Island.

- Peace Hopes Dimmer
- Civil Rights Money Squeeze
- Hong Kong In Spy Crackdown

WASHINGTON— President Nixon was elected on a promise to end the war and win the peace in Vietnam. He is now trying to keep the war issue under control until after the election. But military intelligence reports from Southeast Asia indicate there may be trouble ahead.

When Henry Kissinger made his celebrated transworld journey for peace just before the Republican convention, many interpreted it as mere political window-dressing. The President, so the theory went, was just trying to dramatize the search for peace with no real hope of achieving it.

But we have learned at the highest level that the President believed the Kissinger mission had a good chance of succeeding. Both Moscow and Peking were urging Hanoi to settle the war.

Nevertheless, the initiative failed and President Nixon responded with some of his most hawkish language in his acceptance speech. Now Kissinger has again been dispatched abroad, this time to Moscow. Success is considered a longshot this time.

But there is good reason for Kissinger's continued frantic activity. The intelligence reports from the war zone say North Vietnam still packs the punch for one more major offensive. The President is convinced it could come any day now, just in time to stir up the Vietnam War issue before election day.

Kissinger, however, is traveling with a new ace up his sleeve. It is President Nixon's vast lead in the polls. He and the President are hoping it will convince Hanoi that, no matter what happens, Nixon will be re-elected. They are trying to impress upon Hanoi that the President will be easier to deal with before than after the election.

HONG KONG CRACKDOWN

For decades, British-controlled Hong Kong has functioned as an international watch tower for foreign nations trying to find out what's going on inside mainland China.

Now that China has begun to open its doors to the world, it has also begun to complain quietly to the British about foreign spy operations in Hong Kong directed against the mainland. In response, the British have effectively cracked down on Soviet and Chinese Nationalist spy rings.

However, the British will make no overt move to force the United States to reduce its oversized China consulate in Hong Kong. But the British will caution the United States to limit its operations to monitoring Chinese broadcasts and interpreting Chinese periodicals.

MONEY SQUEEZE

Civil rights activists are privately complaining that George McGovern's presidential campaign is hurting their own efforts to raise funds and stay afloat in a tight economy. Many liberals who might otherwise contribute to civil rights causes are giving to George McGovern this year.

One group caught in the squeeze for liberal money is the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, founded by the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. We have learned that SCLC decided to close several of its branch offices. SCLC headquarters in Atlanta refused immediate comment on our inquiries. But we have learned that several people who are leaving the organization intend to work for McGovern.

McGovern, meantime, will continue to compete with civil rights groups for money and personnel, but will try to revive interest in the civil rights movement which has seen its political impact on the nation diminish considerably since the death of Dr. King three years ago.

DIFFERENT ENEMY

A recent Defense Intelligence Agency report discusses those antiballistic missiles that the Soviets have installed around Moscow and Leningrad.

In the past, it was assumed that the Russians were worried about an attack from the United States. But the DIA report suggests that the Russians were really worried about the medium-ranged nuclear missiles which the Chinese were developing. These will be capable of striking cities deep within the Soviet Union.

We have already reported that the Chinese have deployed a small arsenal of short-ranged nuclear missiles—all aimed at the Soviet port of Vladivostok, located just 30 miles from the Chinese border.

Average Age Of WW II Veteran Is Now 53

Nearly 29 million or more than half America's veterans are now or are approaching "older citizens" status, according to the Veterans Administration.

The average age of World War II veterans is now 53 years. They make up more than half the country's living veteran population.

VA revealed that nearly two million veterans are over 65 years old.

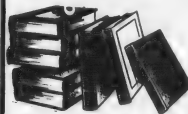

During its fiscal year 1973, VA will have expended $2.8 billion on programs for the exclusive benefit of older veterans.

In addition, VA says, its physicians and scientists are striving daily to solve many of the medical problems of aging through broad studies of the aging process encouraged and supported by the Agency's vast medical research and educational facilities.

Quincy Center Association Officer Praises City For Prompt Response

Executive Director John E. Murray of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association has lauded city officials for prompt action in repairing a Parkingway sidewalk. In a letter to association members, Murray said he was recruiting Sol Ross, owner of Ross of Quincy, into the organization last week.

"During the course of our conversation, [Ross] brought to my attention the deplorable conditions existing on the sidewalk outside his establishment and in front of Gilchrist's," Murray said. The contractor had covered both sidewalks and neglected to roll them, causing patrons of both stores to track tar "into the buying area with the possibility of ruining their footwear."

"Shortly after leaving Mr. Ross, I talked to John Cheney of Mayor Hannon's office and within one hour the sidewalks were rolled and usable," he said. Murray said he felt the city officials "should be complimented on their excellent cooperation by eliminating this hazard immediately."

He said the Mayor guaranteed the association his complete cooperation in revitalizing the downtown area.

"And," he said, "if the aforementioned is an example, Mayor Hannon, the merchants and the association will give Quincy the most convenient, easy to reach, easy to park shopping area in a downtown atmosphere second to none."

A grassroots movement headed by Mayor Walter J. Hannon is attempting to force the Nixon Administration to provide work for General Dynamics shipyard.

The mayor, the Shipbuilders Union, Chamber of Commerce and Quincy Center Business and Professional Association will be seeking signatures on a petition for contracts for Quincy.

An irate Hannon said last week he was "fed up" with the federal government's failure to provide new contracts for Fore River since Nixon took office.

He placed a great portion of the blame on the shoulders of Sen. Edward W. Brooke, a Republican who Hannon feels should be able to swing jobs our way.

"Brooke is a Republican Senator with a Republican President," Hannon said, "Why doesn't he stop sponsoring anti-war amendments and get Quincy a ship."

Hannon said he returned from his recent trip to Washington with assurance that contracts for the yard would be straightened out by August 7.

But that deadline passed more than a month ago and the mayor feels it time to "put it on the line."

"They don't like to be embarrassed," he said, "but they're going to be if they don't stop kissing us off."

Members of the Shipbuilders Union will pass the petitions around at the General Dynamics yard and businesses in the two professional groups will seek signatures from customers.

John E. Murray, executive director of the Quincy Center Association, said the "welfare of General Dynamics is of the greatest importance to the economy of the entire area. "Consequently, all of our members are extremely interested in cooperating in every way," he said.

Association President Robert J. Colman called on all South Shore residents to join in a "combined effort to help the shipyard get its fair share of the federally funded work programs."

Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary Eric M. Swider said the yard is vitally important because two jobs are created in the community for every job at Fore River.

Arthur Batson, president of the union, said lack of communication between the Quincy yard and General Dynamics main office in St. Louis contributes to the problem.

"Nobody at Quincy moves without the word from St. Louis and Quincy management won't get involved," Batson said.

The shipyard is now in contention for contracts on tankers and submarine tenders from the federal government, but work on the $2.7 billion tanker contract would not begin for two years.

Speculation runs high among union members that the General Dynamics hierarchy would not be anxious to obtain the smaller submarine tender pacts without assurance of the LNG contract.

Hannon said the first order of business is to make every possible effort to secure federal contracts to keep the yard operating.

"Let's get the contract first, and then if General Dynamics says they don't want the sub tender, we'll know where they stand," he said.

Plans Finalized For Patients Fourth 'Nite Out' Sept. 26

Activities directors of 10 nursing homes and representatives of 14 Quincy Senior Citizens Clubs finalized plans for the fourth in a series of "Nite Outs" for Nursing Home Patients at a combined meeting at the Kennedy Health Center. More than 135 nursing home patients will attend the event to be held Sept. 26 at the George F. Bryan VFW Hall on Broad St.

The Post has donated its facilities for all four activities.

The "Nite Outs" are sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department under the direction of Mrs. Marion Andrews, Director of Quincy Senior Citizens Activities. Refreshments will be provided and served by representatives of the clubs.

Entertainment will be by the "Blue Flames" of the Boston Gas Co.

The event is open only to nursing home patients and members of the committee appointed by the various club officials.

"It's a photograph of the little woman... serves as a constant incentive."

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of September 21 - 28

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Now that you have time for fun and games, it's hard to find a playmate. Your partner is not in the mood.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Things just aren't going right but pouting over disappointments will add to domestic troubles - try being reasonable.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Some of the pressure has been taken off so you can turn your thoughts to pleasure and creative work.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Redecorating your home is one way of bringing out any artistic talents you may have - choose a room and go to it!

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Favors asked this week will be granted, take time to meditate and be sure you want what you are asking for.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - If your affairs have become too involved for you to handle, get a trusted agent to act as intermediary for you.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - If you can't travel, then turn your thoughts to the study of religion or mystical subjects. Friendships important now.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Letting go of some of your preconceived ideas and turning to more modern thoughts will broaden your outlook.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - There is a tendency to be too extravagant so watch your expenditures as well as loans to others.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Finding fault will not solve your problems, get to the source of the trouble and take it from there.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - You need a clear mind so don't let family problems interfere with the creative work you are undertaking.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - You may have to work hard to bring out hidden talent but the effort is worthwhile, especially if writing is involved.

It's In To Be Thin By Lois L. Lindauer Director, The Diet Workshop

The nicest thing about fashion ... is that it forces every woman to take stock of herself every three months or so. Even the most recalcitrant of fatties is brought up short with the question of what's new. She may not be able to afford it or fit it, but almost to a woman she thinks about it.

If that is the position in which you find yourself, then you are mine, all mine today. Because I can help you to prepare for the next change of seasons with a change in you for the slimmer, and that means the better.

Dieting loves company. You may not be in a situation where you can join a diet group, but you can share diet experiences and recipes by reading this column weekly. Visualize the many other readers of this column, and you'll have your own weight control group to back you up.

Do try the recipes. Being open-minded about eating new things is the biggest step forward that any dieter can take. You are a creature of the habits that have built up since you were little. Some of the foods that you love came to you through your family tastes. Others you probably acquired from friends and in-laws. Ours is a nationally melted cooking pot. Irish stew married to Italian pasta; Swedish meatballs and German spaetzle; English Yorkshire pudding and Spanish Paella. Everyone eats everything.

Have the same spirit of adventure about translating your eating into diet that you had about new "foreign" foods. For a starter, here's a way to use liver. Liver happens to be a fine, old food that is new to too many people. It is underrated and overlooked. It is also full of nutrition.

BRAISED LIVER IN TOMATO SAUCE

1 small onion, sliced
1/2 green pepper, sliced
2 tablespoons Dry Milk
2 teaspoons salt
1 bay leaf
Butter flavored salt, [if desired]

1 pound Liver
1 cup water
1 teaspoon Hidden Valley Ranch dressing mix
2 Bouillon cubes
3/4 cup stewed tomatoes

Cook onion and pepper in water and bouillon with butter flavored salt until soft. Dredge liver in milk powder. Brown on both sides. Add seasonings and tomatoes. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer for one hour or until liver is tender.

That makes a fine dinner with a different approach to liver. The added plus is that there is no waste involved in preparing this meat. No bones, no fat, just plenty of high quality protein.

Begin your new looking self with a new looking pantry shelf. Stock and try the foods that will help you prepare a balanced, nutritional diet. They may be drastically different from what you use now or they may be nearly alike. But there is a difference, and that difference is in the calorie count. It is the difference that will make the difference in you.

In case you have a question, write me at The Quincy Sun or The Diet Workshop, 1975 Hempstead Turnpike, East Meadow, N.Y. 11554

Members of the executive board include: Mrs. John Mariani, state project; Mrs. William Mezzetti, community service; Mrs. Arthur Curtis, fine arts; Mrs. George Moody, home life; Mrs. James Mark, education; Mrs. Allan Hornstra, public affairs; Mrs. Edward Barkhouse, pressbook and publicity.

The club meets on the third Thursday of the month at 8 p.m. at the Quincy Woman's Clubhouse on President's Lane, Quincy.

ENGAGED - Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Avery of 33 Upland Rd., Quincy, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kathleen M. Avery, to Ernest G. Evans. He is the son of Mrs. Ernest G. Evans of 115 Cummings Ave., Wollaston, and the late Mr. Evans. Miss Avery is a graduate of Archbishop Williams High School and Quincy Hospital School of Nursing and is a member of the hospital staff. Mr. Evans is a graduate of North Quincy High School and Franklin Institute and is a student at Lowell Technological Institute. A June wedding is planned.

[Loring Studio]

A special event for brides to be, will be presented at the new Sheraton Tara Ballroom, off Route 128, in Braintree, Tuesday Sept. 26 at 8 p.m.

Billed as the South Shore's first Bridal Fashion Show and Forum, and open to all future brides, the night will provide a gala fashion show of bridal, bridesmaids, and mother's fashions, plus men's formal attire for the groom, best-man and fathers.

Put together by Sol Ross of Ross of Quincy, who will present the bridal show, features will include 14 consultants in weddings, who will be on hand to give advice on everything a bride wants to know about her wedding, and is often afraid to ask.

Photos, flowers, music, wedding cakes, honeymoon trips, home furnishings, financing, invitations and gifts, rings and jewelry, receptions and apartments, will be covered by representatives of South Shore stores and consumer service companies.

Admission and advice is without charge. Reservations may be made at any participating company. Among them are Modern Formals, Quint's of Quincy, Miller Studio, Colpitt's, Ross of Quincy, Rousayne's and Hancock Bank. Commentator will be Beverly Powers, Director of Academic Moderne.

N.Q. Diet Workshop Open House On Sept. 26

The North Quincy Diet Workshop announces it will hold a free Open House Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m. at Atlantic Memorial Congregation Church, 136 Sagamore St.

The public is welcome to attend without obligation.

The Open House will provide an opportunity to see first hand why this method of losing weight has proved so successful. The liberal diet which has been nutritionally balanced by Dr. Morten B. Glenn of New York, a medical advisor to The Diet Workshop, was combined with the moral support of group participation to which has been added mild exercises and good tasting recipes.

Men, women and teenagers will be welcome to join at all future meetings.

400 Honor Lt. Nick Malvesti On Retirement From Fire Dept

More than 400 friends and relatives gathered at Morrisette Post, West Quincy, last Thursday to pay tribute to retiring Fire Lt. Nicholas Malvesti.

Malvesti, former coach of the Morrisette Legion baseball team, retired August 5 after 30 years in the department.

A "This Is Your Life" program traced his career from his high school days as captain of the Quincy High School baseball and football teams through his retirement.

Nick distinguished himself in baseball, football, hockey and soccer in high school and played baseball for several local clubs after graduating from Quincy High.

He was appointed a military substitute to the fire department on August 3, 1942, received his permanent appointment the following year and enlisted in the Marine Corps in January 1944.

He was reinstated to the force after the war, serving most of his career at West Quincy Station and was promoted to lieutenant in April, 1963.

Malvesti retired as commander of Ladder 1 and officer in charge of his headquarters group.

Chief Edward F. Barry cited Malvesti for "his wonderful service to youth in the Morrisette baseball program and his work as Morrisette Post Commander."

Barry credited him with "establishing with me the roll of merit for bravery in the Fire Department."

"His record speaks for itself and is one in which he must, in his modest way, be quite proud," the chief said.

It was largely through Malvesti's efforts that the name of South Junior High School was changed to Sterling in memory of the school's late principal Reay E. Sterling.

And Malvesti is credited as being the man responsible for the installation of lights at Adams Field.

Besides Chief Barry, head table guests included Police Chief Francis X. Finn, Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti, Morrisette Commander Loretto J. Bersani and Rev. John J. McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church.

Childbirth Education Courses At Quincy Hospital

250 Crew, Guests Here For Reunion Of U.S.S. Quincy

Some 250 shipmates and guests will be in Quincy this weekend for a reunion of the crews of the heavy cruiser USS Quincy.

Navy veterans from across the nation will base their operations at the Elks Hall and the Carlton House Hotel for the three-day reunion.

Coordinator Joseph Sepe of East Meadow, N.Y., and his committee will greet shipmates arriving at the Elks Hall Thursday and Friday.

A cocktail party in the Quincy Room of the Carlton House will begin the festivities Friday evening.

Some 200 seats for Saturday's North Quincy-Revere football game at Veterans Memorial Stadium have been reserved for the crew.

The Marine Corps Color Guard will raise the United States and U.S.S. Quincy flags at the stadium and the 35th Regimental Drill Team will perform at halftime.

The halftime ceremonies will feature Mayor Walter J

Hannon's acceptance of a flag from the crew members, to be presented by Capt. B. V. Ajamian of the First Naval District.

And crew members will announce and exhibit prizes for a Veterans Day poetry contest for Quincy residents.

Dinner and dancing are on the agenda for Saturday night at the Elks Hall and the group will have Sunday breakfast at the Fargo Building in Boston.

They will take a tour of the U.S.S. Constitution at Charlestown Naval Shipyard before adjourning the reunion Sunday afternoon.

U.S.S. Quincy flags will fly below the American flag at City Hall, the police station and Atlantic, West Quincy and Quincy Point fire stations.

Among the crew members attending the reunion will be Quincy Police Sgt. Daniel Lyons of 232 Billings Rd.

Working with the crew are Anthony Famigletti, commander of the Quincy Veterans Council, and Joseph Sandblom of the mayor's office.

U.S.S. QUINCY - The heavy cruiser U.S.S. Quincy knifes through the Atlantic on Sept. 8, 1952, enroute to Europe for Operation Mainbrace. Crew members are in Quincy this week for a reunion.

• Two Gallant Ships Named Quincy

The first ship to engage the enemy in the Normandy Invasion at Utah Beach on June 6, 1944 was the USS Quincy, CA-71.

The heavy cruiser expended more main battery ammunition than any other ship in the D-Day task force, sped across the English Channel for more and returned to the battle within 30 hours.

CA-71, built at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co. in Quincy, had been commissioned just six months before at South Boston Naval Drydock.

She took the name of CA-39, a heavy cruiser sunk by a Japanese fleet off Savo Island in the Pacific on August 8, 1942.

Quincy went down, but not before one of her shells exploded in the nerve center of the Japanese flagship, causing the enemy to break off the engagement with the rest of the U.S. fleet.

The new Quincy, under Capt. E. M. Senn, spent months in fitting out, shakedown and training before joining Assault Force "U" for the Normandy Invasion.

Quincy's guns battered Fort Des Flamand while allied forces took Cherbourg, laid a smoke screen for the escape of HMS Glasgow and destroyed many hostile shore batteries around Cherbourg.

In August, 1944, she gave fire support to U.S. Army troops landing at Baie de Cavalaire, France, demolishing the Axis fort on Port Cros Island.

CA-71 was instrumental in the assaults on the "no surrender" fortresses at Toulon Dockyard and Marseilles in southern France.

After supporting minesweeping operations, she was detached from European duty and sent back to Quincy to the cheers of residents.

It was the Quincy which carried President Franklin Delano Roosevelt to Malta the following February where he met on board Winston Churchill and Sir Anthony Eden.

She continued to carry the President to the Big Three conference at Yalta and help him celebrate his 63rd birthday on the way home.

Among the guests Quincy entertained on the Yalta cruise were General of the Army George C. Marshall, Ambassador Averil Harriman, King Farouk of Egypt and King Ibn Saud of Arabia.

Reassigned to the Pacific Theater, Quincy arrived in Pearl Harbor on March 5, 1945, and proceeded to support carriers at Okinawa, Anami Gunto and Minami Daito Shima.

After Capt. John A. Waters Jr. relieved Capt. Senn, the ship took part in the Empire Strikes on Japan under Admiral Halsey.

She was in the bombardment of Kamamaishi Hoshu, the first attack on the main islands of Japan, and hit Kamaishi before the strikes were suspended for peace negotiations.

On August 23, 1945, she came to anchor with the force that occupied Sagami Wan, Japan, and later supported occupation of Yokosuka before arriving in Tokyo Bay on Sept. 1.

Quincy was decommissioned with four battle stars and several other awards in October 1946 at Bremerton, Washington but came out of retirement in 1952 to join the screen around Korea.

She was decommissioned again on July 2, 1954, and is berthed now at Bremerton with the U.S. Pacific Reserve Fleet.

Great Books Discussion Group To Meet Sept. 25

For the 19th consecutive year the Thomas Crane Library of Quincy will sponsor a first year Great Books Discussion Group.

The initial meeting is scheduled for Sept. 25, at 8 p.m. at the North Quincy Library, 381 Hancock St.

The purpose and method of the Great Books program will be explained, and there will be a demonstration discussion of the Declaration of Independence in which all who are interested may participate.

Great Books is an adult liberal education program open free of charge to all people willing to read and explore through discussion the ideas in the great works of literature which have shaped our modern western civilization. Among the books on the first year Great Books reading list are Plato's Apology, Machiavelli's The Ruler, St. Mathew, Shakespeare's MacBeth, selections from James Joyce's The Dubliners and from DeTocqueville's Democracy in America.

Mrs. William Coughlin of Quincy will be the permanent discussion leader for the new group which will meet every other week throughout the winter. Mrs. Coughlin has been active in the Quincy Great Books program for many years both as a discussion leader and as a group participant. She has served on the South Shore Great Books Get-Together committee and has aided in organizing area groups.

Further information about the Great Books program and local groups may be obtained from Mrs. Roy Lawson, Metropolitan Boston Great Books Coordinator, 48 Sherman St., Wollaston, or from local libraries.

Broad Meadows Parent Board To Nominate Oct. 2

Representatives of the Broad Meadows Parent Board will meet Oct. 2, to establish a slate of candidates from which new board members will be elected.

Any adult who lives in the district serviced by Broad Meadows is eligible to become a candidate. Those who meet the eligibility criteria may have their names recorded as candidates by calling William Connolly at 479-3615 or by registering in person at the Oct. 2 meeting at Broad Meadows School. The election of Board members will take place at the "open house" planned American Education Week beginning Oct. 23.

Main purpose of the Parent Board is to establish an open line between the home and school.

To do this, Board members meet monthly with school personnel in an advisory capacity and cover a variety of topics dealing with all aspects of school life. Agenda at these meetings consists of topics called to the attention of the Board by the citizens in the Broad Meadows district and may range all the way from curriculum to cafeteria policy.

In its efforts to promote communications, the Parent Board from time to time will sponsor information programs whenever desirable or necessary.

The Parent Board is a distinctly different means of promoting open lines and better understanding between the home and the school.

Penn's Hill Seniors Meet On Sept. 26

Penn's Hill Senior Citizens Club was the name selected for Quincy's newest club for Quincy residents 60 years and over at the recent organizational meeting at First United Presbyterian Church.

A social meeting preceded the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Marion Andrews, Director, Senior Citizens Activities for the Recreation Department under whose direction the city's clubs are formed. Approximately 50 persons attended the meeting.

The group has voted to meet the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. The first will be devoted to business while the second will be a social meeting. Refreshments will be served at 1:30 p.m. preceding the business or social meeting at 2 p.m.

The refreshment committee for the next meeting Sept. 26 at 1:30 at the church, 270 Franklin St., South Quincy, will be Mrs. Mary MacKay, Mrs. Christina Robertson, Mrs. Ina Warmingston and Miss Isabel Murray.

The club will be open to any Quincy resident 60 years and over. Temporary officers will be named at the next meeting.

North Ready For Patriots

Raiders Host To Revere In GBL Opener

The North Quincy football team, which ended the 1971 season with its first win in four years over Quincy, opens its 1972 campaign Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium with Revere as its Greater Boston League guest. Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m.

North started out well a year ago and appeared headed for a possible GBL title but two losses in a row ruined its chances.

However, a 30-12 victory over Quincy, Coach Ralph Frazier's first win ever over the Presidents as a player, assistant coach and head coach, made the season opener a success with a 6-3 record.

"We have had several scrimmages and have shown improvement in each," Frazier said. "In our first one against Catholic Memorial, we didn't show much of anything but improved against Walpole, started to do things right against Brookline and continued to show improvement against Norwood and Boston Tech.

"We were better off at the start defensively with only one offensive starter, Paul Cadigan, back, but the offense has come along well and has begun to catch up with our defense. I think we will be ready for Revere."

Frazier will open with an offensive line of brothers Billy [170] and Joe [175] Carroll at end, Pete Quinn [205] and John Stevens [180] tackles, Mark Mulvaney [170] or Gene Griffin [170] and Wayne Bell [180] guards and Cadigan [200] center.

Bobby Morton [175] will open at quarterback with John Flynn [155] and Paul Cunniff [160] halfbacks and Rich Desmond [190] fullback.

The number two offensive unit will have Doug Connors and Burt Bray at end, Jim Neal and Bill Shaetzle tackles, Steve Pagliarini and Mike White guards and Tom Donovan center.

Either Carl Leone or Paul Stephansky will be at quarterback, John Pomerole and Bob McCormick halfbacks and Phil Robinson fullback.

The second defensive group will have George Hill and Dave Chartier ends, Cadigan and Schaezel or Neal tackles, Bernie Holleran and Ron Frizzell line backers, Billy Shea and Robinson cornermen, Morton and Billy Carroll halfbacks and Flynn safety.

North barely squeezed by Revere, 14-12, last fall and Frazier expects trouble from the big Patriots again this week.

Ken McPhee, a former Raider star, makes his debut as a North assistant coach in this game, succeeding Jack Bowes, now head coach at Milton. He joins returning aides Tom Fitzgerald, Dick Meyer and Ted Sadowski. —TOM SULLIVAN

With Revenge In Their Hearts

Presidents Open At Weymouth South

By TOM SULLIVAN

When Quincy's football team, rated highly in the Greater Boston League this fall, goes to Weymouth's Legion Field Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. non-league game with Weymouth South, it will be looking for more than an opening day win.

The Presidents will be trying to avenge one of their most humiliating losses, a shocking 26-7 upset at the hands of South last year in Quincy.

The new Weymouth school was in only its second year and had won only one game in its first season. No one gave South a chance against Quincy, which had pulverized it the year before.

But Joe Kelly's Weymouth team did everything right while Hank Conroy's heavily favored Quincy hosts did everything wrong. The result: One of the biggest upsets in schoolboy circles.

Weymouth, bombed the previous week by North Quincy, 33-6, which made Quincy's loss even harder to take, lost two in a row after the Quincy game but finished up with four wins and a tie for a winning 5-3-1 record. Quincy, 9-0 previous year, had to be satisfied with a 4-5 mark.

"One thing in our favor this year is that our kids, several of whom played in that game last season, will be taking nothing for granted," Conroy said. "I know over-confidence played a big part in our loss last year. But Weymouth has man, players back and will be tough."

Quincy comes off some good scrimmages including those against Dedham, Brookline, Brockton and Arlington and Conroy has noted steady improvement.

"We are a little behind where I had hoped to be but our offense, more inexperienced than the defense, has come along well while the defense has done a good job," Conroy added.

The veteran coach explained that the Presidents will grind out the yardage more than in past years and won't feature such an

Mark Conroy Norwich Co-Captain

Mark Conroy, son of Quincy Coach Hank Conroy and a former Scituate High star, is co-captain of this fall's Norwich University football squad, which opens its season Saturday.

Last year Conroy was one of the Cadets' top scorers with his running and his place kicking which resulted in several field goals as well as touchdown conversions.

Quincy's starting offensive team will accent experience in the middle of the line but will be green at end and in the backfield.

The line will have Bob Spillaine [175] and Bob Benn [170] or Mike Donovan [175] at end, Mike Varrasso [230] and Dave Sten [222] at tackle, Ed Sylva [200] and Frank Guido [205] at guard and Ron Smith [225] at center. Varrasso, Sten, Guido and Sylva were regular starters last year while Smith was regular center two years ago as a sophomore but was sidelined most of last season with an injury.

"Varrasso worked himself down from 260 to 230 and that shows how much he wants to play," Conroy said. "This shows a lot of determination on his part."

The backfield will have Paul Creedon [160] or Robin Carrera [155] at Quarterback, Paul Riggs [195] and Rich Silva [180] at halfback and John Whitney [180] at fullback.

"Whitney is the only back with much experience, while both Creedon, last year's junior varsity quarterback, and Carrera, last year's sophomore quarterback, are having quite a battle for that position," Conroy went on.

Also ready for plenty of service on offense are Gordon King at end, Jim French at guard, John Ford, Randy Califano, Wayne Ponder and Pony backs Pete Ramponi and Steve Oriola at halfback and Danny McDermott at fullback.

Another who will see considerable service in the line is Bob Pettiti but he is injured and may miss the first two games.

Starting on defense will be Riggs and Sylva ends, Sten and Varrasso tackles, Guido, Silva and French linebackers, Dennis Sullivan [165], McDermott and

Carrera halfbacks and Dan Ferris [155] safety.

Others ready for defensive action include Glen Prescott, Dan Ciani, Mike Ryan, Chris Matheson and Rich Della Barba.

Conroy has the same assistants as a year ago, Gene Macomber, Bud Mosher, John Bogan and Dave Burke, who continues as sophomore coach, a position at which he has had tremendous success.

Now, Skating And Hockey - On Plastic!

Skating and playing hockey on plastic?

This sounds pretty far-fetched but it is going on at

Camelot Day Camp.

Bob recently opened the rink which features a surface of vinyl plastic called "slick" and which, in Sylvia's words, "is faster than ice."

Bob's rink is the only one of its kind in the world and the Quincy coach installed the surface to give young hockey players a chance to skate more and improve.

"Due to a lack of ice, hockey players are really strapped for facilities in which to improve their play," Sylvia said. "There are plenty of places for baseball and basketball players to receive instruction and improve but very few for hockey players. A boy just can't improve his ice hockey by playing street hockey but he can do so by playing on this plastic surface."

Bob got the idea for such a rink two years ago when he read in a publication about a strip of such plastic being laid down in Times Square.

A year ago a strip was placed over asphalt in Marshfield and a figure skater tried it and raved about it.

"This year at the Sportsman's Show in Boston, Bobby Orr's clinic featured the surface," Sylvia continued. "I went in with a few of my Quincy players and they skated on it and liked it very much. This convinced me that a rink with this sort of surface would be a great addition to the South Shore area and would help ease the great shortage of ice time around here."

Bob explained that the surface is 10 percent slower than ice when the temperature on the floor is 45 to 60 degrees. The higher the temperature the slower the surface and harder to skate on, while the colder it is, the faster the surface is.

"We are able to control the temperature at about 50 degrees at our rink," he went on. "This surface is endorsed by the National Hockey League, Ice Follies, Ice Capades and others."

Sylvia pointed out that money was his main problem. He talked with Pete Janis, a Quincy business man and a member of "Friends of Quincy Hockey", the Quincy High team's Boosters Club.

"I asked him if he could visualize a rink with 'slick' and he investigated the material and found that Vinyl Plastics, Inc., of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, is the only manufacturer of it," Bob continued. "Pete, who owns a plumbing concern, became enthusiastic about it and with his help, we built the rink in Hanover."

"We have a 100 by 70 pre-fabricated metal building which includes a pro shop, two locker rooms and seats for spectators," he said. "Mari and Sons of Somerville is the only concern which installs this surface and they laid down ours."

Bob explained that he actually has less than a complete rink but has a complete zone in which fundamentals can be taught as well as shooting drills of all kinds and practice in getting out of the zone.

"We are not competing with any of the ice skating rinks," he said. "But I feel we need something like this to help the kids on fundamentals and we are not trying to deceive anyone."

With no overhead and no necessity of making ice, Bob said he can charge far less than ice skating rinks for practice and he charges only one or two dollars an hour.

"At our open house Chris Messina, a noted figure skater, put on a great demonstration and she was very impressed with the 'slick', Sylvia stated. "She said it helped her conditioning and her appearance built up interest in our rink. In hockey, the boys can shoot faster and they will find they can skate better when they get on ice after skating on our surface and they will improve their conditioning considerably."

Bob plans to run intramural leagues, lessons for youngsters, figure skating and other events.

"Another thing, this surface is self-healing," he added. "When a skater stops short, the surface goes right back to its original condition. All you do is buff it and it has great skatability."

Any interested group can rent the rink and further information can be had by calling 826-3998 or 826-6404.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein

Boiled Milk Not For Diarrheah

Three infants were rushed to the Boston Children's Hospital in critical condition. Two of the children later died. The cause - feeding boiled milk to babies with diarrheah.

According to physicians, the danger in this common home remedy is that it upsets the body's water/salt ratio. Babies suffering from diarrheah normally lose large quantities of water. This cuts the ratio of water to sodium and other salts in their bodies. Boiled milk, particularly skim milk, pushes this ratio down even further, exposing the infant to the danger of high-salt dehydration. Milk has this potentially dangerous effect because it contains substantial quantities of sodium and other salts, which are further concentrated by boiling.

Milk is normally an excellent and healthy food for infants. But it should not be used boiled, as a treatment for diarrheah. Pediatric specialists recommend clear beverages, Jell-O water and cola or other carbonated beverages at room temperature.

Quincy Seeks Third; North Awaits Sharon

Quincy's soccer team was undefeated [12-0] in Norfolk Association competition a year ago and is off and running again with shutout victories in its first two games.

Ron Martin's Presidents seek their third win in a row today [Thursday] when they host Foxboro after an open date on Tuesday. Next Tuesday they play at Norfolk and next Thursday entertain Franklin.

North Quincy, with a 1-1 record under new coach Lou Ioanilli, played at Franklin Tuesday, has an open date today, hosts Sharon next Tuesday and goes to Avon next Thursday.

Quincy blanked Sharon, 4-0, in its opener as Steve Ranalli scored twice and Tony Michaelangelo and John Sweeney once each. Michaelangelo had two assists, Mike Priscella and Tom Tasney one apiece.

"Priscella, our center halfback, and Goalie Mike Cullen were our outstanding players and were strong throughout the game," Martin said.

The Presidents followed up with a 3-0 win over Avon on goals by Massimo Ranalli, his twin brother Steve and Bob Boyle. Michaelangelo had another assist.

Cullen was outstanding again in the goal, coming up with many fine saves.

Ioanilli's debut as coach was spoiled when North lost its opener to Foxboro, 2-1.

Co-Captain Brad Martinson had North's goal with Rich Golden assisting while Jim Cherico scored both Foxboro goals.

"The boys played a good opening game and it could have gone either way," Ioanilli said.

"We have a lot of potential and I think we will start scoring. Our sophomore goalie, Ken O'Sullivan, did a very good job for us."

The Raiders bounced back to wallop Norfolk, 5-0, as Golden scored twice, Co-Captains Martinson and Bill Chaggaris and Dave Merrill once each. Chaggaris, Golden, Merrill, Gerry Glynn and Jim Mullaney had assists.

After many successful years, George Golding gave up the North coaching reins in both soccer and gymnastics this year to devote full time to his administrative duties.

Ioanilli was Golding's assistant coach last year and coached North's first junior varsity team.

Golding's 1970 squad was undefeated and his last team a year ago, with few veterans, had a 5-5-1 record.

This year Ioanilli, former Sharon High and U. of Massachusetts player, has five varsity returnees [one, however, played only three games before being sidelined on an injury], and the Raiders' hopes rest mainly on the members of last year's first junior varsity team. Two of these saw some varsity service.

"A junior varsity team is very important and I think this will be proven this year," the new coach said. "Last year George had a number of boys back from the undefeated 1970 team but, with no jayvee team, many of them had sat on the bench and had seen a minimum of service, which hurt them."

"However, this year most of our players have experience, either for the varsity or the junior varsity. As a result, I feel we are much more experienced than a year ago. It is much better for a boy to play regularly on the junior varsity than to sit on the bench for the varsity and not play."
